The Canadian team went through a stiff 90-minute workout at the Rokieval Olympic slalom course and Rhoda was the only one on the women's team to show top-flight form.

Among First Six

Observers say that with any luck she is a cinch to place in the first six in the women's events and they are not overlooking the possibility she'll return to Canada with an Olympic gold medal.

Canada has never placed first in skiing—men or women—since the winter games started in Chamonix, France, in 1924.

The Canadian Alpine team leaves today for the Norefjell downhill and giant slalom courses for a week's hard training. Norefjell is about 13 miles northwest of Oslo. The jumpers and cross-country men will complete their training around Oslo.

The jumpers were out Wednesday but heavy fog prevented practice.

The figure-skaters also were out despite rainfall in the city that covered the ice with almost an inch of water.

Syracuse Trips Hornets 4-2

By The Canadian Press.

Syracuse Warriors proved the Giant killers Wednesday night when they downed King Clancy's Pittsburgh Hornets 4-2 in an American Hockey League game.

It had little effect on the standings with the Hornets leading both sections of the loop, with 73 points, 11 ahead of their nearest rivals.

Jim Morrison scored Pittsburgh's first goal midway in the third period. A fluke goal by Bob Hassard cut the Warriors' margin to 3-2 with eight minutes left. But the Syracuse team got one of its luckiest goals of the season to seal the verdict late in the struggle.

Kelly Burnett made a baseball swing at a high-flying puck and knocked it 18 feet, still in the air, past goalie Gil Mayer.

Armand Lemieux and Keith Allen tallied for Syracuse in the first period and Bill Gooden got the third goal early in the second session.

At Buffalo, George Pargeter scored his first goal of the season as the Bisons downed the crippled St. Louis Flyers 8-5.

At Cincinnati, the Mohawks moved a bit closer toward playoffs, edging Indianapolis 2-1.

MIDDLEWEIGHTS DRAW

At Detroit, Eugene (Silent) Hairston of New York and bull-shouldered Robert Villemain of France battled to a draw in a crowd-pleasing 10-round middleweight scrap Wednesday night.

Montreal Seeks 2nd Place In Clash With Red Wings

By The Canadian Press

Montreal Canadiens meet Detroit Red Wings tonight with second place at stake. The Montrealers, with a win can move one point in front of Toronto Maple Leafs. The Leafs game against New York Rangers was postponed Wednesday night to a later date because of the death of the King. The Toronto team is idle tonight, with New York at Chicago in the only other scheduled National Hockey League game. While the Canadiens have one of the best opportunities they have had in weeks to overtake Toronto the Montrealers' board of strategy isn't as optimistic as it might be.

Attempting to move up in the standing at the expense of Detroit is a tough enough proposition when a team is at its best.

The Canadiens won't be at their best tonight.

Can't Make Trip

Maurice (Rocket) Richard won't make the trip. The groin injury forced him to return to Montreal and he will be examined by a number of specialists.

In addition rookie Dickie Moore is an uncertain starter. Moore is still suffering from a knee injury.

The lowly Chicago Black Hawks and the New York Rangers tussle will have little effect on the standing. The New Yorkers are six points behind fourth-place Boston Bruins, and Chicago is in the cellar with 33 points.

Richard's forced retirement practically eliminates any chance he had of catching Gordie Howe for the scoring championship of the league. The Rocket is 10 points behind the ace Detroit winger, and with the games he will be missing during his lay-off, the difference in total will mount higher.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Canada's hockey team at the winter Olympics in Germany walloped Latvia 11-0 in a preliminary round, 16 years ago today, and the Canadians appeared headed for another Olympic title. In the final however England scored a 2-1 victory to give the Canadians their first Olympic hockey defeat.

Young Jockeys Made Wards

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 7 (AP). — American jockeys under 21 years of age would be made wards of the juvenile court under a plan proposed by Judge A. A. Scott of Los Angeles.

The Los Angeles jurist, for seven years judge of the juvenile court in that county, outlined his plan in conferences Wednesday with officials of the Jockey Guild and Hialeah Race Course.

Under the plan, boys under 21 would be made wards of the court for supervision of their contracts and protection of their interests until they become of age.

"Our plan, in effect only in Los Angeles county at present, has worked to the tremendous advantage of young jockeys ever since it started several years ago" Judge Scott reported.

He said 70 per cent of the boys' net earnings is placed in a trust found and held under the court's jurisdiction until the boy becomes of age. At 21, he is on his own.

Japan Expects Make Comeback

OSLO, Feb. 7 (AP).—Long time isolated Japan expects to come back this winter in the Olympic market.

Scandinavian and international experts agreed only a few days ago that the Olympic slalom and downhill events would be settled in the traditional way between Switzerland, Italy and France with some Scandinavians next in the prize list.

Today they were scratching their heads, reconsidering their speculations.

"Yes, we agree. Our boys look fine," Katsuji Ogawa, vice-president of the Japanese Skiing Association commented on the spectacular performances in the Roedkleiva slalom slope by the Japanese champion, 20-year-old high school student Chiharu Igaya, and No. 2 man Hishashi Mizugami.

"We had our skiing boys sent to St. Anton, Austria, for one month of expert training and they were in good shape when they came up from there two days ago" Ogawa said.

There are three first class jumpers on the Japanese team including Hiroji Yoshizawa, the 20-year-old student champion of Japan in 1951 with a record jump of 77 metres. Other members are Tatsuo Watanabe, 23, capable of 76 metres, and Kozo Kawashima, 25, with a top jump of 71.5.

Philip Facing New and Delicate Role

LONDON, Feb. 7—(AP)—The Duke of Edinburgh is assuming a new and delicate role—that of consort to a sovereign queen.

The death of King George VI brought this change to the handsome, 30-year-old Royal naval officer.

The Duke's Royal wife left with him last Thursday on a projected tour of Comonwealth nations as Princess Elizabeth. She is returning as Queen Elizabeth. She faces heavy responsibilities, but constitutionally her duty is clearly defined.

That cannot be said for the obligations of the Duke, Prince Philip. Britain has not had a male consort to a sovereign for 91 years, and in that time much has changed.

The last male consort was Prince Albert, German-born husband of Queen Victoria. He died in 1861. Precedents set up in his lifetime did not give the answer to all the questions that arise today.

One essential fact remains — Queen Elizabeth is the sovereign, and the Duke of Edinburgh has no authority whatever over the realm. He is the head of the household. He is socially the first gentleman of the empire. But the Queen rules.

Times Change

Not only have times and usage changed, but the temperaments of Elizabeth and the Duke are far from those of Victoria and Albert.

In Victoria's day, the sovereign still kept close watch over administrative matters, kept in daily contact with the prime minister, the home office and the foreign secretary. The sovereign on occasion still initiated policies.

Now relations between sovereign and ministers are polite, formal and constitutional. The monarchy has lifted itself out of politics.

The Queen has indicated several times that she regards herself as the visible and tangible symbol of the union of the Commonwealth. She is a sort of living constitution.

The Queen, her consort and their children are the first family of the Commonwealth, and it is expected that they will regard it as their first duty to be an example of all British families by practising the virtues which Britain admires.

Expresses Opinions

The Duke of Edinburgh is a rugged sailor type, a good mixer in any company and an enthusiastic sportsman. He has opinions, and he has been known to express them with vigor.

Being without legal authority the Duke, it was said in court circles, is in a better position to voice personal opinions than the Queen. Hers cannot be separated from the authority of the Crown.

In some quarters, it is expected that the vigorous Duke sooner or MASSACRE WITNESS — Marion Gawiak, of Port Colborne, Ont., appears before the special House committee in Washington, as it continues its investigation of the 1940 Katyn Forest massacre of Polish officers. He told how he saw thousands of fellow Poles marched out of prison camp and murdered. Gawiak escaped from the Kozelsk prison camp to which he is pointing on the map.

Heads Roll In Graft Cleanup

TOKYO — (Reuters). — Heads are rolling in all departments following the worst year of government corruption and embezzlement in Japanese history.

Under the "house-cleaning" program of Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida, more than 1,000 dishonest tax officials out of a total of 60,000 have been dismissed each year since 1949.

The campaign is believed to have a secondary motive—to dislodge more than 120,000 surplus civil servants.

Most Japanese think the dismissals will not put a stop to government corruption. As in other parts of the East, they say corruption is the age-old privilege of public service and will remain as long as government pay cheques continue to be almost uselessly small.

Says Reporters Taking Advantage

TOKYO, Feb. 7—(AP)—Gen. Mathew B. Ridgway's public information officer said some United Nations Command news correspondents are abusing their privileges in covering the armistice talks at Panmunjom by "fraternization and trafficking with the enemy."

In amemorandum to correspondents, Col. George Patrick Welch, public information officer, said:

"It has, therefore, become necessary to request all U.N.C. correspondents entering the Panmunjom neutral area for the purpose of covering the armistice talks to conduct themselves in such a manner so as to avoid any suggestion that military security is being placed in possible jeopardy or that traffic is being held with the enemy."

Queried about the memorandum Welch said:

"This is a request and not an order. However, to avoid any suggestion of traffic with the enemy certainly implies that no article of any kind will pass between our correspondents and the enemy."

Civil Servants One Big Union

REGINA (CP)—Saskatchewan's largest union is the only organization of civil servants in the British Commonwealth which has the right to bargain collectively with the government.

The Saskatchewan Trade Union Act, sponsored by the province's C.C.F. government in 1945, gave that right to the Saskatchewan Civil Service Association.

The channel for civil service negotiation with most commonwealth governments, including the federal government, is the Whitley Council — a consultative body which has civil service representation in its membership.

Beside white-collar workers, the Saskatchewan association's 4,000 members include government-employed workers on highways, ferries, bridge construction, painters, carpenters, and even coyote hunters.

William Leonard, secretary-treasurer, says the association endeavors to use its collective bargaining privileges to introduce and promote better personnel administration. The association has central offices, seven permanent employees, and assets of around $20,000.

Mr. Leonard, who went west as a boy from Collingwood, Ont., says he came to his present job largely on the basis of a speech. He was the delegate to a Saskatchewan Civil Service Association convention from the Alberta organization of which he was assistant general secretary.

He spoke on classification and pay plans, which the Saskatchewan organization was seriously considering at that time. When the Trade Union Act gave Saskatchewan civil servants bargaining privileges, they invited Mr. Leonard to help them organize.

The Saskatchewan Civil Service Association, Mr. Leonard says, began in 1913 as a social organization. They gradually began to work for their own betterment and their most important achievement before 1945, he says, was in 1927 when the Public Service Superannuation Act was passed after a 10-year campaign.

Changing Times

SINGAPORE (Reuters). — A new Malayan Government ordinance decrees that wooden bullock carts, one of the world's oldest forms of transport still in use here, must be fitted with rubber tires.

Scrap Dealers Thrive

SINGAPORE (Reuters). — A boom in scrap metal has come to Singapore with heavy shipments to Japan in recent weeks. Prices have risen accordingly and Singapore merchants are scouring the city for junk.

£70,000 Pension

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP) — The Queen Mother Elizabeth, widow of King George VI, will receive £70,000 a year. A 1937 act of parliament provided that pension.

May Find Remains Of Scott Executed By Riel's Order

ST. BONIFACE, Man., (CP)—The strange story of a plumber, a rebel, a broken oath and a bundle of bones wrapped in lead foil may solve a Canadian political mystery.

Failure to locate the burial place of Thomas Scott has tantalized historians since the young Ontario Orangeman was shot on Louis Riel's orders, March 4, 1870.

Scott was captured and ordered executed by Riel for taking up arms against his provisional government and striking one of the guards. His death started a storm in Ontario which led to Col. Garnet Wolseley taking a 1,200-man force to the Red river and quelling the Riel uprising.

Now, C. E. Matthews, a plumber, claims Scott's body lies buried in sacred ground around St. Boniface Bascilica. His story came out recently because he "simply had to tell somebody."

He says a fellow plumber, Michael Sweeny, found the bones in 1904 while we was putting in a sewer along the wall of an old church which stood on the site of the present Cathedral.

Reburied Bones

Sweeny found a medal around the neck too rusted to read but saw no significance in his discovery. He reburied the bones where he found them.

Matthews thought nothing of Sweeny's story until 1915 when he was doing some work on a house in St. Boniface. An old man sat in a corner of the house mumbling in French and English.

A woman in the house—the old man's daughter or niece—didn't want him to talk. But bit by bit, as the blumbing job proceeded, Matthews found out that the old man Ambroise D. Lepine, adjutant-general at a council of war which tried Scott the day before he was executed by a drunken firing squad.

Matthews says Lepine told him he and the others involved in Scott's death had taken an oath never to reveal where his body was buried. Lepine however broke the oath in admitting to Matthews that the body was wrapped in lead foil from a tea chest and buried in sacred ground "by the first window of the old church".

Matthews says he is certain that the bones mentioned by Lepine and Sweeny are the same. He says anyone who wants to look for them will find them on either side of the main walk leading to the Basilica.

BUILDING POWER

Portland cement was invented in 1824 by Joseph Aspdin, an English bricklayer.

TOLL ROSE TO SIX—The day after three R.C.A.F. fliers were killed when their training plane crashed into a radio broadcasting tower at Carman, Man., three workmen were killed when they attempted to repair the tower. Workmen are shown using an acetylene torch to cut through the tower's steel girders in attempt to reach trapped workman Jake Dyck. He died soon after the photo was taken.

WATCHING—A German shepherd dog, on a new man-and-dog patrol team, stops at one of the 30 reporting stations in a New York warehouse. When the dog completes an inspection tour and finds things all clear he presses a foot pedal with a front paw and sets off a bell that lets the watchman know that all is well. Four dogs are used in the warehouse and their patrol saves the watchman some nine miles of walking.

Elizabeth Has Close Ties With Canadians

By JOHN LEBLANC

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 (CP) — No monarch ever mounted the British throne with closer personal ties to Canada than Elizabeth II brought today to her Royal office.

As Elizabeth comes to her regal destiny on the death of George VI, Canada's memory of its new Queen is sharp with the freshness of less than three months. It remembers her on last fall's visit as a gay young princess, but serious with a quest for understanding of this big and complex country.

It remembers her consort, Philip, as prince whose gaiety was threaded with a zest for knowledge of Canada, its accomplishments and its potential.

Besides visiting with uncounted millions in every province, through public appearance, the Royal couple got an insight into what makes Canada tick—its industries, its educational institutions, its sports.

Great Acclaim

On the 36-day trip in October and November, Elizabeth and Philip were acclaimed with a warmth far surpassing anything except the enthusiasm for Elizabeth's Royal parents in 1939.

And even the 1939 reception, on the estimate of observers on both tours, had to take second place in the numbers of those who poured out welcome.

The mutual association, on the long coast-to-coast journey, unquestionably gave Canada and Elizabeth a tighter claim upon each other's affections.

Too, it gave Elizabeth a plainer understanding of Canada's loyalty to the monarch.

All that, observers agree, enhanced her regal make-up, fitted one more element into the personality that is a Queen.

Apologies In Order

Villagers Mourn Not King, But Squire

WEST NEWTON, Eng., Feb. 7. (AP) — The villagers of West Newton mourned their squire on Wednesday

To the world, he was King George VI.

He used to wander from the Royal Sandringham estate into West Newton, chatting with the children and keeping an eye out for the villagers' welfare.

The villagers had not seen much of their squire lately. But Lord Fermoy, a friend of the King and a resident on the Sandringham estate, said he was out shooting with him Tuesday.

"His Majesty shot extremely well and looked very fit," said Fermoy. "The shooting party left at 10 o'clock in the morning and returned at four in the afternoon. "The King's last words to me were, 'Will you come shooting hare again on Thursday at the same time?' "

Lord Fermoy said the hunting party bagged 300 hares.

"I have seldom seen the King shoot better," he added.

The death of George VI at Sandringham House hit the villagers with shocking suddenness. Many of them work on the Sandringham estate or in the house.

"We never thought of them as the King and Queen—to us they were always the squire and his lady," said Tom Allen, now pensioned after over 40 years service as a forester on the estate.

"He was a wonderful man and we were all terribly fond of him and his wife. They always had a kind word for the villagers and they always made certain that when our kids left school there would be a job waiting for them on the estate."

Only a few people were gathered outside the massive iron gates of Sandringham on Wednesday morning. Later the crowd grew. Housewives, their work finished, trudged up the long road to gaze down the drive to silent Sandringham House.

As the afternoon wore on a few lights appeared here and there in the windows of the Royal residence.

Fire Damages Sawmill

MILLBROOK, Feb. 7—(ENS)—Some of the woodwork and belts of Stanley Olan's sawmill were destroyed by fire Wednesday morning. The fire was noticed shortly before 9 o'clock and its cause is still unknown. Mr. and Mrs. Olan, by carrying water, were able to keep the blaze somewhat in check until fire reels arrived to put it out. Damage was not extensive.

Separate Schools May Become Issue In B.C.'s Election

VANCOUVER, Feb. 7 (CP) A dispute over use of public funds for church-operated private schools in British Columbia may become an issue in the coming provincial general elections.

The dispute, which blazed up recently after lying dormant for several years, will likely be of paramount importance in constituencies which have a large proportion of Roman Catholic voters.

The problem was raised last month at an executive meeting of the B.C. Liberal party but was shelved for the time being. Members were asked to attempt to feel out sentiment in their ridings before action is taken.

At the centre of the dispute is the Roman Catholic church. It maintains that the provincial government should recognize Catholic schools and contribute to their construction and operation.

Other religious groups which operate private schools have not entered the dispute.

To start from the beginning:

British Columbia entered Confederation in 1871 and, as in all the other provinces, education came under provincial jurisdiction. The government decided to set up a tax-supported public school system.

The government contended then —and still does—that public schools are open to children of all religious faiths and that if parents want to send their children to private schools, no matter of what religious denomination, they must pay for this directly rather than through a share of public taxation.

Roman Catholics at that time formed a small minority of British Columbia's population. Today they are about 20 per cent.

Roman Catholics and adherents of other religious groups have built their own schools with money raised in their parishes and pay for their upkeep.

Textbooks are provided free to private as well as to public school students, and Victoria and Vancouver pay for some medical and dental care for Roman Catholic pupils.

Financing Difficult

Through the years, Roman Catholics have found it more and more difficult to find money to build and maintain schools. They say their standard of secular education cannot be as high as that of public schools unless they get help from the provincial education department. They cannot pay salaries asked by competent teachers; playgrounds and school equipment fall short of the public school standard.

If Roman Catholics send their children to parochial schools they must meet the cost of this and also pay the school taxes all British Columbians pay to cover public school education. This is what Roman Catholics in B.C. mean by "double taxes" for schooling.

Archbishop William M. Duke of Vancouver said in a recent sermon: (The Roman Catholic church) is unwilling to send their children to the public schools because in these schools the most important subject in the eyes of God and in the eyes of all true Christian parents is omitted; namely, the teaching and practice of the religion of Christ."

To this, the government says, in effect: "Well and good. We have no quarrel with that. You may build and operate your own schools at which your children may take religious instruction. But you cannot expect us to pay for it. Eighty per cent of our people believe religious instruction should be given in church or in the home."

There the matter rests.

In March, 1950, a special delegation of Catholics presented a petition to the provincial cabinet, requesting tax exemption of school buildings, health and dental service, free books and bus transportation. The delegation said operation of Catholic schools, with 6,000 pupils, saves the province $1,000,000 a year in education costs.

Education Minister W. T. Straith announced soon afterwards the text books would be provided free for separate as well as public school students.

Last April, two Catholic schools in nearby Maillardville closed. The Catholic School Board said it did not have funds to carry on. The 480 students in the schools were absorbed into the public school system.

Closing of the two schools hinged on bus transportation and a similar case arose last fall at Port Alberni on Vancouver Island. Roman Catholics claimed that bus transportation to and from their schools should be provided free, as for public school students. Mr. Straith said the public schools act stipulates that only public school students may be carried in school buses; however, there would be no objection to buses with empty seats picking up children going to other schools.

Seven-Point Program

Next step in the dispute was last fall. The B.C. Catholic Education Association submitted to the provincial education department this seven-point program to solve the difficulty:

1. Roman Catholic schools would receive the same financial aid and other benefits available to public schools.

("What we are asking is that the education department take our schools into the public system in such a way that we can retain the religious character," Association President Patrick Power said.)

2. Such schools would submit to inspection by the department of education.

3. Catholic teachers would qualify under the law and be presented for certification by Catholic authorities.

4. Catholics would rent their schools to the department for an agreed rental. Financial aid, when new schools were necessary, would be given by the provincial government as is done for public schools.

Catholic schools would follow the curriculum laid down by the education department "with necessary consideration, however, for Catholic textbooks on certain subjects, e.g., history."

6. The question of Catholic representation on school boards would be " a matter of negotiation."

7. Catholic schools and non-profit educational institutions to be free of property tax, as are public schools, also free textbooks, free medical and dental care and bus transportation.

"By doing this there would be one school system in the province and children and teachers would work together under one department in the interest of all," the association said.

Matter For Discussion

Mr. Straith said the proposals merited discussion but no action has yet been taken.

Nov. 18, Reginald Paxton, secretary of the Education Association, told a public meeting that B.C. Catholics now are willing to "integrate their educational system with that of the province."

The Canadian Press reported that Mr. Paxton said Catholic schools were prepared to use the same textbooks as public schools and would accept non-Catholic teachers. (Its dispatches failed to mention qualifications listed by Mr. Paxton: Catholics would want some of their own textbooks, such as history: non-Catholic teachers would be accepted only in such subjects as physcial education and the trades:)

Mr. Paxton said Catholics would still insist that their children be given religious instruction in the schools but this might be after school hours.

The B.C. Teachers' Federation, which is opposed to the Catholic Education Association program, objects to expenditure of public funds for the aid or support of religious or other sectarian schools. It said:

"The action of the (Federation) executive is based, not on prejudice against any particular religious creed, but on the conviction that a healthy and democratic school system cannot be maintained on other than a secular basis."

The Federation action so far has been the only organized statement of opposition.

In October, the first convention of Catholic Education Association passed a resolution saying it was prepared to take political action if no present party would champion public support for Catholic schools.

One delegate suggested formation of a Roman Catholic Provincial political party and said that a Catholic party would elect "at least 12 candidates" to the 48-member provincial legislature.

(The Canadian Press Oct. 8 erroneously reported that the association said it would swing the province's 100,000 Catholics behind a new political party. In fact, this was the suggestion of only one delegate.)

No announced action has yet been taken by Roman Catholics in the political field.

BLOWN TO BITS—Tom Keen's garage in Santa Mateo, Calif., is a mass of ruble after an explosion ripped through his car when he started it. Keen was "blown to bits," police said. The dead man, 56, was president of the International Totalizer Co., of Belmont, Calif., which manufactures tote boards for race tracks.

Union Asks Gregg Take Over Idle Mill

ALMONTE, Ont., Feb. 7—(CP)—Officers of Local 104 of the United Textile Workers (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) Wednesday sent a letter to Labor Minister Gregg urging the Federal government to take over the idle Rosamond woollen mill and put its several hundred unemployed workers back to work.

The mill, Almonte's biggest single source of employment, has been closed for some time for want of orders.

The letter also asked the government to undertake a program of construction in Almonte to provide other work for the jobless and make the town suitable for the entry of new industry.

Execute 5 Czechs

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP) — Czechoslovakia has executed five Czechs convicted of treason and espionage on behalf of the United States, Moscow radio said early Wednesday. The five were condemned to death last Jan. 12 by a peoples court in Prague. Three others got life terms.

ESCAPES — Mamie Shelton, 18, step-daughter of M/Sgt. Franklin Burns, of Hot Springs, Va., is safe after escaping from a kidnapper in West Germany. The red-haired girl was found in "good condition" after spending all night in a car the man deserted after warning her not to leave upon threat of death.

Publish King's Death

MOSCOW, Feb. 7 (AP)—The Soviet press published briefly and without comment today the news of the death of King George VI and the accession of young Queen Elizabeth. All papers carried the news.

Retain Seat

SOUTHPORT, England, Feb. 7 (CP)—The Conservatives Wednesday retained the parliamentary seat of Southport in the first by-election since Winston Churchill ousted the Labor government in the October general election. Roger Fleetwood-Hesketh was elected to replace Conservative R. S. Hudson, who was made a peer. Voting was: Fleetwood-Hesketh 24,589; Alan Tillotson, Labor, 11,-310; Hubert Bentliff, Liberal, 3,-776.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Mary had a kitchen sink
Whose water would not flow;
Now down sluggish, blocked-up drains
Gillett's is sure to go!

Take a tip from "Joe Gillett" — see how quick and easy it is to unblock pipes with Gillett's Drain Cleaner. Works wonders — fast! Clears completely even when water won't seep through! 2 tablespoons each week keep drains free-flowing.

Sidelights To Death

LONDON, Feb. 7—(AP)—At noon today British warships and army posts throughout the world start firing at minute intervals 56 rounds—one for each year for the life of the King.

Mourning commands to the three British services order half-staffed ensigns, draped trumpets, drums and colors, and black arm bands for all officers.

CANTERBURY, England, Feb. 7—(AP)—Prayers were read at Canterbury Cathedral Evensong Wednesday night for "Our Gracious Elizabeth, Elizabeth the Queen Mother and Mary, the Queen Grandmother".

LONDON, Feb. 7 — (AP) — One of the two thrones which have remained side by side in the House of Lords throughout the reign of King George VI will be removed today. A single throne will symbolize the reign of Queen Elizabeth II.

The Duke of Edinburgh, who is expected to be created Prince Consort by the Queen, will occupy a small gilt chair on one of the lower steps at the opening of parliament.

LONDON, Feb. 7 — (AP) — Queen Mother Elizabeth, who under an Act of Parliament will receive a life pension of £70,000 yearly, is expected to move into Clarence House when Queen Elizabeth and her husband move out to take up residence at Buckingham Palace.

DAVENPORT, England, Feb. 7 — (AP) — Dockyard officials ordered a stop to the refitting of the battleship Vanguard Wednesday. The ship was being prepared to take the King on a spring cruise to South Africa.

LONDON, Feb. 7 — (AP) — The will of King George VI will stay secret for all time. Royal wills are outside the jurisdiction of all British courts and legal authorities. The King's last testament will not be published.

Bequests will be made to the King's ministers, staff and servants. But they will be told to keep silent about them. Distribution of the remainder of his estate will remain a family secret.

Hunting Victim

CASTOR, Alta. (CP)—A total of 120 shotgun pellets struck Reginald Quantz when a shotgun carried by a companion on a hunting trip accidentally discharged. He is recovering.

BLAST THAT SNOW—Dynamite crews prepare to blast huge snow drifts on U.S. 40, near Donner Summit, Calif. Emergency crews are working around the clock in an effort to keep the highways open in the area, which has been hard hit by snow all winter long.

Prince Charles Will Face Heavy Duties

LONDON, Feb. 7—(AP)—A chubby little Prince scrambled over the nursery floor Wednesday, unaware that the death of his grandfather has made him one of Britain's richest boys — with a legacy of grave responsibility.

Three-year-old Prince Charles, now heir-apparent to the British Throne, spent the day much as usual, playing with his small sister Anne in hushed, grief-stricken Sandringham House, the Norfolk mansion where King George VI died.

The Prince automatically became the Duke of Cornwall, entitled to the full revenue of the Duchy of Cornwall. Mostly rents, the revenues of the duchy amounted to £100,000 a year just before the Second World War, and now probably total around £180,000. But Charles won't see the money. The estates are administered by officials who look after Crown property. He eventually will get a fixed allowance instead.

Charles, bright and sturdy for his age, was one of King George's biggest joys in the closing months of his life. It was largely because the ailing monarch delighted so much in the company of his grandson that Charles and his sister were brought to Sandringham when the late King moved there for a shooting vacation recently.

Learns Poise

That is how he happened to be in the house at the time his grandfather died.

Charles already has learned a lot of the poise needed to carry him through the heavy duties awaiting a British king. He has learned to wave politely when his Royal mother is receiving guests.

Nevertheless, he is just as full of fun and naughtiness as other children.

One of his favorite pranks is to run around Clarence House pressing the bells to bring a servant scuttling into rooms which are deserted when they come to answer the call.

Perhaps his first official state duty may be to travel down to the ruins of Caernarvon Castle in Wales to be made Prince of Wales. Like the title he automatically received Wednesday, the position of Prince of Wales is reserved for the eldest son of a reigning sovereign. But it is not conferred automatically. It is up to his mother to decide when he takes on the title.

There is no fixed age, but it often is given early in life.

Just as soon as Charles is old enough the tutors will start moving in on him.

He will have to absorb more British history than most college professors have forgotten. He probably will be sent at about 16 to sea to become a sailor. He will have to learn as much about the British constitution as a cabinet minister knows, and study the geography, history and economics of the Commonwealth.

He will also have to know a lot about every regiment in the British Army—but especially his own Brigade of Guards — and grasp enough strategy to talk to the top generals on their own subjects.

He probably will be sent at about 18 to one of the colleges of Oxford. He will live in ordinary student lodgings, to lead, as far as possible, the life of an ordinary student.

But he will never be able to forget that he was born to be a king, that all his movements, every action, will be watched by millions of eyes to see what sort of an example he sets Britain and its far-flung Commonwealth.

Charlotte Prepared Outplow Any Mayor

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 (CP).—Charlotte Whitton is ready to outplow any mayor in Canada.

The doughty and daring Ottawa mayor said Wednesday she is challenging any mayor to match skill against her in a plowing match at nearby Carp next fall.

The 55-year-old woman mayor, who recently did some training in motor mechanics, is scheduled to open the International Plowing Match at Carp, about 20 miles west of Ottawa.

The challenge, she said in an interview, is open for either tractor or the horse-drawn kind. Raised in Renfrew, some 60 miles west of the capital, Miss Whitton has had some experience in driving a buggy and in plowing a straight furrow with a horse.

She admitted that she's had little experience with a tractor, but she's prepared to do a little training in the field if she gets any takers.

Pledges Australia To Help Young Queen

CANBERRA, Feb. 7 (AP) — Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies today pledged Australia would help make Queen Elizabeth's reign "as rich and kind and good and memorable as that of her illustrious father."

Moving in the House of Representatives for a motion of condolence on the King's death, Menzies said:

"God bless the memory of a good King. We are shocked and sad at his death, but we shall remain the better for his life.

"He was a constitutional monarch in the grand tradition of his father. Possessed of great force of character, a most royal sense of duty and keen perception of the movements and issues of his day, our late beloved King was, in the vast and bitter crisis of war in which he served us all so well, a ruler, leader and friend."

Useful Terrain

BELSEN, Germany (Reuters)—The site of the Belsen concentration camp, notorious concentration area of the Second World War, is described as offering some of the best training terrain and tank-firing ranges in the world. The area is being used for training by the 2nd Armored Division of the U.S. Army.

Welcome Calls

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya — (Reuters) — Although the telephone rings every half-hour during the night on lonely rubber plantations, the calls are welcomed. It's part of the system by which guards keep watch against jungle guerrillas.

WILDLIFE EXPERT — Dr. William W. H. Gunn, 36, of Toronto, has been appointed full-time secreary of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists. He will be the first paid secretary of a Canadian group of naturalists. Dr. Gunn will have the title of Executive Director of the federation comprised of 22 nature clubs which seek to develop an active interest in birds, trees, wild flowers and conservation of natural resources. The federation was formed in 1932.

Mrs. W. A. Hume Urges Women On Fair Board

TORONTO, Feb. 7—(CP)—The men and women who are responsible for much of the planning behind Ontario's fall fairs met Wednesday to exchange ideas on how to make the rural showpieces more interesting and more useful.

Zip and comfort were discussed by J. A. Garner, director of extension of the Ontario Agriculture Department. He told the Class B fairs section of the Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies that an impressive opening and closing ceremony would draw crowds to a fair.

Showmanship was important to a fair's success. Comfort of older persons at the fairs should be considered, and seats provided.

New Canadians should be attracted to the fall fairs by special classes and events, and fair boards should do something about extending the hand of friendship.

Have More Say

J. W. (Paddy) Conklin, well-known midway operator from Brantford, told the associations that fairs should have more than one big day in case of rain. Fair directors should have some say in the prices charged by midway operators, instead of leaving it entirely to the midway manager.

Jack Hartley, from the Woodstock district, recommended a bigger place for young men at fairs. Other speakers backed him up and said there is room for more young judges and officials.

Mrs. W. A. Hume, of Campbellford, president of the women's division suggested that women rate a place on the board of directors.

Many Descendants

BEAUMONT, Alta. (CP) — David Magnan, who died here at the age of 90, left six children, 35 grandchildren and 45 great-grandchildren. He was born at St. Nicholas, Que.

CHIMES AGAIN

MUNSTER, Germany (Reuters). —The famous 16th century astronomical clock of Munster Cathedral is working again since wartime damage was restored. Chimes play an anthem of praise while wooden figures enact the adoration of the Virgin. It also shows the changes of the seasons, phases of the moon and the days and months.

Banana Layer Cake
(1-Bowl Method)

Before Mixing: Have shortening at room temperature. Grease pans. Set oven at correct temperature (375°F.).

2¼ cups sifted cake flour
1¼ cups sugar
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shortening
1½ cups mashed ripe bananas (4 to 5 bananas)
2 eggs, unbeaten
1 teaspoon vanilla

USE FULLY RIPE BANANAS . . . YELLOW PEEL FLECKED WITH BROWN

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt into large mixing bowl. Add shortening, ⅓ cup of bananas and eggs. Beat 2 minutes at slow to medium speed with electric mixer or 2 minutes by hand. Scrape down bowl and beater or spoon frequently during mixing. Add remaining 1 cup bananas and vanilla. Beat 1 minute longer. Turn into 2 well-greased, 8-inch layer cake pans. Bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) about 25 minutes, or until layers are done. Frost with your favorite frosting. Makes 1 cake.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

NORWOOD MEETING

Dr. R. A. Kelly, M.O.H., will be the guest speaker at a public meeting in the Norwood town hall tonight. The meeting is being held to discuss the formation of a health unit in the area.

RADIO BROADCAST

A C.B.C. program, The Chamber Comes to Townsville will be broadcast tonight at 8:30. The program demonstrates the work done by chambers of commerce in communities.

BREAKS LEG IN FALL ON ICE

On his way to work today, William Jenkinson, 719 Bethune St., slipped on the icy sidewalk at McDonnel and Bethune Sts., and fell, breaking his leg. The fracture occurred just above the ankle. He was taken to hospital by ambulance.

MAY CANCEL MEETING

If the funeral of King George VI is next Wednesday (Feb. 13) there will be no meeting of SO-ED that night. Should this happen the SO-ED calendar will be continued an extra week to make up for the postponement.

AND SNOW CAME

That was a brilliant ring around the moon last night. According to lore it signified snow or rain, but the few flakes that fell this morning hardly fulfilled the ominous aspect of the night sky.

OTHER CHANGES

The effect of King George VI's death will reach into public dinners and meetings, changing the national anthem and the toast to the sovereign. God Save the King becomes God Save the Queen, and the toast to the King is now the toast to the Queen.

FEDERATION DIRECTORS

Directors of Peterborough Federation of Agriculture are meeting Tues. Feb. 12 for the election of officers and planning of activities for this year. The meeting is called for 8 p.m. in the office of the Department of Agriculture.

PROVINCIAL COUNCILLOR

John G. Pierce, Peterborough, was elected one of the 1952 provincial councillors for the Canadian Institute of Surveying and Photogrammetry at its annual meeting in Ottawa, Wednesday. J. S. Andrews of Victoria was elected president of the institute.

WOMAN FALLS, BREAK WRIST

A 73 year-old Campbellcroft woman, Mrs. Josiah Walker slipped on her kitchen floor Wednesday afternoon and fell breaking her left wrist. She was taken to Civic Hospital in Peterborough where her injured wrist was placed in a cast.

COUNCIL INVITED

Members of the council and their wives have been invited to attend the Eastern Ontario Drama Festival in the Collegiate Institute Auditorium Feb. 26 to Mar. 1. H. R. Wilson, secretary, wrote that the winner would be asked to compete in the Dominion Drama Festival in St. John, N.B., in the spring.

FINDS WELL

Gil Downer who has a hairdressing business at 172 Brock St. is wondering just how old the building is. While digging under an old back kitchen of the house he came across a 35-foot well, walled in with granite stone. He says it was in good shape and had about five feet of water in the botton, However he filled it in so he could get along with some construction work.

WELDERS APPEAL

The arbitration board set up to hear the appeal of the CGE welders against their dismissal by the company has postponed the hearing to Feb. 18-19. Originally the date was Feb. 8-9. Judge J. C. Anderson of Belleville is the chairman of the three-man arbitration board. The welders were fired by the company after a wildcat strike.

UNION NEGOTIATIONS

Employees of Campbell's Dairy will tonight begin preliminary discussions with the company on their first collective bargaining agreement. The dairy employees were recently certified as members of the Textile Workers Union of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) The union will present their proposals tonight and the company will then submit counter proposals.

FAST WORK

A. W. Robertson Co. has made fast work of the new Monaghan Road building at Canadian General Electric plant. The brickwork is just about done. All that remained this morning of that detail were a few rows on the south side. There have not been so many trowel men on a wall here in a long time.

SPECIAL SERVICES

All city churches will hold special services Sunday morning honoring the memory of King George VI. No definite plans are made yet for a community memorial service. Both Mayor Hugh Waddell and the Rev. C. G. Boyd, president of the Peterborough Ministerial Association, were silent on this point.

CANCELS ADDRESS

The death of King George VI caused SO-ED to go without a speaker Wednesday night. Gordon Huson, director of United Kingdom Information Services, Ottawa, cancelled his trip to Peterborough so he could attend to other duties. He was to have spoken on "Misconceptions About the English." Two films about Great Britain were shown instead.

STANDING ROOM ONLY

There was standing room only in police court today, as spectators unable to find seats filled the corridor. No police court was held Tuesday or Wednesday, and a considerable backlog of cases had built up. Wednesday, Magistrate W. R. Philp was out of town, and there was no court Thursday out of respect to his late Majesty King George VI. Gordon H. T. Farquharson marked the opening of a new era today, when he asked for an adjournment "in the matter of the Queen" versus his client.

Beef Prices Drop 4-5c, Maybe More

Cost of Cattle Drop In Toronto, Affects Peterborough

Beef prices have dropped four to five cents a pound since Wednesday, and there is a general feeling among butchers that next week's prices will show another five-cent cut.

Chain stores are selling steaks and roasts at prices varying from 85 to 89 cents a pound, with the cheaper cuts running between the top and about 50 cents a pound.

Independent butchers are, for the most part, charging 95 cents a pound for roasts and steak.

Dropped In Toronto

The cut in prices reflects a drop in the liveweight price of beef on the Toronto market. There, the price has dropped by about five cents a pound, from 30½ to about 25½. This would make a difference to the buyer of $50 on a 1,000-pound beef.

Behind the lower prices is the slackness in demand for beef. Consumer opposition to prices of $1 a pound and thereabouts has been strong.

Butchers generally are as relieved as consumers. For the past few months beef has not been a really profitable meat, and they believe a lower price will stimulate buying, thus increasing their profits.

Competitive

One independent butcher warned that Peterborough's prices might not be a true reflection of the situation. He said this city is one of the most competitive in the province, and therefore he would make no prediction about the future of beef prices.

He said also that there has been a deadlock on the Toronto beef market, with farmers refusing to sell to packers, and packers refusing to buy from farmers. Until that was ironed out, no certain prediction could be made.

Whether it was price war or a real reflection of the price situation, the butchers could count on one thing—housewives would be happy, and happier still at further cuts.

Skiers Shovel To Prepare Three Slopes

Peterborough skiers will invade the Bethany, Nassau and Kemp's hills' districts today, not with skiis and poles, but with shovels, racks and bushel baskets.

Wednesday night the Peterborough Ski club members decided to proceed with the invitation ski meet, the only meet in Southern Ontario this week-end. But first they will have to improve the trails to assure good skiing; there's enough snow to hold the meet but they want good ski conditions.

Tonight at 7.30 the ski enthusiasts will work at Bethany on the slalom and downhill runs under search lights. They have arranged for a tractor to help move the snow as well as a contingent of men to carry snow in bushel baskets, to shovel and rake the snow.

If the work is not completed tonight, the workers will return Friday and Saturday. The snow packed down firmly for a solid base on Saturday morning.

Bethany Fair

A snow report from Bethany Wednesday described conditions on the slopes as fair; there is a hard-packed surface, not icy but hard. The ring around the moon Wednesday night has built hopes for a snow storm. These hopes were strengthened today as light snow began to fall in the morning.

The county snowplow worked its way into the Bethany playground Wednesday to enable cars to reach the foot of the slopes. To reach the hill from the south skiers previously skied in or approached it from the concession road just north of the hill.

The first event will be the junior boys cross country ski which will start Saturday morning from the Kemp's slopes. Under the direction of Al Metcalfe and Waddy Waterman the skiers will follow a three-and-a-half-mile route which goes east then swings north from the hill. The contestants will finish with a down-hill spurt.

Jumping At Nassau

But the meet highlight will take place Saturday afternoon at Nassau where the senior and junior jumping events will be held. These events will begin at 2 p.m. with the juniors.

The meet will wind up Sunday at Bethany with the downhill and slalom events for the juniors, novice women and senior men classes. These races will begin at 10 a.m. with the junior downhill and slalom.

With the Ontario championships only a week away, the Peterborough club expects a large number of entries. Invitations have been sent to Oshawa Toronto, Hamilton, Kitchener, Midland, Collingwood, Huntsville and Owen Sound.

First Robin

The first robin was seen today in Victoria Park in front of the county court house. But he didn't say whether he had inside information about an early spring coming. Perhaps he just became tired of the warm, lazy days and struck out for a more invigorating climate. Or maybe he had a fight with the wife and cleared out. Or maybe he's just crazy.

Plan New Basis For C-O-L Bonus

All cost of living bonuses of civic employees are to remain a bonus, and are not to be incorporated into basic salaries.

That is one of the recommendations of the salary committee adopted by the council.

Others are: The cost of living bonus for the fourth quarter of 1951 are to be paid on the same basis and in the same manner as previous 1951 payments.

A new cost of living bonus basis is to be established at once for all employees, except hourly rated employees who will be dealt with later.

The bonus for 1952 shall be adjusted each month on the basis of the official Dominion Bureau of Statistics index.

The adjustment will be one per cent for every full rise or fall in the index and will be effective with the next pay period after the index announcement each month.

In calculating the bonus the base figure of 172.5 will be used. If the Statistics Bureau changes the system of calculating the index, the whole system of calculating the cost of living bonus will be reviewed.

Scout Leaders Organize Scouters' Club

Peterborough may be setting a precedent in the scouting world.

Walter Wood, Scout Master at St. Alban's Anglican Church announced today that an organization to be known as the Scouters' Club has been formed for Peterborough and district. The organization will include all boy scout, cub, girl guide and brownie leaders in the city and surrounding area.

Mr. Wood estimated that there would be approximately 70 leaders in the club.

The idea of forming such a club was decided on at a meeting of city scout and cub leaders in January. Since that time invitations have been sent to all the leaders of the various groups in the city and district.

Executive Named

An executive has been elected with the following members: Mr. Wood, president; Gordon Hurst, vice-president; Mrs. Lil Hatton, secretary-treasurer.

"The main idea in the formation of this club is to encourage friendship and fellowship among the various organizations," Mr. Wood said. "We also expect it to prove valuable in the pooling of ideas and recommendations for the furthering of our work with youth."

Mr. Wood also explained that to his knowledge the Peterborough Scouters Club is the first group of its kind to ever be organized.

The first official meeting will be held in St. Luke's Parish Hall, March 19.

Junior Farmers Hurl Rocks In Second Ontario Bonspiel

Fathers, mothers and sisters are doing the chores on farms in Eastern, Central and Western Ontario today for the junior farmers are curling. They took over the Peterborough Curling Club ices early this morning to begin the second annual Ontario junior farmers bonspiel.

More than 20 rinks registered, representing Carleton, Renfrew, Victoria, Bruce, Grey, Ontario, Durham, Northumberland, South Simcoe, Waterloo and Peterborough counties. They are contesting for the Ontario Junior Farmers' Association trophy, which is up for competition for the first time this year.

Prizes To Win

To the winners, besides the trophy, will go white curling sweaters, donated by the Quaker Oats Company. Money from the entry fees will be used to buy prizes of sweaters, shirts, gloves and curling berets to be presented for second, third and fourth place rinks.

Another Peterborough company the Canada Packers Company, will banquet the curlers at a buffet dinner when the 'spiel closes at 7 p.m.

Meanwhile the curlers are busy. The first draw ended shortly after 11 a.m. and the winners went straight into the second while the losers waited until the third round which began at 1 p.m.

All the rinks will play at least three games before the 'spiel is completed.

Last year the junior farmers held their first bonspiel in Lindsay and had 12 rinks, mostly from Central Ontario.

Of the four Victoria county rinks in the first draw only one, skipped by McMullen, managed to win. The McMullen quarte handed out one of two drubbings when they easily defeated the McKechnie rink from Renfrew county 13-5.

The other severe setback was between Linton-skipped rink of Victoria and Bill Nelson's curlers from Keene. The Peterborough county curlers won 14-5.

Other first draw scores were:

Mussel (Carleton) 8—McLaren (Renfrew) 9.

Imrie (Victoria) 8—McFadden (Bruce) 11.

Barrie (Waterloo) 11—Miller (Peterborough) 3.

Veale (Victoria) 10 — Lowe (Grey) 14.

Westlake (Ontario) 8—Dorrell (Durham) 5.

May Buy Portrait Of H.R.H. Kenner

Tentative plans to purchase an oil portrait of Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, late principal of P.C.V.S., were made Wednesday night by a group of former collegiate students.

The meeting had a two-fold purpose: to discuss a campaign to raise funds for the portrait, and eventually to form a P.C.V.S. alumni association. Four members of a seven-member committee were named to make further plans.

Named to the committee were: Howard McDonald, temporary chairman, T. J. Allen, Arthur Pitchford and Miss Genevieve Fowler. Three other members of the committee are to be chosen later.

Feeling at the meeting was that during the campaign for funds, to be conducted among former collegiate students, former students should be sounded out to see whether they would be in favor of an alumni association.

C. S. Browne, P.C.V.S. principal, said he believed that between $1,200 and $1,500 would have to be raised. About 25 former students were present.

Douro Seeks Approval Of School Bonds

DOURO, Feb. 7—Douro township council is seeking tentative approval of the Ontario Municipal Board of a $60,000 debenture issue to cover the estimated cost of a four-roomed school to be built in school area No. 2.

This school area has been the centre of considerable discussion for some time, with settlers of V.L.A. lots fighting for a six-roomed, central school. School trustees have fought equally strongly against centralization.

Council also went on record as being opposed in principle to the bylaw pending in county council dealing with the restriction and regulation of tree-cutting in the county.

Township clerk J. J. Coughlin was instructed to prepare a bylaw fixing the time for opening and closing polls at future elections. Council felt the opening and closing times should be 9 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Reeve Roland Tedford and Mr. Coughlin were authorized to sign and submit to the Department of Highways a statement that the township had spent $14,051.97 on roads, and to ask for the grant on this amount.

$17,00 For Roads

Bylaws were passed appropriating $17,000 for township roads in 1952, and appointing the following municipal officers: board of health, A. J. Moher; sanitary inspector, A. J. Moher; livestock evaluators, E. Moloney, E. Garbutt, John Allen and William McKeivers; pound keepers, Frank Scott, W. Abbott, Clement Garvey, Stanley Condon, Richard Sheehan; fence - viewers, B. Leahy, Joseph Coughlin, Frank Heffernan, Joseph O'Connor, E. Carlow, Harry Garbutt, Charles Frankish; school attendance officer, Alphonsus Condon; janitor, John F. Leahy.

Road accounts totalling $2,283.-35 were ordered paid, as well as relief accounts of $311 and township accounts of $95.18.

Sales, Ad Clubs Hold Convention

The National Sales and Ad Clubs convention will be held for the first time in Peterborough June 15-17.

This announcement was made today by John Madden, a director of the Federation of Sales and Ad clubs.

Mr. Madden said that this is the first time the convention has not been held in a major Canadian city. The 1951 convention was held in Montreal.

Approximately 75 delegates from Vancouver, B.C. to Halifax, N.S., will be attending with the activities to include business sessions mornings and afternoons, two luncheons, a dinner and dinner dance. Outstanding speakers will also be a part of the program.

The quarterly meeting of the board of directors of the Federation will also be held in Peterborough in April. Planning for the convention will be a part of the agenda of this meeting.

Interning At Civic Hospital

Former Pole Learning To Become Canadian Doctor

Dr. Wladyslaw Kurowski is on his way to becoming a Canadian doctor like many other European doctors who were uprooted during the war and for many reasons, mostly because of the Communists, preferred not to go back to their former homes.

Even while a prisoner, serving as a doctor in a Nazi prison camp for five years, he was preparing a new future for himself. He listened to BBC broadcasts and that way learned English. He could already speak his native Polish and Russian, French and German .

While he listened to British broadcasts, he decided his future was in Canada. Now he is interning at Civic hospital. Three other Europeans, two women and a man, are Interning there with him.

He was liberated from a south German prison camp in April, 1945, by French troops and decided against returning to his native Warsaw, capital of Poland.

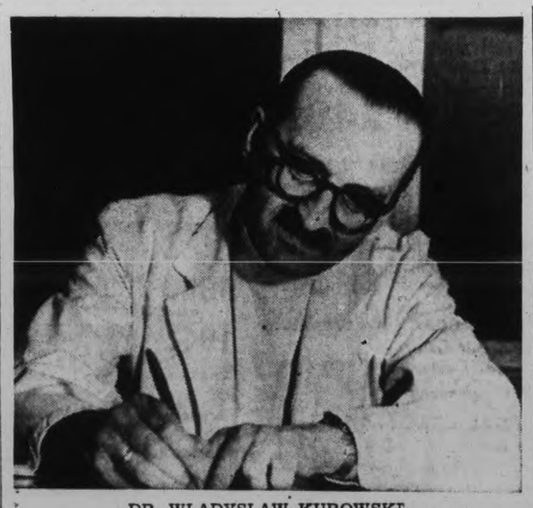
"I couldn't return home because of the Communists," he explains, "because I have no sympathy with Communism. I decided I would have to emigrate to Canada or the United States."

Has Great Future

Dr Kurowski is convinced that Canada "is a country with a great future." He says that he chose this country in preference to the U.S., because he believes there is more opportunity for an European doctor in a country like Canada that is expanding and where more areas are being developed than there is in the U.S.

He talked the matter over with Canadian immigration authorities at Karlsruhe in the American occupation zone of Germany and arranged to come to Peterborough.

Dr. Kurowski and his wife, a German nurse, whom he married in March 1949, sailed from Bremerhaven for Halifax in October 1950. After a three-day stop-over at a labor hostel in the Nova Scotia capital, they came to Peterborough via Toronto.



DR. WLADYSLAW KUROWSKI
(Examiner Staff Photo)

Dr. Kurowski had a contract to serve at St. Joseph's hospital for one year, and after two months as an orderly, he started his internship.

Before European doctors can become qualified physicians in Canada, they have to serve as interns for a year, and then pass an examination before a medical board of the provincial College of Physicians and Surgeons.

After completing his contract at St. Joseph's in November last year Dr. Kurowski moved across the city to intern at the Civic.

Will Write Exams.

He is enjoying his work at the Civic and says that he does not intend to take his medical examinations before late 1952 or early in 1953.

Dr. Kurowski found suitable accommodation for himself and his wife at 435 Rogers St., and they are quite happy in Peterborough. "The people have been very kind and helpful to us," says Dr. Kurowski.

After more than a year here, Dr. Kurowski is impressed with the country and plans to remain in Canada. He graduated in medicine from the University of Warsaw in 1927 and practised there until the outbreak of war in August 1939.

His specialty is gynecology and obstetrics and although he is working at all services while completing his internship, he plans on specializing in this field after he passes the medical board's tests.

Dr. Kurowski believes there are too many doctors already established in Eastern Canada to enable a newcomer like himself to get started without difficulty.

Looks To West

So, he looks to Western Canada, believing that with the new developments in Alberta and British Columbia there is more opportunity. He points out that there are "not so many doctors established out there," and agrees that the greater number of new Canadians from European countries would be another factor in his favor.

Before the war, Dr. Kurowski's main work was in connection with hospitals, and he prefers this type of medical practice. "Ever since I graduated I have always worked in hospitals. Private practice was additional work for me."

His eventual goal he says is a position as a staff doctor in a hospital in Western Canada.

Dr. Kurowski says he has found little difference in methods used in Canadian hospitals as compared with those he has been associated with in Europe. However, he does notice one important difference—"here there are more instruments, machines and better blood transfusion facilities."

Relatives In Poland

Dr. Kurowski's mother and sister are still living in Poland. He has not seen them since the day in August 1939 when he was mobilized in the Polish army. A few days later he was captured and for the remainder of the war, Dr. Kurowski treated allied prisoners, "some Canadians were among them," in a prison hospital in south Germany.

He has no plans for returning to his native country and is not certain whether he would consider returning if and when the Iron Curtain retreats from the borders of Poland.

Sanitation Employees Divide $160 Cheque

Employees of the city's sanitation department are dividing $160 for which a cheque has been received from C. Levack for salvagable material tossed aside at the North Monaghan dump and incinerator.

The arrangement reported by Ald. Norman Graham has been approved by the council. Instead of paying a caretaker a yearly salary for looking after the dump, alongside the C.P.R. in the township the council receives $100 a month from Mr. Levack, plus three dollars a ton on scrap tin at both the dump and incinerator.

The contribution to the men of that department is to be made quarterly, and becomes a little extra to which Ald. Graham felt they were entitled.

DENIES NAZI LINK—Former Nazi Eberhard Stern identified the picture at left as being that of Brother Martin, a Franciscan monk in San Antonio Franciscan College, Rome, Italy, and said in Berlin, that the monk is Martin Borman, right, long-missing deputy of Adolf Hitler. The monk has denied the charge and said he was born Martin Reiner Bodewiz at Zieverich, near Cologne, in 1912 and entered the Franciscan Order in 1932.

Ontario Making Good Progress In Easing Hospital Bed Shortage

By The Canadian Press

Ontario has made considerable progress in alleviating the post-war hospital bed shortage by a province-wide program of hospital expansion and modernization.

The shortage has not yet been overcome but rapid progress in that direction has enabled hospital administrators to give greater attention to the basic problem of rising costs.

The average daily patient cost has risen from $5.82 in 1945 to approximately $14.30 in 1951.

Since the end of the war, some 6,000 active treatment beds or infant cubicles have been added to the province's 133 general hospitals. In 1951 alone, the 27 large and small projects of hospital expansion or construction resulted in an addition of 1,975 new beds or cubicles to the previous 16,793.

The Ontario Hospital Association estimates that in 1951 $27,700,000 was spent for hospital construction. The overall average cost for each new bed is estimated at $12,000.

Cost Varies

The actual cost varies, however—as low as $3,500 in small hospitals and in big hospitals, such as the Sick Children's Hospital in Toronto, $20,000. The high cost in large hospitals is due to the greater facilities necessary, such as additional operating rooms, delivery rooms and laboratories.

The biggest project of any Ontario hospital since the war is the $14,000,000 to be spent on additions and improvements to the Toronto General Hospital. Its capacity will be increased by 400 beds. A campaign for funds ended last week with the goal almost reached. It is hoped to begin construction this spring.

Under way are many other projects, including the Toronto Western Hospital 191-bed addition and the new Mount Sinai Hospital in Toronto with 351 beds. In 1951, bed capacity of the Hamilton General Hospital was increased by 179, Hamilton St. Joseph's by 118 and Toronto St. Michael's by 154.

Salary Increases

On an average, salaries, exclusive of doctors' services, represent 53.1 per cent of all hospital costs in Ontario. Reduction in the working hours of hospital personnel has increased the number of workers.

Increased wages and higher costs of food, bedding, equipment, construction, the exepnse of laboratory and technical-diagnostic treatment equipment not previously used, are the main factors in boosting hospital costs.

A survey of a dozen average hospitals by the Ontario Hospital Association showed the following increased costs with no increase in patients treated: Salaries and wages, 1939, $375,000, 1951, $1,195,000; meats, poultry and so on, 1939, $34,000, 1951 $136,000; milk products, 1939, $16,300, 1951, $45,900; heat, light, power, 1939, $80,000, 1951, $139,000.

Reduce Stay

The average stay of patients has been drastically reduced. For paying patients the average stay in 1951 amounted to nine days, compared with average of 23.4 days for indigent patients, on whom hospitals lose money. Indigents require greater care since, by the time they come under hospital attention, their condition has become acute.

Provincial grants for hospitals are provided on the basis of $1,000 for each active treatment bed, one-third of this amount for each infant cubicle, $2,000 for each chronic or convalescent bed and $2,500 for each tuberculosis bed providing this does not exceed one-half the total cost.

In addition, Federal grants of $1,000 are paid for each active treatment bed and $1,500 for each convalescent or chronic bed.

St. Laurent Expresses Canada's Deepest Sympathy

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent Wednesday expressed profound sorrow at the death of King George VI and informed Queen Elizabeth II of Canada's earnest desire to support and uphold her "in the great responsibilities you now have assumed."

Deep sympathy for the loss of the King was expressed in two separate messages sent by the Prime Minister to the new Queen and to the King's widow.

To Queen Elizabeth he wrote:

"I respectfully extend to Your Majesty in your bereavement and to all the members of the Royal Family, the deepest sympathy of the government and the people of Canada.

"His late Majesty King George VI was greatly loved by all of his subjects in Canada who remember vividly his happy visit to this country and his personal associations with our armed forces during the war.

"We share with the other peoples of the Commonwealth profound sorrow at his passing. Your own recent visit here has increased our sense of your nearness to us and to our loyalty and affection there will be added an earnest desire to support and uphold Your Majesty in the great responsibilities you now have assumed."

Personal Loss

To the King's widow he wrote:

"On behalf of the government and the people of Canada, I extend deepest sympathy to Your Majesty and the members of Your Majesty' family in your bereavement.

"As Your Majesty has seen yourself in your visit to this country, Canadians had the strongest feelings of devotion and affection for King George VI for whose high courage and exemplary family life there was universal admiration.

"They share with the other peoples of the Commonwealth and indeed the world a sense of personal loss for a most distinguished sovereign."

Continue Ban

TORONTO, Feb. 7 (CP)—Cancellation of all commercial broadcasts will be extended another 24 hours, the CBC announced Wednesday. Commercial programs were cancelled early Wednesday in tribute to the memory of the King. Stations on the Trans-Canada and Dominion networks of the CBC will observe the ban until midnight today.

Has Experts Guessing

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II already has the experts guessing on the title she will be known by in Scotland. The first Queen Elizabeth reigned before the crowns of England and Scotland were joined in the reign of James I. Queen Elizabeth I thus was never Queen of Scots. So the point is expected to arise as to whether the new monarch should be called Queen Elizabeth II of England or Queen Elizabeth I of Scotland.

Home Mission Work Theme Of WMS Meet

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 17 (ENS)—Mrs. W. H. Tonge was hostess to members of the Women's Missionary Society at the manse Tuesday afternoon. One guest, Mrs. O. B. Hiosen of Norway was present.

The worship service was in charge of Mrs. H. J. Brown and the Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Earl Orr.

General theme of the meeting was "Home Mission Work in Our Church", and papers were read by Mrs. C. S. Tanner and Mrs. W. W. Yale dealing with this important topic. Meditations were taken by Mrs. Brown, who also led in prayer.

An informative report of the presbyterial meeting held recently in Peterborough was given by Mrs. W. W. Leonard. A request was also made by Mrs. Leonard for more readers for the missionary course of reading, and stated that many of the necessary books could be obtained at the Lakefield library.

The president, Mrs. P. H. Darling, presided for a short business period and announced that the World's day of prayer would be held Feb. 29th in the Gospel Hall.

SIDNEY GRUBER, of San Francisco, is a somewhat puzzled young man as he studies his rabbit, Minus, one of a litter of eight sisters who arrived nine weeks ago. As any six year old who follows his picture book knows, a rabbit must have two ears. But not Minus, she arrived with just a hole where the other ear ought to be.

Canadians Must Take New Oath Of Allegiance

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 (CP).—Thousands of Canadians must take a new oath of allegiance, but the administration of Canada continues under the tradition: "The King is dead; long live the Queen."

Most recent embodiment of this tradition on Canadian statutes, "the demise of the Crown Act," has remained on the statutes unchanged since 1927.

Its main provision is continuity of the Crown. Under it, all persons holding office by royal commission—including everyone from Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret of Canada—at present administrator in the absence of a Governor General, to the lowest commissioned rank in the armed forces, maintain full authority.

The act simply provides that all such persons must swear allegiance to the new Monarch "at the earliest opportunity."

The form of the oath:

"I, ——— do swear that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II, her heirs and successors according to law. So help me God."

This applies to provincial Lieutenant-Governors, provincial cabinet ministers, judges and officers of the armed forces, as well as many other categories of public servants. Senators and members of the House of Commons will take the oath Feb. 28 when parliament resumes.

Some Confusion

Some confusion concerning the question of continuity was evident even in high government circles today when word reached the capital of the King's death.

Some officials at first expressed the view that a commissioned officer did not properly hold office until he took the new oath of allegiance. For example, they suggested, a judge holding court when the announcement of the demise came must adjourn court and take the oath and then resume.

A study of the demise of the Crown Act made it clear this was not so. Continuity of office is assured and the new oaths of allegiance are a formality.

Authority to administer the oath is held by hundreds of judges, civil servants and others throughout Canada. And since each holds this authority by continuing commission one judge, for example, can administer the oath to a fellow-judge, and in turn swear the oath before him.

The ceremonies started Wednesday in Ottawa, for example, when Norman Robertson, clerk of the Privy Council, administered the oath to Mr. Justice Patrick Kerwin, senior judge of the Supreme Court of Canada. Mr. Justice Kerwin, in turn, administered the oath to Chief Justice Rinfret, first as chief justice, and then again as administrator of the government.

Mr. Justice Rinfret then took the oath of Mr. Robertson, who subsequently took the oaths of Prime Minister St. Laurent and other members of the cabinet.

The process is expected to be more or less duplicated in each of the 10 provinces.

Taking a new oath is not necessary for Canada's 90,000 other ranks of the armed forces, or her 120,000 civil servants across the country, although all have taken oaths of allegiance. Since they do not hold commissions, it is not necessary for them to reswear allegiance to the new Queen. They already have sworn allegiance to King George VI and all his "heirs and successors according to law."

Hard To Change

LIVERPOOL, NS —(CP)—A regulation banning parking on the streets between 1 am and 7 am has been in effect only since Jan. 2, but already several violators have been hailed into court. Summonses are being issued for others who got tickets and failed to appear.

Costly Noise

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters). —Prof. V. A. Bailey of Sydney University says the high noise level in the city has shortened the lives of thousands of people. He stressed that noise has a deleterious effect on the human nervous system and the efficiency of workers.

Honored Couple

THESSALON, Ont.—(CP)—Mr. and Mrs. John J. King, who recently celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary, have received an impressive certificate from the Province of Ontario. Previously they received best wishes from the Federal Government.

Growing Government

TEL AVIV (Reuters) — The government payroll for the new state of Israel included about 20,000 permanent civil servants at the end of 1951. In addition there were 5,000 police and some temporary workers. The figure does not include teachers and troops.

PART-TIME COP—When traffic became snarled at a downtown Winnipeg intersection 17-year-old Peter Penner, telegraph messenger, stepped in and acted as traffic policeman for 30 minutes, keeping the roads clear and vehicles moving. He is shown wearing the cap of a grateful policeman.

Perspective Discussed At Camera Meeting

William Thompson, professional photographer, demonstrated "perspective" with a "view camera" at the last meeting of the Peterborough Camera Club.

By swinging and tilting his camera he showed the club members how to retain parallel lines when taking photos of buildings and other objects that have straight, clean lines.

About 20 members were present.

The next meeting will be Feb. 12. At that time there will be an exhibit of photos from a prize-winning group selected by the Photographic Society of America.

SOUP KITCHEN RETURNS — Polish immigrants, hard hit by defence-conversion unemployment in Detroit motor factories, line up at a private-operated soup kitchen in Hamtramck, Mich., industrial suburb of Detroit. The kitchen — dishing out substantial meals of soup, meat, vegetables, bread and coffee — is the first to be set up in Mamtramck since the depression days of the 'Thirties. A suburban city councilman has proposed publicly-operated soup kitchen to help feed some of the area's 200,000 jobless.

Indian Ruins Cost City $14,000 a Year But Taxpayers Will Not Give Them Up

By HOWARD DeWALD

PHOENIX, Ariz.—(NEA)—An item of "$14,119 for a prehistoric ruins" in the annual city of Phoenix budget caused a new taxpayer to raise an eyebrow.

"What new kind of political fixing is this?" he wanted to know.

He later found everything was proper. No one had bothered to tell him Phoenix is the only city in the country that maintains what archaeologists term a prehistoric monument and it needed $14,119 to operate the next fiscal year.

Called Pueblo Grande, the monument is the ruins of a village and community granary used by Indians about 700 A.D. when corn and other domesticated plants were introduced into what is now the Southwest.

There are numerous other prehistoric monuments throughout the country, but they are all under the care of the federal government.

Look To Past

To preserve, develop, and interpret the history of the ruins and its lost civilization, Phoenix employs the only man to hold a civil service rating as a city archeologist. He is Odd S. Halseth, a sage, 59-year-old Norwegian immigrant who believes the world should look to the past to prepare for the future.

Phoenix taxpayers would almost sooner have the tax rate boosted than shut off operation of Pueblo Grande. Although there are no financial returns from the ruins, the chamber of commerce figures that in tourist dollars they are worth from $50,000 to $75,000 yearly. Equally intangible are the values received in the form of services to schools, clubs, and interested citizens.

Halseth is keeper of the memories and relics of the Hohokam, a Pima Indian word meaning "dead" or "disappeared" and applied in archaeology to designate the prehistoric Indians who lived in the valleys of the Gila and Salt rivers for more than 1,000 years. They abandoned the area in Central Arizona about 1400 A.D.

The Hohokam left other mounds and ruins in the Phoenix vicinity, all of which have been explored and dug into for pertinent historical data and archaeological artifacts by Halseth.

One such mound is on the site of a new addition to a Phoenix hospital. Since Halseth had no further use for the mound and a new hospital building would soon cover it, The Dons, a Phoenix tourist promotion club, arranged for the public to spend a day digging at the site.

The judging will continue, if necessary, beyond the awarding of the other 143 prizes until a correct solution is found which qualifies for this Special $1,000.00 Bonus!

"Little Pitchers" Have Big Eyes, as well as big ears! Last night Joan's little girl said—"Mommy, why is Granny's wash whiter than yours?" Well, it didn't take Joan long to find out from Granny that it was Blue that did the trick! Just a swish or two of Blue in the final rinsing, for it's Blue that prevents clothes turning yellow. There's no pure white without blue in it. (I can remember that from my school-days, can't you?) And, when you think that Blue costs just a few cents a month, it's certainly worth it — isn't it? For Blue is safe as safe can be for your finest fabrics . . . and it keeps them snowy-white!

Yes, for the whitest wash, it's RECKITT'S BLUE.

It's Not The Biggest Thing On My Shopping List . . . but it certainly gives me "enormous" value for my money. And I'm sure you'll feel the same way about delicious, economical BLUE BONNET MARGARINE. Gives you so much for so little! Delicate, country-sweet flavour—fresh as can be all year 'round. And you'll be delighted with the Yellow Quik bag Blue Bonnet comes in. Makes it so easy to colour. No messy dishes—no extra work . . . just press the colour button on the Yellow Quik bag and knead the bag gently. In just two minutes, your Blue Bonnet is golden-yellow—ready to use. Yes, you get your full "money's worth" and more—when you buy Blue Bonnet Margarine!

If You're Like Me, your budget just can't stand the strain of meat prices today — every day. But here's good news . . . a plan for meatless meals that will be kind to your budget — and appeal to your love of good food, too. KRAFT DINNER is a real main dish . . . a wonderful macaroni-and-cheese combination that cooks to tasty lightness in only 7 minutes. And here's how economical it is . . . one package of "Kraft Dinner" contains enough for a main dish for four . . . for less than 4c a serving! Ask your grocer tomorrow for delicious "Kraft Dinner" —sure to be a family "favourite".

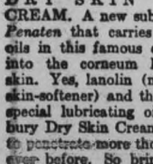
55% Less Tooth Decay! Yes, it can happen in your family — now that DENTOCILLIN, the penicillin tooth powder, is here. In a 2-year test among school children, Dentocillin actually did reduce decay 55%—5 times more than a famous university's ammoniated formula. And Dentocillin is effective with just morning and evening brushing! (Penicillin fights decay up to 24 hours after use. Effects of anti-decay ingredients used in other dentifrices last only about ½ hour.) Do change to Dentocillin, now. Safe; recommended by dentists for nearly 2 years. Really cleans teeth. Tastes wonderful. 75c for 3 months' supply. No prescription needed.

Does Dry Skin make you dread your mirror? Well — there's certainly something you can do about that! Just for y-o-u . . . Woodbury scientists have put a new "miracle" ingredient in their WOODBURY DRY SKIN CREAM. A new substance called Penaten that carries all the rich oils in this famous cream deeper into the corneum layer of the skin. Yes, lanolin (nature's finest skin-softener) and the three other special lubricating oils in Woodbury Dry Skin Cream are allowed to penetrate more thoroughly than ever before. So bring new love-liness to your skin with Woodbury Dry Skin Cream—costs only 23c, 45c, 78c and $1.15.

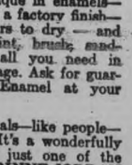
They Wouldn't Believe Me . . . you should have heard them — "but, Barbara, that refrigerator looks brand, spanking new!" It does, too, thanks to my wonderful FRIGEN Enamel. Gone are the days when paint-worn stoves, refrigerators, toilet seats and medicine cabinets were major tragedies. Now, with this economical Frigen Enamel you may give a durable, factory-bright finish to all such household appliances. You see, Frigen is something unique in enamels—designed to give a factory finish—it takes 3-4 hours to dry — and comes with paint, brush, and all you need in one handy package. Ask for guaranteed Frigen Enamel at your paint dealer's.

I Agree With Corinne Jordan . . . cars look like animals—like people—even like sharp-fanged dragons. It's a wonderfully crazy idea, isn't it? And that's just one of the reasons I like to listen to the CORINNE JORDAN radio programme. It's full of fun—poetry—and lovely music that Corinne plays on her grand piano. Don't miss this fascinating fifteen-minute programme—brought to you by the makers of DURHAM CORN STARCH. That's another thing I agree with Corinne about! Durham Corn Starch is grand! It gives your sauces, puddings and cream fillings the most wonderful smoo-othness. Look for it in the new, streamlined, easy-to-open, easy-to-close package with the recipes on it.

Enjoy the Corinne Jordan program every Mon., Wed., and Fri., at 6.45 p.m., on Station CHEX



Yes, It's True, as I've proved to myself again and again. For five "upsets" that can make you feel sluggish and blue—there's one remedy to set you right . . . speedy, sparkling SAL HEPATICA. Anytime you suffer from irregularity—headaches—liver upset—constipation or over-indulgence . . . take gentle Sal Hepatica for fast relief. It usually leaves you feeling like a million in no time at all! Yes, Sal Hepatica has saved the day—and the evening—many a time for me. That's why I always like to have this "one-for-five" laxative handy in my medicine-cabinet!



Are You "In-The-Dark" about feminine hygiene? It's something every woman should know about . . . and many have found that the most satisfactory method of feminine hygiene is ZONITORS. Zonitors are greaseless, stainless, snow-white vaginal suppositories that are powerfully germicidal—yet absolutely safe to delicate tissues. And they're so very dainty and convenient to use! Ask your druggist for Zonitors tomorrow—and write to me—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q. —for a free booklet giving facts you should know about feminine hygiene. It will be sent to you in a plain wrapper.

Something For Your Recipe-Scrapbook . . . this easy, economical — completely delicious way to make Chicken a la King. The "magic" ingredient?—it's HEINZ CONDENSED CREAM OF MUSHROOM SOUP. Like all the Heinz Soups, it's real soup, full of rich, real mushroom flavour.

CHICKEN A LA KING

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 10-oz. can Heinz Cream of Mushroom Soup
2/3 cup water or chicken broth
1½ cups diced, cooked chicken
1 cup canned or cooked peas
¼ cup (3 oz. jar) chopped pimiento

Melt butter; add flour and salt. Blend well. Add soup and water and cook until bubbling, stirring constantly. Add remaining ingredients; heat. Serve in patty shells or over crisp waffles. Serves 6.

I've Never Seen A Husband as proud as Mary's was the other night! He beamed with delight when we all asked for second helpings of Mary's wonderful cake. She told us her cake success "secret" . . . SWANS DOWN CAKE FLOUR. Surprised? No, I'll bet you're not if you use Swans Down. For you know that it makes cakes as light as a dream . . . beautiful, tender cakes that melt in your mouth. But do you know why Swans Down makes such wonderful cakes? Firstly—it's made by cake-flour experts. And—it's sifted and resifted 'til it's 27 times as fine as ordinary flour. Don't take chances when you're cake-baking . . . to all your precious ingredients — add the "wizardry" of Swans Down Cake Flour.

My Grandmother had a way of saying "It's High Time" you did this, or that—so it sounded really urgent! And right now I wish I could hear her telling you—"It's High Time you asked your grocer for Wagstaffe!" For the NEW PACK of WAGSTAFFE PURE SEVILLE ORANGE MARMALADE has just come in. Oh, you'll really enjoy the fresh-made goodness of this NEW PACK, so don't miss out! You see, Wagstaffe imports fine, juicy Seville oranges direct from Spain! Then cooks them with pure sugar to capture their sunny flavour—their delicious zip and tang! Yes the best marmalade is made from imported Spanish Seville oranges —so get Wagstaffe and enjoy the "real thing". Yes, it's High Time you tried Wagstaffe Pure Seville Orange Marmalade — now when the NEW PACK is at your grocer's.

They'll Sit Up And Take Notice when you serve this delicious lemon dessert tonight! M-mm-mmm! Celestine Lemon Tapioca —so good . . . and good for your budget, too. And that's not all—it's wink-quick and easy to make. But be sure to make it with SUNKIST CALIFORNIA LEMONS . . . they're the finest, juiciest grown.

CELESTINE LEMON TAPIOCA

¼ c. quick cooking tapioca
¾ c. sugar
½ tsp. salt
2 c. rapidly boiling water

Bring to a brisk boil in upper part of double boiler over direct heat, stirring constantly. Place over boiling water and cook 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. When slightly cool, add:

¼ c. Sunkist lemon juice
1 tsp. grated Sunkist lemon peel

Cool. Fold in:

½ c. cream, whipped

Garnish with fruit. Serves 6.

Monarchy Change Alters Insignia

OTTAWA, Feb. 7.— (CP) — A change in the monarchy brings change to Canada's social and economic fabric, too. Long-familiar markings, insignia and pictures will slowly disappear and give way to new ones.

With the proclamation of Queen Elizabeth II as head of the British Commonwealth, documents, coins, stamps, legal descriptions, toasts and even highway markings will undergo revision.

The most immediate noticeable social change likely will be the matter of toasts. It will be "to the Queen" and not "to the King." The National Anthem will be "God Save the Queen."

The familiar initials "G.R." on postal trucks, which stand for George Rex," will give way to "E.R."—Elizabeth Regina.

Court cases fought for or against the Crown will be marked for or against Regina—and not Rex. Lawyers appointed King's counsel—K.C.—will be known as Queen's counsel—Q.C.

The provincial courts known as the court of King's Bench will become the court of the Queen's Bench. Even highway signs will undergo change. The "King's Highways," running throughout Ontario likely will be called the "Queen's Highways."

And the famed King's Plate racing event in Toronto likely will be known in the future as the Queen's Plate, as it was when Queen Victoria reigned more than 50 years ago.

Naturalists Name Dr. Wm. W. Gunn

TORONTO, Feb. 7—(CP)—Appointment of Dr. William W. H. Gunn of Toronto as permanent secretary of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists was announced Wednesday night. He will be the first paid secretary of a Canadian group of naturalists.

Dr. Gunn will have the title of executive director of the Federation, comprising 22 nature study clubs which seek to develop an active interest in birds, trees, wild flowers and conservation of natural resources. The federation was formed in 1932.

An expert on the relation between weather and bird migration, Dr. Gunn since last May has been biologist for the Division of Research, Ontario Department of Lands and Forests. His work chiefly was with research projects on birds and animals at the Algonquin Park research station.

A private in the Ordnance Corps in 1941, the 38-year-old naturalist was discharged from the army in 1946 with the rank of lieutenant-colonel. He was ordnance observer in Exercise Muskox in the Northwest Territories in 1945-46, during which he helped prepare a wildlife report. In 1949, he served as wildlife observer for the Canadian Wildlife Service on the joint Canada-United States Arctic weather station re-supply mission.

WINTER PADDLERS—The five Toronto members of the Canadian Olympic canoe team take a practice whirl in new boats which arrived recently from Denmark and Sweden. Despite chilly weather and ice piled high on the breakwater on the city's waterfront, they started training for the summer events to be held at Helsinki. They are, left to right: Don Hawgood, Ken Lane, Tom Hodgson, Art Johnson and Bert Oldershaw.

Britain Intends To Keep Sterling Strong-Butler

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

The current issue of the Economic Record, issued by the United Kingdom Information Office in Ottawa, prints the following statement from R. A. Butler, Britain's chancellor of the exchequer:

"Let no on doubt our intention to make and keep sterling strong. No one need doubt our ability either. We have set our hands to the task of reconstructing the economic strength of the country and setting it on a firm foundation. Come what may, we shall perform that task."

The sterling area consists of all countries of the Commonwealth, except Canada, plus Burma, Iceland, Iraq, Jordan, Libya and the Republic of Ireland.

Describing the area, the Economic Record comments:

"It is the only voluntary association of nations in the world in which currency payments are free. It is bound to a code of the utmost elasticity and governed by a 'gentleman's agreement.' If the sterling area collapsed, trade would be bilateral, with each nation watching narrowly its own bilateral balance with the dollar area and constantly changing the level—up or down—of its dollar purchases."

Suspect Queries

The bulletin, published by the Canadian Industrial Preparedness Association, cautions Canadian industry against telling too much to foreign inquirers. It says in part:

"Public utility in the province of Quebec recently received a request from Germany for details of two of its vital power installations.

"It is, of course, possible that inquiries of this sort are innocent in character; but, if they were not, every effort would be made to make them appear so. Appearances are a poor basis for judgment in these cases.

"There have been enough similar instances to lend some credence to the belief that a sort of pattern is being followed. Consequently, there is a real possibility that there is smart over-all direction of the effort to obtain data which would be extremely useful for sabotage or other destructive action. . .

"If it is not absolutely essential for the inquirer to have the information he seeks, don't give it to him. In any event, legitimate foreign inquiries can and should be channeled through available governmental agencies, commercial or diplomatic."

Funeral At Trenton

LAKE WORTH, Fla., Feb. 7 — (CP)—A. D. McIntyre, 69, a former manager of the Bank of Montreal branch at Bathurst and King Streets in Toronto, died here Tuesday. He retired five years ago. Funeral service will be held in Trenton, Saturday.

Reception Cancelled

TORONTO, Feb. 7 (CP)—Ontario's new lieutenant-governor, Louis O. Breithaupt, has cancelled —due to the death of the King— a family reception planned for Sunday at the Toronto home of his sister, M. Edna Breithaupt.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Opportunity In Leap Year ValentineDay

Valentine Day in Leap Year—what a golden opportunity—especially if the beautiful—but lonely—little maiden can cook!

It is amazing when you consider the number of men who are shy too. My most reliable source of masculine foibles tells me that some fellows don't ask girls to go out with them because they are afraid of being turned down. Little do they know how all girls yearn for new boys to date them.

Now whether the way to a man's heart is through his stomach or not, they all want to eat, and if you can learn the foods that they like and can make the dishes that bait the trap—he's fair game.

Valentine foods pretty well boil down to red-hued desserts. Sure, you can serve ham and chipped beef and smoked tongue and red cabbage slaw and tomato jelly moulds—but it's the sweets that melt their hearts.

We have just made some cherry tarts from cherries canned without sugar for pies.

Cherry Tarts

Line fancy fluted tart tins or muffin pans with your best pastry. The proportions I use are: 2 cups sifted pastry flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon baking powder, two-thirds cup best quality shortening, 4 tablespoons ice water. Sift dry ingredients together, cut in shortening with 2 knives or pastry blender. Sprinkle water over, mixing lightly with a fork, until all flour is moistened. Press dough into ball, divide in halves, and roll out. Cut into about 4-inch rounds or rounds the size to fit your tart tins. Make filling (see below).

Filling for Cherry Tarts: Open a 15-oz. can of unsweetened sour cherries (packed for pies). Tip off the juice and add water to it to make it up to 1 cup. Mix together 2 tablespoons cornstarch or better still arrowroot flour (to make the glaze crystal clear) and two-thirds to ¾ cup sugar. When well mixed stir this into the juice and stir over heat until thickened. Cook over boiling water at least 25 minutes stirring occasionally. Stir into the drained cherries 2 or 4 tablespoons sugar. Spoon these into the baked tart shells. Pour over the hot syrup-glaze until tart is filled to brimming being sure glaze flows down between the cherries. Cool. When cold top with a little mound of whipped cream and top this with a whole maraschino cherry or pipe a rim of whipped cream around edge of tart in a heart shape if you are an artist.

Strawberry Glace Pie (contributed by "Homemaker" in 1951)

Fill a baked pie shell with berries (fresh or frozen) and pour over them the following: Boil until thick and clear 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1 cup white sugar, 1 cup water, a few crushed berries and some red food coloring. Remove from heat and add a little butter and lemon juice. Cool slightly and pour over the berries. Chill. Serve with whipped cream.

I am giving you the recipe for Ham Timbales because it is pretty useful—it may be used for family supper on Valentine evening of for a late snack for young or old.

Ham Timbales

Melt 4 tablespoons margarine and add 1¾ cups stale breadcrumbs, and 1¾ cups milk, and cook 5 minutes stirring constantly. Add 2 cups chopped cooked ham (or leftover roast ham), 1 tablespoon chopped parsley, 1 teaspoon grated onion, and 4 slightly beaten eggs. Season with salt and pepper, and turn into individual moulds or custard cups which have been buttered. Fill two-thirds full. Stand in pan of hot water and bake at 375 deg. Fahr. until firm—about 30 minutes. This is a delicious dish and a standby with me—especially when served with or on fluffy boiled rice.

W.A. Plans Rummage Sale

MILLBROOK, Feb. 7 (ENS).—Members of the town group of St. Andrew's W.A. met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John McKnight. Mrs. Chester Fisher, the new group leader, opened the meeting by reciting the poem, "Someone had prayed." Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. Lawrence Winslow gave the vocal duet "Come, Holy Spirit." The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. A. R. Payne who gave the Scripture reading and a talk on the theme, "The Home." The secretary, Mrs. Homer Ouellette, read the minutes and called the roll.

It was decided to hold a rummage sale early in May. In the place of another money-raising function such as the hostess tea held formerly, it is planned to canvass the members each for a $2 donation.

The next meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. Wilfred Fallis.

The Rev. Margaret Butler closed the meeting with prayer.

Among those present was Mrs. Fred Smith of Port Hope, who moved from Millbrook with her husband and son just after the New Year, after having made her home in the village for 60 years.

Following the meeting a successful afternoon tea to which the general public had been invited, was held. Mrs. Butler poured tea and those who assisted the hostess in serving were Mrs. J. H. Barringer, Mrs. L. J. Stuart, and Mrs. H. R. Edmunds. Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. A. R. Payne welcomed the guests and showed them to the dining-room.

DOROTHY DIX

Patching Up Family Quarrels Requires Patience In All

DEAR MISS DIX: My mother died when I was 15 months old; my father is a drunkard. Consequently, I have lived from family to family on my father's side. Each relative made it a special point to tell me I was unwanted, that they were being kind to me by allowing me to live with them. Yes, they were kind at times, all humans are. Being tossed from house to house has made me keenly aware of family peace and happiness.

I was living with my uncle and his family when, at 18, I met Roy. When we became engaged, my family objected so strenuously that I moved to the YWCA. They thought Roy wasn't good enough for me, he wasn't making enough money, etc. They told me never to come to them if I needed help, etc. I slammed the door when I left —and never went back.

We have now been married over a year, have a darling son and are as happy as can be. We are building our own home, living in the basement until we finish the rest. Roy's working hard, and making more money than when we were married.

My problem is my uncle's family. I do not harbor grudges, and wonder if I should make an effort to call on them. When my son grows older, he'll wonder why his father's family gets together and mine stays away.

JEWEL.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I thoroughly agree with you that one should not harbor grudges, but of course with some people it is impossible to keep on good terms. They'll find fault no matter how hard you try to please them. The best you can do is call on your uncle and his family, tell them you'd like to be friends, and if they rebuff your overtures, get along without them.

You Have Right Spirit

You and Roy have a fine spirit of co-operation and mutual consideration. With such a home atmosphere your son will have a goodly share of the family peace and happiness you missed. While it will be fine if the same spirit can be extended to include all the relatives on both sides of the family, it does take more than one side to effect such a relationship. If your uncle's family is not disposed to the same end, you can do nothing but ignore them. Simply explain to your son that your own mother is dead and consequently you don't have the relatives his father has. Don't expose him to the disagreements of quarreling kinfolk.

Dear Miss Dix: Eight years ago I married a fine girl. We were happy for a while, had a beautiful baby girl. Then my wife began to drink and after four years of marriage, she left me to return to her mother. We were divorced and I remarried. Now she wants to come back to me, says she is sorry for the things she did and will never repeat them. The problem is that I know now how much I love her, and will never love anyone else.

PAUL.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you are convinced that your happiness, and the welfare of your child, depends upon your returning to your first wife, you could ask the second wife for a divorce. However, she may not be willing. You were in too much of a hurry to marry the second time, and should really have given the matter more reflection. If things do work out the way you want them, and you get back to your first wife, don't ever refer to the past. Since she is determined to change, and make an effort to maintain a proper home, give her full co-operation in making a completely new life together.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a woman in my 60's, living with three single sons in their 30's. One son is sick, and unable to work. Another is planning to marry and wants me to live with him. I would rather not live with him and my daughter-in-law.

NORINE L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If you can possibly avoid it, I agree that it is not wise to live with a newly married couple. Why not continue to maintain a home for your other two sons who certainly need you, especially the ailing one?

GEORGE STREET
CHE-SE-KNO-SE GROUP

The Che-se-kno-se group of George Street Church C.G.I.T started Christian Youth week celebration Sunday by taking charge of the opening worship service at the Sunday School. The girls, under direction of Mrs. W. J. Armstrong, took the theme, "Stand fast in the faith," and added "Live radiantly," as the Christian way to make life worthwhile. President Joan Weir was leader for the service that consisted of Scripture read by Donna Blewett and prayer led by Patsy Jobe. The chorus sung was "Something more than gold." A poem "Working Together" was given by Sandra McGee, and another titled "The Way" was by Carol Coombes. Final chorus by the girls was "Brighten the corner where you are," and Mary Dainard closed with prayer. Beverley Bacon was pianist for the program.

A short dialogue explained that the name of this group is taken from the C.G.I.T. motto: Cherish Health; Seek Truth; Know God; Serve Others.

This evening the three groups of George Street Church are having a supper party, to be followed with skating.

Lions Hold Party

MILLBROOK, Feb. 7—(ENS)—The Lions Club held its annual children's party Monday evening. At the dinner, over which president Percy Hamilton presided, each Lion in turn introduced his young guests. They joined the children in sing-songs and games, and films were shown. There were candy favors for each child, chocolate bars, pencils, balloons, book covers and blotters.

Frances Elson and George Dawson were prize-winners in musical chairs. George received a softball and Frances a box for doing shell-work.

The dinner was served by the south group of the Lady Lions under the direction of their leader, Mrs. Homer Ouellette, and by the north and east group under their leader, Mrs. H. A. Kerr.

REGARDEZ LE BEBE! A male visitor at the French girls' club meeting this week was the centre of attraction, but he was not the guest speaker. Tiny Michel Stoycheff thinks he has a friend in the cameraman, and fastens dark eyes on him. He is held by Club Alouette president Miss Yvette Simoneau from Soreal, P.Q. Behind her, left to right, are Miss Vienne Sauvé from Cornwall, social convener, Mrs. Monique Nestor from Quebec City, secretary, Mrs. Nellie Ainslie from Arras, France, first vice president, and the baby's mother, Mrs. Martial Stoycheff who comes from St. Allsan de Port Neuf, PQ. —Examiner Staff Photo

French-Speaking Women Flocking To Club Alouette

Alors! Maintenant un club a Peterborough vraiment canadien-francais—le Club Alouette....

The newest and one of the most interesting clubs to be fostered by the Peterborough YWCA is the Club Alouette. With a membership of 20 at the present time it is also surprisingly fast-growing.

Just as the chosen name implies it is a French club and is popularly called that. The only requisite as that members be French-speaking. But it is not in any way a French-teaching organization. The language is used during the meetings for the purpose of keeping up conversational French, and anyone who can take part is welcome, regardless of parentage. Having a happy time altogether is the principal aim.

It can also be said that French is spoken for reason of politeness since a member from Lower Quebec does not speak English. On the other hand, one member has joined because she has been so long among English-speaking people that she has forgotten her French, and frequently she has to have a translation.

As yet there is just one member who comes from France. Most have lived in Quebec or Eastern Ontario before coming here. A few have been in the city a number of years, but the majority are newcomers of this post-war period. In fact, the organizer, Miss Yvette Simoneau, who is now president, and several others, met at the Y.W.C.A. newcomers' tea last year.

Meetings are held on the first and third Monday evening each month, except during the summer. Though it is a social club, the president conducts a formal opening and business is recorded by secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Monique Nestor, who came from Quebec City. Miss Simoneau came here from Sorel, Quebec, attracted by reports from her sister, who had moved to Peterborough.

Programs are arranged by two conveners, Miss Simone Vaillancourt and Mrs. Rachael Fayle. They have had a lesson given in fabric painting and films and are planning new forms of entertainment. Social convener, Miss Vienna Sauve, arranges for dainty refreshments and coffee to be served as the final incident of each meeting.

This is the first club of its kind in this city and should have a long life if enthusiasm of its members is indicative.

Mrs. H. Wood and Mrs. C. Coons of Lakefield assisted the social committee of the Peterborough Curling Club with tea arrangements Wednesday following the Warne bonspiel.

✧ ✧ ✧

Two social functions planned for this Friday evening are not being held out of respect for the late King George VI. The S. D. and G. Highlanders' Association will hold their dance for members and friends at the Armouries on Friday evening, February 22, instead. The Young Progressive Conservative Association have cancelled their dance.

✧ ✧ ✧

Chi Rho Fellowship Club of St. John's Anglican Church met on Tuesday evening in the Parish hall. An interesting discussion was led by the Rev. J. A. Purser, entitled "Why I am an Anglican." At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Misses Hazel Wilson, Madeline Boggs and Ruth Lewars.

✧ ✧ ✧

George St. Mr. and Mrs. Club opened the meeting Wednesday evening with a tribute to the late King George VI given by Mrs. S. Gilmore. The devotional period that followed was directed by Mr. Stewart Bowman. Presidents Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Long conducted business. The club was then entertained by two musical films. Mr. and Mrs. Bowman and group members served a delicious lunch afterward.

✧ ✧ ✧

Mrs. G. H. Dunford, McDonnell St., was hostess Wednesday evening to 16 ladies for the St John's Scout and Cub Mother's Auxiliary meeting. President Mrs. B. Baker opened with prayer and the mother's promise, following which a minute silence was observed in memory of the late King George VI. Plans were made for the parent-scout annual banquet to be held February 22nd. Two new members welcomed were Mrs. Sherk and Mrs. Jamieson. A social half hour followed the business and the hostess served a lovely lunch. Mrs. W. G. Gunn, Stewart St., invited members to her home for March meeting.

Friends from out of the city attending the Fitzgerald-O'Brien wedding were Messrs. Joe and Jack Gallagher of Cobourg, Mr. and Mrs. Cam Warrender of Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. Don Richmond of Lindsay and Mrs. James Hoskin of Plainfield.

✧ ✧ ✧

Star Class meeting at George St. United Church Tuesday evening was conducted by president Mrs. Charles Barton. Mrs. R. Kelsey's group was in charge of devotions and Miss Ethel Robson read scripture followed with prayer by Miss Jean Hammond. Roll call was given by secretary Mrs. Lloyd Blewett and treasurer Mrs. Melvin Holmes reported. Plans were made for an Irish variety concert on March 14th. A demonstration of plastics was given and the evening closed with lunch served by Mrs. Stanley Dunsford's group.

Speaker Points Out Truths

Mark St. Woman's Association met Thursday evening in the church parlor with new president Mrs. F. L. Edworthy in the chair to conduct business. Mrs. H. Allen and her group had charge of the devotional exercises. Mrs. B. S. Morwood and Mrs. A. E. DeNure sang a pleasing duet with Mrs. Cecil Searles at the piano. Speaker was Mrs. Norman Fee who aptly presented the truth of the parable of the ten virgins, showing how impossible it is to borrow spiritually or benefit on the day of judgment by another's good deeds. She concluded with the quotation, "Thou shalt be missed because thy seat is empty." The president thanked Mrs. Fee for making the meeting so helpful and closed with a hymn and benediction.

Study Baptist WMS of Canada

Mary Nichols Mission Circle of Murray St. Church met Tuesday evening with a pleasingly large number present in the church parlour Mrs. P. W. Johnson presided over a rather extensive business session. Miss Dorothy Wells and Miss Beverley Rome contributed a delightful piano duet.

Program was in charge of the North Group, and arranged by Mrs. H. N. Graham, the topic being "The Dominion Committee of the Affiliated Baptist Women's Missionary Society of Canada."

Members represented some of the missionary societies across Canada, and giving a brief history of each and then were united in the Dominion committee as the project and its various affiliations were outlined. Miss Mary Ellis chose as a scripture reading Psalm 72, in which it says: "He shall have dominion also from sea to sea and from the river unto the ends of the earth." She gave an inspiring talk on "The Power of Prayer and Missions," and offered prayer.

Large Crowd At Curlers' Tea

About 150 women curlers were in the Peterborough Club lounge Wednesday afternoon for the tea which preceded presentation of the Warne bonspiel prizes. This 'spiel, which is now a three-day affair, is the highlight of the ladies' season here, and all local curlers came in for this finishing up event. Mrs. L. H. Bearne is their social convener and with her committee carried out pleasing tea arrangements. Mrs. R. R. Turner and Mrs. J. C. Green, both past presidents, presided at the attractively-laid table centring the room. Servers were the new leads, Mrs. D. Marshall, Mrs. L. McGillivray, Mrs. E. W. Milne, Mrs. C. Selkirk, Mrs. G. E. Renwick, of Lakefield, Mrs. A. Rutter and Mrs. R. Perks. The committee members on hand to help with the refreshments were Mrs. W. Archibald, Mrs. H. Inman, Mrs. H. Dulmage, Mrs. R. Dixon, Mrs. R. Bastable, Mrs. R. Green, Mrs. J. Wocher and Mrs. M. Crough. Games convener Mrs. G. A. Wood asked the ladies to stand for one minute in silence in memory of the late King George VI.

Discuss Fashion Show

An outline of the work expected of Baby Band Mothers' Auxiliaries was given at the meeting of Mark St. Mothers Wednesday evening in the church by Mrs. W. R. Philp, secretary of the Baby Bands for Peterborough Presbyterial. Business of this meeting, conducted by president Mrs. H. Guppy, had to do with holding a fashion show the latter part of March and a rummage sale earlier in the month. Mrs. P. Cooper was in charge of the devotional period. Scripture and a short story were read by Mrs. A. Poolman, and Mrs. E. Manley sang "In An Old Fashioned Town" with accompaniment by Mrs. K. Kidd. During the social hour following, Mrs. P. Cooper was assisted with lunch by Mrs. Poolman, Mrs. S. Craig, Mrs. Manley, Mrs. W. Lawson and Mrs. R. Woods. The next meeting will be held March 5.

Guild Elects Mrs. Thompson

St. Alban's Guild met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. Thompson, King George St., who was elected the president in the elections which were held. The Rev. H. J. Scuse conducted this part of the meeting and the other officers elected are: honorary president, Mrs. S. M. Millard; treasurer, Mrs. C. Barnes; secretary, Mrs. J. Jardine; Dorcas secretary, Mrs. A. Maskell; sunshine convener, Mrs. J. McCormick; telephone, Mrs. A. Moore; representative to advisory council, Mrs. J. McCormick; substitute, Mrs. K. Boyd; Mr. Scuse commented on the very successful financial year reported by the treasurer. Tentative plans were made for a rummage sale in March. Members decided to hold card parties in their homes and the first will be Tuesday afternoon, February 12, at the home of Mrs. J. Chase, 293 Hawley St. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mr. Scuse and the hostess then served a delicious lunch.

Speaks On Prayer At Home

Mrs. George Munro, president, conducted the monthly meeting of George St. W.A. Tuesday afternoon in the church parlor. Mrs. W. H. Frise's group was in charge of the devotional period. Mrs. H. J. Crowe read the scripture and lesson thought and Mrs. J. Fanning offered prayer. Mrs. S. Saunders was guest soloist and sang "He called on me" and "Green Pastures." She was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ross Moore. Mrs. M. Haddow was guest speaker, choosing as her subject "The Power of Prayer." She wondered if family prayer and prayer in the home has been forgotten altogether and went on to say how this worship and prayer practised in the home has influence and benefit on children's lives that remains when they are grown up. A lenthy business period followed and plans were laid for a busy year. A W.A. St. Patrick's tea is planned for March 12 and a bazaar will again be held in the autumn.

MR. AND MRS. ROY FITZGERALD, the bride formerly Jean O'Brien.—(Garfield Studio Photo)

Fitzgerald-O'Brien Nuptials

The marriage took place at St. Peter's Cathedral Saturday of Jean Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melville O'Brien, and Roy John Fitzgerald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fitzgerald, all of Peterborough. The Rev. R. Macdonald performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a lovely gown of white transparent silk velvet styled with stand-up collar and lily point sleeves. The full skirt fell into a slight train from the pointed waistline. A velvet crown held her veil of net and lace and she carried a bouquet of red roses and hyacinths.

Attendants were her sister Miss Marlene O'Brien and the groom's sister Mrs. Dean Reid. They wore ankle-length dresses of cinnamon and lime green net over matching taffeta and matching accessories. Each carried a nosegay of red roses and 'mums.

The groom was attended by Mr. Joseph Galagher and the ushers were Jack Gallagher and Phonse Levasseur.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. R. G. Aman and Maurice Caccavella sang "'On This Day" during the signing of the register.

At the reception in the Club Aragon the bride's mother received, wearing a gown of mauve taffeta with hat in the same shade and corsage of pink sweetheart roses. The groom's mother wore blue crepe with pink accessories and corsage of pink Sweetheart roses.

The couple will live at 776 Snelgrove Drive.

Spring Colors Fit Unforeseen Period Of Mourning

LONDON, Feb. 7 (Reuters).—The blacks, navy blue and greys which dominate the spring and summer fashion collections of London's leading dressmakers will strike the keynote of every official function in Britain in the months of mourning ahead.

Designed, made and shown to the press for the first time last week, the colors used might have been selected with a sense of foreboding of what the future held.

Today, the couturiers frantically checked their stocks of black and grey materials, ready for the mourning and half-mourning orders which will now replace those expected for the big events of the season.

Chapter News

OTONABEE CHAPTER

Annual meeting of the Otonabee Chapter, IODE, on Wednesday evening was preceded with a turkey dinner enjoyed by 30 members in the Empress Hotel Kawartha Room. Afterward regent Mrs. A. McWilliams opened for business, first observing two minutes silence in memory of the late King George VI.

Reports of the officers were very well accepted, showing a profitable year past. The post war convener reported $112.75 in sewn articles and $59 in food sent to England.

Municipal regent Miss Mary Medd talked inspiringly of IODE work before performing the installation of officers.

1952 officers will be: honorary regent, Mrs. R. R. Hall; regent, Mrs. A. McWilliams; first vice regent, Mrs. F. Merrett; second vice regent, Mrs. F. J. A. Hall; standard bearer, Mrs. W. A. Burrell; treasurer, Mrs. W. A. Davern; assistant, Mrs. I. Rattenbury; educational secretary, Mrs. F. D. Kerr; Echoes secretary, Mrs. H. Wilson; pianist, Mrs. W. A. Greenslade.

Conveners will be: Mrs. B. McLean; assistant, Mrs. W. H. Wheeler, publicity, Mrs. F. Merrett, membership, Mrs. L. Rattenbury; films, Mrs. G. Langhorne; hospitality, Mrs. W. A. Burrell; services at home and abroad, Mrs. L. Davis; with committee to assist of Mrs. W. A. Burrell, Mrs. C. Sherwood, Mrs. J. R. Pollard.

Councillors are: Mrs. D. W. Clark, Mrs. G. Langhorne, Mrs. D. E. Bell, Mrs. F. Mowry.

After accepting the chair again Mrs. McWilliams thanked officers and members for their support and asked that it be continued in the same way.

At this time all members took an oath of allegiance to Queen Elizabeth II.

The next sewing meeting will be at Mrs. Rattenbury's, 474 Albertus Ave., on Monday, February 11th and a good attendance is requested.

MAJOR BENNETT CHAPTER

The annual meeting of the Major Bennett Chapter, I.O.D.E., took the form of a dinner in the green room of the Y.W.C.A. on Tuesday night, with 62 members present. Mrs. J. Ralph Clark, 1st vice-regent, presided. Mrs. R. E. Clark, honorary regent, said grace, after bringing forth of the flag by Miss Louise Spriggs. The social committee, under direction of Mrs. Marjorie Delaney, was responsible for the decorations in the Valentine idea and red and white tulips on the head table.

Mrs. K. Gibson and Mrs. H. Hamely, co-conveners of the interior decorating display, coming March 26, reported plans. Mrs. Hamley passed out tickets to be sold on a floor polisher draw to take place at the chapter party in May. Mrs. R. G. Kemp and Mrs. J. Ralph Clark, co-conveners of the leap year Valentine dance, reported. Mrs. B. E. Metcalfe, educational secretary, was appointed to attend the Y.W.C.A. annual meeting.

A letter of thanks was received from the Canadian Institute for the Blind, Peterborough, for the generous donation.

Mrs. George Barns displayed jewelry made by a member of the chapter, Miss Marg. Emmerson, who was stricken by polio a few years ago.

The chapter members voted to accept their share in the purchase price of a beaded screen which would be purchased by Municipal Chapter for I.O.D.E. use.

After close of the regular meeting the annual meeting was held.

Reports from the various secretaries and conveners were read as follows: Educational secretary, Mrs. B. E. Metcalfe; standard-bearer, Miss Louise Spriggs; secretary, Miss Jean Gillespie; treasurer, Mrs. Wm. Nash; echoes and Empire study, Mrs. H. K. Fallis; post-war convener, Miss Jessie Johnson; child and family welfare convener, Mrs. Robert E. Gibbons; press and publicity convener, Miss June Fraser; film convener, Mrs. F. Patterson; membership convener, Mrs. K. Gibson.

Mrs. Wm. Taylor, retiring regent, asked the officers, conveners and councillors for 1952-53 to come forward, and Honorary Regent Mrs. Gordon Hall conducted the installation.

Mrs. Donald Murray, incoming regent, was handed the gavel as she took the chair for conclusion of the meeting.

St. Peter's CWL Sponsoring Girl Guide Troop

St. Peter's Catholic Women's League are sponsoring a Girl Guide Troop. Mrs. J. E. Epping has been appointed division commissioner and Miss Mary Jane Fitzgerald is captain, assisted by Miss Jeanne Paquette. The first meeting will be held at the Brock St. social centre this evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Monthly meeting of the League was held at the centre on Tuesday evening. Plans were made for a card party to be held February 20th, convened by Mrs. F. Guilfoyle. Mrs. S. J. Houlihan is convening the food.

It was moved that all National, Provincial and Diocesan obligations be submitted. Also, donations to the national budget, diocesan scholarship and Sisters of Service Immigration Fund. Members unanimously approved a monetary gift to their director Rt. Rev. P. P. Butler on the occasion of his transfer to the parish of Sacred Heart.

Mrs. Guilfoyle gave an interesting talk on the League of Catholic Women among the colored people of Detroit, Michigan. She was thanked by president, Mrs. John Begley.

Health Week Emphasized At YW Gym

Emphasis is being placed on the health rules with posters, talks and distribution of literature at the YWCA gymnasium classes this week. Also Miss Caroline Littlefield is giving special waist-trimming exercises to conform with the spring fashions and is prescribing slimming exercises to work on at home.

Nurses are in attendance during each class to check the weight and height of each gym girl. This work has been done by Mrs. M. Lee, Mrs. A. Barton, Mrs. A. Bianco, Miss Jean Gillespie, Mrs. W. J. Vanstone and Miss M. Jory who weighed 60 pre-school children on Wednesday afternoon. Literature on immunization was given the mothers and each of the babies received a milk bottle blotter stating the health rule of "one quart of milk per day."

Some splendid health posters are being turned in by gymnasts and they will be judged on Saturday morning by Mrs. Paul Irwin and Miss Amy Hardwicke.

Breaks Shackles Deliberately Moving Waistline

PARIS, Feb. 7. (AP)—Designer Jacques Griffe has made the boldest attack on the natural waistline yet seen in the Paris spring fashion shows.

By devious means he pushes the poor embattled waist right up to a position just under the bust, or right down to flapperish hip height. But if he is bolder than other designers — almost all of whom have been presenting the natural midriff—Griffe, too, lacks the courage to abolish waists altogether.

Though pitifully unadorned and unsupported by belt or seam, the waistline is still indicated by tucks. It now has the form of inverted brackets—like this)(—instead of being pinched in firmly by a belt.

For what it's worth, Griffe offers this excuse for revising the female form:

"I have deliberately broken with all shackles; all that strangles, stifles, pinches and paralyzes is banned."

Besides his new waistline, which the designer aptly describes as "capricious and vagabond," Griffe endorses a dozen trends already seen in many other houses.

These include skirts moderately flared or pleated from the hips downward, stand-away rounded necklines, V-buttoned jackets, false boleros and basques created by artful, draping of one-piece dresses, penguin-like white dickie fronts, batwing set-in sleeves, double-breasted coats and jackets, sometimes with brass buttons, bows at neckline or bustline, baggy bicuse backs, little round boleros, long box jackets, and tender colors. Griffe's special touches are flouncy skirts applied in a saw-toothed line at the hips, and skirts made up of a multitude of diamond-shaped pieces.

Women Send Messages Of Loyalty and Sympathy

Messages of sympathy and loyalty are going to the new Queen and the Queen Mother from women's groups across Canada. The National Council of Women, through its executive which is meeting in Toronto, sent a message Wednesday to Queen Elizabeth II which read:

"The National Council of Women of Canada, through its executive committee presently meeting in Toronto, Canada, respectfully desires to pledge to Your Majesty its united loyalty and support as you ascend the throne while at the same time offering heartfelt sympathy in your personal bereavement."

That to the Queen Mother read: "The National Council of Women of Canada, through its executive, presently meeting in Toronto, Canada, humbly desires to express its deepest sympathy to yourself, Queen Mary, and all the members of the Royal Family at this time."

Both messages were signed by Enid Turner Bone, president of the National Council of Women, and sent to the secretary of the Governor - General of Canada, with request to forward.

National executive of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, in session at headquarters, sent the following instructions to provincial presidents across the Dominion:

"In respect for His Late Majesty George VI, please observe the following: Wear 1¼-inch purple ribbon pinned under the Order's badge and extending one inch below, during the period of Royal mourning. No ribbons on standards.

Peterborough Municipal regent Miss Mary Medd received the following instructions governing local chapters from Hamilton Wednesday:

"Cancel functions until after state funeral except where heavy financial obligations are involved.

"Proceed with annual meetings as usual. Ostentation and publicity are discouraged. Each chapter is urged to attend local memorial services.

"All members immediately affirm loyalty to Her Majesty Elizabeth II."

Major Bennett Chapter members are concerned about their Valentine Ball scheduled for Friday evening, February 15. If the King's funeral is to be held that day, the dance will definitely not take place, but arrangements for postponing it to a later date cannot be made yet owing to absence from the city of the Brock Ballroom manager.

Sight-Saving Class Check To Isolation

By ERNEST FEDORUK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, Feb. 7 — To most persons, it's just another classroom where children are taught their ABC's.

But room 14, Jesse Ketchum Public School, is a little different than most. It's a special sight-saving class, one of eight in Ontario. There are three other classes in Toronto and one each in London, Windsor, Hamilton and Ottawa.

The class is happier and more informal than most school rooms. The pupils, about 15, ranging in ages from six to 12, are normal and friendly.

Miss Edna Bogart is more like a mother than teacher of the children.

The difference between room 14 and, say, the room across the hall, is the teaching method. All the children have poor vision. Only children with eye defects which prevent progress in regular grades are admitted. They have less than 30/100 vision.

The class receives many visitors and the children assist Miss Bogart in explaining the special sight-saving course. One day visitors were treated to a skit by all members of the class, a song by the "Sunshine Service Club's" barbershop quartet and a solo by an eight-year-old boy.

The aim of the special classes is to teach the visually-handicapped child to realize that his handicap does not need to isolate him.

"The pupil is guided and encouraged to build up his belief in his own powers," says Miss Bogart. "He learns to do, construct, listen and discuss with little reading."

A phonograph donated by a Toronto service club helps the children to learn some subjects, such as history, without reading.

Equipment includes special lighting (glare is eliminated), cream - colored "sight - saving" paper on which work is done in large handwriting and special desks.

At the start of each term, Miss Bogart faces the problem of "welding" the children into a group. She succeeds.

She says the children feel closer to each other than they would in a regular grade, though their ages may vary as much as six or seven years.

Bikini Suit On Way Out Expert Says

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 7 (AP) — Annette Kellerman, the woman who revolutionized beach styles, today predicted the decline of the Bikini bathing suit.

This is hardly the time to be talking about bathing suits. But it won't be long before North American women will be shopping for beach wear. Miss Kellerman, who popularized the one-piece suit, declared the girls will be hitting the beaches with more cover-up than the French-style suits afford.

"I don't think women like the Bikini suit," she declared. "The women who have worn them have told me they feel uncomfortable and conspicuous in them. Besides, they expose some of the less graceful parts of the anatomy."

Mack Sennett, who also helped revolutionize beach apparel with his bathing beauties, has predicted that the trend in swim styles will reach the point where suits will be dispensed with. Miss Kellerman doesn't agree with that.

Not Right Physique

"I don't think women will ever appear on the beaches in the nude," she commented. "It isn't a matter of modesty, because that can change with the times. The reason is that only one woman in 100,000 has the right kind of physique to appear in the nude. Most women would prefer to wear suits, which cover up whatever physical inadequacies they might have."

Miss Kellerman, who swam in starring movies before Esther Williams was born, has opposed the scanty suits since they were imported from the Riviera.

"If I had known that women were going to wear those flimsy pieces of cloth, I don't think I would have started it all by introducing the one-piece suit," she sighed.

"But on the whole, I'm glad I did. I think modern bathing suits have had a good effect on women. In the old-fashioned suits, every woman looked the same, no matter what kind of figure she had. But now they have to pay attention to their figures, especially in the summertime."

FIRST AID FOR BABY'S FIRST SNIFFLE

A step in time often saves nine. So be wise, and take this simple precaution at baby's first sneeze or sniffle. Give Baby's Own Tablets to clear little bowels of irritating waste materials that make baby fretful, feverish and discourage the rest so needed to keep up strength. Designed especially for baby's delicate system, Baby's Own Tablets have a laxative action that is gentle, yet speedy and the relief they bring goes a long way toward giving baby comfort while nature works to cure the cold. Sweet-tasting, Baby's Own Tablets have been used by mothers for over 50 years. Get a package today at your druggist. 30¢.

Home and School Association News

OMEMEE

OMEMEE, Feb. 7 — (ENS) — The birthday of Home and School Federation was celebrated by Omemee Home and School Association Monday evening with birthday cake and a special Founder's Night program.

The aims and purposes of Founder's Night were read by the pesident, Mrs. H. Green. The minutes of the organization meeting of Omemee Home and School Association in 1945, were read by Mrs. S. Moyer who was a charter member. Nine other charter members were present: Mrs. A. W. Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Curtis, Mrs. Wilfred Wilson, Mrs. R. Clifford, Mrs. R. Broom, Mrs. G. Nelson, Miss Doris Jones and Mrs. L. Parker. Several of the 28 original members had moved from the community.

Four ladies presented a skit in which a prejudiced teacher gets acquainted with a kind mother who is really anxious to co-operate and an apparently ignorant charwoman who nevertheless has commendable aspirations for her children, and all three are won over to the home and school movement by the tactful persuasion of Mrs. Founder. The cast was: Miss Marion Rea as teacher, Mrs. H. Bent the understanding mother, Mrs. G. Nelson the charwoman and Mrs. J. B. Hough as Mrs. Founder.

In consideration of National Health Week, another phase of the meeting was a talk by Mrs. George Stephenson, P.T. instructor of the high school girls, on P.T. work especially as related to health. At the conclusion she announced "gym night" in the town hall on February 22, proceeds of which will go to the girls' athletic club.

Recommendations from the executive were discussed and a motion carried to the effect that a letter be forwarded to the School Board recommending that the teaching of manual training in the Public school be resumed, even if only in a small way, and that the board consider the purchase of a record player for the High school. It was decided to contribute to the Princess Elizabeth save-the-children fund if the opportunity had not passed.

Announcements included open house and hobby fair for the March meeting, with Miss Marion Rea and Mrs. R. Kenny in charge.

At the lunch following the meeting tea was poured by Mrs. J. B. Hough and Mrs. L. M. Curtis, wives of the High and Public school teachers. Serving were Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. Ross Rehill, Mrs. R. Kenny, Mrs. H. Lennox and Miss Jessie Lamb.

2 Locals Lose Close Games Warne 'Spiel

Mrs. L. E. Woolley, of Toronto Granite Club, came through to win the Warne bonspiel here Wednesday. She takes home the handsome trophy to place beside the numerous others she has won. Two sisters play on her rink and the other member is a close friend: It is said that they practice every day and curl both summer and winter.

Presentation of the trophy and the prizes was made by Mrs. T. F. Doughty, president of the Ladies' Club, and this act also called for good sportsmanship for Mrs. Woolley had defeated Mrs. Doughty's rink in the second game. In the first she defeated Mrs. Holt's Peterborough rink in an extra end and Mrs. Woolley told thse curlers, "You always do your worst in your hometown."

Mrs. C. Devitt, of Bobcaygeon, went in to the finals with Mrs. Woolley and finished runner-up for the trophy. Prizes to the winners were dainty Dresden figures and folding umbrellas were presented to the Bobcaygeon four by Men's Club president Fred Stenson.

Mrs. Jack Watts skipped the two-game winning rink with Mrs. V. A. Selkirk as her vice-skip, Mrs. H. Wilson as second and Mrs. E. Riley lead. Their prizes were scatter rugs, presented by Mrs. Reg. Turner who commented briefly on the death of Mrs. Medland, of Granite Club, who was entered in this bonspiel in past years.

Runners-up were Mrs. J. Dunkerley, skip, Mrs. Russell Morgan, Mrs. Mark Crough and Mrs. Allan Ingram, and their prizes were cosmetic kits presented by umpire Mr. R. F. Downey with the assistance of young Rhys Morgan.

The one-game winning rink was skipped by Mrs. Card, of Kingston, and the players were presented with small cord bags by Mrs. J. Fanning.

Mr. Herb Martin presented the runner-up prizes in the third event This was won by a Keene rink which has been playing only two years and has only had four games this season due to the condition of the natural ice. It was skipped by Mrs. Arthur Elmhirst with Mrs. Harry McIntyre as vice-skip, Mrs. Jack Gall second and Mrs. W. Shearer lead. Before presenting their prizes, china cake plates, Mr. Martin commented on their win against rinks that have been playing 10 or 12 years and also of the handicap to rinks in places where there is not artificial ice.

W.A. Group Plans Program

HAVELOCK, Feb. 7 (ENS) — "The work to be done this year", was the subject of a discussion at a meeting of St. John's WA held in the parish room Tuesday with the president, Mrs. H. W. Roche, presiding.

Bible reading was taken by Mrs. George Wright. Plans for the year were made to imitate some of the ways and means adopted by the Anglican Church in Western Canada, to interest the men to a greater participtionin the work of the church here.

This was proposed by Mrs. H. E Peasgood and Mrs. W. M. Campbell and will take place in the summer months.

Mrs. Peasgood addressed the meeting from the study book on the work of the church in South America.

Fourteen members then spent a social period over a cup of tea, sandwiches and cake after which the meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Peasgood.

What's Right?

Your date has traded a dance with another couple, and when the dance is finished the young man starts to take you back to your open date.

WRONG: Thank him for the dance.

RIGHT: It is his place to thank you for the dance but it would be gracious for you to tell him that you enjoyed it.

HELPED HITLER—Otto Strasser, one of the men who helped Hitler to power and who later fled for his life to the safety of Canada, plans to be back in his native Germany by Easter of this year, where he will form his own political party and attempt once again to play a leading role in Reich affairs.

Works Employees Offer Suggestions

J. Claire Sullivan and John Dunford of the city's board of works department are the first employees to drop suggestions in the box that has been set up for ideas of economy and other improvement.

This plan of enlisting the thoughtful help of members of the staff has not yet been completed in detail. The two letters were referred to City Engineer Chalmers for this consideration. It is understood that some scheme of evaluating suggestions will be submitted to the council for approval.

Mr. Dunford's letter was: "I suggest for a safety precaution to put a large blinker light on all snow plowing equipment as a means of preventing possible accident".

Mr. Sullivan suggested that a schedule be drawn for all machinery "so that operators may check over their vehicles for defects and report same to proper person. In my opinion this would save the city a lot of money in eliminating major breaks, if caught in time. This could be worked out in rainy weather, and would work more efficiently if the check was made when the machine is dry.

"Another drawback is that we have no grease pit to work in. We could do a quicker and better job if we had one. In case they put one in the new garage, this would not benefit the operator as the pit would be used for major repairs."

Smuggling Inquiry Comes To Halt

MONTREAL, Feb. 7—(CP)—Police sources said today their investigation into an international gold-smuggling ring has come to a halt with the departure of outside authorities.

An Inspector of the Ontario Provincial Police and a representative of gold mining interests frm Val D'Or, Que., have left Montreal.

A spokesman said these officials left without making any definate statement as to future plans.

"None of the gold was stolen from Montreal," said one official. "We were simply helping the outside investigators and have pledged our future help should they decide to work on the case again."

The ring is supposed to have smuggled high grade ore from northern Ontario and Quebec into the United States, eventually sending it to Europe for purchase of diamonds which, in turn, were smuggled into the United States.

It was reported that seven foreign-born Montrealers were suspected of being in the ring.

Malay Rulers Send Condolences To Queen

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaya, Feb. 7—(AP)—Malay rulers of the nine princely states in the Malayan Federation ordered prayers said in all mosques for the King and young Queen Elizabeth II.

The rulers designated the Sultan of Johore, senior Malay prince, to send condolences to Queen Elizabeth.

"We have lost a personal friend and the world a great man," the Sultan messaged.

Moslems do not mourn the dead and there will be little observance of mourning dress.

later may take some advantage of his freer position to give boosts to causes which appeal to him. His campaign for more playing fields is expected to continue. It is believed he will retain his lively interest in the promotion of sciences.

But, as the price of being a consort, it is also believed that his days as an active sailor are over. He may still race the Queen's yacht around Cowes, but it is unlikely that the Royal Navy will ever again get him away from the court.

Norman Bush Dies

COLLINGWOD, Feb. 7—(CP)—Norman Bush, 62, father of former National Hockey League player Eddie Bush, died suddenly Wednesday. A boilermaker by trade, he retired several months ago after 5 years of service in Collingwood shipyards.

Three-Way Talks With Ford Adjourned

TORONTO, Feb. 7 — (CP)—Three-way talks among officials of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) and Ontario's Labor Minister Daley adjourned at noon today.

The talks, on terms of a new wage contract, began eight days ago. Mr. Daley said company and union officials will attend another meeting Monday in his office. No indication was given as to progress made.

A threatened strike Jan. 27 of 9,000 Ford production workers in Windsor was deferred after Mr. Daley invited company and union representatives to meet with him.

Gives His Allegiance To 6th British Monarch

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill swore allegiance Wednesday to his sixth British monarch.

His voice was almost inaudible among members of parliament taking the oath as subjects of the new Queen Elizabeth.

Churchill has been in the service of all six monarchs in his lifetime. He was commissioned in Queen Victoria's army in 1895.

Since then as a member of parliament he has sworn allegiance to Kings Edward VII, George V, Edward VIII (now the Duke of Windsor) and George VI — and now Queen Elizaeth II.

Bootlegging Dismissed Perjury Charged

After Magistrate W. R. Philp dismissed a bootlegging charge against Cyril Anderson in police court today, both Anderson and his wife were charged with perjury.

In dismissing the charge, the Magistrate repeated the suggestion he made to Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw when the evidence was heard January 30.

Then, Magistrate Philp adjourned the charge for a week, for judgment and told Mr. Bradshaw, "I would suggest that if further information comes to your hand, the crown might well consider a charge of perjury."

Today, the magistrate said "My impression is that everything should be done by the crown and police to sift out the facts in this case as to whether the McNeilly's (two crown witnesses) were on the accused's premises and charges of perjury certainly may be laid."

Denied Seeing Couple

Both Anderson and his wife denied having seen Peter McNeilly or his wife for two months prior to January 1, when the McNeilly's testified they had purchased wine at Anderson's home, 84½ Doure St.

Mr. Bradshaw replied, "The matter has been considered and charges are being laid today."

When court recessed at 11:30 charges of perjury were sworn out against Anderson and his wife.

Magistrate Philp said he was dismissing the bootlegging charge because the evidence of the two crown witnesses was "quite divergent." The Magistrate said that the difference between the testimony of McNeilly who said two bottles of wine had been purchased and his wife who said that they bought four, plus the denial of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson that the transaction took place entitled the accused to a dismissal.

"The evidence of the crown witnesses as to whether or not any liquor was consumed on the premises also remains entirely unexplained," the Magistrate said.

Witness Charged

Before Magistrate Philp delivered judgment on the charge against Anderson, McNeilly pleaded guilty to having the liquor in a place other than his residence.

He was fined $10 and $2.50 costs. After McNeilly pleaded guilty, Mr. Bradshaw said he would offer no evidence on a second charge against McNeilly of having possession of liquor not obtained on his own permit.

Both offences under the Liquor Control Act were alleged to have taken place January 11, the day Mr. and Mrs. McNeilly said they purchased the wine from Anderson for $2 a bottle.

Dies At 105

SUTTON, Ont., Feb. 7—(CP)—Michael O'Brien, 105, oldest resident of York county who was in good health until a few months ago, died at a rest home here Tuesday. A native of Hogg's Hollow near Toronto 50 miles south of here, he was able to read without the aid of glasses and enjoyed relating tales of early York county history to his friends.

Sees No Rush

HALIFAX — (CP). — Automobile dealers here said that extension from 12 to 18 months for the time payments on motor cars brought no major increase in sales. "They still find it tough to raise the down payment, 50 per cent in the case of cars," said one dealer.

Queen Mother Brave When News Told

By R. B. MACLURKIN

SANDRINGHAM, England, Feb. 7 —(Reuters)— King George VI was discovered dead in his bed Wednesday morning by his valet, John MacDonald, bringing his morning cup of tea.

Court officials were called from their beds and news was broken to the Queen. She went immediately to his bedside

She did not weep, according to local reports. Though her face was racked with misery, she kept control of her emotions

She kissed the forehead of the dead King.

Then, straightening up, she said: "We must tell Elizabeth. We must tell. . ." she hesitated, then added: "We must tell. . .the Queen."

Wednesday night inside the red brick house, Elizabeth, now Queen Mother, and her daughter Princess Margaret mourned.

Villagers here kept their sadness pent up inside. Most of the older ones knew King George VI when he was a shy child who used to come here on vacation with his father, King George V.

One old villager said the King had known for months past that he was under sentence of death.

"People wondered why he was living such a strenuous life after his lung operation," he said. "It seemed wrong on the surface that he should take risks by coming here and spending his days on tiring shooting trips.

"But many of us guessed why. He knew he had not much longer to live and wanted to spend the short time left to him living the open-air life he enjoyed most."

Memorial Service 1910 For Edward VII

Mr. Fred T. Tuggey showed the Examiner this morning a copy of the order of the memorial service which was held in the Peterborough armouries on the day of the funeral of King Edward VII, May 20, 1910.

The chairman was the Rev. Edwin A. Pearson, B.A., minister at George St. United Church, and president of the Ministerial Association. The 57th Regimental Band, directed by Rupert Gliddon, played several numbers, and a resolution was passed at that public meeting extending regret to Queen Alexandra and loyalty to George V.

Benediction was invoked by Rev. Canon Davidson of St. John's Church, and others assisting were Rev. Robert Pogue of St. Paul's, Rev. J. G. Potter of St. Andrew's and Rev. H. R. Trumpour of All Saints'.

The resolution of fealty was moved by Mayor W. George Morrow and seconded by Mr. T. F. Matthews.

Mr. Pearson was the father of Hon. L. B. Pearson, Canada's Minister of External Affairs who was installed as Chancellor of Victoria College, Toronto, in a ceremony at Convocation Hall this week.

Pope Sends Telegram To Queen Elizabeth

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 7 (AP)—The Pope Wednesday sent the following telegram to Queen Elizabeth in London:

"We hasten to extend to Your Majesty, to the members of the Royal Family, and to the entire nation our profound sympathy on the death of His Majesty King George VI. We shall keep him in prayerful remembrance while invoking as solace in your bereavement Divine comfort and strength in fullsome measure."

Two Out Of Danger After Bad Collision

SAULT STE. MARIE, Feb. 7—(CP)—Stanley Booth, 42, and taxi driver Edward Whalen, 32, injured Wednesday in a highway accident, were reported out of danger today.

Police said the car driven by Booth, a former city councillor, apparently smashed into the rear of the Whalen vehicle on an icy highway.

The men were unconscious for 24 hours after being admitted to hospital.

Hitch-Hiking Boon

PALMERSTON — (CP).— Recent heavy snowfalls were welcomed by youngsters who have been getting many rides on farmer's sleds. With sideroads blocked to motor traffic, farmers have been giving the children free trips to and from the town outskirts.

Orange Bonanza

RIO DE JANEIRO, — (CP).— Brazilian orange growers made more money from a smaller crop last year than in 1950. The 1951 crop is figured at only 28,300,000 boxes against a May estimate of 32,000,000. Prices, however, have been about twice the 1950 level.

REGULARITY IN 3 DAYS — or double your money back*

Now there is a gentle, safe, effective way to regularity, one suited especially for people over 35. It's Serutan—based on nature's fruit and vegetable principle, a corrective method for the alleviation of constipation that today is generally accepted.

Serutan contains no chemical drugs—no salts—no irritating roughage. Its gentle "push" differs completely from violent-action methods.

Try Serutan today—if in 3 days regularity has not returned—send us the empty package and get double your money back. *When taken as directed.

King George's Messages To His People

These extracts are from the six Christmas messages broadcast by the late King George VI in wartime and from the first heard after victory in 1945.

TO ALL who are preparing themselves to serve their country on sea or land or in the air, I send my greetings at this time. The men and women of our far-flung Empire, working in their several vocations, 1939 with the one same purpose, are all members of a great family of nations which is prepared to sacrifice everything that freedom of the spirit may be saved to the world.

Such unity in aim and effort has never been seen in the world before. I believe in my heart that the cause which binds together my people and our gallant and faithful Allies is the cause of Christian civilization. And no other basis can true civilization be built. Let us remember this through the dark times ahead of us and when we are making the peace for which all men pray.

Meanwhile I feel that we may all find a message of encouragement in the lines which, in my closing words, I would like to read to you:

"I said to a man who stood at the gate of the year: 'Give me a light that I may tread safely into the unknown', and he replied: 'Go out into the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God. That shall be to you better than light and safer than the known way'."

May that Almighty hand guide and uphold us all.

TO THE older people here and throughout the world I would say: "In the last Great War the flower of our youth was destroyed and the rest of the people saw but little of the battle. This time we are all in the front 1940 line and the danger together and I know that the older among us are proud that it should be so.

Remember this: If war brings its separations, it brings new unity also, the unity which comes from common peril and common suffering willingly shared. To be good comrades and good neighbors in trouble is one of the finest opportunities of the civilian population. By facing hardship and discomfort cheerfully they not only do their own duty, but they play their part in helping the fighting services to win the war.

Time and again during these last few months I have seen for myself the battered towns and cities of England and I have seen the British people facing this ordeal. I can say to them all that they may be justly proud of their race and nation. On every side I have seen a new and splendid spirit of good fellowship springing up in adversity, a real desire to share burdens and resources alike.

Out of all this suffering there is growing a harmony which we must carry forward into the days to come when we have endured to the end and victory is ours. Then when Christmas Days are happy again and good-will has come back to the world, we must hold fast to the spirit which binds us all together now.

The future will be hard, but our feet are planted on the path of victory, and with the help of God we shall make our way to justice and to peace.

THE greatness of any nation is in the spirit of its people. So it has always been since history began. So it shall we with us.

We must all, older and younger, resolve that, having been entrusted with so great a cause, 1941 then at whatever cost, God helping us, we will not falter or fail.

We are coming to the end of another hard-fought year. During these months our people have been through many trials and, in the true humility which goes hand in hand with valor, have learned once again to look for strength to God alone. So I bid you all, be strong and of good courage.

Go forward into this coming year with good heart. Lift up your hearts in confident hope that strength will be given to us to overcome whatever peril may lie ahead until victory is won.

If skies before us are still dark and threatening, there are stars to guide us on our way. Never did heroism shine more brightly than it does now, nor fortitude, nor sacrifice, nor sympathy, nor neighborly kindness.

And with them the brightest of all stars is our faith in God. These stars will we follow, with His help, until light shall shine and darkness shall collapse.

May God bless you every one!

IT IS at Christmas more than at any other time that we are conscious of the dark shadow of war. Our Christmas festival today must lack many of the happy, familiar features that it has had 1942 from the earliest days of our childhood. We miss the actual presence of some of those nearest and dearest, without whom our family gatherings cannot be complete.

But though its outward observances may be limited, the message of Christmas remains eternal and unchanged.

It is a message of thankfulness and of hope, of thankfulness to the Almighty for His great mercies, of hope for the return to this earth of peace and good-will.

In this spirit I wish you all a Happy Christmas. This year it adds to our happiness that we are sharing it with so many of our comrades-in-arms from the United States of America. We welcome them to our homes, and their sojourn here will not only be a happy memory for us, but also, I hope, the basis of enduring understanding between our two peoples.

A former President of the United States (the reference was to Abraham Lincoln) used to tell of a boy who was carrying an even smaller child up a hill.

Asked whether the heavy burden was not too much for him, the boy answered: "It's not a burden, it's my brother".

So let us welcome the future in a spirit of brotherhood and thus make a world in which, please God, all may dwell together in justice and in peace.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN THE year that is almost ended many things have happened under God's Province to make us thankful for His mercies.

The generous strength of the United States of America; the tremendous deeds of Rus-

1943 sia; the endurance of China under her long ordeal; the fighting spirit of France reborn and the flower of manhood and womanhood of many lands that share our onward march—all these have played their part in the brightening of our fortunes.

Since I last spoke to you many things have changed. But the spirit of our people has not changed. And we were not downcast by defeat, we are not unduly exalted by victory. While we have bright visions of the future, we have no easy dreams of days that lie close at hand. We shall not rest from our task until it is nobly done.

Meanwhile, within these islands we have tried to be worthy of our fathers; we have tried to carry into the dawn the steadfastness and courage vouchsafed to us when we stood alone in darkness.

As we see clouds breaking on this Christmas Day we should take comfort from our faith that out of desolation shall rise new hope and out of strife shall be born a new brotherhood.

From this ancient and beloved festival that we are keeping today, sacred as it is to the home and to all that home means to us, we can draw strength to face the future of a world riven by tempest such as it has never hitherto endured.

In the worlds of a Scottish writer of our day: "No experience can be too strange and no task too formidable if a man can link it up with what he knows and loves".

✧ ✧ ✧

AT THIS Christmas time we think proudly and gratefully of our fighting men wherever they may be—may God bless and protect them and bring them victory.

Our message goes to all who are wounded or sick in hos-

1944 pitals, to doctors and nurses in their labor of mercy. And our thoughts and our prayers are also with our men who are prisoners of war, and with their relatives in their loneliness and anxiety. To children everywhere we wish all the happiness that Christmas can bring.

Among the deepest sorrows we have felt in these years of strife, and the one we feel most, is the grief of separation—families rent apart by the call of service, people sundered from people by the calamities that have overwhelmed some, while others have been free to continue the fight.

We have rejoiced in the victories of this year not least because they have broken down some of the barriers between us and our friends, and brought nearer the time when we can all be together again with those we love.

The lamps which the Germans put out all over Europe, first in 1914 and then in 1939, are being slowly rekindled.

Already we can see some of them beginning to shine through the fog of war that still shrouds so many lands. Anxiety is giving way to confidence, and let us hope that before next Christmas Day, God willing, the story of liberation and triumph will be complete.

The defeat of Germany and Japan is only the first half of our task. The second is to create a world of free men, "untouched by tyranny".

We have great Allies in this arduous enterprise of the human spirit—through "man's unconquerable mind and freedom's holy flame" I believe most surely that we shall reach that goal.

TO THE youngest of you I would say a special word. You have grown up in a world at war, in which your fine spirit of service has been devoted to a single purpose—the overthrow and destruction of our enemies. You 1945 have known the world only as a world of strife and fear. Bring now all that fine spirit to make it one of joyous adventure, a home where men and women can live in mutual trust and walk together as friends. Do not judge life by what you have seen of it in the grimness and waste of war, not yet by the confusion of the first years of peace. Have faith in life at its best and bring to it your courage, your hopes and your sense of humor.

For merriment is the birthright of the young. But we can all keep it in our hearts as life goes on if we hold fast by the spirit that refuses to admit defeat; by the faith that never falters; by the hope that cannot be quenched. Let us have no fear of the future, but thing of it as opportunity and adventure.

Home life, as we all remember at Christmas, is life at its best. There in the trust and love of parents and children, brothers and sisters, we learn how men, and nations, too, may live together in unity and peace. So to every one of you who are gathered in your homes or holding the thought of home in your hearts, I say—a Merry Christmas, and God bless you all.

Proclamation Of New Queen In 1000-Year-Old Tradition

By STANLEY CLARK.

LONDON, Feb. 7 — (Reuters)—The proclamation of Queen Elizabeth II's accession to the throne Friday morning will follow a 1,000-year-old tradition of pomp and splendor.

Every town will have its own colorful ceremony but in London the ceremonial, in language spoken at the time of the crusades and under the eyes of officials whose titles date back to the beginning of heraldry, will be on a grander scale.

The main ceremony will be in the quadrangle of the palace of St. James's, which dates back to the Norman conquest in the 11th century end was rebuilt as a palace by King Henry VIII just more than 400 years ago.

There, just off London's busy Piccodill, the Royal Horse Guards in the scarlet and plumes of full-dress uniform will ride into the quadrangle, troops will fill the courtyard and the royal trumpters, in gold-embroidered coats, will front the quadrangle from a balcony.

Gathered with them will be the highest heraldic officials arranged in costumes of gold, cerise, saffron, crimson, white and blue.

Responsible for Ceremonial.

At the head of the colorful group on the crimson-draped balcony will be the hereditary Earl Marshal of England, the Duke of Norfolk, premier duke and head of the College of Heraldry in black cocked hat with ermine crest. He alone is responsible for the details of all ceremonial in Britain.

By his side will stand the Garter King at Arms, one of the three heraldic officials for England who bear the title, dressed in a velvet tabard embroidered in gold thread wearing a crimson cloak and holding in his white-gloved hands the parchment bearing the terms of the proclamation.

The black-draped drums of the band in the courtyard below will rumble as the sticks come to life in the hands of the great-coated guards drummers and then silence again. The Garter Kings at Arms will unfold the proclamation, "whereas it has pleased almighty God to call to his mercy out late sovereign. . ."

The proclamation will come to an end. . . "beseeching God by whom King and Queens do reign to bless the Royal Princess Elizabeth the second with long happy years to reign over us."

The band below will crash out the opening bars of the National Anthem.

The procession will reform and horse-drawn carriages rattle off to distant Charing Cross towards the city of London. There the Lancaster Herald will read the proclamation to the gathering crowd. Then on again along the strand to Temple Bar where a red silken cord will bar progress over the city boundary into the actual territory of the city of London.

Jailed 3 Months

MUNICH, Germany, Feb. 7 — (Reuters) — Karl Feitenhansl, leader of the waning Nationalist Fatherland Union, Wednesday was sentenced to three months for inventing a "bomb plot" against the Bavarian Interior Minister, Wilhelm Hoegner. Last December the Socialist minister called out hundreds of police to guard public buildings in Munich for days after Feitenhansl had told him by phone of a "bomb plot against him and government offices."

Council Drafts UK Proclamation

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP).—Princess Elizabeth was formally proclaimed Queen Elizabeth II in a proclamation drafted today by the Accession Council.

The proclamation, consisting of two sentences, becomes official when publicly read Friday morning. The text follows:

"Whereas it hath pleased Almighty God to call at his mercy our late Sovereign Lord King George VI of blessed and glorious memory, by whose decease the Crown is solely and rightfully come to the high and mighty Princess Elizabeth Alexandra Mary:

"We therefore the Lords spritual and temporal of this realm being here assisted with these his late Majesty's Privy Council, with representatives of other members of the Commonwealth, with other principal gentlemen of quality, with the Lord Mayor, alderman and citizens of London do now hereby with one voice and consent of tongue and heart publish and proclaim that the high and mighty Princess Elizabeth Alexandra Mary is now by the death of our late Sovereign of happy memory become Queen Elizabeth II by grace of God, Queen of this realm and of other realms and territories, head of the Commonwealth, defender of the faith, to whom her lieges acknowledge all faith and constant obedience with hearty and humble affection, beseeching God, by whom kings and queens do reign, to bless the Royal Princess, Elizabeth II, with long and happy years to reign over us.

"God save the Queen."

England Has Had Six Queens Possibly Seven Or Eight

By PAUL UNDERWOOD

LONDON, Feb. 7—(AP)—How many queens have reigned over England since the Norman Conquest? Just pick any number from six to eight and join in the argument.

Everybody agrees there have been six, at least: the first Elizabeth; her half-sister, Mary; Mary, the daughter of James 11, who came to the throne with her husband as William and Mary and then reigned in her own right for several years after his death; Mary's sister Anne, Victoria and the new Elizabeth II.

The fight comes over Matilda, daughter of Henry I, and Lady Jane Grey, a cousin of the first Elizabeth, who was convicted of treason for allowing herself to be called Queen and was beheaded in the Tower of London.

Some authorities list both these women as Queen, others just one of them, and some say neither can actually be given the title because they were not recognized by the whole country.

Henry I died in 1135 after having named Matilda as his successor. But her cousin Stephen got himself crowned instead. Matilda rallied her supporters and the resulting civil war ravaged the country for eight years.

At one stage Matilda captured and reigned as "The Lady of the English." But the tide turned in favor of Stephen and Matilda finally gave up the fight on Stephen's promise that her son, rather than his own, should succeed to the throne.

The pathetic Lady Jane Grey was only 17 years old when she was executed, an unambitious victim of the religious and dynastic politics of her day.

She was actually proclaimed Queen on July 10, 1533, following the death of Edward VI, young son of Henry VIII. Edward was persuaded to declare her his heir by a group of largely Protestant nobles who feared the accession of the King's Roman Catholic sister, Mary.

But their plans fell through. Mary fled into the countryside and raised an army. Only nine days after poor Lady Jane was proclaimed Queen she was forced to give up her crown.

She and her husband, Lord Guilford Dudley, were beheaded Feb. 12, 1554.

Londoners Remember Fortitude Of King

LONDON, Feb. 7 (AP) — The personal fortitude of the late King George VI was the quality most Londoners dwelt on in reminiscing about him today.

They recalled the story of King George's conduct the night in 1942 when his younger brother, the Duke of Kent, was killed in a plane crash in the north of England.

The King and Queen had guests in for dinner. Shortly after the beginning of the dinner, a footman came to the King and whispered to him. As the King left the dining room, a buzz went around the table. The King had been called to the telephone.

A few minutes later he re-entered the room. He stopped for a moment at the chair of the Queen and quietly said a few words to her. Then he resumed his place at table. The dinner party went on calmly.

At the close, as usual, the King and Queen left the dining room first. But instead of the usual summons to the party to join them in the reception hall afterward, an equerry appeared and asked the party to excuse Their Majesties. Only then did the guests learn what had happened.

The ritual dances performed by the Temple dancers of Kandy in Ceylon are at least 2,000 years old.

Formally Blame Egypt For Riot

LONDON, Feb. 7—(AP)—Britain today formally charged Egypt with responsibility for last month's Cairo rioting. A diplomatic note indicated it will claim compensation for the loss of British lives and property.

The note, handed over in Cairo today, expressed Britain's "strongest condemnation" of the "barbarous and brutal manner" in which 26 British subjects were killed and others injured.

The note said little or nothing was done by Egyptian police to prevent the "shameful and vile events" of Jan. 26, and that the circumstances "strongly indicate" official connivance.

Declaring that the rioting around the British Turf Club "must occasion the deepest shock among all decent people," the note said "the indifference and negligence" of the Egyptian police "must inevitably lead to the belief that the then Egyptian government . . . may even have encouraged the activities of the criminal organizers and been privy to their plots."

Assembly Line Rolling After U.A.W Walkout

DETROIT, Feb. 7 (CP)—Trucks rolled off assembly lines today at the Dodge truck plant of the Chrysler Corporation after a walkout Wednesday had halted production.

Five thousand, three hundred men walked out over the firings of five probationary employees and the two-day disciplinary layoffs of two other men. The Dodge workers are members of Local 140, the United Automobile Workers of America (C.I.O.).

A company spokesman said most of the 4,500-man day shift reported for work today.

Crown Film Unit In Britain To Close, Economy Measure

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 7 (CP)—In the depression winter of 1929-30 a young Scotsman visited Ottawa and Toronto to study Canada's technique of documentary film production. From these beginnings, Perthshire-born John Grierson helped create a style of screen realism which became world famous.

Now, in hard-up, post-war Britain, the story takes an ironic twist. As an economy measure the government agency in charge of documentary, films is to be closed. Thus Britain, which originally drew inspiration from Canada, bows out at a time when the national film boards of countries like Canada, Australia and New Zealand are flourishing.

The decision to close the crown film unit was announced in the British government's new pay-our-way-or-perish austerity program, outlined in the house of commons Jan. 29. Grierson, still producing feature films and documentaries but now outside the government fold, described the closing as " a disaster of the first order."

Enterprise Stunned

"Let's get this straight," said the fast-talking, sometimes controversial Grierson. "I'm not in the government field now and I haven't any axes to grind. Private enterprise itself is stunned. As long as the government believed in the film, there was respect for it."

Government intervention in film production started soon after the First World War, and Canada and France were the pioneers. In 1929 Britain began to see the possibilities. Grierson, then in his early 30s, produced a classic called "Drifters," a down-to-earth pictorial record of the North Sea herring fleet.

"It wasn't any red-sails-in-the-sunset affair", says Grierson. "Just a formal rendering of the real thing."

Borrowed Brilliance

The same year he was sent to Canada to borrow ideas from the Canadian Film Bureau, headed by Frank Badgley. Back in Britain, Grierson gathered about him such great names as Benjamin Britten, W. H. Auden, Basil Wright, Sir Arthur Elton, Stuart Legg, Alberto Cavalcanti and the late Robert Flaherty, who produced "Nanook of the North" and long had headquarters in Toronto.

Quickly the British documentary movement overtook and passed the one in Canada. Grierson and his colleagues raised the factual film from the instructional to the imaginative level. Such features as "Industrial Britain," "North Sea," "Coal Face," and Grierson's favorites, "Song of Ceylon" and "Night Mail" helped establish a tradition which became the envy of other countries and provided the basis for the famous series of films on the British people at war.

Later Grierson became chief of Canada's National Film Board, a job he took for a tentative three months and held for years. This was the same man who on an earlier visit plundered Canada's film library "of just about everything you had" to form the basis of a similar national library in Britain.

Now the documentary is dead. Of is it? Grierson predicts that in traditional British fashion it will just "go around the corner" and start up somewhere else under a new name. Meanwhile group 3, the company with which Grierson now is associated, may help fill the gap. The Scotsman who borrowed so freely from Canada now is at work on "The Brave Don't Cry", a film about a coal-mining disaster in Scotland which Grierson claims will be the biggest documentary since the war.

23 On Council Swear Allegiance

OTTAWA, Feb. 7 — (CP) — Twenty-three of the approximately 70 members of the Canadian Privy Council met here Wednesday to hear formally of the death of King George VI and the accession to the throne of Queen Elizabeth II.

It was the second time in recent years that the Council, which theoretically constitutes the sovereign's advisers in Canada, has met. The last time was to formally learn of Princess Elizabeth's marriage in 1947.

The councillors include present and former members of the Canadian Cabinet and other persons who have been honored by membership in the Privy Council for high service to the State.

Before assembling Wednesday, the 23 councillors — including members of the present cabinet—each took an oath of allegiance to the new queen. Norman Robertson, clerk of the Privy Council, administered the oath.

The oath-taking was by seniority, with Senator J. H. King, 79-year-old former Speaker of the Senate, who became a councillor in 1922, being sworn first.

The last to take the new oath was Field Marshal Viscount Alexander, 60, Canada's former governor-general, who was received into the Council only two weeks ago.

Keene Church Organizations Report Success

The annual meeting of Keene United Church was held in the basement of the church recently with the pastor, the Rev. H. B. Herrington in the chair.

The meeting opened with singing a hymn followed by Bible reading and prayer.

The treasurer's report showed receipts for the year of $5,035.27 and after all expenditures were paid a balance on hand of nearly $100.

The M and M fund for the circuit showed contribution of nearly $950.

The W.M.S. had a good year and sent $525 to head office.

The W. A. reports receipts of $111.11 and an expenditure of $77.81 leaving a balance of $33.30.

The Tillicum Class had receipts of $308.30 and after buying a piano for the club room and contributing to the funds of the church had a balance of $7.83.

The Sunday School had a good year with a balance on hand of $107.62.

Mission Band and Trail Rangers also gave reports. Will E. Patterson was re-appointed Secy. Treas.

There was a discussion as to whether the elders should be appointed for life or eight years the way it has been in the past.

The board of stewards were reappointed also the auditors.

Moved by David McIntyre seconded by Wm. Drummond "That we give a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Herrington for their leadership also to the members of the church for their wonderful support of the work."

National Anthem God Save The Queen

LONDON, Feb. 7 (CP).—For the first time since 1901, the British salute to the sovereign will be: "God Save the Queen."

In official proclamations and in the National Anthem the new Queen Elizabeth II will be hailed as was her great-great grandmother, Victoria, who died 51 years ago.

The Queen's birthday, April 21, may become a public holiday.

Her father's birthday, Dec. 14, was observed in Britain at a variable date in June with the famous ceremony of the trooping of the color in London.

In Canada it was observed as a public holiday, fixed by proclamation annually for a Monday in June.

Reds Could Mount Jet Offensive If Bombing Halted

TOKYO, Feb. 8. (AP)—Lt.-Gen. Otto P. Weyland says if Allied air strikes are halted the Reds could mount a tremendous jet armada from North Korean airfields within 30 days. The Far East air forces commander said in an interview Thursday the Communists have 15 good airfields which could be put into shape without much engineering effort. All are located near supply points such as railroads or seaports. The Reds have insisted on the right to rebuild airfields during an armistice.

Weyland and his air force generals opposed this—until Allied negotiators offered to compromise and let the Reds rebuild some airfields for civilian use only.

But the general said today that commercial airfields could be converted to military airbases simply by supplying them with gas, oil and bombs.

Face Real Threat

Then — if the Reds broke the truce — United Nations ground forces in Korea would be faced with a real threat from the air for the first time.

Repeated Allied bombings have destroyed the usefulness of such fields as Namsi, Saamchon, Taechan, and Uiju—all in Northwest Korea and all with 6,000-foot runways suited to Communist jet operations.

But during a truce the Allied bombers would stay at home and the fields could be repaired.

Weyland said the Reds worked frantically for a time to get jet fields into operation.

However, repair work virtually has stopped, Weyland said, "presumably because they were not getting anywhere because of our B-29s."

Winnie Judd Surrenders, Has Face Lifting

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 8 (AP)—Trunk murderess Winnie Ruth Judd surrendered late Thursday night after her fifth escape from the state hospital for the insane, and created a sensation almost as great as when she killed two girl friends 21 years ago and shipped their dismembered bodies to Los Angeles.

Dr. M. W. Conway, hospital superintendent, said Mrs. Judd appeared to have had "a face lifting." He did not elaborate on her appearance.

Dr. Dean Archer, clinical director, said later Mrs. Judd was "scratched and battered-looking." He said her eyebrows had been plucked and her already dyed red hair had been newly tinted.

All day there had been reports that she would give herself up if she could talk to the county grand jury.

It was learned that two unidentified men and two state hospital employees had conferred about the hour she would surrender.

Gives Self Up

The fading "Tiger Woman" apparently was driven to home of the asylum superintendent just outside the grounds of the big asylum.

As midnight approached, she rapped on the door of Dr. Conway's residence. When he answered, she announced softly:

"Well, I'm back."

The car disappeared without anyone getting a look at it.

Winnie Ruth, now 48, escaped the gallows by 72 hours in 1933 when she was adjudged insane after being convicted of first-degree murder.

Mrs. Judd told Dr. Conway she had escaped by sliding down an improvised rope from a third-storey tower storeroom of the ward in which she was confined.

Gov't Offices To Close Feb. 15

OTTAWA, Feb. 8—(CP)—Only the courts, banks and federal government offices will be required to close Friday, Feb. 15, the day of the King's funeral, under a federal proclamation issued Thursday.

The proclamation appoints the funeral date "as a public holiday to be observed as a day of general mourning by all persons throughout Canada". Under the law, it is binding only on banks and federal institutions.

Officials said it will be up to the provinces and the municipalities to issue their own proclamations requiring the closing of their offices and stores and other business establishments. Some cities already have proclaimed the day one of civic mourning.

The federal government itself plans no special appeal to Canadians to observe the day as one of general mourning. It feels that the proclamation itself constitutes an appeal.

A national ceremony will be observed here at the National War Memorial the day of the funeral.

Wins By-Election

LEEDS, England, Feb. 8 (Reuters)—Denis W. Healey, secretary of the Labor party's international department, today retained the Leeds south-east division for his party in a parliamentary by-election.

Find 2 Bombs On School Sill

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 8 (AP)—Two "Molotov cocktail" bombs were found with smouldering fuses Thursday night on a window sill of a high school in North Philadelphia, where authorities have been investigating reports of a "Hitler youth movement."

Firemen and police quenched the make-shift bombs before they could go off.

Police reported each of the bombs was a gasoline-filled milk bottle with a rag which, similar to one which damaged a Jewish synagogue in the same neighborhood Jan. 18.

Fire battalion chief Edward Lutz said the smouldering fuses had scorched the sill but caused no other damage.

Authorities today received reports that handbills had been distributed near the school inviting membership in the reputed organization. No student could be found who had seen such a circular.

Crashes Through Ice Walks 4 Miles Home

BLIND RIVER, Ont., Feb. 8 (CP).—Almer Aelicks, 33-year-old lumber worker, drove a tractor through the ice of a lake 30 miles north of here, climbed out and walked four miles back to his lumber camp.

In a chattering voice, his clothes frozen stiff to his body, Aelicks said he fought his way to the surface of Lake Chiblow, hauled himself out of the freezing water by grasping the edge of the hole made by the tractor, and started walking.

Neighborly Act

MASSENA, N.Y., Feb. 8. (CP) — Mayor Stowell P. Fournia has proclaimed today a civic day of mourning as a tribute of respect for "our sorrowing Canadian friends" in the death of the King. Town flags were at half staff. Massena is across the St. Lawrence River from Cornwall.

Philip Drives Queen To See Father

Britain Proclaims New Ruler In Colorful Pageantry

SANDRINGHAM, England, Feb. 8. (CP)—Queen Elizabeth arrived at her country house here today to mourn at the coffin of her father, the late King.

She and the Duke of Edinburgh sped in a big black limousine which had brought them from London.

The car turned into a side gate of Sandringham House grounds to avoid a crowd at the main gate.

At Sandringham she joins her mother and sister, Princess Margaret, who have kept a lone vigil by the coffin since the King's death.

Elizabeth, clad in black, sat erect and sober as the car crushed up the drive way past a battery news cameramen.

She will likely remain here until the coffin is moved to London for the start of the official lying-in-state Monday.

A crowd of about 200 had been waiting in bitterly cold wind outside the main gate for about hours. Shortly before her arrival a thunder and hail storm swept over the countryside.

Catch Only Glimpse

The crowd caught only a glimpse of the royal car as it swept into the side entrance.

Inside the estate the body of her father lay in plain oak coffin in a dimly lighted downstairs bedroom where he died quietly early Wednesday. He was dressed in his well-loved uniform of an Admiral of the Fleet.

Later today after the young Queen pays her respects, the body will be carried 200 yards to the little 16th century chapel of St. Mary Magdalene.

The Duke drove the car part of the way to Sandringham. About eight miles from the estate he was seen sitting at the wheel of the car, hatless and wearing dark glasses. The Queen sat beside him in front wearing a scarf.

A mile or so outside Sandringham, the Duke halted the accompanying police car and then he and the Queen moved into the back seat while the chauffeur took over the wheel.

In London, with a trumpet fanfare, a roll of drums and a 62-gun salute, Britain's young Queen

Missing Flier Safe In Quebec

MONTREAL, Feb. 8 (CP). — Robert Holman of Summerside, P.E.I., believed lost Thursday night when his aircraft failed to land at Megantic, Que., landed safely at Sherbrooke, some 100 miles from here.

It was reported that Holman landed when his supply of gasoline ran low and he failed to notify authorities at Cartierville Airport at Montreal.

He took off in his aircraft, a small, single-engined two-seater Fleet-Canuck from Cartierville around noon Thursday and was scheduled to land at Megantic to refuel on his way east.

New French Gov't Wins Confidence Vote

PARIS, Feb. 8 (AP)—The three-week-old government of Premier Edgar Faure won a slim 292-275 vote of confidence early today in the national assembly.

The issue, a procedural one, was whether the parliament should consider at once the premier's proposal for a guaranteed wage scaled to the cost of living.

The assembly voted to take up the issue. But the narrow margin meant the test on the bill itself, probably this weekend, would be critical.

Faure, heading a coalition government of moderate and right-wing parties, wants to give the government one month's time to increase the minimum wage five per cent after prices make such a rise. The powerful Socialists backed the scheme, but Conservative deputies oppose the "escalator clause" of the bill as inflationary.

SILENT TRIBUTE TO HIS LATE MAJESTY is paid by Peterborough citizen E. T. Killian of 603 Donegal St., who paused before a purple-draped portrait of the King in the lobby of the City Hall today. Centre door of the City Hall was also draped late Thursday evening. "His death was shocking news," was Mr. Killian's comment.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Find Wet Snow Hampers Radar Warnings

OTTAWA, Feb. 8—(CP)—The National Research Council, in a finding of importance for defence and civilian purposes, reports it has been surprised how wet snow cut down the effectiveness of radar.

The cut, under some circumstances, is "much greater than expected," the council said.

One significant result would be that an enemy bomber obviously would have a better chance of getting through a radar screen on a day or night when there is wet snow on the ground or falling, than on cold, clear days or nights.

The finding, therefore, is a factor of some interest in plans for Canada's radar network.

An N.R.C. monthly newsletter said long-term experiments show that one of the main lessons is "that a few inches of wet snow, such as is often encountered when temperatures are around the freezing point, may be enough to mask out many types of radar targets."

Must Be Recognized

"It is important in navigation," the newsletter added, "that this limiting factor in the use of radar should be recognized."

Since Russian bombers are the "radar targets" of potentially the greatest interest to Canadians, a reporter asked an official to elaborate on the newsletter. Wouldn't it indicate, he asked, that enemy planes would be wise to pick the night when there is wet snow around to make big attacks?.

The answer was that the studies that have been going on are fundamental studies which could apply just as much to the use of

British Columbia Concludes New Ottawa Tax Pact

OTTAWA, Feb. 8. (CP)—British Columbia and the Federal government have concluded a new taxation agreement, it was announced today. The announcement was made by Finance Minister Abbott and Premier Johnson of British Columbia. They have been discussing the agreement here for several days. Full details were not announced.

The new agreement, subject to approval by the British Columbia legislature, will run for five years. It will replace a five-year agreement that expires next March 31.

Mr. Johnson said that the British Columbia Cabinet had approved the terms of the new agreement at a special meeting Thursday, following telephone and telegraphic exchanges between Victoria and Ottawa.

His reference to the Cabinet's approval of the new terms recalled that about two weeks ago the Liberal-Progressive Conservative coalition was dissolved as a result of premature disclosure of proposed terms for a new taxation agreement.

Forced To Resign

Herbert Anscomb, minister of finance in the coalition government and a Progressive Conservative, announced the terms to the press on his return to Victoria. Mr. Johnson demanded and obtained Mr. Anscomb's resignation, stating that the terms of the agreement should first have been communicated to and approved by the cabinet.

Other Progressive Conservative members resigned and the coalition government was dissolved. An election is expected to follow the forthcoming session of the British Columbia legislature. British Columbia is the first province to conclude discussions on a new agreement. All provinces, except Ontario and Quebec, have agreements due to expire March 31. It is not yet known how many will conclude new pacts.

Under the agreements, the provincial governments undertake to give the Federal government almost exclusive use of the personal income, corporation and inheritance tax fields. In return they receive payments based on population and on the value of production of goods and services within their boundaries.

While Mr. Johnson's announcement gave no figures, it is believed that British Columbia will receive at least $41,202,000 in the first year of the new agreement compared with $32,155,000.

Six Monarchs Attend Funeral

LONDON, Feb. 8—(AP)—The crowned heads of at least six countries are expected to attend the state funeral of King George VI next Friday.

France will be represented by President Vincent Auriol, Prime Minister Edgar Faure and Foreign Minister Robert Schuman.

President Truman is sending State Secretary Dean Acheson as his representative.

Ambassador Georgi Zarubin is considered the probable choice to take part in the rites for Russia.

Royal heads of state expected to pay their last homage in person include:

King Gustav VI and Queen Louise of Sweden; King Paul of Greece; King Haakon VII of Norway; King Frederik IX of Denmark; Queen Juliana of the Netherlands, and her husband, Prince Bernhard; King Feisal of Iraq.

King Farouk of Egypt, who as Crown Prince attended the funeral of King George V in 1936, is sending his cousin, Prince Abdul Moneim.

Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia will delegate one of his sons to make the trip from his desert kingdom.

Falls Four Storeys Hotel Guest Unhurt

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 8 (AP)—Officer Dick Wader was checking in on a police call box when he saw a man fall from a fourth-floor hotel window.

"Send the ambulance, we got a leaper," he cried.

But Kenneth Udell, 56, was no leaper. He had just leaned out too far.

He dropped through an awning, hit the sidewalk, and was back in the hotel when Wader caught up.

"I feel all right . . . just the same as before," he told the cop.

Asks God's Help In Discharging Her Heavy Duties

LONDON, Feb. 8. (Reuters)—Queen Elizabeth II today told the Privy Council—supreme body of state advisers—that "I shall always work as my father did throughout his reign to uphold constitutional government and to advance the happiness and prosperity of my peoples." The 25-year-old Queen who attended a Privy Council meeting at St. James's Palace to make her declaration of accession to the throne, asked God's help in discharging this heavy task that has been laid upon me so early in life."

She said: Your Royal Highnesses, my lords, ladies and gentlemen. By the sudden death of my dear father I am called to assume the duties and responsibilities of sovereignty.

"At this time of deep sorrow, it is of profound consolation to me to be assured of the sympathy which you and all my peoples feel towards me, to my mother, and my sister and to the other members of my family.

Beloved Head

"My father was a revered and beloved head, as he was of the wider family of his subjects; the grief which his loss brings is shared among us all. My heart is too full for me to say more to you today than that I shall always work as my father did throughout his reign to uphold constitutional government and to advance the happiness and prosperity of my peoples, spread as they are all the world over.

"I know that in my resolve to follow his shining example of service and devotion, I shall be inspired by the loyalty and affection of those whose Queen I have been called to be, and by the counsel of their elected parliament.

"I pray that God will help me to discharge worthily this heavy task that has been laid upon me so early in my life."

10,500 Workers Idle In Wildcat Strikes

DETROIT, Feb. 8 (CP).—The United States Rubber Company and the Dodge truck plants were closed today by wildcat strikes which have made 10,500 workers idle.

Officials of Local 101, the United Automobile Workers of America (C.I.O.) met with rubber company officials in a conference which lasted until 4 a.m. today. Six thousand rubber workers walked out late Thursday over an alleged speedup.

In the Dodge truck dispute, pickets ringed the plant gates today, insuring a third day of idleness for 4,500 men.

Canadian Touch

LONDON, Feb. 8. (CP)—A Canadian touch was given the ancient ceremonies attending the proclamation of the Queen's accession in a Welsh county today. Senator Rupert Davies, president of The Kingston Whig-Standard, in his capacity as high sheriff of Montgomeryshire, visited several towns in the county to read the proclamation. He was accompanied by undersheriffs and heralds in their traditional trappings.

Think Coronation Between August And Spring '53

LONDON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth probably will be crowned some time between next August and the spring of 1953. But court officials do not start thinking about the coronation until well after the late King's funeral.

Nor does British history help. There is no set interval, some British kings have waited several years, others only a few months, before going down to Westminster Abbey to have the crown placed on their heads.

There is only one fixed rule—it cannot take place until court mourning for the dead monarch is over.

Avoid Winter Date

There is a second principle—not laid down in any rules of etiquette, but usually observed by practical courtiers—that the coronation should not take place in winter. It often is raining in Britain then, and bad weather spoils colorful uniforms and keeps the crowds away.

Nine months' court mourning was decreed by King Edward VIII when King George V died 16 years ago.

If Queen Elizabeth chooses the same period in memory of her father, no coronation ceremony could be held before the winter chill descends on London.

So, citizens are guessing, the coronation ceremony and the long parade which accompanies it most likely would be put off until the following spring. But if the mourning is only six months it still would be possible to stage the lavish display by August.

Lose $50,000 In Big Swindle

MONTREAL, Feb. 8 (CP) — Police said today six district residents have been swindled of an estimated $50,000 by a 10-man confidence gang.

Det.-Lt. Marcel Patenaude of the provincial police said one member of the alleged ring, Adelard Bergeron, 33, of Val d'Or, Que., is in custody and will appear in court on two counts: conspiring to obtain money fraudulently and obtaining money under false pretences.

Patenaude said Bergeron is charged in connection with the alleged fleecing of Alderman Gaston Perreault of suburban Ville St. Michel.

Patenaude said Perreault paid $8,000 for what he thought were gold nuggets.

Police said they are holding several other suspects in the case.

PICTURE HISTORY OF KING'S LIFE

As a token of respect and affection toward our late King, George VI, The Examiner has arranged to include in our regular Saturday paper a sixteen-page, rotogravure picture supplement, in which His Majesty's life story will be told.

Pictures for this supplement have been collected from a wide variety of sources, in order to provide the most authentic, graphic and coherent record possible of the King's life from childhood, through his youth in the Royal Navy, through his marriage and happy family life, to his accession, the stresses of war, and finally to the illness which brought about his death.

This supplement will go to our Saturday readers as this newspaper's tribute to a good king and a courageous man. We feel that many of our subscribers will wish to preserve it, as it will contain no advertising matter or anything else to link it with commercial interest. It goes without saying that we present it to our Saturday readers without added charge.

Expect Million Mourners To File Past King's Bier

LONDON, Feb. 8 (Reuters). — Starting Tuesday at 8 a.m. the first of perhaps 1,000,000 mourners will shuffle past a towering dais in Westminster Hall here on which will lie in state the body of King George VI.

The Royal coffin will be brought to London from Sandringham, where the King died. It will be taken to Westminster Hall, part of Westminster Palace which contains the House of Commons, where it will lie in state until the funeral Friday.

Westminster Hall will be open to the public between 8 a.m. and 10 p.m. until Thursday night and, if the death of King George V is anything to go by, more than 1,000,000 Britons will pay their respects during these times.

They will file slowly past a dais rising in five stages from a low platform 42 feet long by 17 wide. The last step will bear the late monarch's coffin which, draped with the Union Jack, will bear his crown.

Made of pine from British Columbia, the dais will be covered with black and mauve velvet. Four eight-foot candles will burn, one at each corner and by the King's head, a cross of burnished gold will stand.

Guardsmen in full-dress uniform will mount guard at each corner of the dais, their heads bowed over reversed arms. Yeomen of the Guard from the Tower of London will have their parts in the solemn day and night vigil.

Reporters Defend Talks With Red Correspondents

TOKYO, Feb. 8 (CP).—Correspondents reporting Korean armistice talks have defended their action in carrying on regular discussions with Communist reporters at Panmunjom.

They took exception to a statement by Col. George Patrick Welch, General Matthew Ridgway's public information officer, who said some reporters from U.N. countries engaged in "fraternization and trafficking with the enemy" by associating with reporters from the Communist side.

A memorandum issued by Welch said some correspondents engaged in "excessive social consorting, including the drinking of alcoholic beverages, with Communist journalists."

Welch also criticized action which led to the delivery of camera equipment to Frank Noel, Associated Press photographer held prisoner by the Communists.

Robert Eunson, as bureau chief for Japan and Korea, telling how the A.P. received pictures made by Noel, said:

"I personally gave Welch my word that The Association Press made no bargain with the Communist correspondent who passed the camera along to Noel."

(The correspondent is Wilfred Burchett of Paris Ce Soir, a Communist newspaper.)

Eunson said that in deciding to arrange for Noel to take photographs inside the prison camp. "We foresaw the heartwarming response with which the families of these unfortunate United Nations soldiers would receive the photos."

A correspondent who covered the negotiations for a month said he knew of no instance where an Allied newspaperman had divulged—inadvertently or otherwise—any information to the Communist correspondents.

Britain's New Queen Sends First Messages Soon As King's Death Known

LONDON, Feb. 8. (AP)—Britain's new Queen dispatched her first messages as Sovereign soon after she received the news of her father's death Wednesday. A BBC correspondent in Kenya Colony, East Africa, reported: "She sat down calmly and thought of everything that had to be done. Her first thought was to send cables to her mother and to Queen Mary (her grandmother).

"Then she arranged for Australia, New Zealand and Ceylon to be told that her visit was not now possible.

"As she left the Royal lodge (where she had been staying with her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, in the Kenya highlands) she told the staff that she would be coming again one day."

She took time out to say goodbye personally to all the staff and to arrange for gifts to be sent to many of them.

One of the messages she wrote in Kenya was received Thursday by Sir Leslie Boyce, Lord Mayor of London. It said:

"I am deeply touched by the kind message of symathy you have sent me on behalf of the citizens of London. I have long known that I can count on their devotion and sympathy and I am deeply touched. (Signed) Elizabeth R."

"The "R" stands for Regina.

Cancels Tour

In Canberra, Australia, Governor-General Sir William McKell received the word that Elizabeth was putting off the two-month visit she was to have begun at Freemantle March 1.

"Owing to the sudden death of my father," this message said, "I have to return home immediately. I regret that, for the present, my visit to Australia will have to be postponed."

The reference to postponement caused speculation in Australia that Elizabeth may become the first reigning sovereign to visit that commonwealth. But Australians do not expect to see her for many months. The elaborate royal tour arrangements will be abandoned.

Suggest Ideas Improve Fairs

TORONTO, Feb. 8. (CP)—Delegates to the Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies took a long and critical look at Ontario's fall fairs Thursday during a debate on the resolution that fairs are contributing to improved agricultural and rural life.

Lloyd Jasper of Mildmay said many fairs devote most of their time and space to midways, games of chance and horse shows. "Does this improve agriculture?" he asked.

Commercial exhibitors who move from show to show usually pick up most of the prize money, he said.

Mrs. S. W. Rathwell of Navan said quality and efficiency are encouraged by fall fairs. The younger generation was educated by fair demonstrations.

R. H. Graham, Associate Livestock Commissioner for Ontario, said that directors for fall fair boards should be men who would direct, "rather than just wear the ribbon."

Norwegian Skiers Here For Jumps

University of Toronto's ski club will have four top Norwegian jumpers wearing its colors Saturday afternoon at the invitation men's ski jumping meet at Nassau. Besides these Southern Ontario Zone's first, second and third place jumpers will be in the event.

James Craig, ski club official, said today that P. Berg-Johannssen, H. Greaker, J. Myhre and O. Michaelsen, all Norwegian skiers will be taking part in the jump meet as well as Southern Ontario champion, Kurt Kessler.

Peterborough's champion, Chris Olsen, as well as Dave Johnson, Ian Blaiklock and Ab Vass will be competing for the Peterborough Ski Club. Other jumpers will be here from Toronto and Hamilton.

In the other events, the Southern Ontario junior boys four-way meet, the Southern Ontario junior girls two-way meet, the Southern Ontario senior women's meet and the invitation novice women's meet, the entries are mostly from Toronto, Hamilton, Oshawa and Peterborough.

Practically all the contestants are Ontario's best because this is the last weekend's practice before the Ontario championships next week.

Rev. E. Moore Heads Library Governors

The Rev. E. C. Moore was elected chairman of th 1952 board of governors of the Public Library Thursday night at the annual board meeting. This will be Mr. Moore's second term as chairman.

William Graff, librarian, was again elected secretary-treasurer, and three committees were appointed: Finance committee, H. I. Bradburn chairman, P. D. Windrem, W. A. Richardson; property committee, J. C. Rutherford chairman, Mrs. Ross Matthews, Walter Dinesen, Frank Hickey; library committee, Mrs. Matthews, Mr. Dinesen, Mr. Rutherford, and Mr. Windrem.

Mr. Windrem was newly appointed to the board this year. He replaces K. S. Wightman, who resigned after 10 years of service as a board member.

Knocks Out N.Z.

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z., Feb. 8. (Reuters) — Sonny Ramadhin, West Indies spin bowler, took five wickets and helped knock out New Zealand for 236 runs on the first day of the first cricket test match betwen the two countries here today. Top scorers were Verdun Scott and Bert Sutcliffe, New Zealand captain, who each scored 45 runs. The West Indies innings opens Saturday.

Forgot To Look 2 Ways Boy Knocked Down

"I forgot to look both ways before I crossed the street," six-year-old Anthony Locke, 30 George Street, told Constable W. A. Scott after he had been knocked own by a car Thursday afternoon.

Anthony received a bump on his head, a scratched left knee, and a cut on his right ear, when he ran into the path of a car travelling south on George Street, driven by Sherman Morrison, R.R. 1, Ida.

Locke said the boy appeared to hesitate when he first saw him, then dashed into the street from the east curb, and he was unable to avoid hitting him.

Anthony was examined by Dr. Raymore Scott and then taken home, when it was determined that his cuts and bruises were not serious.

Pedestrian Killed Lindsay Man, Driver

A Lindsay man, Harvey Forsyth, 50, was the driver according to police, of a car that struck and killed Fred Conn, 47, of Summerville near Toronto on a highway in Etobicoke township Thursday night.

Conn was walking along the highway facing oncoming traffic when he was struck. It is not known yet whether any charges will be laid.

Early Groundhog

Harry W. Clements, Douro, Thursday shot a groundhog on his farm two miles west of Warsaw, two miles north of the highway. He said it was the earliest he had seen a groundhog above ground. Last Saturday was the day groundhogs traditionally come up to have a look around and decide on the prospects for spring. This one apparently decided to stay.

India Firing 21-Gun Salute To Honor Elizabeth's Accession, But No Proclamation

NEW DELHI, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Indian government today ordered flags flown full-staff and the firing of 21-gun salutes to honor the accession of Elizabeth II to the throne of Britain and the Commonwealth.

Although India is within the Commonwealth, as a Republic it did not proclaim Elizabeth its Queen as did other members of the Commonwealth. Its only formal action was the recognition of her accession to the throne by India's High Commissioner in London Wednesday.

The salutes were fired here in late afternoon, an hour chosen to synchronize with the time Elizabeth was formally proclaimed in London. The flags will go to half-mast again tomorrow in resumption of the 11-day mourning for the late King George VI.

Jailed 10 Days For Assault In Lakefield

After hearing the evidence in police court Thursday, Magistrate W. R. Philp reduced a charge of assault occasioning bodily harm against Raymond McIlmoyle, R.R. 2 Bethany, to common assault and sentenced him to ten days in jail.

McIlmoyle was charged with assaulting Mrs. Emma Darling at the home of Williams Edwards, George St., Lakefield, on January 5.

Velma Jacobs, Mrs. Darling's daughter pleaded guilty to a drunk charge and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs or ten days. Miss Jacobs who has been living with McIlomyle for the last three years elected to spend the ten days in jail.

Chief Garnet Samis of Lakefield, said he found Miss Jacobs in a "very drunken condition" at the Edward's home when he called to investigate a disturbance the night McIlmoyle was alleged to have assaulted Mrs. Darling.

Edwards, at whose residence the fracas occurred, pleaded not guilty to a charge of assaulting McIlmoyle, occasioning him bodily harm. Chief Samis introduced a claw hammer which showed brown stains on the head and handle. Chief Samis said the hammer was dripping with blood when he found it at the Edward's house.

Edwards is alleged to have struck McIlmoyle after McIlmoyle assaulted Mrs. Darling, throwing her into a snowbank and pulling her hair at the door of Edward's house.

Two Peterborough men brought McIlmoyle to Chief Samis' door after midnight, January 6 and said he had been in an accident.

Chief Samis said he knew McIlmoyle, but he was so badly beaten up about the head, he didn't recognize him at first. He learned of the disturbance at the Edwards house and on investigation found that McIlmoyle had been involved.

After hearing the evidence in the charge against Edwards, Magistrate Philp adjourned the case for judgment on Monday.

Edwards was defended by W. C. Grant.

Industrials Recover Slowly On Exchange

TORONTO, Feb. 8 — (CP) — Industrials recovered slowly today in early afternoon stock market dealings while golds levelled off after a strong climb. Base metals and Western oils made little headway.

Trading opened briskly and continued actively. Speculative issues dominated exchange dealings while industrial activity was restricted to selected leading issues. Volume for the first three hours was 1,814,000 shares.

Papers and manufacturing companies led industrials' recovery while utilities and liquors also attracted firm support. Agricultures and steels remained weak.

Senior golds — Bralorne, Giant Yellowknife, Lake Shore, Malartic and McIntyre — posted advances ranging to about $2. Secondary issues showed a broad list of penny gains while prospects also strengthened.

Canadian Atlantic, Gridoil and North Canadian showed strong gains in Western oils but Central Explorers, Pacific Petroleum and Commonwealth Petroleum dipped.

Base metal leaders were mixed. Hudson Bay, Noranda and Steep Rock edged upward while Consolidated Smelters and Labrador slipped.

Camps For Workers On Trans-Canada

TWEED, Feb. 8—Work camps for the first seven-mile stretch of the Trans-Canada Highway are being built by the Therrien Construction Co. on Highway 7 east of Actinolite.

The construction firm has been awarded a contract to build a seven-mile stretch of the highway and company officials estimate it will take a year to complete the job. At present, 35 men are employed and it is estimated 100 will be on the job by spring.

HE'S HOT

During a Millbrook-Mount Pleasant bush league hockey game Wednesday night the Mount Pleasant goalie had several hot moments; one he will probably remember all his life. A Millbrook player finished a rink-length dash with a shot at the net; the puck bounced off the goalie's pads. He started jumping and uttering sounds, making the crowd wonder just what happened. A few minutes later they found out that the puck had hit a box of matches in the goalie's pocket, starting a small fire.

Revolver Discharges, Shoots Owner In Leg

LINDSAY, Feb. 8 (ENS)—Provincial police are still investigating a shooting accident here which occurred on the night of Feb. 6 around 11.15 p.m. Earl Sonberger, 23, is now in Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, with a bullet wound in his leg.

Sonberger was cleaning a .32 calibre revolver when it accidentally discharged and the bullet lodged in his left leg. He left his home near Manilla with the wound in his leg, drove to Sonya to his father's place. His father, Louis, contacted a doctor in Little Britain and the injured man was taken to hospital. The provincial police were then contacted and informed of the accident.

Court Silenced

LINDSAY, Feb. 8 —(ENS)— Lindsay police court, at the order of Magistrate E. A. Gee, today observed a one-minute silence in honor of the late King George VI.

Corporal Ken Denniss of the O.P.P. opened court for the first time in half a century with the words "God save the Queen".

Army Deserter, Two Youths Face 11 Charges

LINDSAY, Feb. 8. (ENS)—A total of six charges were read against one youth, three against another, and two against a third in police court here today. Reginald Adams, 20, Thomas Love, 18, and Perry Vaillancourt, 17, pleaded guilty in all instances.

All three were charged with the theft of fuel oil from George Baldwin & Son valued at $2 and a quantity of baked goods from the Trent Valley Baking Co. valued at $16. The goods and oil were found in a car belonging to two of the accused.

Love and Vaillancourt also pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing two rugs from a warehouse valued at $15. Love had three other theft charges against him.

Adams was given suspended sentence and was turned over to an army officer from Camp Borden. Adams is a deserter from the Canadian army.

Love and Vaillancourt were given suspended sentence by Magistrate E. A. Gee. Vaillancourt's father appeared on his behalf and offered to pay the costs and make restitution for the boy. Love's former employee offered to take the lad back to his farm and said he would make arrangements to sell a truck belonging to the boy to make restitution. Love would not consent to the sale of the truck and Magistrate Gee said he would have to pay or spend the time in jail. Love took the jail sentence. Each were assessed costs of $25.

Backfire Ignites Gas, Fire Damage $2,000

LINDSAY, Feb. 8. (ENS)—Two thousand dollars damage was caused by fire here late Thursday afternoon at the Department of Highways garage south of the town on Highway 7.

According to Fire Chief A. Wylie, workers were draining gasoline from a truck. They had placed the gas in a pail and carried it to the side of the building. The truck was started and it backfired.

The spark followed the fumes to the wall, ignited the pail of gas and the flames soared up the walls of the building. Almost two hours work for the Lindsay fire department resulted and $2,000 damage was done.

today was proclaimed "Elizabeth II, by the Grace of God," in a glittering pageant dating back 1,000 years.

Bright wintry sunshine lit this city, heart of the British Commonwealth, as the proclamation was read at historic St. James's Palace and all cities and towns in the land.

An hour earlier the 25-year-old Elizabeth, pale and wan at the death of her father, had told 200 of her Privy Councillars: "I pray that God will help me to discharge worthily this heavy task that has been laid upon me so early in my life."

Before the Privy Council—the Royal body of advisers—she stood in black mourning clothes to read the solemn declaration of accession to the throne.

She had made her way to an ante-room of the white and gold throne room of St. James through a private passage from her home, Clarence House, unseen by the crowds.

With her went her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh. As she read the declaration in clear, ringing voice, she was watched by the Duke of Gloucester, her father's brother, Lord Woolton, Lord President of the Council, and Prime Minister Churchill.

Guardsmen in grey topcoats and black bearskins, their flags draped in black and drums covered, guarded the approaches to the Palace.

Begins Duties Early

In spite of her tiring 19-hour flight from Kenya, she was up early and attended to state and domestic affairs before going to the ceremony.

More crowds surged against the police barriers guarding the car as it pulled out of the Clarence House driveway.

She waved slightly with a faint sad smile on her face. Philip looked gravely straight ahead.

Meanwhile the age-old machinery of the Royal proclamation went into motion, sweeping aside for a brief time the mourning for the King.

The procession moved off down The Strand toward the Old City of London.

A pale sun shone on the neo-gothic law court buildings as scarlet-robed city sheriffs lined up in the middle of the street at Temple Bar for the ceremonial challenging of the Queen's men at the boundary of the Old City of London.

Sound Fanfare

Royal trumpeters sounded a fanfare. A scarlet barrier was stretched across the street as the procession neared.

"Who goes there?" rang out the challenge from the Lord Mayor's men.

In scarlet, blue and gold, Portculis Pursuivant, a page, replied: "Her Majesty's Men at Arms who demand entrance to the city to proclaim Her Royal Majesty Queen Elizabeth".

Messengers carried the proclamation to the Lord Mayor. He ordered admission granted to the procession so that "this Order of Council may be read out".

Slowly and solemnly, the scarlet-clad sheriffs, preceded by the golden city mace and the splendidly-encrusted sword, gave way.

They formed up at the end of Chancery Lane. The escort of household cavalry clattered down Fleet Street with breastplates shining and plumes flying.

Once more the solemn proclamation rang out. It was read by the Ulster King of Arms, Sir Gerald W. Wollaston.

"It finished, "God Save the Queen" in which the crowd and the city officials joined in. A military band played the National Anthem.

"God Save the Queen," rang out once more, and with a great shout the multitude of citizens, troops and gorgeously clad officials in medieval and modern uniforms roared three cheers for Britain's new sovereign.

The procession, accompanied by the Lord Mayor, sheriffs and aldermen, then set off for the Royal exchange.

There the proclamation was read a fourth time, by Clarence king of arms, 80-year-old Sir Arthur Cochrane. He stood on the steps of the building, in the heart of London's financial district.

The proclamation also was read at the Tower of London, while the guns atop that ancient old pile of stone measured out a salute of 62 rounds.

The governor of the tower, Col. James Carkeet, first read it on the green in the heart of the tower. He stood in the middle of a square formed by yeoman of the guard—the famous old beefeaters.

From the green, the yeoman and the tower governor marched up to tower hill. The governor again read the proclamation. Then they returned to the tower for three more readings, each ending with the word "amen."

The booming guns and the ceremony failed to disturb the ravens of the tower.

Allies To Answer Red Conference Proposal Saturday At Full-Dress Joint Session

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 8 — (AP) — Armistice negotiators will hold a full-dress session Saturday to hear the Allies' answer to a Communist proposal for a high-level conference to settle all Asian questions related to peace in Korea.

Some observers said they expect the U.N. reply to include a counter-proposal.

The Reds' three-point plan was offered Wednesday as an outline of proposed recommendations to governments involved in the Korean war. It calls for a conference within three months after an armistice is signed to consider withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea, peaceful settlement of the Korean question and other questions relating to the Korean problem.

Washington sources said the United States is prepared to accept the first two points, but will balk at the third, which could include such subjects as the future of Formosa.

The plenary session on armistice agenda item five is set for 10 a.m. Saturday (8 p.m. EST Friday) in Anmunjo.

Costs At Civic Hospital Mounted, So Did Revenue

Increasing revenue during 1951 kept pace with higher expenses, the financial statement of Peterborough Civic Hospital, tabled at the board of governors' annual meeting Thursday night, revealed.

Revenue from all sources amounted to $64,524.34 during 1951, an increase of $248,524.34 over 1950. Expenses were up $136,384.60 over the previous year and totalled $478,160.11.

Treasurer T. T. Rodger said that accounts receivable increased by $27,765, during the year, from $88,525.00 to $116,290.00. Accordingly, the reserve for bad debts has been boosted by $11,710, to cover the greater risk of a larger percentage of accounts still to be paid.

This year, $12,835 was written off against the reserve for uncollected accounts on January 1, as compared with $11,040 written off at the beginning of the year.

Although payment revenue was up $191,569 over 1950, in 1951 the net revenue from patients of $623,589.03 fell $41,979.04 short of the estimated income from this source of $665,568.07 as set down in the budget.

Mr. Rodger blamed "non-realization of revenue" from patients and a $6,282 increase in expenditures over the budget figures for the deficit.

In his report, J. R. Marshall, chairman of the hospital board, said if the hospital had had patients paying public ward rates for the 8,651 indigent patient days, revenue would have been increased by more than $52,000, "thus enabling us to close our year without a deficit."

Lose Money

The fact that hospitals lose money on every patient admitted was brought out in the summary of average earnings and costs.

The average daily revenue from patients in private and semi-private wards amounted to $8.14, an increase of $1.77 over 1950.

Charges for extra services accounted for $3.13 per patient day, and raised the average per patient from all sources to $9.39.

This is $4.29 less than the average cost of $13.68 to the hospital each day for every patient.

Death Sidelights

LONDON, Feb. 8—(Reuters) —The mourning worn by Queen Elizabeth II on her arrival here by air from East Africa Thursday was part of her normal wardrobe for the Australia and New Zealand tour, it was reported here today, packed probably for such an emergency. But royal couturier Norman Hartnell now has completed a plain back coat and dress for the Queen—a 24-hour rush job.

LONDON, Feb. 8—(Reuters) —Britain's television service is waiting to see whether Queen Elizabeth II will give permission for the lying-in-state of the late King and his funeral to be televised. Today's ceremonies on the proclamation of her accession were televised.

NICE, Feb. 8—(AP)—This Riviera resort today postponed its Battle of Flowers carnival, set for next Saturday, because of the death of Britain's King George.

LONDON, Feb. 8—(Reuters) A message from Queen Elizabeth II on the death of her father, King George VI, will be read in parliament when the House of Commons, which adjourned on the death of the King, reassembles Monday.

LONDON, Feb. 8—(Reuters) —Queen Elizabeth II may broadcast a radio message soon after her father's funreal next Friday, it was learned tonight. The message, which would be recorded and relayed throughout Britain and the world, would probably be on the Saturday or Sunday after the funeral, according to present arrangements. No definite date has yet been fixed.

radar for civilian purposes, say a ship approaching a snow-covered shore or a plane approaching an area or snow-covered mountains.

It had been shown that snow could cut down radar to some degree but, the official said, it was a surprise to find just how much the reduction of effectiveness can be.

It would be true to say that a given radar station seeking out an enemy plane would be less effective if a wet snow were falling than if it weren't falling, less effective if the ground were thick with wet snow than if the snow were hard and crisp.

But this didn't mean that steps couldn't be taken to avoid this pitfall either by boosting the power of the radar station or by building more of them. The loss of effectiveness simply was a factor that should be taken into consideration by those who use radar.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, Feb. 8 — (CP)— The United States dollar today opened at 1/16 of one per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Thursday's close. That is, it took $1.00 1/16 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.78 5/16, also unchanged.

Germans Told Danger Of Russ Blow

Adenauer Warns West Germans Must Do Their Share

BONN, Germany, Feb. 8.—(AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer warned the West German people today that a vast Russian military machine is pressed against the Elbe and can march against west Europe "within 24 hours" if the Kremlin gives the signal.

Interrupting debate on his proposal to raise 12 German divisions for the European army, Adenauer said the first shock of a Russian attack would have to be borne by American, British, and French forces in West Germany, but the Germans could not expect the Allied troops to do everything for them.

German soldiers, he said, are essential to counter-balance the Soviet power.

Sharp Criticism

His warning came amid sharp criticism of his policy, particularly from the bitterly anti-rearmament Socialists. The Chancellor was having trouble within his own fold as well. The second largest faction in his coalition government, the Free Democratic Party, said Thursday night it would agree to arming West Germany only if the Bonn Republic gets membership in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and if "all still imprisoned former German soldiers" are released.

No final decision on the question was planned for several weeks, but government parties were reported framing a resolution on which to hold a test vote of parliamentary sentiment on Adenauer's plans to call up 300,000 to 400,000 German soldiers for the projected six-country European army.

Obituary

WILLIAM GAILORD SPENCLEY

William Gailord Spencley, 78, 4 Spencley's Lane, died in Peterborough Civic Hospital Thursday following a lengthy illness.

Mr. Spencley was born in Peterborough, the son of the late William Spencley and Sarah Wilkins and had lived here all his life. He was a steam engineer by trade and fired the boiler that was used in the building of Inverlea bridge. He was also employed at the George Sorenson florist shop for 17 years.

A member of George St. United Church, Mr. Spencley was well-known in the district as a keen gardner and horticulturist. He averaged 17,000 blooms of gladioli a year and often had an acre in full bloom.

He leaves his wife, the former Mary Maria Gill; two daughters, Mrs. George Wilkins (Mary), Rochester, N.Y.; one brother, Jesse Spencley, Burleigh Falls, and one half-brother, Fred Howland, Auburn, N.Y.; one granddaughter, Jean Montgomery, Peterborough.

The funeral will be held Saturday from the Comstock funeral home, at 2 p.m. The Rev. A. A. Mathews, of George St. United Church, will conduct the service. Burial will be in Little Lake cemetery.

Honor Ex-Chief At Banquet

COBOURG, Feb. 8 (ENS)—Jim Campbell, who retired recently as chief of the fire department, was tendered a testimonial dinner last night at the British Hotel. Mayor Jack Burnet was chairman. Jim Campbell served 55 years in the fire department and had been chief since 1943.

He was presented last night with a purse by Councillor Charles Johnston, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee. Attending the dinner to honor the veteran firefighter, were Mayor Burnet and town council, town clerk Jack Ewart, members of the fire department and representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, Public Utilities Commission and the local insurance agents' association.

Bilateral Basis

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Powers in Europe, Feb. 8 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower believes any military deal with Spain should be on a bilateral basis between the U.S. and the Madrid government, an officer of his staff said Thursday. Such an arrangement should be made between the two governments and not through the intermediary of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, the statement added.

Charge Bridge Stolen

INDIANA, Pa., Feb. 8 (AP)—Sheriff Paul Jefferies filed larency charges against three men Thursday for theft of a 50-foot steel bridge. Jefferies said the men dismantled the bridge spanning a small creek at nearby Livermore last December and sold the steel for scrap.

Premature Explosion

COLUMBUS, Ga., Feb. 8 (AP)—Three United States infantrymen were killed at Fort Benning Thursday by the premature explosion of a 60-millimetre mortar shell. Army officers said the explosion took place in the barrel of the mortar during a field demonstration problem.

Plan Local Elections

PUSAN, Korea, Feb. 8 (AP)—The South Korean government announced tonight that local elections would be held April 25 to choose 19,768 city and country council representatives under the local autonomy law. Implementing this law, which has been on the books for some time, has been postponed previously because of the war.

Fact-Finding Tour

LONDON, Feb. 8 (Reuters)—The foreign office said Thursday a team of top British officials will leave Tuesday for a month-long fact-finding tour of the oil-producing areas of the Persian Gulf. Their main tasks will be to prepare a report for Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden on problems arising from increased oil production in the area.

3 Tanks Shipped

LONDON, Feb. 8 (CP)—Three Centurion tanks, first of an unspecified number ordered by Canada from the British government, will leave Liverpool for Saint John, N.B., Saturday on the cargo liner Fanada Head. The 51-ton British-built tanks, battle-tested in Korea, will be shipped from Saint John to an ordnance depot in Montreal.

Elizabeth II Single Symbol Holding Together World's Largest Empire

LONDON, Feb. 8 — (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II assumed full responsibility of the monarchy immediately upon her return to Britain today.

Her political powers are almost non-existent. Her duties—ceremonial, symbolic and as the axis upon which government turns in Britain's constitutional monarchy—are many.

Walter Bagehot, author of The English Constitution, which after nearly 90 years still is the foremost definition of the workings of British government, defined three political rights a sovereign holds—to be consulted by the Prime Minister, to encourage certain courses of action, and to warn against others.

The sovereign—either King or Queen—is the single symbol holding together the world's largest empire. Only loyalty to Elizabeth II binds such countries as Canada, Pakistan and Australia into a Commonwealth of independent but united nations.

The role of Empire-strengthener is no new one to Elizabeth. With her sister Margaret she made world-wide broadcasts during the Second World War. Only a few months ago she toured across Canada and back, with a side-trip to the United States, winning new affirmations of loyalty from those who today are her subjects and her allies.

Sovereign Consulted

How she affects the government of Britain—through her consultations with her Prime Ministers—will probably be known only when the latter confess in their memoirs. But on every major government decision the sovereign is consulted. The government leader knows—and so will Elizabeth—that he may lose his office but she probably won't.

As Queen Elizabeth now heads the Royal Family with considerable formal say-so on the doings of its many members.

She may decide who her younger sister Margaret marries, a decision she may have to make soon. Many suitors have been linked with the name of the 21-year-old princess.

Not only Margaret, but all persons of Royal blood must have the sovereign assent to marry. In these more modern days the ruler seldom denies that permission.

Elizabeth will have the right to declare her husband, Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh, a member of the Royal Council—a five-member group which presides over Royal affairs in the absence of the monarch.

Queen Victoria made Prince Albert a member of the council just after they were married in 1840.

Victoria also gave Albert first precedence after the sovereign, ahead of all other Royalty, peers and archbishops.

Elizabeth can, and probably will, grant this first precedence to Philip. She has the power to do as she pleases about it.

She may also give him—or not the prince consort title which Victoria bestowed upon Albert only after 17 years of marriage.

Elizabeth will also be the one to decide when the title of Prince of Wales is granted to her three-year-old son and crown prince, Charles.

Only the sovereign has the right also to bestow Britain's highest civilian decoration, the order of merit—limited to 24 people at a time. Among present holders are Winston Churchill, Clement Attlee, and the historian, Gilbert Murray.

Theoretically, the sovereign has the right to summon or dissolve parliament, dismiss and form governments, appoint all military officers, judges, church officials, sheriffs and other governing dignitaries, to declare war at pleasure, and to commute death sentence imposed by the courts or courts martial.

Actually, all these powers are exercised by the cabinet, as advisors to the sovereign, and the cabinet bears responsibility for them.

The monarch delivers speeches to each new session of parliament, outlining new laws planned for enactment. But the speech always is written by the cabinet members.

If Elizabeth chose, she could refuse to live in London, decline to make the speeches to parliament, and withdraw completely from public life. Victoria set that example with long years of seclusion following the early death of Albert.

But the sovereign normally has many public duties to attend.

Elizabeth will be expected to be expected, to have full access to all secret papers that she desires to see, and to be fully informed about every phase of government activity. Normally, the Prime Minister has a weekly audience with the monarch to give this information.

In times of crisis, as in the approach of war, the monarch always is consulted by the Prime Minister but before he goes to parliament to lay the cabinet's decision before the lawmakers.

Above all, the monarch is the symbol of unity of the British people. Because Royal meddling in politics has been forbidden ever since George III was shorn of power, the monarch is beyond the colors of partisan political strife.

Elizebath will be expected to be a woman above all women, to stand firm in her country even if others flee ahead of war or natural disaster.

She will have to visit and console the victims of disaster, carry out the Royal investiture of persons nominated for peerages or knighthoods by the government, and make one public appearance after another—in defense factories, flower shows, industrial expositions and all other phases of public life.

Always Elizabeth will need to be on call by the cabinet and for such public duties as laying wreaths on Armistice Day or dedicating public buildings.

Her private life must be above reproach.

REGAL BEAUTY—The new Queen Elizabeth is well known for her dignified and royal bearing in her public appearances. The young ruler is pictured at a recent visit to the Royal Opear House in London.

$3,500 Civil Suit Balances On Woman's Dower Rights

COBOURG, Feb. 8 (ENS) — Judgment was reserved in connection with an action brought by a local real estate agent against an owner who had placed a property in his hands to sell and then decided later against selling.

William Cooper sued Fred Cochrane of Cobourg for the sum of $3,500 which he said was the commission due him as agent for the defendant. The case was heard by Judge M. A. Miller in chambers.

Cooper claimed that on April 24 of last year the defendant instructed him to sell his property on the corner of King and Division Sts. for the sum of $75,000, the cash payment to be $50,000, his commission to be five per cent. Cooper asserted that on May 5, D. A. Bergin of Cobourg offered $50,000 in cash and mortgage for $25,000 and stipulated that his offer would only last until May 8. Later Bergin said he was willing to extend the time to May 28. However, the defendant refused the offer and plaintiff took legal proceedings to collect his commission.

The defence admitted signing a printed form containing a clause, "an exclusive authority to sell" and dated April 24. The plaintiff agreed with the defendant as a binding condition of said authority that "it is understood and agreed that this property transaction deals with Mr. Cochrane exclusively."

The defendant alleged that he was advised by the plaintiff in ignorance of the law of dower that the defendant's wife, Mildred G. Cochrane, had no interest whatever in the said lands and could claim no dower and that the defendant could retain the whole of the monies in the event the sale was made.

The plaintiff procured a written offer from Mr. Bergin on May 5, 1951, and advised the defendant that unless the offer was accepted by May 8, 1951, the plaintiff would proceed to collect his commission.

Continuing, the defence pointed out that the transaction involved the question of an option agreement in an existing lease respecting the sale of a block of stores on King Street, previously given by the defendant and that it was an unreasonable and arbitrary demand for the plaintiff to make in order to force payment of commission without regard to defendant's ability to perform such a contract and the defendant had no reasonable time to get legal advice on it. The defendant was ill in the hospital at the time of the second offer.

Defendant also contended his wife never relinquished her dower rights and has contested his right to sell the property free of dower. She had left him but returned for a brief time in May when he was ill. There was a misrepresentation of the dower rights and he was induced to sign, defendant said.

In the reply, the plaintiff said that the defendant's wife was living apart under circumstances which disentitled her to a dower and that a decision to that effect has been given by the county judge on April 24, 1951 and that if the defendant's wife returned, such a return was only temporary and was for the purpose of defeating the plaintiff's claim. The plaintiff said that he told the defendant that he would claim commission only after the defendant said he wouldn't accept the offer. The purchaser would have bought the property subject to any existing leases or options. The hospital illness of the defendant was only temporary and he was able to have consulted a solicitor from the time of the offer until May 28.

Seek Lease of Ships

TOKYO, Feb. 8 (AP)—Transportation Minister Ciichi Murakami said Thursday Japan is negotiating with the United States for the lease of war vessels. He told the transportation committee of the diet (parliament) that any ships obtained would be used only in the service of the maritime safety board, the Japanese counterpart of the U.S. coast guard.

Royal Flights Against Time

Princess Elizabeth and her husband the Duke were resting in the interior of Kenya when word was relayed to her of the death of His Majesty. Arrangements were quickly made to fly the new Queen to London with the utmost dispatch. In 1928 her uncle, then Prince of Wales and also Heir to the Throne, was on a hunting expedition, also in British East Africa, when messages reached him of the grave illness of his father King George V. Speedy arrangements were made to bring him to London from Tanganyika, which is the next British colony south of Kenya, also on the coast. Queen Elizabeth flew to London in seventeen hours. The Prince of Wales reached London in eleven days, of the speediest travel then possible to him.

* * *

He tells in his Memoirs of the day-long trip to the port where he "fretted" for three days, awaiting the Enterprise. He boarded the fast naval cruiser in the morning and she immediately got under way. "The race against time that followed, first by sea northward up the Indian Ocean, through the Red Sea and the Suez Canal, and westward half the length of the Mediterranean to Brindisi in Italy, and then by train across Europe, was a gruelling experience. The Enterprise, driven as I had never seen a ship driven before, completed the 4,700-mile voyage to Brindisi in Italy in eight days". Then there was the rail journey from Italy (Mussolini cleared all lines for the Prince) to the Channel —a day and a half— thence by ship to England. Apart from the anxious three-day wait at the African port, the Prince of Wales consumed eleven days in hectic travel by the fastest means which the resources of nations could put at his disposal, in order to reach his father's sick-bed. (King George had passed the crisis on his arrival; it was this illness, from which he made a slow recovery, that led to his death in 1936.) Queen Elizabeth reached her father's bier in seventeen hours.

* * *

A reign begun in a world moving so fast—and it is only the beginning of the revolution in travel, for the Prince's relatively slow journey from East Africa was made less than 24 years ago—such a reign must be subject to pressures of time and events far greater than those imposed on any other monarch of this Commonwealth and realm.

The Unmentionable Table Spread

So mutually antagonistic are butter and margarine that the dairy industry tries to avoid calling margarine even by that pale name; and margarine producers, in their propaganda, avoid the word 'butter' as if it were an unclean thing of the stable. Each calls the other's product a "table spread". The feud may be forgotten, in Saskatchewan, at least, for the same co-operative society is producing both butter and margarine.

In December the Saskatchewan Federated Co-operatives in association with the Saskatchewan Dairy Pool announced that they would soon begin the manufacture of margarine. Much of the vegetable oil required will be produced by the big Pool processing plant in Saskatoon and will come from raw materials grown on Saskatchewan farms.

The feud which the butter-producers have maintained is short-sighted if not reckless. The legalized manufacture of margarine has not hurt the dairy industry. People are buying all the butter which Canadian farmers produce, and buying it at prices almost twice as high as margarine. They happen to like butter so much that they are buying more than the country produces. Thus there is a shortage, which has to be made up by imports from New Zealand.

In the interest of all Canadians, the dairy industry's outcry against margarine and the ban it has succeeded in imposing, through provincial government legislation, should be lifted. In Quebec and Prince Edward Island margarine is outlawed in any form. In most other provinces the dairy industry has succeeded in imposing a colour-bar. In these provinces margarine may not be coloured yellow like butter. (Artificial, the dairy farmers call it, conveniently overlooking the fact that nine months in the year they, or the dairies, add yellow colouring to butter.)

The Canadian Medical Association Journal of August 1947, stated that "from the economic and nutritional aspects good margarine is superior to butter." The fact is, there is nothing wrong with margarine that a little yellow colour will not cure. It is ridiculous for the dairy industry to fret. It cannot meet the demand for butter now. It should welcome an increase in the sale of margarine and anything which will make margarine more attractive to customers. The President of the Saskatchewan Federated Co-Operatives has said: "The manufacture and sale of margarine in Canada is not responsible for the fact that 'the cream can is on the way out.' The fact that farmers had been able to get better prices for other agricultural products was the basic cause." Incidentally, the new margarine from the Saskatchewan Pool will be "coloured like any other product used on bread." That is facing facts on table spreads with businesslike honesty. Let butter be butter, coloured as the producers wish, and margarine be margarine, coloured as they wish. To do so is to butter our bread on both sides.

Another King's Story

Not long ago the Duke of Windsor published a book called A King's Story, containing a record of his life up to his abdication. It was an interesting book, containing some pages of deep pathos. In tomorrow's edition of the Examiner we shall include a supplement which we feel might also be called A King's Story; it is a pictorial record of the life of the late King George VI—he who manfully took up the sceptre which Edward VIII cast down—and it is of a pathos no less touching.

Such pictorial records have come, during the last fifty years, to occupy a special place in the lives of the people of the British Commonwealth. From time to time subscribers bring to this office supplements of newspapers recording the deaths of Queen Victoria and Edward VII, the coronation and death of George V, and the coronation of George VI. We are surprised and touched by the way in which these supplements have been preserved, and the obvious satisfaction which they give to their owners.

Because it is our desire to do whatever a newspaper can do to honour the King who died on Wednesday, we are including in our Saturday issue the finest photographic record of his career that we can obtain; we are confident that it is the best thing of its kind which will appear in Canada. It will appear without advertisement or matter which might mitigate against its preservation as a historical record. The great advances in photography which have been made within this century make it possible to assemble a group of photographs which give a remarkable account of a man's life, and the best of the many hundreds of pictures taken of the late King, from infancy until his death, will be presented in rotogravure; the front page will be entirely given to a striking photograph of the King, bordered in purple.

Owing to Post Office regulations, it is impossible for us to mail this supplement to our rural subscribers. Their copies of it will be kept at this office, and may be picked up when next they visit Peterborough.

Inflation Hits Arms

The cost of making guns has gone up, the way that the cost of making toothpicks has risen, only the pressure of the guns on national purses is greater than the prick of toothpicks. Defence officials in Washington have revealed some of their swollen costs, in asking for $52,100,000,000 for the Department spending in the year beginning July 1st next. (In case our readers' eyes are dazed by the parade of zeros, the figure is 52 billion, 100 million dollars.)

A new gun has been developed in the U.S. to take the place of a 40-millimetre weapon produced during the last war at $10,000 each. The new article is to cost $275,000—each. In these inflationary times it is appropriately called a "'skysweeper"—sky-sweeper, not skies-weeper. A new bomb sight is being produced at a cost of $250,000 each. It will replace the Norden bombsight used during the war. The new article costs 31 times as much as the Norden. The air frame of a fighter plane ten years ago cost $26,741, compared with today's cost of $179,309.

And so the materials for defence go up—ever bigger and ever higher. And of course, better, if one may be pardoned the use of that word in connection with the terrible instruments of death now being manufactured.

We wonder how the United States can be worried about the cost of helping to finance the St. Lawrence Seaway when it is dealing out $52 billions in one year to the Department of Defence. The entire seaway—both power development and navigational—is estimated to cost all told less than a billion—a cost spread out over several years.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Beef to the value of $1,000 was stolen in Toronto recently, and from what we have observed in the butcher-shops, we deduce that the burglar slyly wrapped it in his handkerchief and put it in his pocket.

A contemporary is surprised by a man who says that he does not go to church, which is 65 feet from his front door, because he can never find a parking space. We would have been more surprised if he had said that he could never find a pew.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR SIR: I believe that I read somewhere that the British Labour Party got more votes than the Conservatives in the last elections, but fewer seats. Is that right?

ANSWER: On October 25th elections Conservatives (including the Ulster Unionists) secured 321 seats to the Labour 295 seats, but they got fewer votes in the total tnan the Labour Party. The percentage of popular vote was 48 for Conservatives, 48.8 for Labour. In the last three elections Labour has had 48.2 per cent. of the votes (1945); 46.3 (1950) and 48.8 (1951).

DEAR ALPHA: Anyone motoring from Toronto to Peterborough must have noticed the little Russian Orthodox church at the corner just after one has entered Oshawa. On the principal dome, and in each window, is the Cross, as usually represented in the Orthodox Church, with three cross-pieces. The top cross-piece, obviously, represents the board upon which the superscription was written when Christ was crucified; the second, and widest, crosspiece is the bar to which the arms of the crucified man were nailed. But what is the third crosspiece, which is low on the cross, and not set at an angle of ninety degrees but at a more acute angle? Can you or any of your readers tell me what this is?

RESPONSE: Alpha leaves this question to his readers.

ALPHA: Will you please define the American word "cheesecake"?

ANSWER: It is a Hollywood term for a girl displaying her best when wearing least. An article in point: Miss Franca Faldini, to whom the American Army newspaper 'Stars and Stripes' awarded the title of Miss Cheesecake of 1951. For her return trip home to Italy she wore on her cheesecake legs a pair of 24-carat gold stockings worth $600.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR ALPHA: Many years ago my Father used to recite a poem to me at bedtime that was so fascinating and wonderful to me, that I never tired hearing it, even though Father could never remember it all by any means. Once I asked him where he learned it, and he said he thought it was in a school primer he had in first grade. (Dad is now in his seventies.) If you, or any reader of your column could track it down for me I would be truly grateful. The parts I remember go something like this:

Two bears lived in a hollow tree
And they never heard of your or me
Or the elephant or the kangaroo,
And with grown-up folk they had nought to do.

They travelled ten thousand miles or more
O'er country roads till their feet were sore,
Dancing jigs and earning pay
From boys who had never learned to say
Kind things to bears either night or day.
Now one dark night while their keepers slept
Away up on a mountain-side they crept
To a great big tree that was round and wide,
An elegant place for bears to hide.

And the things they stole from a farm near-by
Were whips and horns and guns, and strings,
Dress-up clothes, and a thousand things. etc. etc.?

This is all I can recall of the poem except that the big bear's name was "Big Bully Wooly" and the other bear's name was "Huckleberry Mary". I do hope someone remembers this, or knows where it can be found.

ANSWER: I believe it to be American, and, as you suggest, used in school 'Readers' but I have been unable to trace it.

SIR: Often on the very interesting special Saturday page, next to the editorial page of the Examiner there are, quotations from old authors, and the name is followed by c. B.C.; or c. 310 A.D. What does the c. mean?

ANSWER: The "c" stands for "circa", Latin for the word 'about' or 'approximately'. It indicates that historians are only guessing at the author's date of birth or death or life-span. Another ambiguous deyice is to say 'fl. 1450-1495' or simply 'f' and the dates. That means that the author, or artist or warrior flourished (Latin, floruit, pronounced flor'ooit) or was active in his work during those years.

FOR THE RECORD: A reader sent me this from a Montreal paper: that the monthly meeting of the African Violet Club of Montreal would be held Thursday at 8:15 p.m. "when several changes in the Constitution will be discussed. Also an African Violet quizz will be held and prizes awarded . . . . The customary discussion and demonstration for beginners will take place at 7:30."

As far as I know an African Violet Club and a Gyro Club (for men) are the only two organizations in the British Empire of which there is not a branch or association in Peterborough. There is even a Long Christmas Dinner Society, according to Who's Who listing the clubs of one local citizen . . . I have been told that there are 125 women's organizations alone in this city.

I do not find fault with the number of societies in the city, but as a member of 2½ of them, I do bemoan the amount of time taken to get through the business of the club, sewing circle or good-works organization. Some people seem to want to make an evening of deciding whether to contribute $10 to the Society for the Advancement of Merrier Monkeys (Toronto Hq.) in a lump sum or to space it over ten months.

In a mentally agile and volubly democratic French city such meetings would probably be twice as long, and five times as interesting. In a German city they would be efficiently half as long, and very boring. Canadian meetings seem to combine the length of the French with the boredom of the German.

When attending meetings of my 2½ clubs I keep myself amused by playing a game of naughts and crosses on the blank of my mind. It is the only way to preserve one's sanity at this busy Peterborough business of organized meetings. If there is a speaker (as there always must be) I spend the time guessing how many teeth he has—for which purpose I always carry a small pocket telescope. After the meeting I approach the speaker privately, compliment him on his talk, and ask him how many teeth he has. He is so taken aback at this that his mouth drops open, and I thus verify my earlier guess.

"WHO'S GOING TO CARRY THE BALL?"

Letters To The Editor

SAYS ST. PATRICK A SCOTCHMAN

Sir: As the Irish season will soon be upon us, it is probably best that we settle once and for all time the vexed question of the birthplace of St. Patrick.

No matter what the Russians, Welsh, Irish, or other outlandish people my claim, the noble saint was undoubtedly born near Dumbarton in Scotland, and I have no hesitation in agreeing with you, dear sir, that he could not have chosen a better place to be born in.

Yours very truly,
MACMURPHY.

THE SOUTH AFRICAN CASE

Sir: We appreciated your editorial reference (December 15) to the complexity of the Union's race problem and to the fact that there is something to be said for, as well as against, apartheid.

This letter is being written to suggest that there is also something to be said for South Africa's recent temporary withdrawal from the General Assembly of the U.N.—and I believe that no less a person than Sir Gladwyn Jebb himself said it only a day or two ago!

The aspect of the dispute that led to the withdrawal is relatively clear-cut: it is simply whether or not the United Nations Trusteeship Committee had the right to invite certain representatives of a section of the South-West African people to appear in person before it. The answer to this question, from the highest authority available, is unambiguous. The International Court has found (1) that South Africa is not obliged to place South-West Africa under the Trusteeship system; and (2) that in the matter of dealing with petitions the U.N. should follow, and in no circumstances exceed, the procedure of the League of Nations. In dealing with petitions, the procedure of the League was, again, perfectly clear; the appearance in person of petitioners before the Mandates Commission was explicity disallowed. Your contention that "it (UN) is bound to hear the representatives of the native interests in South-West Africa" is thus (according to the International Court) incorrect.

This is not just a legal quibble. The Herero chiefs, to whom the invitation was issued, represents a tribe which numbers less than 10 per cent. of the total black population of South-West Africa, and they are by no means on friendly terms with the remaining 90 per cent. Objecting to the invitation, the chief of the larger Damara tribe cabled the United Nations stating that "The Hereos attacked this area from Bechuanaland, drove us from our land and used us as slave labourers until the Europeans set us free". In circumstances such as this, it is difficult to believe that the appearance of the Hereros at the United Nations would contribute to the harmony and good order of South-West Africa for which the Union is responsible.

There are two other important considerations. One is that the previous year the U.N. General Assembly had itself established an ad hoc committee one of whose functions was the examination of petitions from South-West Africa in accordance with the old League of Nations procedure. Another is that at the time the invitation was made, South Africa had put forward a solution for the final settlement of the problem. It had declared its willingness to continue to discharge its obligations under the old mandate and to negotiate an agreement to this effect with Britain, France and the United States, the Big Three of the First World War who had granted the original mandate to the Union. The Union was, moreover, prepared to allow the United Nations finally to confirm the agreement.

Many thought that this proposal really did offer hope of final solution. Unfortunately, it seems that there are those in the United Nations who do not want a settlement of the long-standing disputes involving South Africa, who would prefer, for their own purposes, to continue to have some excuse for whipping South Africa. This is at the bottom of much of the Union's difficulty with the United Nations. If South Africa could believe that there were no ulterior motives, if she could feel that she could make any gesture, any concession, without its being taken advantage of, the whole situation would be very different. The fact is that her experience does not justify such a belief.

Incidentally, I see that Webster's definition of "aggression" (you were surprised, you will remember, that Dr. Malan used the phrase "U.N. has committed aggression against us") includes: "act of hostility", "first act of injury" and "first act leading to a controversy".

It seems that "aggression" is going the same way as "sanction".

Yours faithfully,
A. W. STEWARD,
Information Officer.
South African High Commission's Office, Ottawa.

RELIGION AND MURDER

Sir: "Can religion cause people to murder?" Having been asked this question several times following the recent brutal prayer-slaying of a 7-year-old girl in Winnipeg.

The answer can only be, "Yes! false religion can!" Satan the Devil introduced false religion to Adam and Eve causing their downfall which resulted in their deaths. — Gen. 3: 1-6; 17-20.

Again, false religion caused the murder of the rightous Abel by his brother Cain who was a follower of false religion.—Gen. 4: 1-10.

Of course, the outstanding example of what false religion can do was the nailing of Christ to the torture stake by false religionists who were quite sure they were doing God a favour. Again it was responsible for the slaying of the Apostles and other followers of Christ.

But, coming up to date now, we can all see hypocritical religionists blessing the guns, battleships, armies, etc. of the nations and assuring each side that God will grant them victory in war. They use their pulpits to encourage the young men to join in these wars. All this results in millions of young men losing their lives.

Just now we can see the false Red religion of Soviet Russia goading the people there into thinking they should rule the world. And the equally false and even more hypocritical religions of the west are doing the same in this part of the earth. The result will be untold millions murdered, all in the name of God, of course.

Yes, the false religions can lead people to murder their fellow man. But not the true religion, as shown in the Bible at James 1: 27. "Pure regligion and undefiled before God and the Father is this, To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to keep himself unspotted from the world." This could not lead to murder.

"Is there any hope of ever getting rid of false religion?" some may ask. "Yes, and shortly, too!" Read the prophecy at Revelation: "These shall hate the harlot and shall make her desolate and naked, and shall eat her flesh, and burn her with fire. For God hath put in their hearts to fulfil his will."—Revelation 17: 16-17.

Then Christ's Kingdom will rule supreme, then there will be no more wars and murders carried out in God's Holy Name. "They shall not hurt nor destroy in all my holy mountain: for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea.—Isaiah 11: 6-9.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the angel of the Lord spake unto Philip, saying, Arise, and go toward the south unto the way that goeth down from Jerusalem unto Gaza, which is desert. And he arose and went: and, behold, a man of Ethiopia, an eunuch of great authority under Candace queen of the Ethiopians, who had the charge of all her treasure, and had come to Jerusalem for to worship, was returning, and sitting in his chariot read Esaias the prophet....

And Philip ran thither to him, and heard him read the prophet Esaias, and said, Understandest thou what thou readest?....The place of the scripture which he read was this, He was led as a sheep to the slaughter; and like a lamb dumb before his shearer, so opened he not his mouth....And the eunuch answered Philip, and said, I pray thee, of whom speaketh the prophet this? of himself, or of some other man?

Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same scripture, and preached unto him Jesus. And as they went on their way, they came unto a certain water: and the eunuch said, See, here is water; what doth hinder me to be baptized?

And Philip said, If thou believest with all thine heart, thou mayest. And he answered and said, I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God. And he commanded the chariot to stand still: and they went down both into the water, both Philip and the eunuch; and he baptized him. And when they were come up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, that the eunuch saw him no more: and he went on his way rejoicing. (Acts 8: 26-28, 30, 32, 34-39.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Doth not wisdom cry? and understanding put forth her voice?....Unto you, O men, I call; and my voice is to the sons of man...

Blessed is the man that heareth me, watching daily at my gates, waiting at the posts of my doors. For whoso findeth me findeth life, and shall obtain favour of the Lord. (Prov. 8: 1, 4, 34, 35.)

Alberta Government Builds $3,000,000 Sanatorium

By LORNE BRUCE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON,—(CP)—The Alberta government has just completed one of the world's best-equipped and most luxurious tuberculosis sanatoria at a cost of $3,000,000—or $10,000 for each of the 300 beds.

It is the Aberhart Memorial Hospital, built of peach-colored brick on a 16-acre site on the campus of the University of Alberta in Edmonton's southwestern outskirts. The official opening is Feb. 20.

The builders spared no pains to include everything to make patients comfortable. Doors cannot slam, window blinds cannot flap. Special corridor ceilings prevent reverberation. Patients' rooms are decorated in three tones of pastel shades. A 5,000-volume library helps time pass.

The exterior brick is made of Medicine Hat pottery clay.

"We held up brick work for seven months so we could use the exact shade we wanted," said Dr. G. R. Davidson, Alberta's medical director of TB control. He explained that patients associate red brick with hospitals and the authorities wanted to get away from it.

The sanatorium is a little self-contained community. It has its own post-office, movie theatre, bakery, butcher shops, handicraft centre and canteen. Patients may continue education by correspondence course.

And it's all free. The sanatorium is named after the late William Aberhart, the first Social Credit premier of Alberta who initiated province-wide free TB treatment soon after he came to power in 1935.

For Northern Alberta

The sanatorium will bring under one roof all TB patients from northern Alberta. Patients from the southern tier of the province are cared for at the 288-bed Central Alberta Sanatorium, just outside Calgary.

"We feel the new institution is the best for the north temperate climate of any yet devised," said Dr. Davidson. It will have roughly one staff member for every two patients.

NEW SANATORIUM—The Aberhart Memorial Sanatorium in Edmonton, built by the Alberta government at cost of about $3,000,000 to combat tuberculosis, is to be opened Feb. 20. The 300-bed hospital, on the University of Alberta campus, is shown in the foreground. Immediately behind at right is the nurses' home and at left a general utility building.

Alberta now has the third lowest tuberculosis death rate in Canada, after Ontario and Saskatchewan. Although you would never guess it from the weather reports of the last year, the province has a long-standing reputation for its sunny climate which early made it a centre of tuberculosis therapy.

In early days the only treatment was straight bed-rest, aided by sunshine and the dry air. Today the use of drugs such as streptomycin and para-amenosalicylic acid have made possible complicated surgical procedures for which the new sanatorium has been specially equipped.

Dr. Davidson, who has moved his headquarters from Calgary to the new institution, is a graduate of Queen's University and a native ol Leeds county, Ont. He has been active in Alberta TB work for 24 years and now has general supervision of the entire province.

In direct charge of the new sanatorium will be Dr. H. H. Stephens, 46, a graduate of the University of Alberta who has been doing TB work since 1934.

Robert Fowler, Newsprint's Spokesman

By FRANK LOVE
In Saturday Night

The spokesman for a Canadian industry that earns more than $2,000 a minute is soft-talking, young-looking Robert MacLaren Fowler, 45-year-old native of Peterborough, Ont. (Mr. Fowler is the son of Mrs. Fowler and late E. Bruce Fowler.)

This tall (over six feet), slim man with the grey just starting to appear in his hair is President of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association and Newsprint Association of Canada. The 80 companies supporting this organization earn for Canada some $1,100 million a year.

Yet there is nothing suggesting the trappings of big business about President Fowler. He is easy to talk to, relaxed in manner and an excellent listener.

The men and women who work with him in the Pulp and Paper Association claim their boss is also a wit of some renown. Most of his stories have himself as the butt.

He has also been known to reply to an office memo with a fast bit of doggerel.

Deep Reserve of Energy

But under the easy manner and the ready wit is a deep reserve of energy. He is known as a tireless worker who learned the rewards of concentration and applied effort young in life.

While attending the University of Toronto he slugged his way through his studies with a determination that made him an Honor Graduate in Mathematics. He then turned to law and in 1931 was an Honor Graduate of Osgoode Hall.

Law and mathematics strike most people as strange intellectual companions, but Fowler thinks the two fit very nicely "as the same mental processes are needed to solve a mathematical problem as to solve a legal problem."

In his present position he has had some knotty problems to solve. One constant headache has been the claims from the United States that the Canadian pulp and paper industry is a monopoly, deliberately encouraging newsprint shortage so to to gouge American publishers.

It's on this point that "soft spoken" ceases to be an accurate description of the Canadian newsprint chief. About a year and a half ago, at the height of a vigorous smear campaign carried on by some U.S. publishers against the Canadian newsprint industry, Fowler's replies were soft, the way ice is soft, and their logic was irrefutable.

Championed Industry

Fowler's defence of the Canadian industry against the rash of charges from across the border made him seem like something of a knight in shining armor. He championed not only a Canadian industry, but also Canadian rights in challenging the demands of some U.S. spokesmen for an investigation — by U.S. Government agencies — of the Canadian industry.

Fowler vigorously denies the American charges, saying: "We have nothing to hide." He adds: "I don't think people of another country have any right to level charges at a business in Canada. There is a question of sovereignty there that excites me. But the fact remains that pulp and newsprint are explosive and political properties, so one must expect this sort of thing."

Fowler got into the pulp and newsprint business by accident. Prior to the war he practised law in Toronto with McMaster, Montgomery, Fleury and Company and later with McCarthy and McCarthy. In 1942 he went to Ottawa as Secretary and General Counsel of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

There he was called in as legal adviser for the Board on newsprint and pulp questions. As Secretary of the Board, many of the problems he handled were international ones.

At the end of the war, the pulp and paper manufacturers asked Fowler "to get them unwound from controls," so he moved his headquarters to Montreal "for four or five years."

Things didn't work out quite as planned. The cold war came along and newsprint became a prime concern of governments. So Fowler stayed on. Now, he not only handles the Association Presidency; he is back in the business of Government as Director of the Pulp and Paper Division, Department of Defence Production.

So the work is piling up for the man with two jobs and four children. But he still finds time to play an active part in such organizations as the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, where he is listed as a past president. He is a member of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce executive committee and the Montreal General Hospital Board of Governors.

Robert Fowler is also an amateur artist. Right now he is in his pastel period, producing pictures which he says he will "never allow to see the light of day." Soon he hopes to become master of the technique of daubing with oils.

Army's Tailor Kept Busy Making Mourning Bands

OTTAWA, Feb. 8—(CP)—The army headquarters tailor came off leave and worked all night and on into Thursday to cope with an order that all military officers should wear black armbands in mourning for the King.

Anticipating the rush, Sgt. J. H. Hall of Ottawa halted his leave, bought many yards of black broadcloth at a store uptown, lined up several assistants and went to work Wednesday night.

They were still working when the lines started to form early Thursday morning. Sgt. Hall figured he had roughly 1,600 armbands to make, or an average of two for every army officer at headquarters. He charged 50 cents a pair, considerably less than navy and air force officers and some army officers were paying for them uptown.

By 9.30 a.m. there were 300 armbands available.

By noon the little group had cut and prepared between 500 and 600 armbands, and was still going steadily. The lines of officers and runners for officers kept coming.

The improvisation and charging were necessary because black armbands are not part of general issue, even though orders lay down that they must be worn on such occasions at this.

In the other two services at headquarters there were no parallels of the Hall activities. Neither has a regimental tailor or his equivalent, so the officers either got their armbands at stores uptown, had their wives make them, or revived old ones which they used in the past on such occasions as the funeral of former Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

The armbands are to be worn on the left sleeve of uniforms and greatcoats for an indefnite period.

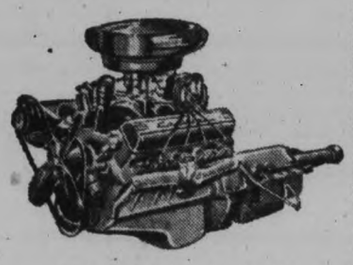
Announcing the Golden Anniversary—
Cadillac

...WITH THE FINEST PERFORMANCE OF ALL TIME!

Featuring 3 of Cadillac's Greatest Engineering Achievements!



THE NEW 190 H.P. CADILLAC ENGINE

Here is the most powerful, the most durable, and the most efficient automotive engine ever offered in a Cadillac car. Its power increase alone is almost 20%—and its new four-throated carburetor, larger exhaust valves, wider exhaust ports and new dual exhaust system make this engine one of the most dynamic performers of all time.

Fifty years ago, the first Cadillac car made its bow to the public. Today, as a fitting climax to those fifty years of progress, we are presenting in our showrooms the Golden Anniversary Cadillac—by far the finest car ever to bear this distinguished name . . . It is easily the most beautiful of all Cadillacs. Numerous changes have sharpened and smartened the exterior design—while the wholly-new interiors are a revelation in comfort and luxury. Inside and outside—it's the world's new standard for distinction . . . Performance is the finest of all time. The great Cadillac engine has a power increase of almost twenty per cent — and is even smoother and quieter in its operation . . . There's a new Hydra-Matic Drive that gives the proper power application for every need. At a flick of the finger, you can have extra power and acceleration for city traffic and mountain driving — or wonderfully smooth, quiet, gas saving performance for the open road . . . And there's a new "power steering" mechanism, optional at extra cost, which reduces normal steering effort by as much as seventy-five per cent! . . . If ever it could be said of a car's performance that it is "out of this world," it can be said of the performance of the new Cadillac. It is truly magnificent in every respect . . . The Golden Anniversary Cadillac is available in three separate series—the beautiful "Sixty-Two," the luxurious "Sixty Special" and the distinguished "Seventy-Five." . . . See Cadillac on display in our showroom at your earliest convenience. We think you'll agree that, in celebrating this "year among years" in its history, Cadillac has produced what will long be remembered as a "car among cars"!

THE NEW HYDRA-MATIC DRIVE

By introducing an entirely new performance range, Cadillac's Hydra-Matic now provides the proper power for every need . . . extra acceleration and responsiveness for traffic and mountain driving; smooth, quiet, gas-saving performance for the open road. Standard equipment on the Series 62 and 60 Special, optional at extra cost on Series 75.

THE NEW CADILLAC POWER STEERING

This "power steering" mechanism eliminates as much as seventy-five per cent of all normal steering effort. It provides hydraulic assistance that is graduated to fit the difficulty of the particular steering manoeuvre. It does not interfere in any way with the driver's "road feel" or directional control. Available as an option at extra cost.

Marines Take First One Against Glens

Armed with better reserves and better conditioning, the Marines, coached by Gord McIntyre, finished stronger than Belleville Glen Roys Thursday night for a 50-42 win in the first game of the best-of-three series for the western section honors of the Eastern Ontario intermediate cage league.

The teams renew the battle Saturday night at the YMCA in the second and what may be the deciding game. The winner will advance to meet the winner of the eastern section, likely Brockville or Queen's University.

Marines had to fight all the way against Glens who stayed close until the third quarter. The Peterborough cagers exchanged the lead during the first half with Belleville no less than four times before taking a one-point lead, 20-19 at the half.

Close Playing

During the first half the lead for either team was never more than two or three points at any time. Hugh Dibben, Neil Thompson and Ted Payne matched the scoring efforts of the Glen's Muirhead, Soules and Hayman.

But Belleville lost little time in taking the lead, Muirhead sparking the play. The Glens built up a five-point lead until three minutes to go in that quarter, then Marines began to rally with Joe and Ab Stewart and Dibben leading the march. The Marines built up a 12-point lead and in the last five minutes resorted to a stalling game. During that time the Glens slipped in two baskets.

Marines changed tactics again for this game, using almost the whole time a man-to-man defence. They checked up-the-floor and grounded the Glens in the last minutes of the third when they began to tire.

Meanwhile Glens were using a stiff man-to-man defence but the lack of good reserves hampered this system. This resulted in Marines breaking it repeatedly in the second half when most of their baskets came from in close.

A Starry Role

Hugh Dibben turned in his second successive top performance when he played the whole game. Besides totalling 15 points from close under the basket on rebounds and passes from teammates, Dibben worked well rebounding at both baskets.

"Try to pick another star," said Coach McIntyre. "All the team were playing at their peak for this was an all-important win."

Muirhead led the Glens with a 13-point effort, the points mostly scored on set shots and under-the-basket work. Batchelor, a difficult player to check when shooting, dropped in several long shots and, although he didn't score, Summers was dangerous every time he had the ball, feeding his teammates.

Despite the close-checking no one was fouled out of the game although two players were thrown out for roughing. Harold Grafstein and Muirhead were lost to the teams in the third when the Marines began to take the lead. Tempers then became hot for a few minutes.

Grafstein and Muirhead started shoving and to avoid further trouble were tossed out by Referee Fred Welford of Peterborough.

Lineups:

Marines (50) — Dibben 15, Thompson 9, Gillespie 2, A. Stewart 6, J. Stewart 8, Grafstein 1, Payne 8, MacPherson 1, Trimm.

Belleville (42)—Page, Summers 5, Muirhead 13, Watson, Dudley 2, Hayman 4, Batchelor 10, Kane, Ketcheson 4, Garrow, Soules 4.

BROTHER ACT TRIUMPHS—The Ontario Junior Farmers' bonspiel honors went to three brothers and a brother-in-law rink from Dunsford Thursday at the curling rink. Jack McMullen with brothers-in-law, Bill Thurston, Jack Thurston and Grant Thurston totalled 27 points plus five with three straight wins for the trophy. Frank Kell's rink from South Simco placed second in the three wins class with 27 points. The champions are: (above, left to right): B. Thurston, J. McMullen, J. Thurston and G. Thurston.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Juvenile Teams Win Two At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 8 — (ENS) — A better-than-usual crowd saw the home teams win both games when the Bantam and Midget OMHA playoffs got under way in the Community Centre here on Wednesday night.

The bantam game featured plenty of action, most of it around the Tweed net, as the local youngsters trounced the visitors 6-0. The game was clean and fast and Campbellford seemed intent on piling up goals in order to better their chances of a win on the round when they play in Tweed shortly.

The local midgets started out by piling up a 4-1 lead in the first period. Norwood came back strong in the second and scored on West in the Campbellford nets on five occasions. The locals got four goals during this frame.

In the third period Norwood netted three goals and the locals four. This left the final score 12-9 for Campbellford, with a three-goal lead on the round.

Garvey and Wilson spearheaded the local team and were in on most of the goals while Ruttan of Norwood was the sparkplug of his team.

Referees watched the play closely and handed out a number of penalties to both sides for elbowing, high sticking and tripping.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC PERDUE, Sports Editor

No quarter asked or given — except your tariff at the gate — when Petes and Eagles tear into each other tonight at Civic Arena. An 8.30 OHA senior "B" scrap between these keen ice rivals. Eagles will be out to avenge their last close loss to Petes and pull up ahead of Kingston again. The Petes are determined to keep their grip on first place in the torrid puck race as the four clubs approach the turn leading into the stretch drive. A sizzling encounter assured with the result a tossup, and this clash ought to pack in one of the biggest crowds of the season. A bulging Friday night turnout of fans.

Dave Kerr has sent out 29 invitations to former NHL stars to play an exhibition here a week from tomorrow night. More than half so far have replied and will be on hand. One-time pro aces like Cy Wentworth, the Conachers, Billy Taylor, Lorne Duguid, Flash Hollet, Butch Keeling, Larry Aurie, Roy Worters, Nels Stewart, Ace Bailey, Bucko McDonald, Hal Cotton, Jim Fowler, Glen Brydson and some more. Dit Clapper and Dave Kerr, too, and likely Doug Brennan. More yet to be heard from. Gordon Sinclair and Ted Reeve are bringing a party of other athletes along as spectators, Big Four gridders, etc. It should be quite a "do," with proceeds for the crippled children's fund.

In basketball this weekend here, Normals meet Black's, and Nurses take on C.G.E. in Y.W. games tonight, while three P.C.V.S. boys' "B" teams travel to Lindsay. Belleville Glens and Outboard Marines have a Saturday night playoff struggle in their section of the Eastern Ontario men's hoop loop. Second of the best-of-three s4woffs. P.C.V.S. senior "A" fellows take on Toronto Eaton's in a Collegiate exhibition tussle, after a prelim game. Some of the basketball schedules are winding up around these parts, with play-offs on tap in the final month of winter.

Dissatisfied with the Mann Cup series last fall, when Petes beat the Combines in Vancouver, the B.C. lacrosse officials threaten to pull out of the C.L.A. and go outlaw. Scribe Clayt Browne says it's a bluff, adding: "It's typical of the coastal setup where 'we won't play unless you do it our way'. Oft stated before, the Pacific boys are getting too big for their pants. Instead of living up to their name of pacifiers, they are growing into the rowdiest crowd of agitators in sport. When they cannot fight with neighbor branches they battle between themselves. We could add that the coastal press doesn't help matters to any extent."

* * * * * *

Yes, A Crying Outfit

We can quite subscribe to these sentiments. During the series we repeatedly referred to the Petes' opponents as "the crying Combines," since they squawked about practically everything. Walked off the floor or refused to come on when things didn't go their way, insisted on their own arena, their favorite refs and they own style of facing off. And were backed plenty by the press. We tried to show one sports writer the written rule on face offs, but he waved the book aside, saying, "since when did the C.L.A. go by rules?" The Combines were soundly beaten by the Petes in the final game but the fans — rather small-time for a big town — refused to listen to a C.L.A. official make the trophy presentation, drowning him out with boos.

Some good hockey seen at Civic last gloaming as three P.M.H.A. playoff series opened before a bunch of fans. Marines downed the Oddfellows 6-3 in the juvenile joust, Martin-Hewitt won 7-2 from the midget Trojans, and Otonabee Wolves defeated St. Peter's bantams by a 5-3 score. Fast frays, a bit rugged in spots, and Refs Herb Payne and Pete Nigh were dragging at the windup of the triple-header. Same squads go again at similar times next Thursday night to conclude these series, goals counting. Winners are not only city champs but proceed into provincial playdowns as the well-organized local setup has an O.M.H.A. affiliation.

Mohawks Clip Indianapolis 3-2

By The Canadian Press.

Cincinnati Mohawks, after two years of trying, appear a cinch to land an American Hockey League playoff berth.

Cincinnati missed the boat, finishing fifth in each of its first two seasons in the league and for a while it appeared they would miss out again this year. However, the Mohawks suddenly picked up steam and still are going strong.

The third-place Mohawks turned back Indianapolis Caps 3-2 in overtime Thursday night to pull 10 points ahead of St. Louis in the western division scramble.

Veteran centre Buddy O'Connor scored the winning goal while the Caps were shorthanded. Ian MacIntosh sent the game into overtime for Cincinnati with a goal during the last two minutes of play in the third period. Centre Nick Mickoski scored a first-period tally. Earl Reibel scored both Indianapolis goals.

Redmen Subdue Cobourg Comets 9-6

FORT HOPE, Feb. 8.—Led by Doug Free and Basil Robinson with two goals and two assists each, the Port Hope Redmen defeated the Cobourg Comets 9-6 in an O.H.A. Intermediate "A" Lakeshore League game. The win gave Port Hope a tie with Lindsay for second place.

Cliff Maundrell and Jack Ferguson were Cobourg's leading scorers; each with two goals.

Three injuries marred the game. A stiff bodycheck sidelined Cobourg's Bus Cane for a time and the Comets' defenceman, George Campbell, was forced to retire with a severe cut very close to the eye. Bud Downey of Port Hope suffered a strained wrist.

McMullen's Dunsford Rink Leads Junior Farmers To Win Second Big 'Spiel

Jack McMullen's rink from Dunsford, Victoria county, won the second annual curling bonspiel of the Ontario Junior Farmers in competition here Thursday with 21 other rinks from across the province. Dunsford, South Simcoe and Waterloo turned in perfect cards of three victories each, requiring decision for rating for the prizes on the basis of surplus scores. They finished one-two-three, followed by a Bruce county rink, skipped by George McFadyen; and in fifth place, a Durham county rink directed by skip Dalton Dorrell.

Ira D. Moore, of Peterborough Curling Club, was in charge of the draw from 9:00 a.m. and throughout the afternoon and early evening, remaining for the distribution of prizes.

The Curling Club provided facilities of their Charlotte St. rink without charge.

"We were glad to have these rural youths with us for the day, and we hope they will take back to their farm communities pleasant memories of their visit to Peterborough," Mr. Moore said.

Supper By C. P. C.

Presentation of prizes followed a buffet supper served on the third floor of the rink by Canada Packers Limited. Their guests were the 88 Junior Farmers, and others present for the bonspiel, including T. R. Hilliard of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, and secretary-treasurer of Ontario Junior Farmers.

Three Thurston boys of an old family long associated with curling in the Dunsford area of Victoria county set up a lot of rocks all day for their skip George McFadyen. Although they were tied in the number of games to their credit, they came through with five points on the score sheet over Frank Kell's South Simcoe quartet in the second spot.

John A. Hunter of Quaker Oats presented to the Dunsford rink the company's first prizes, four white woollen sweater coats, with Quaker arm crests, with his personal congratulations on their day's success. He also complimented the Junior Farmers on already developing their bonspiel to the extent of bringing together 22 rinks, comprising 88 young rural curlers from Bruce and Grey on the west to Carleton county on the east.

The youths of the Dunsford rink were: Will Thurston, lead; Grant Thurston, second; Jack Thurston, vice-skip and Jack McMullen, skip.

Bob Bell, assistant agricultural representative in Peterborough, presented sport shirts to the South Simcoe rink: Faris Sinclair, Blake Constable, Gordon Todd and Frank Kell, skip.

Pullover sweaters were the third prizes for the Waterloo rink presented by T. R. Hilliard. The Waterloo curlers were: Reid Whetham, Jim Murray, Don Moffat and George Barrie, skip.

The Bruce county rink received leather dress gloves for fourth place. They were presented by Keith McIntyre to: Don McIntosh, Keith Kirkconnell, Willis Dickson and George McFadyen, skip.

The Durham county boys, in fifth place, received colorful tams. Their rink was: W. Ferguson, K. VanCamp, R. VanCamp and Dalton Dorrell, skip.

The bonspiel was an outstanding success. The boys were delighted with the arrangements, the prizes, the Tendersweet ham supper, and with the hospitality of Peterborough Curling Club. They were enthusiastically unanimous when Keith McIntyre called for an expression of their wishes for continuing the bonspiel next winter. Details of place were left for further decision.

Dick Hilliard, secretary-treasurer of Ontario Junior Farmers, was highly pleased with the event.

"Curling is a game that promotes friendly relations," he remarked to The Examiner. "That is one reason why we can heartily approve it. It is also strenuous for anybody, and it is a manly game, and brings out sportsmanship. I can't say now where this bonspiel is going, but it is already established. There used to be suggestions for a Junior Farmers' hockey league, but you know how much hockey sharpens rivalry, and can lead to dissension and just the opposite of friendships."

Detroit Skater Title Favorite

ALPENA, Mich., Feb. 8 (AP).—Veteran Ray Blum of Nutley, N.J., will defend his senior men's title at the North American outdoor speed skating championships here this weekend. But the women's crown will be up for grabs.

When Betty Mitchell of Edmonton reported she would not defend her senior women's title, hospital receptionist Barbara Marchetti of Detroit flashed into the favorite's role.

A victory for Miss Marchetti would give her a clean sweep of the major titles. She already has won the national indoor and outdoor crowns and the North American indoor title.

At least 10 states and three provinces will send entrants to the Saturday and Sunday meet at Alpena's winter sports park. The entry list was expected to range from 160 to 200.

But missing will be some leading men's stars—such as Ken Henry and Pat McNamara of the United States. They are in Norway for the winter Olympic games.

Leading threats to Blum's championship were three Detroiters—Mario Trafeli, Terry Browne and Omer de Schepper.

Besides Miss Marchetti the top women's contenders are Doreen McCloud of Edmonton and Betty McCormick of Toronto.

C.A.H.A. Calling Off Friday 15 Games

MIDLAND, Feb. 8 (CP). — There will be no organized amateur hockey played in Canada on Friday, Feb. 15, the day of the King's funeral.

George Dudley of Midland, manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said on Thursday that President D. G. Grimston of Westminster, B.C., has issued a directive to all branches that there will be no games under its auspices that day.

Most organized hockey in the country — except in the pro leagues — comes under the C.A.H.A.

Whip And Flanagan Teamed Against Layton And Atkins

The greatest array of wrestling talent ever presented locally will be seen in action at the Brock next Tuesday night.

It will be headed by a tag team match featuring Whipper Billy Watson and Pat Flanagan on one team and Lord Athol Layton and Fred Atkins on the other.

When Flanagan learned that Layton had secured Fred Atkins for a partner to help him avenge the humiliation he received here Tuesday night in losing to Flan and Brazil, Pat immediately contacted his pal Whipper Watson to team up with him in place of Brazil.

Whip readily agreed and the match was set. And what a battle this should be! Four of the best matmen in the game in the ring at the same time with Watson and Flanagan rated the best pair in tag team bouts.

To round out this all-star card, Zorra, the French Tarzan, will clash with Warren Bockwinkle, the St. Louis smoothie, in the semi-final. This should be a classic as both grapplers are fast and scientific.

The opener is also a gem, bringing together Chief Suni War Cloud and Jim (the Bull) Wright. The latter is highly regarded in mat circles. A record-breaking crowd is looked for next Tuesday at the Brock.

Red Wings Down Canadiens In 5-3 Victory, Rangers Sink Hawks 3-1

By The Canadian Press

New York's hot and cold Rangers shouldered their way out of a three-game losing streak at Chicago Thursday night when they downed the tail-end Black Hawks 3-1. At Detroit the league-leading Red Wings moved ahead with a 5-3 win over Montreal Canadiens. The blueshirts' victory failed to hoist them out of fifth place in the National Hockey League but moved them to within four points of the fourth-place Boston Bruins. Detroit's win gave them a 12-point lead over the runner-up Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Rangers took a first-period lead at Chicago on Gaye Stewart's goal at 9:39, and went in front 2-0 when Herb Dickenson came through at 6:30 of the middle session.

Steve Sitiuk spoiled Chuck Rayner's shutout with the Hawks' lone tally at 11:46 of the final stanza and Edgar Laprade pushed in New York's insurance marker at 18:35.

Action Rough

The action was rough at stages. Four major penalties were handed out by referee Bill Chadwick. Two went to Hy Buller and Fred Hucul for a first period boxing match while the others were given to Al Dewsbury and Ed Slowinski for staging a second Donnybrook mid-way through the second session.

At Detroit, the Red Wings made their scoring early by taking a 2-0 first period lead, extending it to 5-1 by the end of the middle session before going on to their 5-3 final.

Montreal's loss kept them from climbing into second place in the standings.

Red Kelly's first period screened shot started the Wings on their way with Gordie Howe making it 2-0 before the stanza ended.

Scores on Breakaway

Metro Prystai hit for his 14th of the year on a breakaway and then Bud McPherson came through with the Canadiens' first tally. Ted Lindsay and Benny Woit added the others before the period was over.

Paul Meger and Floyd Curry finished off the Montreal scoring with the third period's only goals.

Marcel Pronovost, Detroit defenceman, was injured in the first period. A cut on his left instep will keep him out of action for at least a week.

With Maurice Richard sidelined, the Canadiens used Lorne Davis, just up from Buffalo of the American Hockey League. He flew in just in time for the game.

OLDEST DENTIST—At 89 Dr. W. T. McGorman of Port Arthur, Ont., believed the oldest practising dentist in Canada, says he is "not going to retire for awhile." Born in St. Mary's, Ont., he started practising 59 years ago and came to Port Arthur in 1906. He still prefers the old-time dental engine, operated by foot treadle, shown at lower right, to the electrically-operated machine.

Oldest Practising Dentist In Ontario, 89 Years Old

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Feb. 8—(CP)—Dr. W. T. McGorman, the oldest practising dentist in Ontario, walked over to a corner of his office here to an old-time dental engine, operated by a foot treadle.

"Of course, I have the modern electric drill now", he said, "but the old foot engine had something of its own—it sort of became part of you after a while. You can regulate the speed of the electric engine, but with the foot drill I sometimes think you could do it better".

The antique drill was the type used by Dr. McGorman when he started practice 59 years ago in St. Marys, Ont.

There is another dentist in Ontario who has been practising just as long—Dr. E. Peaker of Toronto.

"Yes, I share that honor with Eddie Peaker", said Dr. McGorman, "because we were both in the 1893 graduating class at the Toronto Dental College. But he's a younger man than I am".

Then Dr. McGorman smiled a little. He celebrated his 89th birthday Feb. 4.

A chunky, square-built man, Dr. McGorman always surprises strangers when he tells them his age.

"I've always been healthy and strong", he told an interviewer. "I guess I got a good foundation before I left the farm".

He worked on his father's farm in Mornington, Peel County, until he was 23. Then he went back to school, taught a few years and then entered dental college.

"All Or Nothing"

When Dr. McGorman started his practice, most patients apparently came to him in a spirit of "all or nothing". If their teeth were bad, they wanted them pulled.

"For a while, there was quite a fad for gold fillings", he said. "Some people with perfectly good teeth had them filed down so they could be fitted with gold caps".

The doctor added that the fashion never became as popular in Canada as it did in the United States.

Anaesthetics have improved since the young dentist pulled his first tooth. Straight cocaine was the pain-killer used in those days; now it's novocaine or monocaine.

Recalling his graduation in 1893, Dr. McGorman said it was the largest graduating class up to that time. Among its 22 members was the first qualified woman dentist in Ontario, a Mrs. Wells.

After practising 12 years in St. Marys, Dr. McGorman came to Port Arthur in 1906. Recently he was awarded an honorary membership in the Thunder Bay Dental Association.

Dr. McGorman has only one close relative living—a brother in Windsor. Mrs. McGorman died some years ago.

He hasn't had time to indulge any hobbies, and his travelling has been confined to a yearly trip east to attend the convention of the Ontario Dental Association.

Answering a question anyone would ask an 89-year-old professional man, Dr. McGorman said: "No, I'm not going to retire for a while yet."

Bob Garside Signs With Rough Riders

TORONTO, Feb. 8 (CP)—Bob Garside, an outstanding halfback with the University of Toronto Blues, 1951 Intercollegiate Football Union champions, has signed with the Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four Football Union.

The rugged 195-pound linebacker, who had received bids from every club in the Big Four, played an important role in the Blues' title march last season. He was greatly recognized as the best secondary defender in the college circuit.

Rule 6 Teams Take Part In Playoffs

KITCHENER, Feb. 8 (CP).—Club executives of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series Thursday decided that six teams will take part in the playoffs. There are 10 teams in the league.

Playoff rounds begin March 5, teams must declare a champion by April 1 in time to compete in Canadian Amateur Hockey Association playoffs.

Executives voted to ask the O.H.A. to recommend that teams be allowed to list and play 18 players a game in C.A.H.A. contests instead of the present 14.

Delegates expressed their support for any move that would set the junior age limit for players at 21 on Aug. 1 of the playing year. It was suggested that the measure would probably find support at the coming annual meeting of the C.A.H.A.

The playoffs will match the first and second place teams in a best-of-seven game semi-final. The third and fourth, and fifth and sixth teams are paired in best-of-three matches. Quarter-finals will meet in a best-of-five game semi-final series. The final will be a best-of-seven game affair.

In the five game series, in the event of the fifth game being the deciding one, the teams will play overtime to a finish. In all other playoffs, if the final game deadlocks, an extra game will be played.

Extend Financial Aid

The league unanimously extended financial support to the Waterloo Hurricanes by voting them an advance payment of $1,800 from the league pool. The $1,800 will come out of the split of the pool among all teams at the end of the season.

The pool was built up by a five-per-cent levy on each game and so far has collected $16,000. Last year the levy was 7½ per cent a game and each team received $3,200.

The meeting also approved a resolution which restricts playoff hockey in Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto, to single games. Outside teams objected to doubleheader attractions with their straight time periods in playoffs.

Disapproval was voiced of a C.A.H.A. move to require juvenile players to remain the property of their original teams even if they stay out of hockey for a year.

Next meeting of the Council will be held in Toronto March 6.

Millbrook Triumphs As Bailieboro Wins

MILLBROOK, Feb. 8 (ENS)—The Millbrook and Cavan Bush League gave a comparatively small but highly vocal crowd of faithful fans full value for their turnstile tribute in Wednesday night's doubleheader.

Two rousing games saw Millbrook take an 8-5 decision over Mt. Pleasant while Bailieboro turned back a determined Bethany effort by the same score. In the curtain-raiser, the cellar-dwelling Millbrook squad, in a surprising reversal of form, toppled the league-leading men from the Mount and ended their winning streak at nine in a row.

Cummings, who hails from Colborne and who has recently become a resident of Millbrook, was the spark-plug needed to activate the Millbrook team. This hard-working aggressive redhead teamed up on a forward line with Handley and Wright and figured in five of eight scoring points. In spite of this, it was Alan Wright's show. This vastly improved player blinked the red light five times and gained an assist of the first of Cummings' two counters. His last goal of the evening was the feature of the game, a rink-length sortie topped off by a beautiful shot that gave Evans of Mt. Pleasant no chance. This same Evans earlier in the game figured in an unusual occurrence. In a scramble around the net a box of matches in his hip pocket became ignited to give him an upper bracket hot foot.

Charles Smith, who shows improvement every time out, made a couple of spectacular saves on vicious drives by Bryans and Dracup.

Manager Bob Carr, of Mt. Pleasant, iced a home-brew team that finished strongly and was rapidly cutting down Millbrook's goal margin in the later stages of the game. One of the most eye-catching of the new recruits was Gary Carr, a youngster who handled himself in major league style.

Had Experience

In the second game it was a shade more reserve strength and considerably more experience that gave Bailieboro an 8 to 5 edge over Bethany.

A hot pace was maintained for the full sixty minutes and although Bailieboro led throughout Bethany had the lead whittled to a slim goal at the half-way mark in the third period. Rowden then bagged two goals to add to his previous three to put the game in the satchel.

Edmunds and Burn, the bouncing Bethany defence, tossed their weight around with telling effect. The latter was also effective on the attack and on three occasions bulged the Bailieboro hemp.

Magill worked like a Trojan but had difficulty in finding the target with his dynamite shot and failed to break into the scoring column.

The next couple of games will likely decide the playoff berths and some strenuous action is anticipated from herein.

BUT, NO TIPS—Harold McLennan, veteran employee of a Winnipeg printing firm, holds some of the million tickets printed annually by his firm for use at race track parimutuels. Each bears a distinctive design to foil forgers.

Pari-Mutuel Tickets Printed By Millions In Winnipeg Plant

WINNIPEG, Feb. 8 — (CP).—Millions of tickets, but nary a tip, come out of a Winnipeg printing plant that produces pari-mutuel tickets for most Canadian race tracks.

Bulman Brothers have been in the business since the early 1920s, when the firm started supplying Winnipeg's River Park with the multi-colored receipts. Their present yearly production of 150,000,000 now turn up at all Canadian tracks with the exception of a few in Quebec Province, in Panama, South America, and in Nassau in the Bahamas.

Even at $2 the Bulman pasteboards represent a considerable investment to race fans. But tickets come in higher denominations. Top price now is $20 and at one time a $50 number was turned out for the Woodbine Track in Toronto.

Harold McLennan, a Bulman employees for 27 years, says the business started in a conversation. Someone asked why tickets which were imported from Chicago could not be made in Winnipeg.

"It was tough at first," he says. "We used to turn them out one day and then hustle them out to River Park for the next.

"Now our tickets are recognized as the best. We're not infallible. Once in a while we make mistakes, but not often."

In Many Colors

Tickets are manufactured in 14 colors plus white. Each track has a small design or serial number to designate the track. The design or serial number prevents doctoring of ducats which some enterprising persons have tried in the past.

It would be hard for anyone to collect money from a wicket on a doctored Bulman ticket. Each number is hand engraved and has a slight change in character.

A six can't pe inverted or inserted as a nine with the aid of a hot iron. People have tried it. Super-imposed spelling of the number does not help either.

Tickets are checked for missing numbers, then shipped in such a way that the fellow at the mutuel window can tell at a glance if everything is all right. No waste paper from the manufacturing process is sold. It is consigned to the furnace.

Here and There In Sport

Jim Thorpe, the great Indian athlete, learned in Cambridge, Mass., Thursday he can't kick 'em as he used to do.

He went to Harvard Stadium in a snow storm, donned football shoes, a sweatshirt and an old-fashioned headgear to find out (for the benefit of news photographers) whether he could still boot a 48-yard field goal.

He couldn't. Not one of the twenty or so kicks he tried carried as far as the goal line, but witnesses agreed "he's still a good kicker.

Harvard Stadium was the scene of a big afternoon for Thorpe on Nov. 11, 1911. Playing for the Carlisle Indians, he kicked four goals to beat the Crimson, 18 to 15. One in each period, they measured 15, 22, 34 and 48 yards.

George C. Hendrie of Toronto, was appointed managing director and secretary of the Ontario Jockey Club Thursday. He succeeds the late Major Palmer Wright.

A Hamilton Thistles rink skipped by A. R. Tarlton Thursday won the right to represent zone seven of the Ontario Curling Association in provincial championships play at Toronto. Tarlton's rink defeated Dr. A. E. Walkey of Hamilton Victorias 12-8 in the finals in Hamilton.

The three-day annual 100-mile international dog derby—with more than $5,000 in prizes and a gold challenge cup at stake—will get under way in Ottawa next Monday. Scheduled for Feb. 7, 8 and 9, the race was postponed out of respect for the death of the King.

Canada's Olympic wrestling team will be chosen at Winnipeg May 5 and 6. James Trifunov, Canadian Olympic wrestling coach, announced Thursday in Toronto.

Canadian soccer fans will see two English first-division teams this year, Tottenham Hotspurs and Manchester United. Hotspurs are scheduled to play the opening game of a 10-game series in Toronto May 22 against an all-star Ontario team. Manchester and Tottenham will meet in Toronto June 14 and again at New York June 17. The Tottenham team is scheduled to leave for Britain June 20.

The International Tennis Federation is investigating the amateur status of Australia's Davis Cup ace, Frank Sedgman. David Croll, president of the I.T.F., said Thursday in Rotterdam that he had written the Australian Federation asking detailed information on the $12,260 raised by the public as a wedding gift to Sedgman.

The New York Giants announced in New York the first European baseball player ever to appear with a major league club in spring training would report for duty at the Phoenix, Ariz., base of the National League champions this month. He is Hannie Urbanus, 28 right handed pitcher from Amsterdam, who played with the Ovvo team in Holland.

Edmonton Mercurys Thursday defeated a Swedish team 8-0 in an exhibition hockey game in Stockholm. Period scores were 3-0, 1-0, 4-0. Sully Sullivan, Dave Miller, George Abel and Bruce Dickson each scored two goals.

Billy Walsh of Winnipeg Fort Rouge last night won the Manitoba curling title, defeating Jimmy Welsh of Winnipeg Dear Lodge 10-9 in a see-saw battle in Winnipeg. The victory gave Walsh the right to represent Manitoba at the Dominion curling finals in Winnipeg next month.

Marlene Stewart Wins Marsh Memorial Trophy

TORONTO, Feb. 8—(CP)—Marlene Stewart, the five-foot shotmaker from Fonthill, Ont., today became the first golfer to win the Lou E. Marsh Memorial Trophy.

The 17-year-old high school student is the second woman winner of the trophy awarded annually to Canada's outstanding athlete, amateur or pro. The award was given by Charles E. Ring in memory of Lou E. Marsh, former sports editor of The Toronto Star, who died in 1936.

The selection committee chose the freckle-faced girl as the 11th winner of the ward on the basis of her dramatic golfing achievements in 1951 when she won the Ontario Women's Open and the Canadian Women's Close and Open titles.

She was picked from a bevy of stars which included Gil Boa, King's prize winner at the Bisley shoot, and Winnie Roach Leuszler, first Canadian to swim the English Channel. These two—both from Toronto—received honorable mention.

Second Award

It is the second such award this year for Marlene. Ontario Sports Writers and Sportscasters picked her as Ontario's outstanding athlete three weeks ago.

Marlene stroked her way to fame on golf links in Ontario and Quebec. She became the youngest women's champion her home province has had and she also carried off the Ontario junior title. She won the two Canadian crowns at Montreal.

Her play reached a climax in the 36-hole final of the Women's Open when she beat Grace Lenczyk, United States star.

She succeeds Bob McFarlane of London, Ont., track and football star, as holder of the award. The previous woman winner was Barbara Ann Scott who took the honor three times—in 1945, 1947 and 1948.

WINNER OF THE LOU E. MARSH TROPHY, awarded annually to Canada's outstanding athlete, is Marlene Stewart, 17-year-old golfer from Fonthill. Marlene won the Canadian Ladies' Open Golf Championship in 1951. With her here are her mother and father and 13-year-old sister, Dolly.

Marines Get Juve Opener As M-H and Wolves Other P.M.H.A Winners

Keen competition marked all three opening playoffs in the Peterborough Minor Hockey Association before a good-sized crowd in Civic Arena last night. The juvenile Outboard Marines defeated Oddfellows 6-3, Martin-Hewitt midgets turned back Trojans 7-2, and Otonabee Wolves won 5-3 over St. Peter's. These were first of home-and-home series, returns being next Thursday for the city titles and the right to proceed into O.M.H.A. playdowns.

A big second period settled the juvenile joust. Miller scored in the first for Oddfellows and Cullen counted from Lockie. Marines tied it that period as Dodds scored from Byrnes and Ball counted from Pammett. They added three without a return next heat, Pammett, Hunt and Corbett hitting the twine, the latter, McGillen and Spencer each having an assist. Ball got one more from Pammett and Corbett in the third, as Cupoli got one for the losers from Doris.

Oddfellows: Curtis, White, Jones, Hope, Doris, Cupoli, Allan, Cullen, Chapman, Lockie, Drury, Miller, Snape, Scott, Mongraw.

Marines: Delahaye, McGillen, Ball, Kearns, Frizzelle, Corbett, Dodd, Brynes, O'Connell, Spencer, Hunt, McCormick, McGrath, Pammett.

Still Undefeated

Martin-Hewitt midgets remained undefeated on the season with their win. Godfrey tallied twice in the first for them, with Strickland and Heffernan getting the others, the latter having an assist and Floyd two. Whitnall scored one for Trojans. Johnson got their second next period from Brown, while Strickland scored from Kane for the winners. Brooks shot home the last two in the third on passes from Gardiner in a lively, clean tussle.

Trojans: Curtis, Smythe, Merrett, McFadyen, Orr, Rusaw, J. Brown, Johnston, Foote, D. Sutherland, Whitnall, Pagett, J. Sutherland, R. Brown, Pollard.

Martin - Hewitt: Masterson, Blodgett, Parry, Stewart, Gardiner, Brooks, Floyd, Godfrey, Kane, Smith, Chambers, Heffernan, Roberts, Strickland, Wright.

A Close Game

The bantam battle was a close one with the Wolves stronger in the middle chapter. They got one in the first, Lonsberry from Darling, with English notching it late in this period. Maloney got one from Baker for Saints in the second, but Lonsberry clicked for two, and Darling and Heron one apiece for the other side, Darling also getting an assist. Forestell scored the only one in the third as the Saints pressed hard in a fairly rugged tilt.

St. Peter's: Hickson, Forestell, Strano, English, Baker, Mahoney, Walker, Coombes, Hawthorne, Atkinson, Pace, Johnston, Crough, Daly.

Wolves: Little, Revoy, Hamilton, Heron, Batten, Ruttan, Sullivan, McIlwain, Scott, Chase, Sayers, Kennedy, Lonsberry, Darling.

Referees, H. Payne and P. Nigh.

St. Peter's Rap Out Win Over Lakefield

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 8 (ENS).—St. Peter's plastered Lakefield 17-3 here in an E.P.H.L. fixture, finishing strong. It was 5-5 in the first frame and 8-7 for the Saints going into the third, who were plenty strong. Farley shone for them, as Birch went best for the tired losers, Morrison and Hockaday also toiling hard for them.

St. Peters' goals in the first were by Farley (2), Vyse (2) and Collins, with Heffernan helping on three and Farley on two. In the second, Farley added two more from Vyse, as Heffernan got one. In the third, Collins clicked for four, Heffernan got two, Vyse and Farley having singles, while the latter and Crough each earned an assist.

Lakefield counted five in the first, Hockaday getting two, and Knox, R. Calberry and Wilford one each, as Morrison assisted on three, and Chittick and Wannamaker one each. Birch tallied twice from Hockaday in the second, and Knox counted from Henry in the third. Teams:

St. Peter's: Hickson, Crough, Bacon, Killen, Collins, O'Connell, Heffernan, Vyse, Farley, Longo, Berry, Morrissey.

Lakefield: Wasson, P. Calberry, Morrison, Birch, Wilford, McIlmoyle, Knox, R. Calberry, Hockaday, Henry, J. Sabatino, A. Sabatino, Hamblin, Chittick.

King Edward Wins

King Edward seniors of the School Hockey League downed Confederation 2-0 on goals by Rose and Floyd, an assist going to Beggs. It was a rugged game with the winners drawing seven of 12 penalties, as both sides checked hard. The rival goalies turned in a good effort. Teams:

King Edward: Curtis, Orr, Simmons, Mills, Rusaw, Rose, Stevens, Beggs, Floyd, Phillips, Finney, Perry, Hill.

Confed.: Trotter, Hotston, Merrett, Parnell, Chamberlain, Ferguson, Little, Linsey, Brown, Griffin, Steel.

Referee, J. McNeil.

County Farm Notes

By HARRY THEOBALD

Farm Leaders Expect P.E.I. Marketing Judgment to be Referred to Supreme Court of Canada . . . Forum Subject Monday Likely to Mention This Reverse to Island Potato Marketing Board . . . V. S. Milburn, Guest Speaker at Norwood Federation Dinner Feb. 20.

Farm Forums should have few absent members Monday, Feb. 11 for the discussion of the subject: "Are Commodity Groups Doing the Job?"

This is the second of the February series relating to the marketing of farm products. It acquires additional interest and timeliness from the decision a few days ago of the Prince Edward Island Supreme Court in upholding the opposition of a Charlottetown potato firm to the policy of the Island Potato Marketing Board in licencing dealers, making levies on them, establishing minimum prices and regulating consignment sales.

The provincial Supreme Court declared ultra vires the 1949 Federal Agricultural Products Marketing Act (Bill 82). Their unanimous decision was to the effect that Parliament, under the constitution (B.N.A. Act) could not delegate to marketing boards, established by provincial legislation, the power to regulate interprovincial and export trade.

Extent of Authority

As already reported from Charlottetown by Canadian Press, the court held that the P.E.I. Potato Marketing Board, being a provincial organization, and in no way responsible to the Parliament of Canada, could not receive delegated power from the Federal Government. That is the significance of the phrase "ultra vires," outside the power.

One of the points raised by Forum Guide for Monday is that issue of authority, in the question "Have commodity groups the necessary authority? This is granted by provincial marketing acts, and by the Agricultural Products Marketing Board, which makes it possible for provincial marketing boards to have their authority extended to interprovincial and export trade."

This issue of the Guide was printed prior to the announcement of the P.E.I. Supreme Court decision.

The Guide's comment in advance was simply: "However, the P.E.I. potato marketing scheme has been referred to the Supreme Court of the Island to decide on its validity. This is a test case that is being watched by commodity groups all across the country."

H. H. Hannam, president of Canadian Federation of Agriculture, said a week ago that the court raised a question mark on the status of all the marketing boards set up under the legislation in so far as interprovincial and export trade was affected.

To Highest Court

News from Ottawa indicates that the P.E.I. decision will likely be appealed to the Supreme Court of Canada, either by the Federal Government, which may ask to intervene in the case, or by the P.E.I. Potato Marketing Board.

J. F. Perkin, chairman of the Ontario Marketing Board, said that in this province all marketing plans are confined to Ontario. Only two of the 16 marketing programs could be affected, that of the Ontario Cheese Producers which last year exported cheese to Great Britain, and the Ontario Bean Growers.

This P.E.I. case was referred to the Supreme Court of Canada in the first place, but the response from that court was that the action should have been taken in the Supreme Court of the province.

Organizing Continues

Meanwhile, agricultural leaders are pursuing a course of caution in their comments, and some commodity groups are proceeding with plans for their own marketing organizations. One of them is the poultry producers, seeking as the others have done stability of markets for their products, establishing minimum prices, control of the marketing of their products, in this case eggs and poultry, authority to make certain necessary levies, and to try to dispose of surpluses.

Leaders in this industry are arranging to take a vote of producers as a preliminary to securing legislation, and within the last week or so discussions have taken place between representatives of the poultry industry from Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta.

Problem of Government

"We are not unduly worried about this P.E.I. judgment," the Examiner was told yesterday from a source close to the inner councils of organized agriculture. "We feel that the Federal government intended to set up workable legislation for our commodity groups. On that assumption, the recent decision is bound to be embarrassing to Ottawa. If Bill 82 is 'ultra vires' in the particulars set out in the judgment, we consider that the Federal government will be obliged to amend their legislation."

On that point, an Ottawa news item said: "Officials believed the government might create a central marketing agency which would control interprovincial marketing boards. However, whether the government could force traders to abide by compulsory marketing regulations in peace time is a matter over which there is considerable doubt."

Again quoting J. F. Perkin, chairman of the Ontario Marketing Board: "All the Federal Act sought to do was give the provincial marketing schemes the right to operate interprovincially. We will have to go into the matter thoroughly as far as Ontario is concerned, but I imagine the issue will go to the Supreme Court of Canada."

That is an outline of the background of the P.E.I. case for the Forum members in the likelihood that Monday night's discussion will give it prominence during the allotted half-hour broadcast.

STABLE VENTILATION

The dairy cow produces from one to two gallons of water per day in the form of water vapor, and unless sufficient air is circulated through the stable to remove this moisture it condensee on the walls, ceiling, and windows. The removal of excess moisture keeps the stable dry, and helps prevent the deterioration of timbers in the barn, the peeling of paint on the building, and the corrosion of metal parts and electrical fixtures.

In a new circular entitled "Exhaust Fan Ventilation for Dairy Stables", just published at O.A.C., Professor C. G. E. Downing, head of the Department of Agricultural Engineering at the College, explains how such moisture can be removed by fan ventilation. He discusses the amount of ventilation required, the various types and sizes of ventilation units, the location of fans and fresh air inlets, and also supplies directions on motors and wiring. Farmers who stable either beef or dairy cattle may obtain copies of the circular from their local agricultural representative or directly from the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

HON. W. A. GOODFELLOW GUEST

A guest at the dinner meeting of Northumberland Can-Crop Vegetable Growers, at Casleton, Hon. Wm. A. Goodfellow expressed pleasure in being able to be among his constituents again after his month or more of illness in Toronto. In a light vein he told something of the difficulties of life at our modern speed, and the toll it takes on public service.

Attendance was limited to 220 by accommodation of the township hall. William Walker, chairman of the provincial organization, predicted a satisfactory year for producers, with some expectation of price increase. Dr. Fred Robertson, M.P., was present, but had to leave early owing to illness in the family.

DINNER AT NORWOOD

Vivian S. Milburn of Toronto will be the speaker at the first Federation of Agriculture dinner at Norwood Wed. Feb. 20. It is expected that there will be a big attendance, and that this meeting will be just as successful as the one at Westwood. Mr. Milburn is a well informed, pleasing speaker, who has been Smith township's gift to the Ontario Federation. There is no place in the province that regards him more highly and warmly than his native Peterborough.

NEED 5,000 NAMES

Federation fieldman Harold Lewis has another job on his hands in preparing locally for the taking of a vote of poultry producers on a proposed marketing scheme. Application to the Ontario government will require a minimum of 5,000 names.

✦ ✦ ✦

POT LUCK SUPPER

Westwood Forum is proposing a pot luck supper at Asphodel Community Centre Feb. 25 if the three other Forums in the township accept an invitation to take part.

FEDERATION FINANCES

Peterborough Federation reported a bank balance of $2,443.96 at Dec. 31 last. Receipts were $3,056.18 and expenditure $2,523.97 in 1951. Excess receipts for the year were $532.21. Add to that the balance $1,911.79 on hand at Jan. 1, 1951, and the year end balance amounts to $2,443.96.

Receipts included the 1950 county levy of $155.23 and the 1951 sum of $2,460.10; $90 affiliation fees from various organizations; $300 from Kawartha Co-Op Medical to fieldman's salary.

Large item of expenditure was $886.88 to the Ontario Federation, $846.80 to fieldman, $100 to Black and White Championship Show; $68.70 deficit on Federation dinners; $140 for Junior calf club trip to Ottawa.

MARKETING OF POULTRY

Plans are reported underway for taking a vote of Ontario poultry producers in March on a marketing scheme for their products. In western Canada considerable ground work has already been done in Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba, with the ultimate object of forming a national marketing board under which provincial plans would be co-ordinated.

Producers in the west are seeking eventual stability in the poultry industry, based on minimum price of eggs at a level to ensure continuous supply for domestic demand. The national board's function would be to dispose of surpluses in any province.

NEW BREEDING UNIT

Oxford and District Cattle Breeding Association takes over the artificial insemination unit of Oxford Holstein Breeders Association which in turn continues as the county Holstein club. The new association will extend its service to breeds other than Holsteins when demand makes it practical.

✦ ✦ ✦

FORAGE CROP PROJECT

R. E. Bell, assistant agricultural representative, has called a meeting for Tues. Feb. 12 at 2 p.m. to organize a grass farming project,—a forage club.

Junior farmers of 18 to 30 years are requested to attend. Details of this undertaking would include the seeding and maintaining of a hay-pasture mixture over a period of 2 to 3 years, and to keep accurate records of dates, costs, yields etc. A minimum of five acres would be sown by each member.

✦ ✦ ✦

BACON COMPETITION

Middlesex hog producers are planning a bacon competition at the London seed fair and food show.

✦ ✦ ✦

HASTINGS BREEDERS

More than 200 farmers attended three local unit meetings of Quinte District Cattle Breeders' Association last week. At Belleville, Edgar Ray was elected group president; for Tweed-Madoc unit, Ken Caskey of Madoc is president and Frank Foster, Tweed, vice-president.

Harold Detlor, Stirling, RR-4, was chosen president and Douglas Pyear, Frankford, RR-3, vice-president.

Harold Hancock, association herdsman, pointed out that type and production usually do go together. He supported this assertion by a study of the R.O.P. records in the Holstein Journal, showing that in the top fifteen on twice a day milking ten of the cows were graded 'very good' or 'excellent', whereas in the bottom fifteen only a small proportion graded over 'good plus'.

Dr. McLean, manager of the association's breeding unit, said that nearly 20,000 cows owned by the members were artificially bred this year. He estimated that this number would be increased to 25,000 or more in 1952.

Arrangements have been made with Maple Unit to purchase semen for redistribution in the Quinte area for Ayrshire, Guernsey and Jersey breeders. Those not already members will be charged $25 for life membership, and the usual $5 service fee.

KENT FEDERATION

"At no other time than this has the world been more conscious of agriculture as a means of holding world peace and a sound economy," said Dr. J. D. MacLachlan, president of the Ontario Agricultural College, at the annual meeting of Kent Federation of Agriculture.

Dr. MacLachlan has promised to be one of the speakers at the new Central Ontario Spring Show in Peterborough next month.

He said that food distribution and the effect it will have upon world peace, population increases and the grim outlook for starving people, are only two of the major problems facing the world today. Conservation of soil, erosion, and the loss of top-soils are only some of the major problems that face the agricultural industry.

"Concentration upon some of the big problems on individual farms is one of the ways in which we will go a great way in solving the large problems."

Agriculture A Science.

It is only within the past 200 years that agriculture has become a science, and a complicated science it is that faces agriculture.

"Insects and diseases are some of your problems," Dr. MacLachlan told the 350 farmers. "It is only natural that we at the Ontario Agricultural College must be very conscious of your problems. We strive to find ways and means to promote efficiency of farming, to establish a stable and lucrative income for agriculture, to find ways and means of holding our farm youth on the farms, and ways and means to make agriculture an attractive profession, to place it on a level with other professions."

Dr. MacLachlan described the four-year degree course at the OAC as a sound investment of time and money for those who are going back to the farm. There have been criticisms that the four-year course turns white collar men out of farm boys, he said, but this criticism does not hold water today. "You farmers, receive a direct benefit from the boys who with farm experience behind them, graduate and become teachers. Those young men who go into agricultural services with farm experience behind them, too, result in bringing you direct benefits. We at the OAC are taking stock of the four-year degree course. It is being re-built thinking in terms of present day agriculture in the hope of developing the best degree courses on the continent."

Largest In Empire

The Ontario Agricultural College is a little over 75 years old and is still the largest agricultural college in the British Empire." We hope to keep building it, making it the best agricultural college in the British Empire," he said.

Dr. MacLachlan described the Kent Federation as one of the most active in the province. He was introduced by Lawrence Kerr, a member of the new advisory board of the Ontario Agricultural College.

ROCKWOOD ROCKET TONE, the grand champion Holstein bull at the Royal Winter Fair, has been named All-Canadian three-year-old bull. He was also All-Canadian in 1949 and 1950. Rocket Tone was bred by Rockwood Holsteins, St. Norbert, Man., and is owned by the Quinte District Cattle Breeding Association, Belleville, Ont., where he is one of the bulls in the Artificial Breeding Unit.

Film Board Movie Believed Helpful To Farm Problem

OTTAWA, Feb. 8—(CP)—The National Film Board has come up with an answer to "Why boys leave the farm"—and offers a solution.

In a film entitled "The Son," the Film Board, depicts the struggle of a 28-year-old farmer in his fight for financial security under the domineering hand of his father. The son wants to marry and can't do it on a $5 weekly allowance. The farmer continually tells him he will inherit the farm, but that doesn't overcome a feeling of insecurity and lack of independence.

The scenes were shot in and around Hamilton. The film is sparked with lovely scenery and glimpses of farm life with its struggles and tribulations woven into a smooth pattern. The actors are non-professional, mostly from the Hamilton Theatre Guild. The mother is played by Elsi Thomson, president of the guild.

Blonde, 12-year-old Freddie Bell, whose parents operate a farm where the picture was made, makes his debut in the film. The freckled curly-haired lad plays the part of the son as a child. He enacts early frustrations as the son yearns to exhibit his calf at a fair, but is forced to toss hay instead. He is forbidden to drive a team because of an accident which actually was his father's fault.

Other Players

The son, as an adult, is portrayed by Bill Martin, a Hamilton tool-and-die maker. The father is depicted by Clarence Mogk a Hamilton electrician and despite their city jobs they make convincing farm folk.

Julian Biggs, 31-year-old graduate of Ontario Agricultural College and native of Hamilton, wrote and directed the picture. He gathered material from farmers and agricultural organizations who maintained that it was one of the main reasons why farmers lost their sons to the city.

For a law-office scene Mr. Biggs wanted an office out of the 30s and the scene was taken in the office of the late T. B. McQuesten, one-time Ontario minister of highways. When Mr. McQuesten, died his law partner left his office as it was as a memorial to him.

It was in this office that father and son settled their differences. A contract was drawn up making them partners in the farm, giving the boy a sense of security and enabling him to get married.

Mr. Biggs says he isn't laying down a formula for the solution of father-and-son problems. He's trying to show that the best place to solve them is where they arise —on the farm.

Basic Stability Desire Of Forum Members

"We need a farmers' government to argue the farmers' point of view" was one of the opinions recorded at the meeting of Daisy D Forum meeting Feb. 4 at the home of Miss Jean Sedgwick. This is a Norwood area group. Robert Elliott was discussion leader. Twelve members attended.

The subject was "What sets farm prices?" Rural thinking was reflected in the following comment: "Grain growers should be responsible for marketing grain; hog producers for their own hogs; poultrymen should be responsible for marketing their own surplus. Each commodity group should have its own organization to market top products."

Thirty-seven were present at Pine Grove Forum meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy McFadden, Douro township. This Forum is in the area around Lakefield. Three discussion groups were formed. General leader was Garnet Graham. Next meeting is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Garbutt.

One of their ideas is similar to a proposal mentioned from Ottawa as a possibility. "Some thought that if the farmer was organized the same as the manufacturer it would do away with surpluses, and the rest thought that if there was a Dominion Marketing Board with 60 per cent farmers it would help."

Donegal Forum, near Norwood, counted 31 members at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Leeper. Raymond Begg was discussion leader. There were two groups. one of their comments was: "The majority in our Forum would prefer farming with stabilized prices over a period of years."

Twenty-one attended Central Smith Forum at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rowland. Mr. Roland Scott was leader. Next meeting is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Reynolds. Their majority favored stabilized prices over a longer period. "It is hard for farmers to control prices, but they can help by having producer organizations to regulate production and set prices and marketing schemes."

Westwood Forum met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Middlebrook. Nineteen attended; Wm. Mood was discussion leader. Next meeting is at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Patterson. Their report to headquarters was, in part, as follows: "It is possible for farmers to have more control over the prices they receive for their produce. Witness the fact that the hog producers were able to stop for a short time the rapid downward trend on the Toronto livestock market last year by the simple procedure of removing some 200 pigs from the stock yards to another market. If the producers would provide more funds for such facilities in all commodities, they would have more or perhaps complete control of their prices. If such is the case, farmers would have to learn to refrain from exploiting propitious markets in order to build up long term markets.

"The marketing of surplus farm products should be done by producer organizations . . . When it comes down to facts, all of us would prefer the security assured "all" by stabilized prices, but the gambling instinct is strong in some, and those few may prefer to act as individuals, and take a chance on making a killing in good times even at the expense of fellow farmers."

Coldsprings Forum at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Wright, 16 present, said: "The Canadian farmer would not subject himself to a controlled system". They favor full use of a government controlled board in which all farmers must co-operate.

A common note running through all the reports is the desire for a stabilized basis of farming. Even the weather contributes an element of uncertainty and "gamble", but Forum members believe that wide swings in marketing conditions and prices could be greatly reduced.

Grateful Alberta Girl Extols Junior Clubs And Finals In Toronto

Margery Johannson of Markerville, Alta., is a typical teenager of those rural clubs of Canada which will be represented in Peterborough county this year by nine or 10 groups engaging in organized projects ranging from raising calves to studying the rudiments of forestry. In between, is the girls' section, supervised by young women who have qualified in domestic science, home making affairs, dressmaking, cooking, social and leadership activities.

By a process of elimination in provincial competitions their winners meet in Toronto at the beginning of the Royal Winter Fair for the national finals. A week's replete program takes them about Toronto after their championships have been decided, then to Niagara Falls and finally Ottawa.

Many of Canada's industries subscribe to a fund which defrays the expenses of the young people's journeying about their own country. Finally, there is an incidental competition for the ten best essays on the subject "My Impressions of the Trip."

Margery Johannson of the Markerville Tip Top Teenders finished in first place. Prizes are books distributed among those ten young people. The Alberta girl is a member of Markerville Food Club. Pauline Landry, member of the St. Velere, Que., potato club; was second; and Merle Moore of South Hastings grain club, whose home is at Springbrook, south of Peterborough's neighboring Bonarlaw, was third.

"Prior to leaving for the east, guest speakers instilled in my mind the importance of being a modest winner, a cheerful loser, and to conduct myself as a good club member should," Miss Johannson wrote.

Her essay conveys the young eagerness in which she set out from home, her hopes and apprehensions, emotions that were common to the 118 boys and girls who assembled in Toronto. It is this aspect of freshness and vividness of experience that recommends quotations from her narrative.

A Trip of Thrills

"Thrilling is the easiest way to describe my impression of the trip from Alberta to Toronto by train. As each new group joined us, I couldn't help thinking, 'I wonder if they are a food team. My they look hard to beat." However, singing, game and chatting soon overcame our fears, and we became one big happy company.

To those who have never been to a city such as Toronto, I can assure you one feels as if she were a little child among a large group of adults. The magnificence of our home, the Royal York Hotel inpressed me deeply, as did the special Remembrance Day service in the beautiful Eaton Memorial Church. Our hosts chartered buses to show us many of the scenic parts of the city. I believe the thing that impressed me most was the immensity of Toronto, and how insignificant I was in comparison.

Encouraged By Judges

Monday was the day of our club contests. There was good natured rivalry between groups from the various provinces. I can honestly say that my teammate and I were just a little bit afraid. However, the friendliness of the judges soon put us at our ease, and encouraged us to do our best

"You can be sure that we were excited when the results were announced at the Friendship dance that night. It was wonderful to dance to such a famous orchestra as Mark Kenney's, and the feeling that we from Alberta had upheld the standard set by the former groups made the night one long to remember."

Then there was the next day at the Winter Fair, the beautiful flower show, "half an acre of gorgeous flowers under glass"; the Horse Show in the evening . . . "To me, a lover of horses, it was simply marvellous." Next day they met Foster Hewitt, visited the Happy Gang of radio, and attended the Icecapades at Maple Leaf Gardens.

At Rideau Hall

After Niagara Falls on Thursday, came the trip to Ottawa, "most thrilling to me. Little did I dream of ever visiting the nation's Capital, or meeting Lady Alexander. She graciously conducted us through Rideau Hall, Their Excellencies' lovely home and gardens. Lady Alexander's charming and friendly manner made us feel that she was as interested in us as we were in her. Dinner at the Chateau Laurier, after a tour of the Parliament buildings, brought to a close our wonderful six days packed so full of new experiences that we will have the rest of our lives to remember.

"The journey home was a happy one. Although we had to bid good-bye to our new acquaintances, we parted feeling that we had greatly benefited by their friendship."

A Girl's Gratitude

Miss Johannson closes her travel story with warm thanks to everybody who made the trip possible. In part she wrote: "Thank you Canadian Council on Boys' and Girls' Club Work. Your efforts made this trip possible for me; thank you the sponsors who entertained us so royally, and thank you those who were so interested in our welfare while we were in the East. I have learned what a wonderful country Canada is, and we club members must take our place in it as good citizens, farmers and homemakers."

Mr. James D. Moore is Public Relations Officer of the Council.

Between the lines of that essay is a glowing recommendation of junior club work to the parents of rural young people, including those in Peterborough County.

It provides an excellent opportunity for the expansion of the ideas and knowledge of the boys and girls of the farms, their friendships, social experience, and other aspects of their preparation for adult life.

These clubs are supported by the responsible representatives of the Departments of Agriculture, and can be advocated unreservedly to the parents of our rural juniors.

280 Bulls For Sale

Two hundred and eighty bulls from one hundred and thirty of the leading herds in Ontario have been entered in the 1952 beef bull show and sale, to be held in the sheep and swine arena, Royal Winter Fair buildings, Toronto, March 11th and 12th. Of the total number being offered, 142 are Shorthorns, 96 Herefords and 42 Aberdeen Angus.

One of the new regulations this year is that bulls placed in the third group at the time of the showing will become the property of the Association, and will be sold for slaughter. This assures buyers that only bulls of high quality will be offered for sale at the time of the auction.

W. P. Watson reminds Ontario buyers of the financial assistance offered by the Ontario government through the Livestock Branch. This is in the form of a grant which is equal to one third of the purchase price up to a maximum of $150. Fifty percent of the grant will be paid at the time of purchase with the remainder being paid one year, later, providing the bull has been kept in satisfactory breeding condition. He adds that this is the only sale at which this high premium is offered.

GEO. W. HENRY, Todmorden, Ont. was elected president of the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada at its annual meeting in Toronto. This is the largest breed association in the British Empire. Last year 67,396 Holsteins were registered and 50,584 transferred. Mr. Henry has been associated with his father, Hon. Geo. S. Henry, in the development of the Oriole Lodge herd, one of the top herds of the dominion which brought an average of $549 when dispersed last year.

Duke Of Windsor Begins Sad Journey

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Duke of Windsor started a "sad" journey homeward Thursday night to attend the funeral services for his "dear brother," England's late King, George VI.

The man who himself once ruled the British Empire before he abdicated his throne for love of an American woman wore a black band of mourning about his arm as he boarded the liner Queen Mary.

"This voyage," he said, "is indeed sad—and it is all the sadder for me because I am undertaking it alone.

"The Duchess is remaining here to await my return."

As the former monarch talked, she stood by his side, hugged against him by his left arm. It was for her that he gave up his throne to his brother.

"This will be the fourth time that I have participated in the obsequies of a British monarch," he said.

"Fifty-one years ago it was my grandmother, Queen Victoria; then nine years later my grandfather, Edward VII; and in 1936 my father, George V. Now, by God's will, it is my brother's turn to lie in state in the great hall at Westminster and eventually to join his forebears at Windsor."

Mentions Abdication

Then the Duke took note of his own abdication, saying:

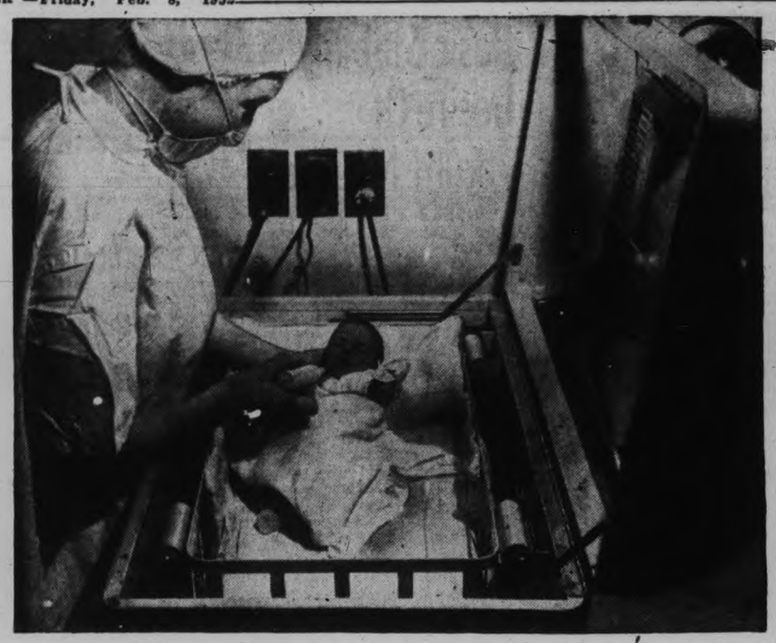
"The late King and I were very close and outstanding qualities of kingship he possessed made easier for me the passing on of the uninterrupted succession to the throne of the United Kingdom.

"These same attributes," he added, "will, I am sure, descend to his daughter, the new Queen. I was 41 when I succeeded my father and many considered that 'young.'

"But Queen Elizabeth is only 25—how young to assume the responsibilities of a great throne in these precarious times—but she has the good wishes and support of us all."

Soberly and wearily, the Duke stirred as photographers finished their pictures.

Then he said: "Good night, gentlemen."



SPECIAL CARE—In the glass-enclosed, sound-proof premature nursery of the Roy al Victoria Montreal Maternity Hospital, Nurse Susan Stancliffe feeds a 3½ pound, 3 weeks old, premature baby with a Lundeen bottle of formula. This is a specially designed, 1 ounce vial, miniature of the normal sized feeder. The infant, who weighed 3 pounds at birth, is comfortably installed ina Humidcrib, one of the newest and most practical types of incubator with plasti-glass top, controlled humidity and heat, and its supply of oxygen piped in according to individual requirements. The nursery is furnished with seven of these cribs and six electrically heated cots to which the babies are transferred when they reach the weight of 4 pounds. The Premature Nursery was entirely equipped and donated to the Royal Victoria Montreal Maternity Hospital by the Auxiliary Board of Governors of the hospital, and has successfully cared for over 1,800 premature babies since then.

Truman Sends Canada Sympathy

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 (CP)—President Truman has extended to Canada the sympathies of himself and the American people on the death of the King.

This message from Truman was sent to Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret:

"For myself and on behalf of the American people I extend to Your Excellency sincere condolences upon the death of His Majesty King George. His loss will be deeply felt throughout the world."

The Chief Justice, acting as administrator in the absence of a Governor-General, replied:

"On behalf of the people of Canada thank you, Mr. President, and the American people for your kind message of sympathy in the great loss we have sustained. We deeply mourn the death of the King who was greatly loved by all Canadians."

Advertising Important

TORONTO, Feb. 8—(CP)—Robert U. Lamb, managing secretary of the Ontario Retail Hardware Association, Thursday said newspaper advertising is one of the prime requisites of any successful sales campaign. "It has been proved time and time again." He told delegates attending the association's annual convention.

Tobacco Growers Reduce Acreage

SIMCOE, Feb. 8 — (CP). — Ontario tobacco growers will reduce their base acreage by one-third this year. Marketing Board of the Ontario Flue-cured Tobacco Marketing Association decided on Thursday.

It said later in a statement its decision was due to a decline in sales to the United Kingdom and to decreasing domestic sales as a result of what it termed "excessive taxation."

Board chairman Francis R. Gregory of Leamington said after the meeting:

"Our backs are to the wall. The only solution to the serious situation facing Ontario's most valuable agricultural crop is immediate tax reduction."

Queen's Counsel Twice

TORONTO, Feb. 8 — (CP). — Sir Allen Aylesworth of Toronto is probably the only Canadian to become a Queen's Counsel twice. Now at 97 in frail health, Sir Allen was first created a Queen's Counsel in 1889 under Queen Victoria. He served through reigns of King Edward VII, King George V, King Edward VIII, King George VI, and now Queen Elizabeth II.

Expressed Sympathy

OTTAWA, Feb. 8—(CP)—At the personal request of the King of the Belgians, Belgian Ambassador Di Comte Du Parc Thursday called upon Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret to express his country's sympathy in the death of King George VI. Mr. Justice Rinfret is serving as administrator in the absence of a governor-general.

Templer Faces Hard Fight To Win Victory In Malaya

By ROBERT HEWETT

SINGAPORE, Feb. 8—(AP)—Britain's new High Commissioner for Malaya, Gen. Sir Gerald Templer, must solve a Chinese puzzl if he is to win the jungle war against Communist terrorists.

Approximately 95 per cent. of the terrorists are Chinese. In this guerrilla war, it takes a Chinese to fight a Chinese.

To ease Templer's task somewhat, Britain this week named Donald MacGillivray as Deputy High Commissioner of the Federation to deal with Malaya's complex political problems.

With someone else to take care of civil affairs, Templer can concentrate on the urgent task of beating the Reds in this important dollar-earning tin and rubber country.

An atmosphere of tension hangs over all—British planters in their armored cars, Chinese, Malay and Indian rubber tappers gathering latex on isolated estates.

Main Problems

Everyone agrees the jungle army—which calls itself the Malayan Races Liberation Army—could not have existed long without the help of other Chinese.

The British military estimate there are 20,000 Red sympathizers among the Chinese workers of Malaya. For most of the Chinese in the villages and on the rubber estates it is a choice of giving food and money to the terrorists or sharing the fate of 3,000 civilians slain by the terrorists since mid-1948.

There lie the main problems for Templer: first, to provide protection and stop the terrorists' aid; second, to win over the Chinese to active co-operation in the anti-Red war.

Sir Cheng Lock-tan, Malaya's No. 1 Chinese who was knighted recently, told Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttleton: "The best man to catch the Chinese bandit, Communist agent or rebel is the Chinese policeman, Chinese spy or Chinese soldier."

But the Chinese co-operation will not come easy.

Bitter At British

There is bitter resentment among the Chinese because they feel they are little better than second-class citizens—or no citizens at all—under Britain's policy of "Malaya for the Malays."

Malaya's 5,300,000 population includes 2,000,000 Chinese. More than 60 per cent of them were born in Malaya. Only a handful has been granted citizenship. Malays are permitted to join the British-dominated Malayan civil service Chinese are barred.

The government has refused to arm the Chinese "home guards" in many cases for fear the weapons will get into Communist hands.

Remove these sore spots, says Sir Cheng Lock-tan, and the Malay Chinese will feel they have a r al stake in Malaya.

Plan Better Deal

After the long months of conflict with the jungle Reds, there is evidence that Britain is ready to give the Chinese a better deal in return for active help. Britain has found that distrust and criticism of the Chinese as "fence-sitters" has not altered the basic fact that the war won't be won without Chinese help.

Four-fifths of Malaya is jungle. Troops patrol the wastes daily without seeing a single bandit. Most successful raids come on tips from Chinese, usually inspired by liberal rewards.

"The terrorists have to rely on Chinese villagers for food and money," one British general said. "The Chinese know where the bandits are. All we need is to get them to tell."

FOR THE FIRST TIME in sled dog racing history the Canadian Army will be represented at the International Derby to be held in Ottawa Feb. 7. Sgt. Diny Hayes, stationed in the capital will compete against the best drivers in North America for the Dr. Ballard Gold Trophy, and will wear the new Arctic equipment designed for Canada's Fighting Forces. Recently Hayes won a short tune up race at Hull, Quebec, setting a speed record for 20 miles, and many observers believe his balanced team of black Labrador Retrievers will furnish stiff competition for the crack United States Air Force Team, which arrived Feb. 5.

Walked With Death Unafraid Churchill Eulogy To His Dead King George VI

LONDON, Feb. 8 (AP).—Following is the text of Prime Minister Churchill's broadcast Wednesday night on the death of King George VI and the accession of Queen Elizabeth II:

My friends, when the death of the King was announced to us Wednesday morning there struck a deep and solemn note in our lives which, as it resounded far and wide, stilled the clatter and traffic of 20th century life in many lands and made countless millions of human beings pause and look around them.

A new sense of values took for the time being possession of human minds. His mortal existence presented itself to so many at the same moment in its serenity and its sorrow, in its splendor and in its pain, in its fortitude and in its suffering.

The King was greatly loved by all his peoples. He was respected as a man and as a prince far beyond the many realms over which he reigned. The simple dignity of his life, his manly virtues, his sense of duty—alike as ruler and servant of the vast spheres and communities for which he bore responsibility—his gay charm and happy nature, his example as husband and father in his own family circle, his courage in war or peace —all these were aspects of his character which won a glint of admiration, now here, now there, from innumerable eyes whose gaze fell upon the throne.

PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL

Many Aspects

We thought of him as a young naval lieutenant in the Battle of Jutland. We thought of him when calmly, when without ambition or want of self-confidence, he assumed the heavy burden of the Crown and succeeded his brother, whom he loved and to whom he had rendered perfect loyalty. We thought of him so faithful of state affairs; so strong in his devotion to the enduring honor of our country; so self restrained in his judments of men and affairs; so uplifted above the clash of party politics, yet so attentive to them, so wise and shrewd in judging between what matters and what does not.

All this we saw and admired. His conduct on the throne may well be a model and a guide to constitutional sovereigns throughout the world today and also in future generations.

The last few months of King George's life—with all the pangs and physical stresses that he endured — his life hanging by a thread from day to day—and he all the time cheerful and undaunted—stricken in body but quite undisturbed and even unaffected in spirit—these have made a profound and enduring impression and should be a help to all.

He was sustained not only by his natural buoyancy but by the sincereity of his Christian faith.

During these last months the King walked with death as if death were a companion, an acquaintance whom he recognized and did not fear. In the end death came as a friend and after a happy day of sunshine and sport. After good night to those who loved him best, he fell asleep as every man and woman who strives to fear God and nothing else in the world may hope to do.

The nearer one stood to him the more these facts were apparent.

But the newspapers and photographs of modern times have made vast numbers of his subjects able to watch with emotion the last months of his pilgrimage. We all saw him approach his journey's end.

In this period of mourning and meditation amid our cares and toils every home in all the realm joined together under the Crown may draw comfort for tonight, and strength for the future, from his bearing and fortitude.

There was another tie between King George and his people. It was not only sorrow and affection that they shared. Dear to the hearts and the homes of the people is the joy and pride of a united family. With all this the troubles of the world can be borne and all its ordeals at least confronted. No family in these tumultuous years was happier or loved one another more than the Royal family around the King.

My friends, I suppose—I'm sure —no minister saw so much of the King as I did. I made certain he was kept informed of every secret matter and the care and thoroughness with which he mastered the immense daily flow of state papers made a deep mark on my mind.

Narrow Escape

Let me tell you another fact. On one of the days when Buckingham Palace was bombed, the King had just returned from Windsor. One side of the courtyard was struck; and if the windows opposite out of which, by the grace of God, he and the Queen were looking had not been open, they would both have been blinded by the broken glass instead of being only trown back by the explosion.

Amid all that was then going an, although I saw the King so often, I never heard of this episode until a long time afterwards. Their Majesties never mentioned it or thought it of more significance than a soldier in their armies would of a shell bursting near him.

This seems to me to be a revealing trait in the Royal character. There is no doubt that of all the institutions which have grown up among us over the centuries or sprung into being in our lifetime, the constitutional monarchy is the most deeply founded and dearly cherished by the whole association of our peoples.

In the present generation it has acquired a meaning incomparably more powerful than anyone had dreamed possible in former times. The crown has become the mysterious link, indeed I may say the magic link, which unites our loosely bound but strongly interwoven commonwealth of nations, states and races.

People who would never tolerate the assertions of a written constitution which implied any diminution of their independence are the foremost to be proud of their loyalty to the crown.

We have been greatly blessed amid our many anxieties and in the mighty world that has grown up all around our small island; we have been greatly blessed that this new, intangible, inexpressible, but, for practical purposes, apparently all-powerful element of union, should have leapt into being among us.

How vital it is, not only to the future of the British Commonwealth and Empire but, I believe also, to the cause of world freedom and peace which we serve, that the occupant of the throne should be equal to the august and indefinable responsibilities which this supreme office requires.

Never Failed In Duty

For 15 years King George VI was king. Never at any moment in all the perplexities at home and abroad, in public or in private did he fail in his duties. Well does he deserve the farewell salute of all his governments and peoples.

My friends, it is at this time that our compassion and sympathy go out to his consort and widow. Their marriage was a love match with no idea of regal pomp or splendor. Indeed, there seemed to lie before them only the arduous life of royal personages, denied so many of the activities of ordinary folk and having to give so much in ceremonial public service.

May I say—speaking with all freedom—that our hearts go out tonight to that valiant woman with the famous blood of Scotland in her veins who sustained King George through all his toils and problems, and brought up with their charm and beauty the two daughters who mourn their father today.

May she be granted strength to bear her sorrow. To Queen Mary, his mother—another son is dead. The Duke of Kent having been killed in active service—there belongs the consolation of seeing how well the King did his duty and fulfilled her hopes, and of knowing how much he cared for her. Now I must leave the treasures of the past and turn to the future.

Famous have been the reigns of our queens. Some of the greatest periods in our history have unfolded under their sceptre.

Now that we have a second Queen Elizabeth also ascending the throne in her 26th year, our thoughts are carried back nearly 400 years to the magnificent figure who presided over and, in many ways, embodied and inspired the grandeur and genius of the Elizabethan age.

Queen Elizabeth II, like her predecessor, did not pass her childhood in any certain expectation of the crown.

Has Great Gifts

But already we know how well and we understand why her gifts and those of her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, have stirred the only part of our commonwealth she has yet been able to visit.

She already has been acclaimed as Queen of Canada.

We make our claim, and others will come forward too, and tomorrow the proclamation of her sovereignty will command the loyalty of her native land and of all other parts of the British Commonwealth and Empire.

I, whose youth was cast in the august, unchallenged and tranquil glories of the Victorian era, may well feel a thrill in evoking once more the prayer and the anthem, God saye the Queen.

Spr. Lavoie To Stand Trial In Murder Case

PEMBROKE, Ont., Feb. 8 — (CP)—Spr. Joseph Lanoie, 37-year-old officer's batman from Welland Thursday was committed for trial on a charge of murder.

Spr. Lanoie was committed in connection with the New Year's Eve shooting of Spr. James Wesley Caufield, 21,' of Pine Falls, Man., in the officers' mess at Petawawa military camp. He also is charged with the murder of another soldier, Craftsman C. E. Johannson, 20, of Saskatoon.

The preliminary hearing, before Magistrate W. K. MacGregor of Pembroke, concerned only the shooting and killing of Caufield.

The magistrate committed Lanoie for trial after hearing evidence by Dr. J. C. Bradley, coroner, of Pembroke, and Cpl. W. H. F. King, officers' mess steward at Petawawa.

Cpl. King told of receiving a telephone call at his residence about 4.30 a.m. the morning of the slayings. He said he answered the phone and a voice he recognized as Lanoie's said:

"Corporal, I have just killed your two barmen. Will you come up here."

Before Cpl. King went to the mess, an officer of the provost detachment came and took him there. He said Lanoie was sitting in the mess and quoted the latter as saying:

"It's a good thing you didn't come sooner. I had one for you."

Dr. Bradley testified the two men were killed about 3:30 a.m. Johannson's body was found on the floor of the bar and Caufield's was on a bed upstairs.

J. C. Greene of Arnprior, defence counsel, objected to a committal being registered, on the ground of insufficient evidence.

Lanoie was remanded in custody. He is expected to appear for trial at the spring assizes in Pembroke, beginning Feb. 25.

Queen Thanks Canada For Kind Message

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 (CP)—Queen Elizabeth Thursday cabled Prime Minister St. Laurent a message of thanks for the sympathies he extended Wednesday on behalf of the Canadian people on the death of her father.

The message read:

"I am sincerely grateful for your message. Please assure all those for whom you speak that I deeply value their kindness and sympathy.—Elizabeth R."

Ottawa Council Takes Oath Of Allegiance

OTTAWA, Feb. 8—(CP)—The Ottawa city council at a special meeting Thursday proclaimed a period of civic mourning until the funeral of the late King George VI, Feb. 15, and directed all city businessmen as far as possible to close on the funeral day.

The council endorsed a resolution of official condolence in the death of the King, declaring the capital of the senior Dominion of the Crown "has heard with heavy heart the grievous word of the death of His Majesty our late King."

The council proclaimed the allegiance of the city to the new monarch, Queen Elizabeth II, and each of the the 33 members of the council, including Mayor Charlotte Whitton, took the oath of office, swearing allegiance to the new Queen.

Meeting Postponed

Royal Family Changed Name In First World War

LONDON, Feb. 8—(AP)—Britain's Royal Family changed its name from Saxe-Coburg-Gotha to Windsor by Royal proclamation at the height of the First World War.

Until then the Royal Family had been known as the House of Hanover or Brunswick.

The 1917 proclamation signed by George V came a few days after the King announced that all princes in his family who were British subjects but bore German titles should junk the German delegations in favor of British names.

The Mountbattens, the family of the Duke of Edinburgh, also changed their name during the First World War. They originally were Batenbergs, but took the name Mountbatten in July, 1917, at the King's request.

The King assumed the Windsor name only for his own house and family and for Queen Victoria's descendants in the male line, according to peerage specialists in London.

Therefore, Queen Elizabeth II might be the last sovereign of the House of Windsor, because the heir apparent, her three-year-old son, Prince Charles, is of his father's house, the Mountbattens. The Queen could assure continuance of the Windsor dynasty, however, by taking steps to change Charles' house to the name of Windsor.

Alberta Appeal Court Set Aside Petroleum Ruling

CALGARY, Feb. 8—(CP)—The Alberta Appeal Court ruled Wednesday that the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and Imperial Oil Limited are entitled to extract all the petroleum from the 160-acre farm owned by Michael Dorys in the Leduc oil field even if there is interference and wastage of Dory's natural gas.

The appeal court, in a four-to-one majority decision, set aside a judgment of Chief Justice W. R. Howson and lifted a permanent injunction which had prohibited the two companies from using Dorys' gas, without compensation, in removing their petroleum from Dorys' land.

At the same time the appeal court said Dorys was entitled to judgment in the action for declaration of his ownership of the natural gas, other than that existing "in its natural condition in strata," that is, in solution in the liquid oil.

(The Canadian Press Thursday in reporting the judgment did not make it clear that Dorys was held to own all the other, or dry, natural gas.)

The appeal court ruled that the petroleum could be removed, regardless of wastage of Dorys' gas, provided modern methods were used and the provision of relevant statutes and regulations observed.

Dorys took action to establish ownership of natural gas under his land. The companies contended that petroleum and gas were one and the same. Chief Justice Howson last May 9 gave judgment that natural gas and petroleum were distinctly different products.

Delegation Asks Interim Grant

TORONTO, Feb. 8 — (CP). — A delegation from the Ontario Municipal Association met with Premier Frost Thursday and asked for an interim grant to municipalities of $5 per capita of population.

The delegation, headed by Reeve Ann Shipley of Teck Township, termed the need immediate. It said there would be delay before the report of a committee studying the provincial-municipal tax structure could be brought down.

The association asked that municipalities be given the right to tax publicly-owned utilities and Crown properties on the same basis as privately-owned utilities.

Other points requested in the brief: School debenture issues to be bought by the province; maintenance of prisoners' dependents; municipal exemption from gasoline tax for vehicles; municipal underwriting of municipal fire losses.

In an attempt to control Board of Education expenditures, the association urged that power be granted municipal councils to appoint two members of council to sit as members of the Board of Education.

Regional Boards Push British Housing Program

By EDWIN S. JOHSON

LONDON—(CP) — The British government has launched a full-speed-ahead building program in a determined drive to overcome the nation's critical housing shortage.

Harold Macmillan, Minister of Housing and Local Government, in outlining the plan, said the government's new policy envisaged a wide-open target for home-building which will be expanded to the limits of available manpower and materials.

The government, Mr. Macmillan said, regarded the current accommodation problem as a priority next only to safety and solvency. Thus under the revised policy no limitations would be placed on the number of houses built in a year.

He promised the country's building industry that the order book would be kept full for some years to clear the long waiting list of prospective home-owners.

No Restrictions

"There will be no restrictions, no rigid ceiling and no artificial limit," he added. "The quicker you build the more there will be to build. The more you finish the more you will get."

As an initial step housing production boards are to be set up regionally. On these boards will be officers of the ministries of housing, works and labor, with representatives as well from the appropriate employers' associations and trade unions.

In Advisory Role

Their role will be to advise and assist local authorities by simplifying procedure, breaking through "bottlenecks," overcoming shortages and dealing with other production problems.

The minister said he would grant permission to local authorities to issue block licences to private builders for groups of houses so that contractors will be able to lay long-range plans and build more cheaply and rapidly. He warned, however, against the danger of feeding into the pipeline of production more than labor and materials could sustain.

"At the moment, the great thing is to get on with the work in hand," Mr. MacMillan said. "We must try to build more quickly, to do in eight months, if we can, what has been taking a year or longer to do."

Later the minister attended a ceremony marking the opening of the first two units of so-called "people's houses." Built at a cost of less than £1,000 each the dwellings conform to accepted standards in room sizes but by skilful design have been put up with substantial savings in materials.

The houses were erected in the record time of 12 weeks and government officials believe the lower cost factor and speed of construction will bring in orders for thousands more.

Organize Action To Work For County Health Unit

A Peterborough County Health Unit may be established as a result of action taken at a public meeting in Norwood town hall Thursday night. The meeting was held to discuss the formation of a county health unit. Approximately 50 people made plans to carry out this project. The main result of the meeting was the appointment of a committee of five, to approach various organizations in the county for support and with this support approach the individual municipal councils and then the county council for approval.

The five people appointed to the committee were: Mrs. Clarence Coons of Lakefield, president; Mrs. Earl Armstrong of Norwood, secretary; Mrs. G. W. LeBranch and Mrs. H. K. Wright, both of Norwood and K. O. Birken, inspector of rural schools. The committee were given power to add more members.

Dr. Kelly Explains

The appointment of this committee followed an address by Dr. R. A. Kelly, MOH of Peterborough on the mechanics of county health units.

Dr. Kelly explained that the establishment of a county health unit would mean everyone in the county, both rural and urban residents, would be provided with the services of a full time medical officer of health and sanitary inspector and public health nurses and possibly a dentist. At present, all the municipalities, with the exception of Peterborough, have only the services of a part-time medical officer of health who is usually also a medical practitioner.

"A county health unit would carry out the practices and procedures of preventive medicine or public health," Dr. Kelly said.

The speaker went on to explain that the activities of public health work come under two headings—environment and the individual.

Sanitary inspectors make periodic check-ups to insure there is a safe supply of food in their area. All establishments where food is sold, prepared for sale, or stored are regularly inspected. Milk and water supplies are also carefully checked.

"The care of the individual starts about six months before birth in a pre-natal program that includes both pre-natal clinics and visits by public health nurses to the homes of expectant mothers," Dr. Kelly said. "In this way the mortality rate in maternity cases is greatly reduced, because expectant mothers are given the opportunity of proper pre-natal education and the chance to discuss problems with professional nurses."

Help After Birth

The speaker explained that the services of the nurses and MOH are also available after birth, both in the home and in regular child health clinics. These clinics can be attended right up until the child starts to school. At the clinics the child is weighed and examined and is immunized against such communicable diseases as whooping cough, tetanus and small pox.

In schools, health units carry on this immunization and examination program.

"The main function of any full-time health worker is health education," Dr. Kelly concluded. "By health education we mean showing people how to gain better, healthier and happier ways of living."

The question of financing a county health unit was raised by Reeve Rork Ferguson of Norwood, who was chairman of the meeting.

Units Subsidized

Dr. Kelly explained that these units were subsidized by the provincial government with 50 per cent of the total cost for the rural areas and 25-33⅓ per cent for

Civic Hospital Deficit $40,033 For 1951, Indigents Said Cause

"End Of First Cycle" Shows Debenture Debt Of More Than $2 Million; $1 Million Yet To Be Paid Off by Home Owners

Indigent patients were the cause of Peterborough Civic hospital's 1951 operating deficit of $40,033, chairman J. R. Marshall told the annual meeting of the hospital's board of governors Thursday night. Drawing attention to the fact that hospitals "must accept every person, wealthy or indigent, wanting hospital treatment," Mr. Marshall said, "our deficit is equivalent to the amount short of our budget for patient's revenue."

Indigent patients occupied beds for 8,651 patient days during the year (obtained by multiplying the number of indigents by the total number of days they spent in hospital). Mr. Marshall said that if the hospital had received public ward rates for this accommodation the hospital could have balanced its books without a deficit.

End of First Cycle

Terming 1951 "the end of the first cycle in the history of Peterborough Civic Hospital," Mr. Marshall announced that there is only a debenture debt of $2,240,000, including the cost of the land, against the hospital, which cost approximately $3,635,000.

With taxes on business and industry eventually taking care of 50 per cent. of this amount, there is only $1,120,000 to be paid by individual house-owners over a period of years, he said.

The retiring hospital board chairman emphasized that hospitals unlike business and industry cannot adjust their operations to fluctuating levels of activity. Purchases and staff can be increased or reduced depending on the tempo of business, but a hospital has to maintain a standard of service, regardless of the number of patients, he explained.

Can't Solicit Business

"Today, we may find 95 per cent. of all beds occupied. Two days later, only 80 or 85 per cent. may be occupied. We cannot go out and solicit business when we are only 55 per cent. occupied, yet we must be staffed to care for all who may apply. A full staff must be maintained to care for the maximum demand for service," Mr. Marshall said.

Continuing his report, Mr. Marshall referred to the grants of County Council, equivalent to the loss sustained on county indigent patients during the previous year. Mr. Marshall expressed the hope "that having recognized this obligation, they will continue this policy" along with the paying of $1 per day for county patients taken to hospital, covering the difference between patient revenue and operating expenses incurred in treating patients.

Mr. Marshall said that if the provincial government would pay hospitals public ward rates plus extras for indigent patients, $50,000 would be lopped off the losses incurred by the hospital at its present rates of occupancy.

He also stressed the need of provincial aid for the upkeep of the School of Nursing. A provincial grant of $200 per nursing student would cut operating costs by $20,000 he said.

Urges Co-operation

He urged the co-operation of the medical profession in making use of the hospital's diagnostic and out-patient services "My considered opinion", declared Mr. Marshall, "is that many of our medical men have sought to develop service for private patients through private clinics". Mr. Marshall pointed out that this usually involves investment of considerable money for equipment. This can be avoided he said by using services already available in hospitals.

"Much can be accomplished in this direction in Peterborough of benefit to physicians and all taxpayers of our city if our medical staff and the board of governors would meet and study this problem", said Mr. Marshall.

"A survey of the dietary and housekeeping made by efficiency experts assured us that no economies were possible in these departments without reducing services," Mr. Marshall said. The results did not justify the spending of more money for studies in other departments, he added.

In his report, Treasurer T. T. Rodger said the $3,000 paid to the Montreal firm of business, industrial and management consultants for making the survey, was largely responsible for shoving the expenditures $6,332.06 over the budget estimates.

The report, submitted in November, suggested how $12,240 a year could be saved in the two departments by reducing the standard of services, boosting prescription charges and billing patients for oxygen and between-meal snacks. However, the proposed savings still fell $22,080 short of this $34,320 reduction in operating expenses necessary for the hospital to break even with 62 per cent of the beds occupied.

Not Practical

In the survey report, the firm said it was confident it could find the required economies if it were engaged to survey other departments. However, Mr. Marshall's report indicated that the board of governors did not feel that the suggested economies were advisable or practical and would not be spending any more money on additional surveys of this nature.

The increase in prices accounted for the remainder of the increases over estimated budget expenses, Mr. Rodger said, and patient revenue was $191,569 above that of 1950.

While hospital occupancy is normally subject to variations, Mr. Rodger said that during a ten day period in October it was near

Max Swanston Chairman Hospital Board

Former Mayor Max J. Swanston was elected chairman of the Board of Governors of Peterborough Civic Hospital at the board's annual meeting Thursday night.

Warden Dick Stewart, reeve of Otonabee Township was named vice-chairman T. T. Rodger was re-appointed treasurer and hospital superintendent John Hornal was returned as secretary.

All officers were elected by acclamation.

Mr. Swanston succeeds J. R. Marshall as chairman of the board. Mr. Marshall has served as a governor and chairman of the board of governors since it was first appointed by city council in July, 1945.

MAX J. SWANSTON

Declines Re-election

Mr. Marshall declined to accept re-election when he was nominated after Mayor Hugh Waddell took the chair for the election of officers.

"I appreciate the appointment," said Mr. Marshall. "However, I have served on the board since its inception and the pleasure of the work accomplished is great enough reward for the effort. I feel it would be in the best interests of myself and the hospital to make a change. I would like to suggest ex-mayor Swanston who has served on the board for the last three years as a very capable occupant."

In seconding Mr. Marshall's nomination of Mr. Swanston, Dr. G. S. Cameron said he did not think the accomplishments of the board would have been possible without the "tremendous amount of work Mr. Marshall has given."

Treasurer T. T. Rodger then moved that mention of Mr. Marshall's "very valuable service" be recorded in the minutes. "The city owes Mr. Marshall a tremendous debt for the time and effort he has spent on hospital affairs both in Peterborough and the province," added Mayor Waddell.

Honorary Chairman

On motion of alderman Douglas Miller, Mr. Marshall was appointed honorary chairman of the board of governors.

When Mr. Swanston took over from the acting-chairman Mayor Waddell, he said "It is a great responsibility to follow a man like Mr. Marshall. I would ask the members of the board and the staff, for their co-operation. This hospital belongs to the people of the city and the county. We are their representatives and with their support and everyone connected with the hospital, I think we can carry on."

The chairmen of the different standing committees were then named.

They are: Property and House Committee, V. A. Selkirk, Finance, T. T. Rodger, School of Nursing and Public Relations Committees, Dr. G. S. Cameron.

REVIEW YEAR'S AGTIVITIES — The Y.M.C.A. membership reviewed the 1951 activities in all departments on Thursday night at the annual meeting. Guest speaker for the evening was Dr. R. S. YMCA $2,345 In Red On Activities During 1951

Peterborough's YMCA suffered a net loss of $2,345.91, including an operating loss of $1,265.06, during 1951, according to the financial report presented to the members Thursday night at the annual meeting.

Besides the operating loss the YMCA board had to pay $580.85 for the building fund interest and an additional $500 in payment for the building mortgage principal, bringing the total loss to the $2,345.91 figure.

The largest expenditure was $15,967.99 for administration expenses, closely followed by the operation costs which amounted during the year to $14,964.95. Other items included $4,158.31 for the residence and bowling, $6,114.57 for physical work, $3,464.91 for boys' work and $553.79 for current interest.

The largest source of income was through the various subscriptions which in 1951 amounted to $16,800. The residence and YMCA program brought in $13,117.70 while other receipts were: $8,401.01 from membership fees, $3,247.20 from baths and towels, and $2,393.55 from billiards, bowling and health departments.

Spent on Repairs

A. L. Elliott, board chairman, said in his annual report that in "each of the last three years we incurred substantial expenditures in making necessary repairs to our building and plant."

He added, "Most of these will not be of the recurring nature".

P. M. McCarrell, chairman of the boys' department committee said that the membership in 1951 showed increases in all groups and classes. The pioneer, juvenile, intermediate, rural and employed and senior collegiate groups totalled 425 members as compared with 328 in 1950, 362 in 1949 and 374 in 1948.

He touched briefly on the other groups and work such as the Hi-Y clubs, the Fun and Friendship club, the Dad-Lad swims, the visits from Lakefield and Lindsay boys, learn-to-dance classes, parent contacts and interviews

Enjoyment, new skills and camping satisfaction from the boys' stand-point, good supervi-

6 Churches Hold Special Services

Memorial services for King George VI will be held next Friday in six city churches. These are under the auspices of the Peterborough Ministerial Association.

The Rev. C. G. Boyd, president of the association, said today the hour had not been definitely set for five of the churches. It will depend on whether city industry is operating next Friday, the day of the King's funeral.

If industrial plants are working, all the services but one will be held at 8 p.m.; if not, they are set for 11 a.m. The service at All Saints' Anglican Church will be held at 11 a.m.

Time On Tuesday

Announcement will be made, probably on Tuesday, setting definitely the hour of service.

The five other churches at which memorial services will be held are: George Street United, Murray Street Baptist, St. Paul's Presbyterian, Knox United, and Trinity United.

Roman Catholic churches in the city will observe the day of the King's funeral with special services. His Excellency Bishop Gerald Berry has announced no further plans for services.

BLOOD DONORS Urgently Needed

By Peterborough Red Cross Voluntary Blood Donor Service

Since 1942 all blood used in the two Peterborough Hospitals has been contributed by Red Cross blood donors, and all patients needing blood have received it FREE OF CHARGE as a result.

In 1942, 100 donations were used in both hospitals. In 1951, 2,050 donations were required.

This increase is due to:

(1) Greater knowlege of the value of blood in medical practice.

(2) Increased capacity of both hospitals and better facilities for doing major surgery.

(3) The realization that the use of blood increases speed of recovery and lessens the danger of complications.

This service in 1951 saved the citizens of this district over $41,000.00.

To keep this service in operation, more donors are needed.

Norwood School Budget $62,721 Approved By Board

HAVELOCK, Feb. 8—(ENS)—Board on Monday night adopted the 1952 budget as brought in by The Norwood District High School trustee B. C. Haryett, chairman of Finance committee. The budget totals $62,721. It is expected grants will amount to $32,000, and with a bank balance of $7,308.99 and Dummer pupils fees $1412.73, there will be $22,000 needed to be raised by the district taxpayers.

Mr. Haryett stressed the fact that the Board for the past three years had operated the Norwood and Havelock High Schools at no increase in the tax rate. The amount raised each year was $12,000 but now maintenance costs in all lines had greatly increased and in order to obtain a competent staff, provide transportation, etc., an increase in budget has been found necessary. The requisition for this year covers the operation of two old schools for six months and the new school for four months.

Debenture Sales

Mr. Haryett informed the Board a statement would be coming from the county on debenture sales, expenses, etc., and understood that the amount to be paid would be, principal $12,431.70; interest $17,550; total $29,981.70.

Assuming that the Department will pay 75 per cent on $360,000, it will mean that approximately $9,225 must be raised yearly by the district. The percentages will be as follows: Asphodel 29.13; Belmont 17:41; Dummer 07.77; Hastings 08.21; Havelock 11.39; Norwood 10.45; Otonabee 13.30; Percy S.S. No. 9 02.34.

Principal S. S. Breckon of Norwood High School reported on attendance of 128 there was an average of 112. A grant of $50 was made to the Norwood Literary Society for P.T. suits and $37.50 for auxiliary purposes for the same society.

Division of Property

The Board received a report from the secretary on a visit to the Department of Education, Toronto, regarding grants and distribution of school board properties as between the public and high school boards and arranged for a meeting at the call of the chair to discuss the matter with the Public School Board prior to appealing to the Norwood village council to make a division.

The secretary-treasurer was instructed to make adjustment in Mr. Roy Nevins bus mileage. Reports were received from trustees Walsh and Hamblin on the purchasing of new equipment and advertising for three extra teachers for the new school. Mr. Walsh felt that extra remuneration should be allowed to cover costs, mileage and time put in by the purchasing committee, besides the ordinary trustee allowance for attending regular meetings.

The following communications were received: (1) From Mrs. Mainland, Norwood, informing the Board that her son Clarence would be attending collegiate in Peterborough, Feb. 1, to take an industrial course; (2) From the Department of Education, Toronto, informing the Board, that as the County of Peterborough issued the debenture, that it will inform each municipality concerned as to the amount the municipal council will levy for that purpose. The money raised for the debenture will be paid to the county treasurer who will pay the debenture installment. The grant will be paid to the Board on the debenture, who can either pay to the county treasurer or notify the treasurer to credit each council accordingly; (4) From F. S. Crate, clerk and treasurer of Hastings village informing the Board that equalized assessment as set by the Counties Council for Hastings is $334,000.

Current accounts to the amount of $5,500 were paid for the month of January.

Keith Ross of RR No. 1, Norwood, appointed representative for that portion of Dummer township established in the Norwood H.S. District by the Peterborough County Council, January 1, 1952, was welcomed to the Board. All the members were present except Trustees Fred Richardson and Ernest N. McDonald.

FIRST SOLDIER swears allegiance to the Queen. James Ervin Lloyd of Carleton Place, Ont., was the first recruit enlisted by the army at the recruiting depot in Ottawa to take the oath of allegiance to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II following the death of King George VI. Pte. Lloyd is shown above taking the oath as Capt. Bob Stewart of Ottawa swears him in. Pte. Lloyd has volunteered for the 3rd Battalion of the P.P.C.L.I. and hopes to go to Korea. His brother, who is a paratrooper in the Canadian Army, has only recently returned from the Far East where he served with the 2nd Battalion of the P.P.C.L.I.—(National Defence Photo).

Rotation Plan To Resume In Late March

OTTAWA, Feb. 8. (CP)—The rotation plan for 25th Brigade units in Korea will swing back into stride next month, the army announced Thursday. It should be completed by the end of June.

The system started last fall when the 1st Battalion of the PPCLI replaced the 2nd Battalion, Canada's originals in Korea.

The rotation plan calls for return to Canada of all soldiers who have served for 12 months in the Far East. Soldiers in the units slated for replacement who are ineligible, by virtue of their service, will be returned on a man-for-man basis on completion of 12 months overseas.

The 2nd Battalions of the Royal Canadian Regiment and the Royal 22nd Regiment are to be replaced by the 1st Battalions of the same units. This changeover, starting in late March, will be carried out on a company group basis and is expected to be completed during May.

Will Be Relieved

The 57th Field Squadron, RCE, 54th Transport Company, RCASC, and 25th Field Ambulance, RCAMC, will be relieved in the same manner. Other personnel of these corps together with such services as the Electrical and Mechanical Engineers, Signals and the Ordnance Corps will be rotated on a man-for-man basis.

"C" Squadron of Lord Strathcona's Horse, the only Canadian armored unit in the Far East, is to be rotated in June and will be replaced by another squadron of the Strathconas from Calgary.

April, May and June will be big months for the gunners. During these months, batteries of the 2nd RCHA will embark for home from Korea and will be replaced by bateries of the 1st RCHA.

The rotation timetable has staggered the times of arrival and departure so that the experience of the seasoned troops can be passed to the replacing units.

Six Nations Entered Planes In 10,500-Mile Air Race

By ERIC BENTON

WELLINGTON, NZ, Feb. 8.—(AP)—With the event still more than 18 months away, New Zealand is well pleased with the interest being shown in the biggest international air race since 1934.

Half-a-dozen countries already have indicated they will be out to win the England-Christchurch, N.Z., race, tentatively set for Oct. 10, 1953. There is speculation that the race—about 10,500 miles in a straight line—will be over in 24 hours if air refuelling can be arranged.

It will be the first big international air event since the Mac-Robertson air trophy race in 1934 from London to Melbourne. That race was won in 71 hours. Commercial planes have covered the distance hours faster since then.

The race will carry £30,000 prize money, but competitors will be out for more than straight cash. The real prizes are prestige and an idea of what planes can do. There will be speed and handicap sections. One-third of the total prize will go to competitors in each of these sections. The rest will go to the "also-flew."

Solid Entry

Countries that have indicated they will compete are the United States, Britain, France, Holland, Australia and New Zealand. Soviet Russia also may be a starter. Canada has been approached, but with the closing date for entries still a year away, has not yet made up its mind.

Already there are 15 probable starters. At least a dozen others are considering entering.

Those who have made provisional entries are: The Armstrong Whitworth Company of Britain (probably with an Apollo four-engined turbo-jet airliner); British European Airways; British Overseas Airways Corporation (probably with a Comet jet airliner); Jim Moillison, U.S. Air Force; U.S. Navy; Paul Mantz (Hollywood stunt pilot); George Schwimmer (of Continental Air Lines of America); Miss Jackie Cochrane and Mrs. Diana Bixby (both of the U.S.); and two aircraft from the Dutch airline, K.L.M.

Other possible starters include Pan-American World Airways, already running a service to New Zealand, Trans-World Airways of the U.S., and a French company.

Hume Christie, one of the organizers of the race, said Britain is still toying with the idea of entering the giant Brabagon and the Princess flying boat, the largest in the world.

World's Airplane Needs Key To Canada's Production

OTTAWA. — (CP) — E. V. Rippingille, Jr., Canada's new aircraft production chief, is piloting his production ship with one eye cocked for the Korean battlefront and the other on possible world markets for Canadian planes.

The Brooklyn, NY, man who became one of North America's master engineers, looks to Korea for the modifications fighter aircraft need to keep on top of the enemy. He looks to world demand to gauge Canada's production.

The 41-year-old president of General Motors Diesel Ltd., London, Ont., loaned to handle the three-year, billion-dollar production program, has entered on his new job with no illusions.

"Canada's own aircraft needs are educational orders—to provide knowledge and facilities for rapid expansion and production in the event of an emergency."

He has described Canada's military aircraft output as a "low rate" of production, but sufficient to keep abreast of Canadian demand, and demand for some types of Canadian aircraft from the United States as well.

Eventually, there may be bids for Canadian planes by other North Atlantic countries, but until that demand shows up, the full capacity will not be fully utilized.

"Our goal is not bulk production unless there is need," said the director, who still keeps his finger on his diesel plant at London. "You don't produce more than you need—no matter what you are building."

But even what Canada is producing, though relatively small in volume, is bringing out the kind of engineering and construction headaches which, by learning to overcome, will give Canada a head start in the event of full production.

"There is a tremendous experimental operation going on in Korea," said Mr. Rippingille. "Sometimes it shows that changes in design have to be made. That creates bottlenecks and slows up production."

Canada's CF-100 jet fighter aircraft is an example. It is constantly undergoing change—in electronics, radar equipment and the like. That is slowing up output. It takes as much time to complete modifications as it does actual assembly-line production.

But bottlenecks and structural changes and flaws and gripes are old stories to the production chief. During the second world war, he mass-produced in the United States a new-type of diesel engine that was as complicated and as difficult to construct as any in the world. Hundreds of them were used in sub-chasers to crack the enemy's under-water attack. He earned American industry's praise for a job well done.

Production in Canada is going ahead. She is producing jet fighter Sabres, Beaver transport planes for herself and for the United States and other countries. She will be producing jet trainers for the RCAF and T-36 Beechcraft for the US forces. She is busy reconditioning Second World War aircraft and generally keeping the aircraft industry busy.

Artificial Ice Boom

HALIFAX (CP)—Mild weather and increasing popularity of artificial ice are blamed for a severe decline in sale of natural ice, once a flourishing business in Halifax county. Ice harvest from the lakes at one time was more than 50,000 tons each winter, but now is below 18,000 tons.

Deer Haven

BRIDGEWATER, NS (CP) — Those who think deer are getting scarcer in Nova Scotia should have seen the two deer swimming across the LeHave river one day recently. Blake Fraser, a blacksmith, has been feeding deer during recent snowstorms and says they are fond of green cabbage leaves and other vegetables.

Schools Urged To Teach Car Driving To Students

Teaching children to drive in school was advocated Thursday night by Inspector Vernon H. Page, director of traffic for the Toronto police.

Last year, said Inspector Page, teenagers were in twice the number of accidents as any other group.

"The answer is driver training in the schools under competent instructors."

Inspector Page was guest speaker at the annual meeting of the Peterborough Automobile Club that was held Thursday night in the Empress hotel. About 130 club members and guests were present.

Stan Darling, 1951 president, also wanted car driving instruction in schools. He said 'teenagers and young drivers are responsible for most of the traffic accidents these days and some sort of course is needed here to combat that trend.

Tests For Alcohol

Inspector Page also advocated legislation that would permit the ponce to take chemical tests to determine the amount of alcohol in the system of a suspected drunken driver.

Many magistrates and judges will not find the police evidence conclusive unless the suspect was observed to be "staggering all over." Yet many drivers who appear sober are unfit to drive.

To combat difficulty in convicting these drivers, the minor charge of "driving while the faculties are impaired by alcohol" was introduced.

The next step in the crackdown is the chemical test to determine sobriety, he said.

"We know that alcohol has found a place in our social structure," said Inspector Page. "It is here to stay. But the place for its use is not when the person is behind the wheel of a motor vehicle. Too many people think they can both drive and drink."

Prediction of Death

Inspector Page made a prediction, based on statistics:

In 1952 more than 1,000 people will be killed on Ontario roads and highways. It will surpass the record of 945 fatalities in 1951.

"There is something wrong with us—individuals and governments—if we can forecast that 1,000 people will be slaughtered in 1952 and yet do nothing about it."

"We are up against an apathetic state of mind," said Inspector Page. "The public read of a fatal accident in the paper, or hear of it on the radio, and then pay no more attention. They think it could only happen to the other fellow."

In the years 1939-45 there were 17,000 traffic casualties in Canada, nearly twice as many as were casualties in the war.

"That's why the motor car has been named the 'atom bomb on wheels'," said the inspector.

Three other safety hints:

Safety Margin

Maintain a "safety margin." That is, keep one car-length in distance from the car ahead for every ten miles an hour you are travelling. This will allow you to stop in time if the driver ahead brakes suddenly. Police records show that three quarters of the accidents on the Queen Elizabeth highway are rear end collisions.

Don't drive by habit and assert your right of way. Every intersection is an area of potential danger.

Drive at 15 miles an hour past schools, parks and playgrounds. That is where children are most likely to be playing, and children are the ones who dart out suddenly onto the road making sudden stops necessary.

If the present trend of accidents continues, said Inspector Page, one out of every two people now living will sooner or later be involved.

The answer is not just better roads or vehicles of better mechanical efficiency, but "care, courtesy and commonsense on the part of drivers and pedestrians."

Inspector Page was introduced by Jack Lewis and thanked by James Lillico. Mr. Darling was in the chair.

Licence Revoked Drove Away Man Fined $60

Lyle E. Whitney, Havelock was fined $60 and $2.50 costs or three months in jail Thursday when he pleaded guilty in police court to driving while his licence was under suspension,

OPP constable Donald W. Erskine of Campbellford said he received a suspension order on Whitney's licence in December as the result of a careless driving conviction. When he picked up Whitney's licence, constable Erskine said he warned Whitney not to drive a car.

On February 5, constable Erskine said he apprehended Whitney while driving a car belonging to Mrs. Eulalie MacNeil, also of Havelock, on Highway 7.

Mrs. MacNeill also appeared in court Thursday and pleaded guilty to allowing Whitney to drive her car, knowing his licence was under suspension. She was fined $15 and $2.50 costs.

Robert Carley appeared for both Whitney and Mrs. MacNeill and requested leniency because Whitney was taking steps through a Peterborough insurance company to get his licence back. Mr. Carley said that Whitney pleaded guilty to the careless driving charge in writing and said the fine should be the minimum.

Defiance

Answering Mr. Carley's argument that the charge should have been laid under the Highway Traffic Act not under the Criminal Code which provides stiffer penalties, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said, "The accused's attitude has been one of defiance and that is why the more serious charge was laid."

"It is difficult to understand how a man would make such a foolish and unnecessary mistake," said Magistrate W. R. Philp in fining Whitney. He pointed out that the Criminal Code provides for a fine of up to $500 and a jail term not exceeding six months for anyone convicted of driving while their licence is suspended.

Three Repeaters Fined On Liquor Charges

Three men pleaded guilty to drunk charges in Police Court today.

Milton Bernard, R.R. 10, Peterborough, and Thomas Spencer, Warsaw, pleaded guilty to being intoxicated in a public place, and were fined $50, and $2.50 costs. Both admitted prior convictions on drunk charges.

Michael Hynes, Scarboro, pleaded guilty to being drunk in a public place and admitted being convicted of drunkenness on two other occasions. eH was sentenced to four months in Ontario Reformatory.

Magistrate W. R. Philp told Hynes he would recommend that he be sent to Mimico for alcoholic treatment.

Gordon Lee hit a 323 single this week for men in the Mercantile Bowling League at Duffus, as Don Riggs led in threes with 780. Mae Willshaw's 260 was high single for girls, and Marg Widdis topped them in crosses with 633. Prudential rolled best pinnage for teams with a 2942 mark.

Austin's blanked Bond's, Crowe's whitewashed Neill's, Prudential won 3-1 over Braund's No. 2, Loblaw's broke even with Braund's No. 1, and A & P split points with Utilities in some keen trundling competition in this circuit.

Orangemen Elect R. Langley County Master

Loyal Orange County Lodge of Peterborough West, held its annual meeting and election of officers Tuesday.

The following members were elected to office for the coming year:

County master, Wor. Bro. R. Langley; deputy county master, Wor. Bro. H. Stinson; chaplain, Wor. Bro. H. Oliver; recording secretary, Bro. P. D. Howden; financial secretary and treasurer, Bro. R. Hutton; county marshal, Bro. J. Brown; first lecturer, Bro. George Fowler; second lecturer, Bro. J. Grattan.

Retiring county master Gordon Trenum spoke on the need for unity and strength in these troublesome times, and extended congratulations and best wishes to the new county master and his officers.

The election of officers was conducted by Wor. M. Brown, deputy grand lecturer, Grand Lodge, Ontario East, and the installations were conducted by Wor. Bro. E. F. Reid, past grand master, Grand Lodge, Ontario East.

Wor. Bro. E. F. Reid presented to the retiring county master, Wor. Bro. G. Trennum, the past master's jewel, with a few well-chosen remarks.

On motion by Bro. P. Lowes it was passed that this county would join with the Port Hope lodges to celebrate the 12th of July this year.

Australia Proclaims Elizabeth II Queen

CANBERRA, Feb. 8 (AP). — Governor - General Sir William McKell proclaimed Elizabeth II Queen of Australia today.

Standing in the rain on the steps of Parliament House, he read the document to 800 schoolchildren, a few tourists and a group of civil servants.

His proclamation announced that Elizabeth II is "Queen of this realm and of all her other realms and territories, head of the Commonwealth, defender of the faith, supreme liege lady in and over the Commonwealth of Australia to whom her lieges do acknowledge all faith and constant obedience."

With exception of the specific mention of Australia, it was similar to other declarations of loyalty read in other British countries.

Canada and South Africa already had declared their allegiance to the new monarch.

Miss Sarah Bradshaw

BANCROFT, Feb. 8 (ENS) — The funeral of Miss Sarah Isabel Bradshaw of Detlor was held from Egan Creek Church, Detlor, on Monday afternoon, with the Rev. Walter F. Smith of St. John's Anglican Church, Bancroft, officiating. Interment was in the adjoining Anglican cemetery.

Miss Bradshaw, who was 83, died Feb. 1 in Bancroft Red Cross Hospital. She was the daughter of the late Nelson Bradshaw and Almedia Seagran. Born in Madoc township, she had resided in this locality for 72 years.

Surviving is one sister, Miss Alice M. Bradshaw of Detlor; two nephews, Arnold and Burrell Bradshaw of Detlor and a niece Mrs. Russell Whyte, Kelta, of Eldorado.

Pallbearers were: Fred Childs, Oscar White, Lorne Thompson, Gerald Turriff, Archibald Scott and John McLean.

Producer Divorced

BURBANK, Calif., Feb. 8 (AP) —Movie producer Joe Pasternak, 48, was divorced Thursday by former actress Dorothy Darrell, whom he wed 10 years ago. She charged cruelty. The couple were married in 1942.

Man And Wife Charged With Perjury

Cyril Anderson, and his wife Margaret, 84½ Douro St., were remanded on bail of $2,500 each until February 14 when they appeared in police court Thursday charged with perjury.

Anderson and his wife are charged with misleading the court by swearing they had not seen a crown witness, Peter McNeely for two months before he gave testimony in a bootlegging charge against Anderson January 30.

Both McNeely and his wife testified they visited Anderson's home January 11 and purchased wine from him at $2 a bottle. They also said they had purchased wine from Anderson at his home earlier the same week.

After reserving judgment for a week, Magistrate W. R. Philp dismissed the bootlegging charge Thursday morning. Shortly afterwards, perjury charges were laid against Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and they were arrested at their home.

The Crimnal Code provides a penalty of up to 14 years in prison for conviction on a perjury charge.

Sportsmen Plan Annual Show

Committee executive of the Peterborough Sportsmen's Show, Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association, met in the Chamber of Commerce board room on Thursday evening to lay plans for their annual show on May 1, 2 and 3.

It is reported that there will be newer and more attractive displays; a colorful wildlife exhibit and a large display of bird houses now being built by all Peterborough troops of the Boy Scouts to compete for a trophy awarded by the P.F.G.P.A. Exhibitors are already requesting space for boat displays. There will be demonstrations of casting, boat handling and a horseshoe pitching contest.

The stage show program will include paid acts from Toronto and square and round dancing each evening of the show.

Bancroft Boys Win

BANCROFT, Feb. 8 (ENS) — Bancroft won the first of the semi-final series of the West Hastings-Lennox Juvenile Hockey League when they took Tweed by a score of 6 to 5 in the local arena on Wednesday night.

This win gives the Timbermen a one-goal edge when they play in Madoc. The winner plays Madoc for the league championship and the right to proceed farther in OMHA playdowns.

Ross Severin, with four counters to his credit, was the big noise for Bancroft. Going both ways Ross was in on every play. His linemate, Wayne Coe, picked up the other two.

Just a few fans saw the game, as there were too many counter attractions in the village on Wednesday. Things started off rather badly as the players of both teams began to argue with the referee over every trivial incident. However Referee Neuman got things under control in the second and third and the boys' tempers cooled as the evening progressed.

Lineups:

Bancroft Timbermen: Goal, Andrews; defence, Bruce and Adams; centre, Severin; wings, Coe and Vance; alts., Jackson, J. Martin, Gaebel, Griggs, Parnell, D. Martin, Jeff, Wiggins, Landon. Mgr.-Coach, J. Stuckey.

Tweed—Goal, P. Lesage; defence, Levack and Moon; centre, Feeney; wings, McMillan and Fisher; alts., P. Lesage, Drawley, Larkin, Mulroney, Whelan, Countryman, Hunter; Mgr.-Coach, E. Clark.

Referee—H. Neuman of Bancroft; linesman, G. Whyte of L'Amable.

Timers—Levack of Tweed and Severin of Bancroft.

Housebreaking Charge

TORONTO, Feb. 8 (CP)—Bernard Haggerty, 31, of Windsor, and John Fox, 24, of Georgetown, Thursday night were charged with housebreaking. Police in suburban Forest Hill village said they found two fur coats and other articles in their possession.

New Generation Need Conception Of God-Hosking

A conception of God is the greatest need of the rising generation, Dr. R. S. Hosking told the annual meting of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. Thursday night.

Dr. Hosking, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A.'s national council, said that for too many people, "science is the be-all and end-all. Our civilization is sounder on the technical side than on the religious side."

At the same time, Dr. Hosking scored what he called the scientific trend in education, the completely secular approach. He deplored "the new theory of education which says that science can answer every question life brings."

Science can only explain so much, he said, it is silent on the beginning of things.

Must Be Afraid

He asked his audience to "think of youth in a world of terrifying forces, bitter hatreds and suspicions." Young people must be afraid, he said, but should remember the words of Elisha: "They that be with us are more than they that be with them."

In the fight against communism, he said "we will have trouble . . but there are . . spiritual forces on our side. I'm not afraid of communism. I don't believe that this is Joseph Stalin's world. I believe that this is God's world.

"Don't let us take counsel of our fears in this situation.

Of work in the Y.M.C.A., Dr. Hosking admonished his audience to "be consecrated to it. Let us be zealous in our work."

The Y had been accused of not being Christian. Some people claimed that the work was not being done in a Christian way. "We can't carry out the sacraments of the church," said Dr. Hosking, "but we can try to build Christian character."

"In the Y.M.C.A., a boy can learn humility, self-sacrifice and self-discipline; the church tries to inculcate these things in one way, we try to do it another," he said.

Dr. Hosking was introduced by P. M. McCarrell and thanked by Bud Foster. The annual meeting was held at the Y's Men's Club monthly dinner in the Y dining room.

Monarchs For 192 Years Been Buried At Windsor

WINDSOR, England, Feb. 8 — (Reuters)—Every British Monarch for the last 192 years has been buried at Windsor, where the late King George VI will be laid to rest in a solemn traditional ceremony Feb. 15.

All except Queen Victoria lie in the royal vault beneath St. George's chapel in the precincts of Windsor castle. Queen Victoria is buried a short distance away at Frogmore, where a royal mausoleum was built for her husband, the prince consort.

Windsor Castle stands atop a hill on the banks of the Thames river in the county of Berkshire, 21 miles west of London. It is a small parish of less than 9,000 inhabitants dominated by the castle, which stands on a lofty chalk hill overhandging a bend in the river.

The old walls of the castle enshrine the story of England from the days of the Saxon kings. Nearly 2,000 years ago Roman legionaries were garrisoned at Windsor.

One of Chief Residences

The castle has been for 850 years one of the chief residences of the sovereigns of Britain.

In 1928 King George V had a new royal burial ground consecrated behind the royal mausoleum at Frogmore and gave orders that in future only sovereigns and those in direct line of succession should be interred in the royal vault below St. George's chapel, which was becoming overcrowded.

At the funeral of King George V seats were provided for 1,100 persons and more than 30,000 later visited the castle to see the wreaths.

To this chapel of "becoming splendor" the king's body will be brought.

Piped Ashore

If tradition is followed, his body will be "piped ashore" by sailors of the Royal Navy—Britain's senior service—as it is carried from the gun-carriage to the chapel entrance.

Ratings will sound "Admiral Alongside" on their shrill whistles —bosun's pipes or calls—as the coffin is placed on the gun-carriage from the special train which will carry it from London.

The funeral service will follow the simple rite of the Church of England, and the new Queen may scatter ashes on her father's grave as the Archbishop of Canterbury pronounces the words of the committal: "... Earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust."

The coffin will be lowered to a depth of about four feet below the floor of the chapel and remain there until all the members of the congregation have gazed upon it for the last time

When the chapel is deserted, the coffin will be removed to a trolley and conveyed to the royal vault.

In the past, mourners could visit the vault after the ceremony, but the Duke of Windsor—then King Edward VIII—ended the custom at the funeral of his father, King George V.

Finally Gets Pay

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Feb. 8. (AP) — Jess (Payless) Doan's 15-month wait for his army pay cheque is over. The payless private, home on rotation leave five months, said Thursday he had received a cheque for $625.85, the first pay from the army since his unit left Sasebo, Japan, for the Korean front in November, 1950. The remittance was in the mails within hours after a newspaper account of the financial difficulties of "the army's poorest private" appeared on the streets in Washington.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every-day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Knox WMS Aux. To Organize For Campaign

Afternoon Auxiliary of the W.M.S. of Knox Church met in the church parlors Wednesday with 27 ladies attending. President, Mrs. Howard Clegg was in the chair and Mrs. Harold Lewis was pianist.

In recognition of the national bereavement by the death of King George VI, a period of soft music, followed by a minute of silence and prayer by Miss Susan Summers took place.

Mrs. Ernest Mesley, secretary, read a letter from the Church of All Nations, Toronto, thanking the ladies for their generous bale of Christmas gifts for the children. She also read a circular letter outlining the Training School Campaign to begin March 1. Organizational work for this campaign will be done by the leaders of the women's organizations of the church, called together by the minister. The allocation for the Peterborough presbytery is $7,410. This figure represents 22½ per cent of Missionary and Maintenance and all Missionary givings. The secretary read a letter from Mrs. F. Milburn requesting contributions for a bale and it was moved by Miss Summers and Mrs. Lewis that the contributions be made. Mrs. Joe Lancashire and Mrs. Madge Lindsay were appointed to be the nominating committee.

Depots for the paper collection on March 4th are at the homes of Mrs. John Allen, 215 Reid St., Mrs. Roy Laing, 276 John St., Mrs. Harold Lewis, 556 Aylmer St., Mrs. F. Milburn, 274 Sherbrooke St.

The World Day of Prayer observance will be at Knox church Friday, February 29th. Delegates to the annual presbyterial meeting, Mrs. Milburn and Mrs. Dawson Gourley, reported for the morning and afternoon session. Mrs. Harry Williamson, assisted by Mrs. Lewis, conducted the worship service. Mrs. Gourley, assisted by Mrs. Mesley, Mrs. R. Goodfellow and Mrs. Lewis, presented the 13th chapter of the study book, "French Canadian Evangelism." Mrs. Williamson read scripture from Ephesians as a benediction to close the meeting.

ANCHORS AWEIGH—A double serving of sailors. Left, a rough brown imported straw, first layer lies flat as a pancake while the second layer is fluted. A blue and white grosgrain ribbon circles the crown, unfurls two blue tassels at one side. Right, a youthful sailor, in rough honey straw. Red and white grosgrain tubing circles the crown, loops then tuck into the facing of the hat. White grosgrain ribbon, which faces the outer edge of the under brim, is piped in red grosgrain.

Innovations Stir Sophisticated Balmain Line

PARIS, Feb. 8 (Reuters)—Twin keynotes of restraint and sophistication make the spring and summer fashions of Pierre Balmain the finest of his ingenious career.

Restraint does not mean that originality has gone by the boards—his classic models are shot through with sparkling innovations.

Persian lamb in shades of bright pink and yellow, "jaguar-feathered" hat and "morning glory" minks created an enthusiastic stir at the first showing of his newest models.

Slim skirts with short jackets and small basques or folded peplum effects, setting off arched hiplines, were the feature of both suits and two-piece ensembles for day wear.

Jackets are high-buttoned and short, rounded revers are sparked with narrow piping which Balmain calls " filigraine."

"Sunrays" is the theme of the collection. Sunray schirring appears in the back beneath low-set yoke or stole effects.

Some are worked like capes, while others feature loose classic coat effects in front. They are either short or long and suitable to street wear right through the champagne hour.

The jaguar, formerly disguised as leopard, makes its official debut on the fashion scene in a series of coats and stoles. Its markings are indicated with feathers on the brims of large hats.

Victorian bustles looped over hips, tight-fitted corselet bodices laced up the back and directoire-striped organzas set the keynote of the evening scene.

MRS. IRENE IRWIN CLARKE, of Toronto, who will address the Women's University Club on Monday evening, February 11th, on the conference at Oosterbeek, Holland, where she went as the Canadian delegate to the council meeting of the International Federation of University Women. Mrs. Clarke entered the University with five scholarships and graduated with master of arts degree. She is now convener of the committee on the legal and economic Status of Women for the Canadian Federation of University Women and she is vice president of the Clarke, Irwin Publishing Company.

Ohio Woman Suggests Way To Improve Fall Fairs

TORONTO, Feb. 8.—Ways and means of improving fall fairs, repeatedly referred to as the "show windows" of the communities in which they are held, were discussed at yesterday's meeting of the Women's Division of the Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies in the King Edward Hotel.

Mrs. W. A. Hume of Campbellford presided at the meeting, attended by about 300 women from all parts of the province. Reference was made by speakers to the growth of the women's division, which began 16 years ago with three members.

"We in Ohio are not organized as you are—I just wish we could bring some of our men to this meeting and let them see what you people in Ontario are doing," said Mrs. D. B. Phillips of Cincinnati, member of the home department of Ohio Fairs.

Brings Suggestions

From her wide experience in this work, Mrs. Phillips gave some valuable suggestions on improving the annual fall fairs. An exhibit of antiques and demonstrations of the old-fashioned and modern kitchens were among the suggestions. One exhibit of antiques at a fair at which she judged was so popular with the crowds that the protecting barriers around it had been broken down, she said.

A doll collection was another suggestion. At one of the fairs in which she was interested recently 252 dolls had been shown. Inclusion of hobbies in which members of the community happened to be interested at the time was also suggested.

"In making classes for your fair try to include exhibits of interest to the whole community," she said. "And don't be afraid to give expression to a new idea."

Are Educational

Fairs and exhibitions are primarily educational institutions, said Mrs. Hume. "They were founded well over 150 years ago with that end in view, and have since been developed, keeping progress with the age."

Fairs are one of the best means of keeping people, and especially young people, interested in the rural community, she said.

Junior farmers are making an outstanding contribution to agriculture and the maintenance and development of fall fairs, said Miss Eleanor Syracuse of Waterford, reporting on junior activities.

Besides programs and projects carried out by the 325 local and county organizations, there are a number of programs sponsored by the Junior Farmers' Association of Ontario for its 12,000 members, she said.

Recognized J.F.A.O.

The J.F.A.O. received international recognition, she said. With the co-operation of the Department of Agriculture, young farmers of the Scottish and English associations had been entertained here and four Ontario young people spent six weeks in Britain. Exchange was also effected between the province of Alberta and the U.S. young farmers and those of Ontario.

Under her subject, Your Fair and Food Displays, Miss Ruth Rorke of the Agricultural School, Kemptville, gave some valuable advice on displays. The right and the wrong ways of exhibiting flowers were discussed and illustrated by John Bradshaw, horticultural judge.

The scripture selection was read by Mrs. Samuel Agnew, and a poem "The New Canadian" was read by Mrs. George Hewitt. Dedication of the offering was made by Miss Ethel Menzies. A discussion on Immigration and Prejudice was lead by Mrs. George Hewitt and a questionnaire was conducted on the work of the United Church for the welfare of newcomers to Canada with Mrs. Earl Ephgrave, Mrs. Heuston McCormack, Miss Ethel Menzies, and Mrs. Sam Agnew taking part.

Letters were read and pictures shown from Miss Constance Wagar, a member, who is a missionary in Trinidad. A social hour followed with refreshments served by Miss Langton and Miss Menzies. March meeting will be held at the home of Miss Jean Hammond, 581 Gilmour St.

National Council Labor Study To Go To Ottawa

TORONTO, Feb. 8—The older women in employment was the subject of discussion at Thursday's session of the executive meeting of the National Council of Women at Toronto.

It was decided to send to the deputy minister of labor, at his request, a report of a study now being carried on by the trades and professions committee of the national council. The meeting also recommended that careful study be given to the possibility of raising the retirement age of women. Training and retraining of the older worker and new legislation on equal pay for equal work, were discussed.

President Mrs. A. Turner Bone Montreal, who is an alternate for Mrs. R. J. Marshall, former council president, on the manpower commission, reminded that a survey conducted by the commission on the women power of Canada for employment purposes in cases of an emergency period had revealed that the "No. 1 reserve is among women of the age group 45 to 64."

An interim report of the thrift campaign was given. Mrs. Turner Bone said that the council had won "favorable comment across the country from government officials, banks, and newspaper editors for its efforts to combat inflation by restrained spending on consumer goods."

A telegram was sent from the meeting to Lady Alexander expressing regret at her departure from Canada with her husband and asking her to accept an honorary life membership in the National Council of Women.

Interim plans were made for the NCW annual meeting, to be held in Toronto, at Whitney Hall, June 9 to 14.

BRIDGENORTH

C.G.I.T. girls of Bridgenorth Thursday evening entertained their mothers at a banquet held in the basement of the United Church. About 40 were present. Mrs. Ken Hook, C.G.I.T. leader, welcomed the gathering and opened with singing "God Save the Queen," followed with two minutes' silence. Prayer for the late King was led by the Rev. D. P. Morris.

The girls took charge of the entire program, Ruth Phillips, Laurie Mann and Marjorie Forsythe looking after decorating and banquet tables. Community singing of favorite songs and a few games were followed by presentation of a gift to the recently retired leader, Mrs. Bruce Patterson. Beryl Nichols gave a lovely presentation address and Mrs. Patterson responded by thanking the girls for their efforts in the past year and expressing appreciation to Mrs. Hook for taking over leadership so splendidly.

Betty Dalton gave a short talk on last year's C.G.I.T. camp.

GEORGE ST.

The three C.G.I.T. groups of George St. were together Thursday evening at a supper meeting, held by candlelight in the newly decorated Sunday school room. Mrs. C. E. Potts led the girls in hearty singing while the other leaders, Mrs. Leo Copp, Miss Beryl Hart and Mrs. W. J. Armstrong, assisted by Mrs. Tinney and the Misses T. and A. Allen, attended to serving the 28 girls.

The hearty repast was climaxed by a surprise of ice cream and birthday cake donated by some of their "mystery" mothers. As the member whose birthday is on February 7 was absent from the city, the girls with February birthdays, Joan Weir and Eileen Armstrong, were asked to stand while the others sang "Happy Birthday."

When the girls had cleared the tables, they formed a semi-circle around a worship centre that had been suitably arranged as a tribute to the late beloved King George VI and the adorable new Queen Elizabeth II. The 21st Psalm was read by Evamary Redout and special tributes read by Nora McKinney and Joan Weir were followed by the hymn "He Liveth Long Who Liveth Well." Marion Outram read the Canadian proclamation to the new Queen and the girls sang "God Save the Queen," followed by the Lord's Prayer. Ruth Brown was the pianist.

After the service most of the girls went to Inverlea rink to conclude the evening with a jolly skating party.

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL

Founder night was the theme of a most interesting meeting held Tuesday evening at Confederation School under convenership of Mrs. J. Branson. This event is celebrated annually by the Home and School Association commemorating the founding, by Mrs. A. C. Courtice of this organization.

Mrs. L. Monk was in the chair. Secretary Mrs. C. Porter read the minutes. The treasurer's report given by acting treasurer Mrs. W. Thompson confirmed the fact that fun night was financially successful.

Mrs. Monk announced that the next Parent Education meeting will be held Tuesday, Feb. 12, at the home of Mrs. W. White, 492 Braidwood Ave. Health convener Mrs. J. Grierson gave a paper outlining the important factors that make up good health habits of children.

A detailed report of Fun Night was given by Mrs. D. H. Wood, who expressed appreciation to all who helped towards the success of this event resulting in the purchasing of a motion picture projection screen for use of the pupils and staff of the school. Mrs. Wood then presented the screen to Mr. J. Nichols. Mrs. Wood informed those present that each child would be given a copy of the Fun Night report to give their parents.

Mrs. Monk introduced the soloist of the evening, Mrs. D. Jackman who sang two numbers "My Task" and a prayer "Father of Heaven." Her accompanist at the piano was Mrs. A. Watkins. The Home and School Creed was read by Mrs. H. Sutton.

Mrs. Monk introduced the speaker, Mrs. C. G. Collins, president of Home and School Council, who gave an address on the founding of H. & S. and a glimpse into the history of the association.

The candle lighting ceremony commemorating the founding was performed with dignity and sincerity by the executive members of the association.

A white candle lighted by Mrs. Monk was in honor of Mrs. A. C. Courtice, founder. DOROTHY DIX

Settle Your Own Marriage Problems First

DEAR MISS DIX: My problem is not a new one—I'm married and in love with a man who is also married, and is in love with me. We have known each other for several years, enjoy the same things and think the same way. Life with my husband is miserable; he will not work, is abusive and an alcoholic. The man I love also has an unhappy life. His wife neglects the house and the children to run to parties and clubs. All she wants is his support. Shoud we divorce ourr espective mates and try for a little happiness, br must we continue as we are? MARCIA.

ANSWER: You have my sympathy in your difficulties and though I always hesitate to advise a separation, especially where there are children, a drunken, abusive husband is something no woman should be expected to endure.

However, until you straighten out your own marital problem, better stop seeing the other man. How do you know the things you hear about his wife are true? Did she tell you or have you seen for yourself? What about his children? When people have youngsters they must often sacrifice for them. Duty has become quite an unpopular word but parents do have a duty to their children.

Think of Your Reputation

His wife might not give him up, in fact she may brand you publicly as the "other woman" and ruin your reputation as well as giving your husband a weapon to use against you. Give this man up for at least six months and try to work your own marriage problem out.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I asked the state to board my children out two years ago as I was ill and could not take care of them. Now we are trying to get them home, but are told we can't provide a proper living for them. They have let two of them come home, but are keeping the other three. I am heartsick about it and cannot sleep nights. The welfare says they will put them out for adoption. MRS. G. H.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Though local laws differ in this matter, I doubt very much if your children can be put out for adoption without your consent. See a lawyer to learn your rights in getting the youngsters back. If you have no money get in touch with the Legal Aid Society in your nearest big city. You will find their address in the telephone book. Then, by scrupulous care of the two children you have with you, convince the authorities of your fitness as a mother, so they will have no alternative but to return the other children to you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Recently I lost a dear friend after many years of friendship. I have been so lonely since and don't seem to find any adequate companionship. If I knew where to meet new people, I could stop thinking about my lost friend and get over feeling sorry for myself. ADELE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are wise to avoid giving in to self-pity; people avoid the droopy Dora like the plague. A church group might prove the solution to your problem, for there you would have not only social activity but spiritual uplift as well. If you don't belong to a church, join the nearest one to you. Attend for a while, then find out what groups or societies they have. Almost every church has a wide choice of activity. There are so many lonely people looking for friends, but you've got to go out and find them.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am married to a boy I thought I loved very much. I was always fortunate to have many beaux but chose this one. Soon after we were married he put on horn-rimmed glasses and told me he was nearsighted. Do you think this was fair? I guess I shouldn't resent it so much but I do. I am also worried for fear our children will inherit his nearsightedness. RUTH R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You're being very silly about a triviality. Some of our most popular men seem to be wearing horn-rimmed glasses today. Look at Dave Garroway or Steve Allen on television. Their popularity certainly isn't hurt by them. Believe me, most girls would welcome a date with either of them and feel very romantic about it. Better get a little closer to that man of yours before some other girl who admires the horn-rimmed type takes him away from you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I was born in England in the 1890's. Where could I apply for my birth certificate? LILLIAN P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Write to the mayor, or the town hall, of the town or village where you were born. If you remember the name of the church in which you were baptized, they might also be able to help you.

Day Believes Sex Out For TV Shows

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 8 (AP)—Dennis Day, whose television show makes its debut tonight, predicts home viewers will be getting less plunging necklines and racy stories in future.

"Sex has got to go, as far as TV is concerned," he said. "Sex was exploited during the early days, when TV was trying to gain attention. You still see quite a bit of it; I hear some comedians telling stories that make me blush.

"But I think the industry is growing up. It doesn't need sex any more. Furthermore, if the shows aren't cleaned up, TV will be inviting censorship from outside sources, which would be bad.

"So far, the only censoring has been done by the individual performers and packagers of shows. I think they and the networks now realize they will have to avoid any criticism about program material."

Sticks To Theories

Day has stuck by these theories in his selection of a co-star for his show. He considered a couple of dozen singers, including many glamorous types. He passed them up for a demure unknown, Kathy Phillips.

"I picked her for two reasons," Day explained. "First of all, she fits the story. The part calls for a girl who lives next door, and I'd look pretty silly playing my kind of character opposite some sexy glamor girl.

"Also, I wanted the kind of a girl who would appeal to a family audience. I realize from watching my kids that a large part of the TV audience consists of children.

As for radio, he expressed the exact sentiments of Bob Hope and Marie Wilson: "Compared to TV, radio is like stealing money."

Day dropped the news that this will probably be the last season of the Jack Benny radio show. Sponsors no longer want to pay big money for radio, he explained. Day will be able to make occasional appearances on Benny's TV show, which is expected to start in the fall on a fortnightly basis.

Of Interest to Women

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"Our automatic clock-halltree—it hands your guests their wraps at any hour you set it!"

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Fruit Punch For 100 People Velvet Chocolate Parfait

QUESTION: I read your column every day and find it very helpful. Would you kindly tell me how to make fruit punch and please tell me how much to use of everything. I would like to serve at least 100 people.—Mrs. J. W. G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER:

Fruit Punch for 100

Two dozen lemons, 2 dozen large oranges, 2 20-oz. tins crushed pineapple, 1 1-lb. bottle of maraschino cherries, 1 quart very strong cold tea, 2 quarts water. Boil together the sugar, water and grated rind from 6 lemons and 6 oranges, for 5 minues. Chill. Squeeze the juice from the lemons and oranges, and add it to the syrup and all remaining ingredients, slicing the cherries if you have the time. Add enough ice to make this up to 5 gallons, and let most of it melt before serving. (A punch that does not have the fresh taste that this one has may be made with canned lemon juice and frozen orange juice. You need some fresh lemons and oranges to give you the grated rind though.)

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I feel ashamed that I did not acknowledge receipt of your two very wonderful letters, but as I made my last batch of Christmas peanut brittle I had the misfortune to spill it on my left hand . . . so am writing today with my "good fingers." My holiday, in spite of the burn, were perfect . . . I called them Mary Moore holidays" having used about every one of your recipes . . . I had the Newburg, served it on wedges of crisp waffles and the dinner was voted declicious . . . the shortbread cookies reached Florida in perfect condition . . . my friends think I should go into the cookie business. So many, many thanks. . . . I spent most of the day listening to the radio and filing your recipes . . . after hesitating as to the best way to file them. I cut them out of the paper, pasted them on index cards and used a whole metal box for them and pasted your picture on the outside. The picture besides adorning the box saved me writing the name "Mary Moore" upteen dozen times after each recipe . . . . . Would you please print some recipe for frozen desserts . . . also good recipe for custard pie —mine "humped" in the centre.—Helen P.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I had to leave out whole paragraphs of your letter for even here alone at my own desk I was blushing at your praise.

I know it is sincere and I thank you — I'm glad I don't have to look at that picture of myself every time I open a recipe box though — I guess it is a good idea though if you can stand it.

The frozen dessert recipe I am giving you is an Emem recipe —I suppose I should blush again when I tell you it won a rather nice prize in my younger days.

Velvet Chocolate Parfait

Two-thirds corn syrup, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, 2 well-beaten egg yolks, ½ pint whipping cream (oops—there goes the waistline), few grains salt, 1½ teaspoons vanilla. Heat together the unsweetened chocolate, the syrup and butter until blended, over low heat or boiling water. Pour slowly over yolks, then stir over hot water until a little thick—not more than 2 minutes. Cool. Beat cream until stiff, then fold into the cold egg mixture. Add salt and vanilla. Freeze in tray of mechanical refrigerator without stirring. If the chocolate and egg mixture get too thick—which they will if they cook overlong over the hot water—add 2 tablespoons boiling water and stir well before folding in cream. See more frozen desserts and the custard pie sometime next week.

Prairie Pioneer Is Canada's Oldest Woman

ARCOLA, Sask. — (CP)—Mrs. John Beggs of Arcola is one of Canada's oldest women. She is 104.

Born Lovinia Burwash in Prescott County, Ont., in 1848, she homesteaded with her husband two miles east of the present site of Arcola in 1882.

Though now unable to see or hear very well, "Grandmother Beggs," as she is affectionately known here, retains an interest in activities around her. She lives with her only living son and his wife on the original family homestead.

Mrs. Beggs was the first woman in the Arcola settlement and when her son was born in 1883 he was the first baby.

She recalls living in a tent until their log house was completed. At first she was frightened by the Indians who often came to the tent.

"But before the year was out I found there was no harm in them," she said. "I was glad to see the squaws come as there was no white woman I could talk to."

Mrs. Beggs believes in hard work and says pioneering never hurt anybody.

"When you work you're ready for your meals and it's good to have a hearty appetite," she said.

What's Right?

A girl is having her first date with a young man who has not yet met her parents.

WRONG: She isn't ready when he arrives, but keeps him waiting in the living room, letting her parents entertain him.

RIGHT: She is ready to open the door to him when he arrives; so that she can put him at ease by introducing him to her parents.

THE EXPERTS SAY:

Familiar Hungarian Dishes

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

By now Marianne Schiller is so accustomed to Canadian cooking that many of the once familiar Hungarian dishes have lost their appeal.

"I don't enjoy them as much," she confessed during an interview. "I now find them too rich."

Blonde and in her mid-twenties, Miss Schiller is one of the 8,300 Hungarians who have settled in Canada since 1945. She left her native Budapest more than 2½ years ago and now is studying with a firm of commercial photographers in Toronto.

Cakes with as many as eight eggs, soups which were meals in themselves — these were typical of Hungarian cooking in the more affluent pre-war years.

Marianne confesses that at first she was surprised to find that Canadians cook their vegetables in water. In Hungary vegetables seldom are served plain, but always with sauces or as part of a more complex dish.

Nor are salt and pepper-shakers popular items on the family dinner-table.

"We always put salt and pepper in while preparing the food," said the pretty new Canadian. "If we find it necessary to add more during a meal, then it's time to scold the cook.

Like most business girls, Marianne lives in a housekeeping room, prepares her own meals, and loves to concoct tasty dishes for friends who drop in.

Hungarian Accent

Most of the time her meals are completely Canadian although as a special treat sometimes she will prepare her favorite Hungarian dessert—chocolate pie. This decidedly is "pie" with a Hungarian accent.

Pastry: 1½ cups flour; three-quarters cup butter or margarine; two tablespoons water; pinch of salt; one egg yolk.

Sift flour and salt. Work butter into mixture with knife and finally add yolk and water. Roll out and put pastry preferably into square cake-pan although deep pie-plate will do.

Filling: two-thirds cup sugar; four egg yolks (beaten); seven ounces semi-sweet chocolate.

Melt chocolate and add to beaten egg yolks and sugar. Fold in four beaten egg whites. Pour into shell and cover with remainder of pastry. Smear part of the remaining egg white (unbeaten) over the crust. (Marianne says Hungarian housewives frequently spread a little egg white on their pie crusts—it makes the crusts shiny).

Sprinkle with finely chopped almonds and bake in oven (375 degrees fahrenheit) until brown. Cool and cut in squares.

Norwood YPU Meets

NORWOOD, Feb. 8 (ENS). — The Baptist Young People's Union met at the home of Mrs. Annie Sedgwick on Friday evening. The Indian River group also were present, and Everett Sedgwick and three friends from Toronto Bible School. Keith Thompson was in charge of the meeting and called on Everett Sedgwick to introduce Edna Clysdale and Mary Jenkins who gave testimonies as well as Kenneth Knight. A vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Sedgwick by Mrs. Keith Thompson, acting president.

Mrs. F. Williams; the blue candle of Vocational Guidance, Mrs. W. Thompson; the red candle of Well Spent Leisure, Mrs. W. H. Powell; the white candle of Spiritual Vision and Ethical Character, Mrs. H. R. Rolufs.

Mrs. D. Melville read the prologue and the epilogue.

The ceremony was brought to a close with the singing of the Home and School song.

Mrs. C. Whatley thanked the guests, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Jackman and Mrs. Watkins and expressed the appreciation of all for taking part in the program.

A donation from those attending the meeting was sent to "The Courtice Library Memorial Fund." Mrs. W. Thompson arranged a display of literature relating to Home and School and Parent Education.

Tea and cake were served by the Home and School executive members.

sion, adequate housing, good food, a minimum of accidents and sickness, a balancing budget and construction progress made Camp Kawartha a success in 1951, W. J. Moorhead, chairman of the camp committee said.

The Y's Men's club's Camp Kawartha had 154 boys attend the six-day camp for a total of 397 camping weeks.

Use Gym More

Ken Kingston, chairman of the physical committee, reported that [illegible] classes have shown a marked increase in participation on the gym floor.

"Although there have been grains, we acknowledge there is considerable room for improvement and plans for better programs are being advanced regularly," he said.

Mr. Kingston added group activity was stressed, especially in body building, basketball, volleyball and swimming. He noted that new equipment has been added to help promote these groups as well as charts, literature and individual instruction supplied.

Although the swimming activity was about par at the YWCA pool in 1951, the swimming committee said in its report that it feels that full use is not being made for the size of the membership.

Chairman Gordon Dobbin reported that the swiming club under Gordon Minty attended meets at London, Hamilton, Central YMCA and the Ontario meet at Hart House. At the Ontario meet the YMCA boys placed third in 14 YMCAs.

During 1951 under the direction of Ralph Wood 82 boys learned to swim in the tadpole class. In the other classes, Trout, Salmon and Pollywog, 156 boys passed a total of 775 intermediate swim tests. Six boys passed their junior life saving and junior master swimming awards.

Stanley Payne, chairman of the membership, said that in 1951 the membership was steady with a total of 1,106, including 366 in the boys department and 740 in the men's (the men's figure showing the senior collegiate boys who were earlier reported in the boys' total).

Other brief reports were submitted by the Y's Men's club, the Y's Menettes, the Friday Night club, the World Service committee (raised $1,120 in 1951), Camp Pow Wow, the adult activities, and otuside groups.

Organize Action

urban areas paid by the province. He also said that it had been found in areas where county health units had been established, the total average annual cost was approximately 65 cents per capita.

He added that mental clinics with a minimum staff of a psychiatrist, social worker and clerical worker had also been added to some of the province's county health units.

Following the open meeting the appointed committee met to draw up plans of action.

It was decided to contact all organizations in the county asking for their support and then approach the municipal councils.

Dr. Kelly explained it had been found that a county health unit could not be operated economically for a population under 20,000. The population of Peterborough is a little short of this figure. As a result, it was decided that after approval for the project had been obtained from the county council, the Peterborough city council would be approached and asked that the city be included in the county unit.

If the city approves and the unit is established, it will mean that the city will have 25-33 1-3 per cent of the cost of its health services subsidized by the provincial government. At present the city is not eligible for such a grant and pays the total cost of these services.

Civic Hospital

the 50 per cent mark, ranging from a low of 143 to a high of 213 patients.

Without subsidization by county and provincial grants, along with a grant of $101,416.20 from the city, Mr. Rodger said that the "already high cost to hospital patients would be even more burdensome."

Mr. Rodger prefaced his report with the comment that "a noteworthy feature in the balance sheet is the absence of working capital disclosed." The liability shown, of $43,271 for the hospital has since been paid off by the receipt of the balance of the federal building grant. "As far as the board is concerned, the hospital property and equipment is clear of debt."

Although expenditures in 1951 were nearly a quarter million above the previous year, Mr. Rodger said it was apparently the same in hospitals elsewhere. "Hospitals all try to provide the same service—the quality standard of this service is understandably variable," concluded Mr. Rodger.

Humane Ideals Must Be Canada's Goal

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Quotations from here and there:

Charles McCrea, president, to the annual meeting of Toronto General Trusts Corporation, at Toronto:

"Though Canada has been blessed with great natural wealth on which our prosperity finds material foundations, materialism must not be our only goal. If allowed to dominate our aspirations, it can bring only misery in the end. Canada has been built on humane ideals, moral conduct and spiritual beliefs, and these must ever command our first allegiance if we are to establish a lasting nation."

L. L. Lang, president, to the annual meeting of Mutual Life of Canada at Waterloo, Ont.:

"Canada leads the world in the ratio of ownership of life insurance to national income—110 per cent. Canada is the only nation whose business in force exceeds one year's national income."

Monthly letter of the Royal Bank of Canada — a study on "writing a report":

"Having written it, the writer would be well advised to forget about his report for as long as time permits. If he tries to make corrections and improvements as soon as he has finished the writing, his memory of what he meant to write may be so strong that he will overlook the shortcoming of what he actually wrote."

Sugar facts, published by Canada and Dominion Sugar Co., Ltd., Chatham, Ont.:

"Refined sugar inventories in the United States are at dangerously low levels, says Lamborn and Company, New York sugar brokers. They urge buyers to carry 'at least two weeks' supply on the floor, reasoning that international complications could alter the sugar-supply situation at short notice."

Metropolitan Life Insurance Company information service:

"The common belief that marriages increase in leap year—of which 1952 is one—has been exploded as a myth."

Collaborate By Mail To Produce Musical

HALIFAX,—(CP)—Two Canadians, separated by the width of a continent, used the mails to collaborate in turning out a musical comedy.

Prof. C. L. Lamberston of King's University here composed the music and wrote the lyrics for "Bonanza," already in the audition stage here.

James Richardson, an employee of a Vancouver steamship office, wrote the story. Mr. Lamberston and Mr. Richardson have never met.

Looking for common ground on which to base the story, the two found they both knew life in Alberta. The plot is borrowed from the real life story of a western family lifted from poverty to riches by the discovery of oil on their land.

Their problems after striking it rich from the basis of the comedy.

Russian Condolences

MOSCOW, Feb. 8 (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky sent a letter Thursday to British Ambassador Sir Alvary Gascogine expressing the condolences of himself and President N. M. Shvernik at the death of King George VI. Deputy Foreign Minister F. T. Gusev called at the embassy Thursday afternoon with the chief of protocol of the foreign ministry to sign the book of condolences.

Got His Wish

RAMSGATE, England (CP). — When Sir John Bayley started gardening at 84, he said, "Of course I shall not see this garden at its best for another 15 years." But that was 16 years ago and Sir John, now 100, lived to admire its development.

Cheese From Norway

A Brighter Crown

By JAMES ALLEN, D.O.

A hushed and breathless Empire bows
Its stricken heart in pain,
As Death's relentless hand completes
A well loved Monarch's reign.
With those who mourn, we bow our head—
A very gracious King is dead.

Be with our Royal Family
O God in Heaven above,
And hold them in the comfort of Thy rich, abiding Love.
Our King has gained Eternal Peace—
From Earth's grim bondage won release.

Fret not that He has passed beyond
This vale of wrath and tears—
That kindly Soul we loved so well
Throughout the trying years.
He rests at last, beyond their thrall—
To wear the brightest Crown of all!

Port Credit, Feb. 6, 1952.

Queen Gets Raise

THE HAGUE, Feb. 8 —(AP)—The lower chamber of the Dutch Parliament voted Thursday to increase Queen Juliana's annual income from 1,200,000 guilders (about $340,000) to 1,500,000 guilders to cope with the higher cost of living.

Grant For Fiji

LONDON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Colonial Secretary Oliver Lyttelton announced Thursday Britain will make a grant of £10,000 ($28,000) to the government of Fiji to help reconstruction following a recent hurricane there.

Pays $50 Fine

Payment of a $50 fine and $2.50 court costs was attached to a written plea of guilty on a drunk charge entered by Jack Scott, R.R. 3, Havelock, in police court Thursday. It was a second offence, for Scott, and he admitted being previously convicted of drunkenness.

Not Very Fond Of Spain-Truman

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP, — President Truman is not very fond of Franco Spain, he told his news conference Thursday.

The off-hand comment came in response to a question about his opinion of General Eisenhower's reported opposition to Spain entering the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Truman said he did not know anything about Eisenhower's statement because he had not seen it.

But, he added, he has never been very fond of Spain.

Later, this was qualified to mean that he referred to the Franco regime, not Spain itself.

Eisenhower's headquarters quickly denied a labor leader's story that Eisenhower told a closed meeting at his headquarters that Spain would be kept out of N.A.T.O. as long as he is supreme commander in West Europe.

An announcement said Eisenhower believes any military deal with Spain at present should be on a bilateral basis between the United States and Madrid, and not through N.A.T.O.

Government Building

REGINA — (CP) — The Saskatchewan government's new administration building on Albert Street South, erected at a cost of $1,200,000, is expected to be ready for occupancy in July.

WITH THE DEATH of Britain's King George VI and the accession to the throne of his older daughter, Elizabeth, the status of other members of the royal family changes drastically, as shown below. The British royal succession always goes through the male line. Three-year-old Prince Charles, LEFT, becomes heir apparent and, if he lives, will eventually succeed his mother, the new Queen on the throne. After Prince Charles, his 18-months-old sister, Princess Anne, CENTRE, becomes heir presumptive, which means that after his death she would succeed him unless Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip should have another son. In that case, the new son would be king. Assuming the incapacity of both Prince Charles and Princes Anne to ascend the throne and assuming that Prince and his Queen have no other son in the future, the succession passes to Princess Margaret Rose, (RIGHT), younger daughter of the late King George.

Atom Pile Gives Science 2 New Elements

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 (CP).—British and other scientists at Canada's Chalk River atomic project have proved that two elements which have been assumed to exist in the table of elements actually do exist.

The National Rsearch Council said Thursday the new isotopes which have been identified "as a result of certain reactions" in Chalk River's reactor or radioactive pile are Calcium-41 and Actinium 229.

Neither is expected to be of any use for practical purposes in industry or otherwise as in the way of numerous other isotopes. But both are of interest scientifically if for no other reason than that they have finally been tracked down and isolated.

The calcium discovery produced what was described as "a scientific curiosity." Existing theories were that it would have a much shorter half-life—that is roughly the period in which it has enough energy to be of value for research —than it turned out to have, that is 120,000 years.

More Complex

This long half-life indicates a much more complex nucleus than anticipated.

The isotope was found through a special advanced technique developed by G. C. Hanna, a Cambridge University graduate, assisted by another Cambridge man, F. Brown. The chemistry work was done by L. Yaffe, graduate of the University of Manitoba and McGill.

The actinium isotope was described as particularly interesting because it is a nucleus that is probably non-existent or very rare in nature. It was isolated by B. G. Harvey, an Oxford graduate, and F. Debocas, a Frenchman. Its characteristics fitted the theory about it.

An isotope has been described as a chemical element possessing the same chemical characteristics as another element occupying the same place in the periodic table of elements but distinguished from it in other ways by its radiation or by the differing mass of its atoms.

McIlraith Resigns From One Position

OTTAWA, Feb. 8. (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent announced Thursday he has received the resignation of George McIlraith as parliamentary assistant to Production Minister Howe.

Mr. McIlraith, 43-year-old Liberal MP for Ottawa East, wrote that he found the pressure of his duties as parliamentary assistant to two departments—he also is assistant to Mr. Howe as trade minister—left him no time to meet other essential obligations.

Mr. St. Laurent, expressing appreciation of Mr. McIlraith's service, said he felt he had no choice but to recommend acceptance of the resignation.

Mr. McIlraith will continue as parliamentary assistant for trade.

Villagers, Farmers File Past Late King's Bier

SANDRINGHAM, England, Feb. 9. (AP)—Humble villagers filed through their hushed country church today to pay last homage to the man they called squire—King George VI. Farmers, carpenters, woodsmen and servants sorrowfully stopped before the candle-lit bier to look for the last time on the coffin of their Sovereign and friend. Inside the big mansion nearby, where the King was born and where he died, Queen Elizabeth II—proclaimed throughout the land on Friday as the new ruler of the realm—remained closeted in deep mourning with her mother and sister and others of the Royal Family.

The new Queen's flag flew high over Sandringham House. It was raised there Friday when finally she joined her bereaved family after performing the first heavy and solemn duties of her queenly station. Her father's standard, which had flown over the mansion until his quiet death in sleep Wednesday, now covers his oaken coffin.

The body of the fallen monarch lay in the little greystone 16th century church of St. Mary Magdalene 250 yards down a winding garden path over which it had been carried Friday night from the big residence.

Must Be Recognized

A village policeman stood guard at the wrought iron gates near the chapel. Only the 300-odd villagers whom he could recognize as the King's own workers were admitted.

The new Queen had asked that work at Sandringham go on today just as any other day. The men stayed at their jobs—tending the animals and gardens and other duties on the vast estate—except for the King's gamekeepers, who kept a silent watch over the coffin.

In their green buckskin jackets and dark knee breeches, the gamekeepers took two-hourly watches, four at a time, around the Royal casket.

Some of the gamekeepers had stood grim watch over the body of the late King's father, George V, when he died here. And some had played with the late King when he romped over the estate as a boy.

Inside the church, a carpet had been laid to hush the shuffle of feet past the King's coffin. A strong, warm sun sent shafts of multi-colored lights through the stained glass windows. Four candles flickered at each corner of the bier. On the coffin was a silver plate engraved "Albert Frederick Arthur George Windsor, born 1895, died 1952."

On the coffin, lay three wreaths bearing the cards of his daughter, the new Queen Elizabeth II; his widow, and his only other child, Princess Margaret.

Ottawa Pleased Canada Dubbed Realm

OTTAWA, Feb. 9—(CP)—Canada, in the eyes of the United Kingdom, has become a realm—rather than a dominion — of Queen Elizabeth II.

This constitutional change, which applies as well to the other countries of the Commonwealth, turned up in the phraseology used by the United Kingdom Government in its proclamation of Elizabeth's accession.

It was noted Friday with some satisfaction by Canadian Government officials who said that the development was not unexpected although Canada had not been consulted on the wording of the British proclamation.

They said the change had been made in recognition of the status of India, now a republic, within the Commonwealth. India does not like the term "dominion."

In the past, where it has applied to the Commonwealth outside of the United Kingdom, the King's title has been that of King of "the British Dominions Beyond the Seas". That form has been used both by Canada and the U.K.

But the British proclamation declared Elizabeth to be "Queen of this realm and of her other realms and territories, head of the Commonwealth." . . .

Retain Old Style

The Canadian proclamation of accession retained the old style of "British Dominions Beyond the Seas," but dropped the word "dominion" from the direct reference to Canada's name.

It described the Queen as "Supreme Liege Lady in and over Canada." In 1936, when George VI took the throne, he had been described as "supreme Liege Lord in and over the Dominion of Canada."

The Canadian Government in recent years has dropped the term "dominion" from this country's name on the ground that the constitution names the country only as "Canada," though it does designate it as a dominion.

It is considered unlikely that Canada will immediately follow Britain and adopt the new style, although she may do so in the future. Prime Minister St. Laurent is known to favor the designation of "realm."

U.N. Approves Conference Plan

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 9 (AP)—The United Nations command today agreed to a high-level conference after an armistice—but insisted that discussions be limited to strictly Korean affairs.

The Allies also insisted that South Korea be given a voice in the peace talks. The Communist proposal last Wednesday ignored President Syngman Rhee's government.

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy made the Allied counter-proposal in a 10-minute plenary session. North Korean Gen. Nam Il asked time to study it. The senior envoys will meet again at 10 a.m. Sunday (8 p.m. Saturday EST).

There was no disagreement on the first two points of the Red proposal. The Allies agreed that the post-armistice talks should include discussions of (1) withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea and (2) the peaceful settlement of the Korean question.

The joker was in point three. The Reds wanted the talks to include "other problems in Asia related to the Korean question." The Allies proposed that this be changed to read "other Korean questions related to peace."

Queen Suggests No General Holiday

LONDON, Feb. 9 (CP).—Advice against a general suspension of work or closing of schools on the funeral day of King George VI has been given by Queen Elizabeth's ministers, it was disclosed Friday night in a statement from the Home Secretary.

Observance of two minutes of silence throughout the land was suggested instead by Queen Elizabeth as a mark of respect for the memory of the late King.

At Ottawa, it was considered unlikely that Canada would rescind her proclamation declaring Feb. 15 a public holiday and a day of general mourning.

Warns Reds May Build Bases In Arctic Wastes

WINNIPEG, Feb. 9—(CP)—A warning that Russia secretly might attempt to establish rocket launching bases or bomber refueling stations in Canada's Arctic wastes was made Friday by Col. J. B. Allen, army chief of staff for prairie command.

Col. Allen told a service club that Russia might try to set up such installations in remote sites rather than try to capture existing bases.

"It seems more probable that the enemy could construct his own and make it difficult for us to locate them", said Col. Allen. "The whole area of the eastern Arctic, including the unpopulated region of Northern Ontario could provide the enemy with suitable sites".

The chief of staff said he doubted that Russia would every try a full-scale invasion by way of Alaska except as a means to pin down Allied armies and equipment needed in Europe.

News In Animal Kingdom

Mice Have Hooked Tails, Cow Has Delayed Twins

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 (AP)—Something new in the animal kingdom: mice with question-mark tails and a cow that had delayed-action twins.

They were reported today by the American Genetic Association in its "Journal of Heredity."

The bossy having the delayed-action twin hails from Laurel, Md.

She gave birth to one calf on a fine day in May, 1948, and then 23 days later bore a second one.

"Twins!" ruled husbandrymen of the Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station, though they said they were not identical.

The researchers concluded it was a fancy case of delayed twinning."

There's a long-shot possibility, they added, that the cow might have been carrying two separately-conceived calves—because she was known to have been artificially mated with the same Holstein bull on two occasions, just about three weeks apart.

The saga of the house mice sporting the "hooked tails" was reported by a Sarasola, Fla., geneticist.

They are laboratory characters whose tails are due to a genetic "mutation"—that is, an alteration in a cellular gene passed on to the first hooker from one of her parents.

The forebears of the new race were a couple of piebald mice having normal, straight tails.

Since then, mice having tails in many variations of a fishhook shape have popped up all around the lab.

Rail Unions To Make Big Demands

Expect Men Press For Quick Wage Settlement

OTTAWA, Feb. 9. (CP) — The rail unions are going to make hefty wage demands on the railways when current contracts are opened for negotiation this summer.

Expectations are, too, that the unions will press for a speedier showdown than the last time, when a dispute dragged out for 15 months before climaxing in the general rail strike of August, 1950.

Best information now is that the railways will be confronted with an initial demand for an increase of about 35 cents an hour for non-operating employees—those who do not actually run the trains—when the talks start in early July.

Negotiating officers for the union men will not hammer out the specific figure until later, but informed quarters today indicate they now are thinking in terms of a 35-cent hoist.

Since the current contracts took effect Sept. 1, 1950, the unions estimate, the cost of living has outstripped rail wages by 17 cents an hour. Besides wanting to overtake that, the unions will be seeking an extra amount to serve as a cushion against further rises in living costs during the run of the next contract.

Under the 1950 post-strike settlement laid down by a government-named arbitrator, the unions won for most of their members a seven-cents-an-hour wage increase plus a short work week without reduced pay.

This time, the 35 cents would represent more than that, for the 1950 combination worked out to an increase of 26 cents an hour. It brought the base pay to $1.29 an hour.

For some months past, the non-operating unions have been trying to get the railways to give them a temporary cost-of-living bonus pending the negotiation of new contracts. That effort has failed up to now and the failure is one reason why the unions will be pushing for a quick settlement of their demands.

These demands are expected to be laid down after July 1, when negotiations can open. If there is no settlement by the time the contracts run out Sept. 1, union informants indicate, the labor group will promptly demand government conciliation machinery be put in motion.

College Expands English Course

TORONTO, Feb. 9 (CP).—An expanded program of elementary English will be offered by the University of Toronto next September to incoming students who cannot pass a test given them by the university.

This was announced Friday night by Dr. Sidney Smith, university president.

Dr. Smith, whose annual report released two weeks ago said that 65 per cent of 600 students given a special English test failed it, also suggested that high school teachers give university officials a confidential appraisal of each incoming student so that those unsuited for university work could be weeded out.

PROCLAIM NEW QUEEN—Sir Gerald W. Wollaston, Ulster King of Arms, reads the proclamation of Britain's new Queen to crowds assembled at Temple Bar Friday as the centuries-old pageant was enacted in London. The document proclaims the second "Queen Bess" in Britain's history as Queen Elizabeth succeeds to the throne.

Storm Kills 4, Damage High Two Drown In Trent River

TORONTO, Feb. 9. (CP)—Four persons, one an 11-year-old girl, met death and property damage running into thousands of dollars was caused in traffic accidents resulting from a snow storm that blanketed Southern Ontario with up to 10 inches of snow Friday.

Jack Philips, 56, of Batawa and his 11-year-old daughter Hazel were drowned when their automobile skidded through a guard rail on Highway 33, four miles north of Trenton and dropped 20 feet into the Trent River. The auto landed in 12 feet of water.

Police said the car was struck by a car driven by Ray Jenson of Trenton just as Philips was pulling onto the road. Philips' car went into a skid and disappeared through the wooden railing.

In Hamilton William R. Lamont, 24, of Burlington, was pinned behind the steering wheel of his auto in a car-truck collision at the height of the storm.

James Nesbit, 70, of Courtright, was the fourth victim. He was involved in an accident near Brigden. Police said he may have suffered a heart attack when his car skidded head-on into a transport driven by G. M. Gray, of Courtright.

In most sections, the storm was the heaviest of 1952. The only other storm of consequence was on January 9 when 2.3 inches fell in the Toronto area.

Western Ontario got between six and 10 inches of snow. Provincial police in the London area experienced "some of the worst road conditions this winter." Drifting was extensive near Stratford.

In Toronto, evening rush hour traffic was brought to a virtual standstill as vehicles slid and stalled on the icy streets.

Say U.K. Agrees Quit Canal Zone

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 9—(Reuters)—The Cairo newspaper Al Misri said today that Prime Minister Nuri Es Said of Iraq had persuaded Britain to agree to evacuate her land forces from the Suez canal zone "at the earliest possible moment."

Britain had demanded that a force of technicians and experts remain in the zone to maintain the base and train the Egyptian army, the newspaper said.

But Nuri had persuaded them to keep only a skeleton staff of technicians there, with Egypt having the right to invite experts from other western countries.

"The British laid down two conditions for the evacuation of their troops," the newspaper said. "They demanded the return of peace in the canal zone and an agreement on Middle East defence.

"Nuri believes the question of Middle East defence can be realized through a collective security pact signed by the Arab countries."

The newspaper said the Iraqi premier had "great success" in his attempts to find a solution to the Anglo-Egyptian dispute, which blew up last year when Egypt broke the Anglo-Egyptian treaty of 1936 and demanded British evacuation of the canal zone.

57 U.K. Paratroopers Raid Bandit Lair

SINGAPORE, Feb. 9 (Reuters)—Fifty-seven tough British paratroopers today jumped on a Communist bandit lair in a remote Perak River Valley for the first airborne action against guerrillas since the start of the Malayan campaign.

The Communists claimed to have "liberated" the valley, 20 miles south of Thailand border. Inaccessible by road or river, they had regarded it as an inviolable sanctuary.

R.A.F. Dakotas went in at low-level to deliver the British reply to this claim, flying over rain-swept mountain country to drop the paratroops.

Ground forces, meantime, hacked their way through the jungle and were expected to link up with the airborne men later today.

N. Koreans Told Build War Potential

Must Be Prepared To Bomb U.N. Area Defence Head Says

TOKYO, Feb. 9. (AP)—The North Korean Red radio tonight broadcast a statement by Choi Yong-kun, north Korean defence minister, urging Koreans to build up their war potential for possible future air battles and air strikes at United Nations-held South Korean territory.

"All Koreans must strive to step up their war potential," Choi said in the statement heard here.

"Especially must they build it up hereafter to engage in air battles and also to undertake the bombing of United Nations-held South Korean territories and thereby introduce a new phase in defence of the skis of the motherland."

Choi's statement was made Friday on the fourth anniversary of the founding of the North Korean Armed Forces.

Holy Campaign

North Korean premier Kim Il Sung in an order of the day broadcast Friday called on all Red troops to "prepare constantly for decisive fighting" in "our holy campaign for liberating the fatherland."

"The people of Korea will continue to make an effort to successfully negotiate an armistice," Choi said in a reference to the Panmunjom truce talks. "However, the talks are fraught with many difficulties."

Germany's Price Stalling Plans

BONN, Germany, Feb. 9 (AP)—Allied officials said today West Germany's high-priced demands for joining western defence will set back a peace settlement and stall plans for welding German troops into European army.

The price includes an end to Allied occupation, full sovereignty for Germany, an equal voice in western strategic councils, and freedom for many German war criminals.

The restive parties in Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government hung these conditions on their approval Friday night of Adenauer's proposal to recruiting 300,000 to 400,000 troops for western defence.

The Bundestag (lower house) agreed to it only by the slim margin of 204 to 156.

Bomber Crashes

MONTREAL, Feb. 9— (CP). — One crew member was killed and four were injured when a heavy-type bomber of the R.C.A.F. crashed on take-off at Goose Bay, Labrador, Friday.

Jumps 2 Storeys To Escape Flames

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 9—(CP)—Gordon Barrie, Sr., 55, and his 21-year-old son jumped from a second-storey window to escape a fire in their home early today.

The father was severely injured, suffering burned hands, while the son, Gordon, Jr., injured his legs. The blaze, which started from defective wiring, caused damage estimated at $2,000.

3 Foreign Ministers Meet February 16

LONDON, Feb. 9 —(Reuters)—The Big Three Western foreign ministers will meet in London Feb. 16, 18 and 19, a foreign office spokesman announced today.

The ministers, State Secretary Dean Acheson of the United States, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain and Robert Schuman, French foreign minister, will be meeting preparatory to the Lisbon conference of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ministerial council, starting Feb. 20.

Form Human Chain To Bring Up 10 People Injured

HAMILTON, Feb. 9. (CP)—An inter-urban bus, skidding on an icy pavement, ran off a highway into a 100-foot-deep ravine here today. Two persons were injured severely and at least eight others suffered minor hurts. No one was killed. About a dozen persons were in the big Gray Coach Lines vehicle, bound for Toronto, when it veered off No. 2 Highway at the western approaches to the city and careened down the almost vertical embankment. It toppled on its right side at the bottom of the ravine and broke in two.

The embankment at the scene of the crash is so steep rescuers formed a human chain to pass the injured up to the highway where six ambulances waited.

Travel Difficult

Snow that fell during the night made travel difficult. The accident occurred on an icy stretch of pavement near the second of a series of bridges over the old Desjardins Canal, not now in use. A rock garden, a Hamilton beauty spot, is nearby.

The bus fell against a bridge abutment which blocked the exit door. The injured were removed through the emergency door on the left side of the vehicle.

The bus driver, Thomas D. McKenzie, of Toronto, suffered cuts and bruises but assisted in rescue operations before being taken to hospital.

Difficult Job

Two other persons, unconscious and severely injured, were carried with difficulty up the precipitous hillside. The extent of injuries suffered by the other persons in the bus could not be learned immediately. Apparently they were not serious.

The embankment where the bus crashed through a guard rail is almost a sheer drop of 150 feet. The lumbering vehicle, which on a week-day morning usually is crowded with passengers bound for Toronto, ran down the hillside in a straight line.

Motorists and pedestrians assisted police in carrying the injured up the bank, passing the limp forms one to another until all were removed from the wreckage.

Lillibet's Flowers

SANDRINGHAM, England, Feb. 9. (Reuters)—A white wreath "To Papa from Lillibet" lay at the head of the hand-carved oaken coffin of King George VI today. "Lillibet" was the pet name Elizabeth's father had given her when she was a little girl — but a name always confined to the family circle. Her father picked the nickname from the baby talk of Princess Margaret.

Eleanor Steber To Sing Doubleheader

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 (AP) — Soprano Eleanor Steber has major roles in two operas at the Metropolitan today, and no one around the Met can recall a star volunteering for such a doubleheader before.

"Everybody thinks I'm crazy," says the beautiful Miss Steber. But she adds: "I feel I can do it."

She will sing the tragic Desdemona in Verdi's "Othello" this afternoon, and then change to the gay and frivolous Fiordiligi in Mozart's "Cosi Fan Tutte" in the evening. In all she will sing 3¼ hours.

And for good measure, she plans to exercise her vocal chords for 10 minutes between the performances.

There have been times in the past when a Metropolitan star sang in two operas in a single day, but all the instances recalled were emergencies. Miss Steber is doing it because she wants to.

Heavy Schedule

Her day at the Met will start at 12:30 p.m. It will be along about midnight when she leaves the opera house. Here is her schedule:

12:30 to 2 p.m.—Dressing for the Desdemona role with a good deal of time devoted to fixing her hair.

2 to 5:30—The "Othello" performance with Miss Steber on stage singing for one hour and 15 minutes.

5:30 to 8:15—In her dressing room undergoing a complete change of hair-do and costume while dining on a steak, along with a glass or two of champagne. Then a 30-minute nap, followed by 10 minutes of vocalizing.

8:15 to 11:20—The "Cosi Fan Tutte" performance requiring her on stage for about two hours.

By the time she changes from her costume, it will be well after midnight and time to celebrate her feat. That is, it would be but she has other ideas:

"I'll go home and probably collapse."

Delay Decision On Holding Trial

TORONTO, Feb. 9 —(CP) — Judgment as to whether Edward Brown, 46, and Mrs. Jean Read, 32, would be committed for trial for manslaughter was reserved Friday until Feb. 13.

The couple, residents of suburban Scarboro, were charged in connection with the death of their two-year-old son, David, burned to death in their home while they were attending a New Year's Eve party five miles away.

A neighbor testified that she had been asked to look after the four children who were left in the home alone. Two of the children were those of Brown's older son, Edward Jr., and Muriel Bell, who are charged with criminal negligence.

P.C. Candidate Takes Lead In Newfoundland

ST. JOH..'S Nfld., Feb. 9 (CP) — The Progressive Conservative candidate took the lead as counting of returns from Newfoundland's provincial by-election in St. John's West Thursday resumed today.

Malcolm M. Hollett had a margin of 455 votes over Resources Minister Arthur Johnson out of a total of 14,418 votes cast. This was a slight increase in votes polled over the November general election when Premier Smallwood's Liberal candidates were returned.

Results were delayed because Newfoundland's election act precludes counting until all ballot boxes from a constituency have been collected to a central place.

Winnie Judd Said Queen Of Underground

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 9 (AP)—Trunk murderess Winnie Ruth Judd, dubbed queen of the underground at the Arizona hospital for insane, may never tell the whole story of how she made her fifth escape from the institution.

"People who have been confined a long time have a code of ethics," said Dr. M. W. Conway, hospital director. "She will never disclose who helped her."

Dr. Conway, who found the bedraggled and exhausted "tiger woman" of 21 years ago standing at his door Thursday night, said there is little doubt she received aid, and possibly planned to leave the country by plane.

He said she had told him she felt she wouldn't be picked up if she could get to Guatemala.

Herb Barnes, sheriff's deputy investigating the red-haired killer's latest bid for freedom, added to the mystery surrounding her movements after she fled the hospital last Saturday.

Certain Underground

"I'm certain there is an underground out there and she is their queen," he said. "Winnie seems to have a hypnotic influence over over these people (the inmates) especially those who are psychotic patients."

Dr. Conway, who has enforced the 48-year-old woman's request that she not be photographed or interviewed by reporters, allowed a series of written questions to be submitted to her. Mrs. Judd, sitting on the edge of her bed, wrote her answers in flowing longhand.

She said she did not plan the escape and did not have any help in getting away, but said "local people helped me return. . . They cried and cried and said they wanted to see me free." She said she came back because she wanted to tell some of the facts about her case to the grand jury now examining all phases of Maricopa County affairs.

Dr. Conway said Mrs. Judd apparently was aided by persons who were very young," possibly teen-agers."

B.B.C. Plans Program Of Tributes To King

LONDON, Feb. 9 (Reuters)—A one-hour program on the BBC's general overseas service Sunday entitled "A Commonwealth Mourns Its King" will feature tributes to the late King George from many parts of the British Commonwealth.

The speakers will be heard Sunday at 2:30 p.m. EST and 8 p.m. EST.

There will be personal messages from men and women in Australia, Canada, Ceylon, the Gold Coast, India, Kenya, Malaya, New Zealand, Pakistan, South Africa, Britain and from British troops in the Suez Canal zone.

Obituaries

ISAIAH BOYD

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 9 — (ENS) — Isaiah Boyd, a well known resident of this community, died suddenly at his Bridge St. west residence on Friday following a heart seizure at his work. He was 76.

Mr. Boyd was born at Blairton, the son of the late George M. Boyd and Matilda Finkle. He married Alda Little at the turn of the century, and the couple would have celebrated their fifty-first wedding anniversary on Feb. 13. Mrs. Boyd survives.

Isaiah, or "Ike" as he was known to his friends, was a familiar figure in the town and was an operator at the town power house for 32 years. He walked the three miles to and from the power house each day, and residents could almost set their watches by his regular trips to and from work. On leaving the power house, three years ago, Mr. Boyd became the night watchman at the fire hall, and was at his job there when he suffered an attack on Thursday night. He was a member of the Orange Order and attended St. John's United Church. He had lived in Campbellford for 44 years.

Surviving are also two sons, George D. Boyd, Toronto, and Harry I. Boyd, Tavistock, and one daughter, Mrs. Bert Adams (Ina), of Belleville. One son, Jack, predeceased his father about four years ago. There are also two sisters, Mrs. Charles Duncalf, of Campbellford, and Mrs. Ellen Wood, Belleville.

The Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith, of St. John's United Church, will conduct funeral services on Monday from the family residence. Burial will be in Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

MRS. CHARLOTTE HETHERINGTON

Wife of the former United Church minister at Keene, Mrs. Charlotte B. Hetherington, of Scarboro, died Thursday in a Toronto hospital. Her husband, the Rev. J. S. Hetherington, was on the Keene charge from 1933 to 1939.

She was born in Millbrook, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Ferguson. She lived later in Peterborough for several years.

Mr. Hetherington is now minister of St. Paul's-Birchcliffe charge where he and his wife have lived since leaving Keene.

Surviving are two children, Dorothy and Charles S. Two other children predeceased her, as well as her four brothers, Sidney, Percy, George and Walter.

Funeral service will be held Sunday evening at 8:30 p.m. in the Sherrin funeral home, Toronto. Burial will be Monday in Little Lake Cemetery about noon.

MRS. HARRIET BIDGOOD

The oldest living descendant of the pioneers which settled in the Springville area, Mrs. Harriett Bidgood, North Monaghan, died Friday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Eva Deyell, Fowlers' Corners. Although in her 90th year Mrs. Bidgood had an excellent memory, often recalling pioneer days.

She was born at Springville, Harriett Lockie, daughter of the late William Lockie and Harriett Thompson, early settlers there. Mrs. Bidgood lived all her life in the area and was the oldest member of the Springville United Church. Her husband, George Bidgood, died more than 25 years ago.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Eva Deyell, Fowlers' Corners, Mrs. Della Hewitt, Peterborough; three sons, Henkle of Keene, Arnold of Ida and Allie of Springville; a brother, George of Kamloops, B.C.

The Rev. A. E. Larke of Springville United Church, will conduct the service Monday at 8 p.m. at the Comstock funeral home. Burial will be in the ninth line cemetery of Cavan.

FRANK W. DeFORGE

Frank W. DeForge, 130 Hazlitt St., died in hospital Thursday night after a short illness. He was 42.

Born in Deseronto, son of Thomas A. DeForge, and the late Mary MacPherson, he had lived here all his life.

A member of the Knights of Columbus and the local branch of the Canadian Legion, he served overseas for two and a half years in the Second World War with the 12th Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Artillery.

He is survived by his wife, the former Margaret Sweetman and three children: Thomas, Francis and Mary Susan.

Also surviving are his father; four sisters, Mrs. M. L. Sweetman (Margaret), of Mexico City; Mrs. M. A. Swinn, (Kay), Sudbury; Mrs. Jack Primeau, (Mary), Cobourg, and Miss Gertrude DeForge, Cobourg; and two brothers Angus L. DeForge of Toronto and Thomas J. DeForge of Chapleau.

The body is resting at the Lane funeral home until 8:45 a.m. Monday, when requiem mass will be held from Immaculate Conception church at 9 o'clock.

Burial will be in St. Peter's cemetery.

Elect H. Quinn Vice-President

TORONTO, Feb. 9 (CP)—Following are the officers of two Ontario farm organizations elected during annual meetings here this week:

The Ontario Plowmen's Association: president, Russell Beilheartz, Bruce Station; first vice-president, Hubert Avery, Brockville; second vice-president, H. A. Quinn, Peterborough; secretary-manager, F. A. Lashley, Toronto; treasurer, Clark Young, Unionville.

The Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies: president, H. A. Ross, Mount Forest; first vice-president, Herb Corbett, Dundalk; second vice-president, Howard Giles, Almonte; secretary, S. A. Lashley, Toronto, and treasurer, M. B. Cochran, Almonte.

Gun Volleys Vary Due To Tradition

LONDON, Feb. 9 (AP).—When the big guns boomed out the news of the Queen's accession Friday, the number of volleys varied at each of three sites, and nobody knows just why except that it's always done that way.

Sixty-two volleys were fired at the Tower of London, 41 at Hyde Park and 21 at Woolwich Arsenal. The number is specified in the King's regulations. A war office spokesman said the regulation was based on "certain traditions but the explanation is lost in history."

The Royal gun salute always remains at those prescribed volleys except in the case of the monarch's death. Only then does the number of volleys become the same at all gun sites—the same as the late sovereign's age.

Lonely Outposts Proclaim New Sovereign

LONDON, Feb. 9 — (Reuters), —Lonely outposts of the Commonwealth today proclaimed Queen Elizabeth II in ceremonies siimlar to those enacted in London Friday.

And messages of sympathy continued to pour into this capital from throughout the world, three days after the death of the King.

Reuter correspondents in far-off colonies and territories described these proclamation scenes:

Hong Kong: While sampans with tattered sails drifted lazily on the blue waters of the harbor here, Elizabeth was proclaimed Queen by Governor Sir Alexander Grantham in a brief ceremony.

When Sir Alexander finished reading the proclamation, a 21-gun salute roared across the harbor, reverberating against the surrounding mountains.

Among the flags flying at masthead throughout the colony was the red and gold banner of Communist China.

Singapore: Under a fierce equatorial sun, 4,000 civilians and servicemen stood silently outside the City Hall while Sir Franklin Gimson proclaimed the accession.

While the proclamation was being read in English, Malay, Chinese, and Tamal, a truncheon, presented by Queen Victoria to the 1st Battalion of King Edward II's Own Gurkhas, was raised high above the parade ground.

Fiji Proclamation

Suva, Fiji: This hurricane ravaged island proclaimed the accession of the Queen near a memorial commemorating the cession of Fiji to Queen Victoria by island chiefs in 1874.

The ceremony was performed by A. J. Stoddard, Acting Governor, before a large crowd of natives.

Korea: British, Canadian, and New Zealand gunners of the Commonwealth Division here fired a salute as division flags were run to the top of the masthead for the formal proclamation.

Officers and warrant officers have been ordered to wear black armbands. All sports except "friendly" games, have been cancelled.

HOG PRICES

STRATFORD, Feb. 9 (CP) — Truck hog prices remained unchanged today at $25.50.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Feb. 9—(CP)—Most prices were lower in dull early trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Commercial demand was thin on the unsteady market. Only a few routine shipper orders came out in oats and barley in connection with domestic requirements.

11 a.m. prices:

Oats: May ⅝ lower 91⅛A; July ¼ lower 81½; Oct. unch 79½.

Barley: May ⅝ lower 1.33¼B; July ½ lower 1.22¼; Oct. ⅜ lower 1.18⅜B.

Rye: May unch 1.98⅞B; July ½ lower 1.90½; Oct. not open.

Flax: May unch 4.63; July 1¼ higher 4.50; Oct. not open.

Royal Sidelights

LONDON, Feb. 9 (AP) — Elizabeth II saw herself proclaimed Queen of the realm.

She and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, hurried back to their official residence at Clarence House yesterday from the accession ceremony at nearby St. James's Palace and watched closely the entire 54-minute telecast of the proclamation ceremony from a palace balcony and from Trafalgar Square and Temple Bar in downtown London.

The Queen heard a man's voice order, "Garter, put your hat on," at the end of the proclamation, and she asked her secretary to find out what had happened.

The explanation: It was the Duke of Norfolk talking in an aside to Sir George Bellow, the Garter King-of-Arms, who read the proclamation.

CAERNARVON, Wales, Feb. 9 (AP)—History was made at Caernarvon when, for the first time on record, the accession proclamation was read in the Welsh language. The Home Office in London first gave its approval for the innovation.

LONDON, Feb. 9 — (AP)—Lord Derby, the Lord Lieutenant of Lancashire, decreed the correct form of the Royal toast in Lancashire would be, "The Queen, the Duke of Lancashire."

This is contrary to precedent set in the reign of Queen Victoria, said court officials. Derby said it will be that way, anyhow.

LONDON, Feb. 9 — (AP)—Churches of all denominations will hold commemorative services for the King Sunday.

The Archbishop of York, Dr. Cyril F. Garbett, will preach at Westminster Abbey memorial services. Bernard Cardinal Griffin, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Westminster, will attend services of benediction in Westminster cathedral Sunday night. The congregationalist service will include the Queen Mother's favorite hymn, "The Lord is My Shepherd." The Archbishop of Canterbury will broadcast from Lambeth Palace at 8 p.m. (3 p.m. EST).

LONDON, Feb. 9 — (AP)—Some 10,000 police have been assigned to control the throngs who are expected to line streets Monday when the King's body is brought to London from Sandringham.

Money On Line Before Case Heard In Court

COBOURG, Feb. 9—(ENS) — Magistrate R. B. Baxter expressed traces of annoyance over requests for remands and adjournments when he commented in police court that he suspected that some lawyers had a motive which might be considered an abuse of the courts. His Worship's remarks followed the statement of a defense counsel that he was not making a plea or election at the present time and that he wanted an adjournment until Monday for his client, charged with false pretenses and that when the case came up on Monday he intended to ask for a remand. "I have a sneaking idea, although I may be wrong, that some counsel are abusing the courts and keep matters adjourned until the accused can arrange to raise the money for his defence. I understand that this was done recently in asking for trial by a higher court. I don't know whether this is an abuse or not," said Magistrate Baxter.

The still air in the little church was fragrant from the wreaths of lillies of the valley, roses, carnations, hyacinths and apple blossoms.

The body of the King will lie in the church until Monday. Then it will be taken by special train to London for its last lying-in-state at Westminster Hall.

No services will be held Sunday in the church.

The 25-year-old Queen came home at last to her dead father at dusk Friday after pledging faithful sovereignty and being proclaimed through the land. She had driven 130 miles from London in her green Rolls Royce limousine.

Part of the time, her young husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, was at the wheel, with the Queen beside him in a footman's seat.

Goes To Father

Composed but mistly-eyed, Elizabeth greeted her mother, her sister and her two children with embraces and kisses. Then she walked to the bedroom where lay her father.

Soon after, while a sharp wind whispered dismally from the east and the moon cast silver over the dark pines and yew trees, the body of the dead sovereign was wheeled slowly to the little church, 250 yards away.

Screens of sackcloth shielded the sorrowful procession from the view of silent, watchful subjects along the roadway.

Along "the King's Walk," so-called because it was one of his favored paths for strolling, went the little band of mourners.

Piper Precedes Coffin

The King's piper preceded the coffin. From his bagpipe came the saddest of the highland laments, "Flowers of the Forest."

Behind the coffin walked the Queen and her mother, heavily veiled, arm-in-arm. Then came Princess Margaret and the Duke, followed by a few others of the royal entourage.

On the porch of the church, its rector, the Rev. Hector Anderson, received the cortege.

The lament of the pipe wailed and was silent.

The coffin was borne in, and there was a short, private service. The mourners walked back to the house.

Queen Elizabeth has been under great strain—the shock of the news which reached her in Africa, the 4,000-mile journey home, the necessity to put duty ahead of sorrow before she could come to her family.

She was said to be bearing it with "great courage," but today and Sunday she was expected to rest.

Retains Composure

Her widowed mother, too, was salad to be bearing up with the composure required of royalty.

Police and government officials were completing final arrangements for Monday's journey with the King's body from the church to London.

The cortege is expected to leave the church about 11 a.m. on a gun-carriage drawn by the horses and men of the Royal Horse Artillery. Straight-backed soldiers from the King's company of Grenadier Guards will escort it to the four-car funeral train.

Soon after noon the train is to draw away, passing slowly so those who wish may pay homage along the way,

In London, many craftsmen labored to complete the catafalque on which the King's body will lie in state next week.

There, Monday, in the hall which has cradled English history for nearly nine centuries, the Queen, her mother and others of the Royal Family will join members of both Houses of Parliament in a memorial service.

Five of Europe's kings and one queen will attend Friday's funeral service.

Beside Catafalque

Before the cortege arrives from Sandringham, at 4.15 p.m., the dukes, earls and other peers of the kingdom, led by the scarlet-robed Lord Chancellor, will file to places along one side of the catafalque. Members of the Commons will stand to the other side.

The Archdeacon of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffery Fisher, and the Dean of Westminster, Dr. Alan C. Don, will meet the cortege with the Duke of Norfolk, Earl Marshal of England, and the Lord Great Chamberlain, Lord Cholmondeley.

The coffin will be carried into the hall through great, iron-studded doors, with Queen Elizabeth, her mother, and other members of the family following it. They will stand at the end of the coffin during the service to be conducted by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

The short service will consist of the saying of the lesser Litany, the Lord's prayer, and a memorial prayer. Then all will sing "Abide With Me." A benediction will end the service.

The catafalque on which the body will lie in state is being built in six tiers on a lozenge-shaped base 42 feet long and 17 feet wide.

Near the centre two steps lead to a four-foot wide platform where a guard of honor will be mounted day and night.

Use Only One Wreath

On a central plinth, two steps higher, the coffin will rest, draped in the Royal standard and bearing only one wreath, that of the new Queen.

The Imperial crown will rest on a purple cushion in the middle. The King's sceptre will lie over his left hand. Over his right hand will lie the orb, a sphere surmounted by a cross, symbolizing kingly power and justice.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday more than 1,000,000 citizens are expected to file past the bier in the great stone-flagged hall, their footsteps muffled by a thick fawn carpet spread over the 16,000-square-foot floor.

IN MOURNING—Workmen are shown hanging black and purple drapes about the main doors of the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa in mourning for the King. The drapes will remain until Friday, Feb. 15, the day of the royal funeral.

15,000 Cheering Singing "Ike" Rooters Stage Rally To Boost Him For President

NEW YORK, Feb. 9—(AP)—An estimated 15,000 cheering, singing "Ike" rooters today told General Dwight D. Eisenhower they wanted him to be the next president of the United States.

Undaunted by his absence in Europe, an unusually youthful crowd, led by equally youthful politicians, converged on Madison Square Garden late Friday night and stayed until the early hours in the morning.

Colorfully clad Texans, placard-carying Long Islanders, a score of Louisianans, winter-clad sportsmen from New Hampshire paraded through west-side streets to the arena for the presidential year's first major political rally.

Arthur H. Vandenberg, Jr., national chairman of the new 'Citizens for Eisenhower", said "a turnout of this proportion at this stage of the campaign is unheard of".

The midnight "Serenade for Eisenhower" was the first of a series planned for different parts of the United States.

Bedecked with flags and bunting, with a sea of "Ike" pictures, placards, and buttons, the Garden had only one indication that it was the scene only moments earlier of a prize fight.

Stars of the entertainment world such as Clark Gable and Ethel Merman and song writer Irving Berlin appeared.

Canadian Officers Swear Allegiance

LONDON, Feb. 9 — (CP) — Canadian military officers in London swore allegiance today to the Queen.

A dozen officers of the Canadian Joint Staff promised to be "faithful and bear true allegiance to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth II, her heirs and successors according to law, so help me God."

The ceremony was carried out in the office of Lt.-Cmdt. William P. Hayes of Swift Current, Sask., staff gunnery officer.

Food For Village

AQUILA, Italy, Feb. 9 (Reuters)—Rescuers today cut through towering snowdrifts to rush food and medical supplies to the marooned village of Campotosto, 4,700 feet up in the wild Abruzzi mountains near here. Snow has cut off Campotosto's 1,500 citizens from the outside world for about three weeks.

Approve Budget

PARIS, Feb. 9 — (AP). — The temporary council committee of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Friday approved unanimously the 1952 military budget for each of the 12 member countries.

Seek Gerald Curry

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 9 — (ENS)—Provincial police here are trying to locate a former Campbellford resident, Gerald Curry, who is believed to be working in the vicinity of Toronto. Mr. Curry's sister, Mrs. John Quinn, of Seymour township, about three miles north-east of Campbellford, suffered a stroke on Friday and is in serious condition. He, or anyone knowing his whereabouts, is asked to call the Ontario Provincial Police at Campbellford 720.

Allies Lose Nine Planes During Week

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 9 (AP).—Nine United States Fifth Air Force planes were lost in North Korea in the week ending Friday. The Communists lost none.

The Air Force, in its weekly summary, said Red anti-aircraft batteries protecting vital Red targets shot down seven United Nations planes. One F-86 Sabre jet was lost in a jet battle, and one plane crashed after a mechanical failure.

Last week the Fifth Air Force lost 14 planes. The weekly average is about 10.

Allied pilots claimed damage to nine Russian-made MIG-15 jets during the week, but they all managed to limp back to their Manchurian sanctuary.

In Tokyo, Far East air forces said 355 Communist planes of all types have been destroyed since the war began. Another 102 were listed as probably destroyed and 403 damaged. This included 220 MIGs destroyed, 53 probably destroyed and 343 damaged.

U.N. Losses 488

Allied losses were given as 488 planes, including 186 jets. This includes some marine losses but none for the navy.

The Fifth Air Force report came as most of its planes were grounded by snow flurries and thick clouds.

Australian Fires Reported Easing

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 9 — (AP)—Cooler weather brought a break today in this country's worst fire season in 13 years.

The slight relief came after 17 persons perished in the last few weeks in scattered fires that whipped through great areas of Eastern Australia's bush country. Some 250,000 sheep have been lost and hundreds of square miles of grazing land seared.

Most fires were under control today, but one big one still swept through thinly-settled scrub country in Northwest New South Wales.

A volunteer army of firefighters Friday night saved Kandoe, a town of 2,500 some 150 miles northwest of Sydney, by burning a two-mile firebreak on the edge of town.

A few fires in the tinder-dry hills have been burning a month and are likely to keep spreading until rains end the summer drought.

Firefighters have concentrated on saving isolated homes in the paths of flames moving sometimes along 20 mile fronts.

Debra Paget, 18 But Never Had Date Yet

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 9 — (AP) —It doesnt seem possible in the second half of the 20th century—but beautiful starlet Debra Paget is 18 and has never had a date.

Yep, it sounded unlikely to me, too, since Debra is such a sharp-looking chick. But she doesn't think there is anything unusual about it.

"I don't know why people should be amazed," she remarked. "I have lots of girl friends who don't date until they are even older than I am."

I watched her doing a love scene with Cameron Mitchell for "Les Miserables," and she did a convincing job of it. But she assured me that her romance will be restricted to the movie sets.

"Right now the thing that interests me most is my career," she said. "I feel that I should devote all my time to it. If I had dates, they would interfere with my work, and they don't mean that much to me yet. Whenever I have some spare time, I like to spend it with my family. We have a very close family life, and we enjoy being together."

When will she find time for romance?

"When I find the man who will mean more to me than my career ..."

Dempsey On Celluloid

A notable social function was the luncheon given by Bob Hope for Jack Dempsey, who is playing a fight referee in "Military Policeman." Bob kept the sporting crowd in stitches telling about his brief boxing career under the name of Packy East. "I fought three bouts and would have won the third one," he remarked, "except that the referee stepped on my hand."

H added that Bing Crosby had been hurt by the slurs against his golf game made by an English paper. "Bing could not be here today because he is consulting his financiers," Bob remarked. "He may not make the loan this year."

Bethany W.A Begins Drive For Used Clothes

BETHANY, Feb. 9 — (ENS)— There was an attendance of 28 at the meeting of the Women's Association of the United Church held at the home of Mrs. H. H. Ryley and Mrs. Bruce Ryley on Tuesday. Mrs. Mansell Finney presided for the devotional and business period. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Reg. Edmunds. Miss Lily Thompson gave the lesson explanation and led in prayer. The minutes of the previous meeting and correspondence which includede letters of thanks from shut in members were read by Mrs. Walter Rowland.

A request was received for a donation to the new United Church Training School to be built in Toronto, which was further explained by the Rev. James Hampson. In this connection a committee comprised of Mrs. M. Finney, Mrs. W. Royland, Mrs. Clarence Rowan and Rev. James Hampson were appointed. A request for new and used clothing for mission work was also received.

A committee of Mrs. G. Waddell, Mrs. Wellington Fallis and Mr. Hampson were requested to purchase new curtains for the choir loft.

The program was in charge of Miss Elsie Richardson. Mrs. W. Fallis gave a reading "Forget It And How." Mrs. T. Jennings read "February Days" and Mrs. Clarence Rowan gave the topic "Who Is On The Lord's Side?"

"Take The Name of Jesus With You" was sung in unison and following the closing prayer, a social hour was enjoyed.

Assisting the hostess in serving lunch were Mrs. Clarence Neals, Mrs. R. Edmunds, Mrs. Clarence Rowan, Miss L. Thompson and Mrs. James McKinnon.

Mrs. Lloyd Kennedy expressed the thanks of the members to the Ryley family for the used of their home.

Saturday Bank Closing Delayed One Week

TORONTO, Feb. 9—(CP)—L. G. Gillett, president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, announced Friday that Saturday closing of chartered bank branches in 14 of Canada's larger cities had been delayed a week until Feb. 23.

It originally was planned to initiate Saturday closings Feb. 16 but all branches will be closed Feb. 15 as part of the national day of mourning for the King.

"It would be a hardship on bank customers in the 14 cities involved if branches remained closed from Thursday night until monday morning," Mr. Gillett said in a statement.

The cities concerned are Victoria, New Westminster, Vancouver, Winnipeg, Windsor, London, Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, Hull, Quebec, Saint John and Halifax.

TRAVEL—with Jean Stenton

Air Travel, Low Tourist Rates Opening New Vistas For Small-Salaried Traveller On Short Holiday

For the vacationer with as little as two weeks, air travel possesses the ideal component of taking as little time as possible en route to a favorite spot and at new low rates that bring it within the pocketbook of students and stenographers.

Trips to Europe and the Caribbean are no longer an impossibility. Travelling by plane saves so much time and the new tourist rates effective May 1, are so close to steamship rates that it is opening up an entirely new market in the tourist world. You can go to the Old World in the spring or visit the south in winter for what you would spend junketing deep into the US or across Canada.

Trans-Canada Airlines has just announced that commencing May 1 they will be scheduling daily flights at the new low rates to the United Kingdom and Europe. This will be the only carrier from Canada offering a daily service to Europe and reductions will range as much as $208.80.

Canadians will be much more fortunate than their fellow passengers in the United States. Across the border, airline coaches are being pressed into service, but at the cost of comfort, having less leg room and with five, instead of four seats abreast in the plane. The aisle will be narrowed from 18 to 14 inches.

No Space Cutting

But at present, TCA intends to carry the same number of passengers—40—under the new tourist setup as they do now on first class Trans-Atlantic flights, with four seats abreast. There will be no reduction in leg room, or the width of the aisle, and the planes will still carry two attendants.

The big changes announced to date in the new setup are the reduction in baggage carried free and that passengers must now pay for their own meals. Free baggage will be cut from 66 to 40 pounds. However, charges on excess baggage will be reasonable. Inexpensively priced meals will be made available to passengers and tea, coffee, gum, and hard candy will be offered without charge. There will be no bar service.

TCA announced fare reductions of 7 per cent on flights to the United States, United Kingdom, Europe, Bermuda and the West Indies on January 22.

They were made as result of the Canadian dollar and the United States dollar reaching near parity. The dollar saving is being passed on to travellers. For example, it will mean a lower fare between Montreal and London than from New York to London. Reductions in these range from $26 on a one-way ticket to $48.10 for "on season" return. Still greater reductions will occur with the introduction of the tourist service May 1.

Big Advantage

Another advantage offered by TCA is the continuation of the "on" and "off" season rates. During the "off" season, a considerable saving on tickets to Europe and other points can be made and the "off" season lasts from November 1 to March 31. The "on" season runs from May 1 to October 31.

However tourist rates will definitely be lower than present "off" season rates. A round trip fare between Toronto and London, England would be reduced from $551.80 to $454.30 on an "off" season ticket under the May 1 schedule. The "on" season fare will be reduced from $730.80 to $522 under the new setup. From Montreal to London, the "on" season round trip fare will be $477 and the "off" season rate will be $409.30.

Many prefer air travel to that by ship because the formalities are reduced to a minimum. Attendants are extremely courteous and helpful; baggage is checked and weighed before going aboard. All a passenger has to do is be at the field at the right time and the air line does the rest. Customs examinations and immigration check-ups are much simpler and shorter than most travellers experience when travelling by boat.

Planes Compact

Although TCA planes used for overseas travel look small to be winging their solitary way across the Atlantic, they are amazingly compact and comfortable. There are adjustable seats like arm chairs and they have allowed much greater leg room than on some of the European aircraft.

The galley is a fascinating place. A small cubicle through which passengers pass when they board the plane, it has everything to promote efficiency. Menus consist largely of frozen foods which can be heated and prepared rapidly. The steward prepares the food and the stewardess puts it on the trays and carries it to the passengers. The trays have slots so that the containers with food sit down in. If the aircraft rises or dips sharply, there is little danger of anything spilling. The tray, which rests on a pillow on the traveller's knee, is quite satisfactory.

Different Perspective

Even the scenery is enjoyable. From the air, the passenger gets quite a different picture to that from car or train and it holds a never-ending fascination. Canadian air safety regulations are among the strictest in the world and TCA will continue to maintain the same high safety standards under their bargain flights.

It is expected that the new tourist rates, coupled with the US and Canadian dollar levelling off at par, will be an important factor in filling up the commercial aircraft flying across the Atlantic to Great Britain and the Continent. The new fares will also enable many to enjoy a package tour either in the British Isles or Europe at the approximate cost of what a round trip ticket alone would be in the past.

Plan Fire Inquest

TIMMINS, Feb. 9 — (CP). — An inquest will be held Wednesday into the death of five young children burned to death here last Tuesday in a fire which roared through their four-room home. All members of the Edmour Poissant family, they were buried on Friday in a common grave in the Timmins Roman Catholic Cemetery. At the time of the blaze, the father, a miner, was working and the mother was delivering laundry.

Investors Face Dilemma As Prices Slip

By DICK BAIDEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Industrials' irregular decline on stock markets this week—the first substantial loss of the year—again dropped investors into the dilemma of divided professional opinion.

The Toronto stock exchange's index of 20 selected issues opened the year at 341.06. The following five weeks produced minor fluctuations of about a point but this week the index dropped from 341.19 to 337.15—a loss of 4.04 points.

Although most opinion tended to be pessimistic, traders noted that volume decreased as prices slipped and that selling pressure was noticeably light. Trading during the week was mainly in selected leading issues.

New York's Wall Street Journal commented: "A lot of bullish fuel has been utilized in the shape of splits, increased dividends, etc., and the market has become jaded."

Weakened Steadily

Toronto opened the week optimistically but steadily weakened. Papers eased in Montreal. Late strength Tuesday in Toronto checked declining prices but Montreal papers and industrials dipped steadily. Toronto showed little change Wednesday in irregular trading while Montreal papers and industrials strengthened. Sudden interest in golds yesterday boosted the Toronto index more than a point. Papers and industrials eased in Montreal.

Prices slipped in a general decline in New York Monday and the selling carried through Tuesday's session. Automobiles took command yesterday and led the list for a slow advance.

From Friday to Friday the Toronto stock exchange indices showed industrials down 4.04 at 337.15, golds up .10 at 81.02, base metals down .03 at 201.79 and western oils up .75 at 138.14.

In the Montreal averages, banks were down .15 at 30.26, utilities down .1 at 87.7, industrials down .8 at 26.7, combined down .6 at 180.4, papers down 1.04 at 790.85 and golds down .64 at 65.94.

In New York, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dropped 60 cents to 100.90.

Granted Permission

LONDON, Feb. 9 — (Reuters)— King George VI, in one of his last official acts, gave unrestricted permission to 13 British officers to wear decorations conferred on them by President Truman for services in Korea. This was announced in the London Gazette on Friday night.

Dared Husband To Shoot Him

BRAMPTON, Feb. 9 (CP)—A wife testified Friday that the "other man" in a love triangle dared her husband to shoot him.

The husband, Marvin Hendrickson, 34, is on trial on a charge of attempted murder in the gunshot wounding Dec. 19 of Frank Hackim, 56.

Mrs. Hendrickson told Mr. Justice W. F. Spence and an Ontario Supreme Court jury that on several occasions she and Hackim had sexual relations. She said her husband became suspicious because of a change in her attitude.

When Hackim went to the Henrickson apartment at Cooksville, near here, that December day, Hendrickson asked him to sign a paper admitting he had been friendly with her, she said.

"My husband had a gun. Hackim dared him to shoot and he did."

The trial is continuing.

A Noble Eulogy

Although it has been possible to hear Winston Churchill on the radio on several occasions since the war, many of us had not done so until Thursday night, when his eulogy upon the late King was re-broadcast by the C.B.C. The voice was older and the pronunciation somewhat less crisp, but the old magic was there, and a degree of tenderness and intimacy which the fighting speeches of the war years had necessarily lacked. In the course of history many eulogies have been spoken upon the deaths of monarchs; some, doubtless, have surpassed this one in the greatness of their poetic sweep and the richness of their language. Few, we think, have equalled it in simplicity, feeling and unfeigned nobility.

• • •

Once more we are in Churchill's debt for a demonstration of what the aristocratic principle can mean in politics. To many people aristocracy signifies hauteur, privilege and remoteness from ordinary life; in its truest form, as exemplified by Mr. Churchill, it means, rather, the pride which springs from a great sense of responsibility, the privilege which is won by uncommon capabilities, and the understanding of life which is possible to one who is free from trivial considerations of personal advantage. Royalty is not so far removed from the Marlborough family that Mr. Churchill is not able to know the Royal Family upon terms of considerable intimacy; his personal gifts are such that he has been thrown much into the company of royalty. Therefore he, far better than all but a few men, is able to tell us what our late King was as a man; his eyes are not dimmed by the blaze of the crown, nor are his judgements warped by the meanness of class hatred.

• • •

It was of a man that Churchill spoke with love and understanding. He spoke with touching simplicity and perfect authority. His eulogy on George VI will stand among his greatest addresses.

Is The Seaway More Or Less Useful?

The New York Times has questioned whether the St. Lawrence Seaway is as essential as its proponents argue. There is less doubt about the hydro-electric plant which is proposed, than about the navigation channel, the great New York voice says.

"We do not know within a margin of error that may be as much as 100 per cent. what the seaway itself will cost. We do not know what the carrying charges will be, since we do not know the cost. We do not know how much tonnage will pass through the seaway again within a margin that may be as wide as 100 per cent. We do not know whether the seaway is worth building for the sake of reaching the Labrador iron deposits, which it is said we shall need because the Mesabi range is nearing exhaustion."

The Times quotes the "sensible" approach stated in a United States Senate minority report: "It is not simply a question of whether a project is useful. It is, in the last analysis, a question of whether it is more useful than some other project." It asks if the building of the seaway is more important than fulfilling American commitments to Europe? Or the development of the Atomic bomb as a tactical weapon? Or carrying out the implications of Point Four (economic aid to underdeveloped areas)? Or converting the Panama Canal into a sea-level waterway?

These questions are valid, and all have the same valid answer: an answer based on American practice which has made the United States today the world's greatest and wealthiest power. The answer is: The biggest and most valuable projects have never been completely calculable in either costs or effects. Nor has any people advanced (except an army) which devotes itself entirely to one project (called maintenance of the objective, in military terms).

The Alaska Highway is an example to give the New York Times. Even though its use for military need may have declined, its construction was thought essential to the preservation of the American nation in the forties. It was built in the midst of intense war far away, when great demands were being made on the American purse, energy and man-power for the main assaults. Did the United States reckon the cost within a margin of error as much as 100 per cent? Did it know what the carrying charges would be? Did it know what tonnage would pass over the highway within a margin of error as wide as a hundred per cent?

The argument may be used that the building of the Alaska Highway was a costly wartime folly, from an American point of view in 1952. That argument is not susceptible to proof, any more than are the effects of any other big project before history has sealed it. The Alaska Highway might have been absolutely essential to the military: it may prove even yet to be a military necessity. And it can easily become one of the major lasting benefits to this continent of the whole great effort made during the war.

The New York Times is too dubious about the Seaway, even allowing for the incalculables in any great undertaking. The essence of the St. Lawrence Seaway project is very simple. There is one stretch of the river of 47 miles where the international boundary runs through the middle of it. In this reach, rapids have been circumvented by only minor canals. To make this section suitable for ocean-going vessels is the last major requirement to provide a Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway. The cost of this work on the International Rapids section has been estimated at 250 million dollars. It is not an impossible price. Total estimates on the complete navigational and hydro-developments on the system have put the cost at less than a billion dollars.

No man can say whether the St. Lawrence project is more important than developing atomic weapons, providing aid to Africans or maintaining troops in Europe. The point is that the costs of the Seaway, compared with the costs of, say, defence, are small, and that the financial and economic resources of Canada and the United States are capable of finishing the Seaway and underwriting other projects as well.

The Seaway is not unimportant. Even special interests opposed to the plan (American railways, Atlantic ports and coastal states, Mississippi traffic entrepreneurs, and coal interests which fear competition from hydro-electric power), even these admit it importance. Otherwise, why would their objections be so strenuous, so persistent? Is a seaway plan not important which will bring ocean-going vessels into the heart of a great continent; which will revolutionize transport and power in great cities and populous states and provinces?

Can the usefulness of the Seaway be doubted when, already, the locks at Sault Ste. Marie carry more traffic in one season than passes through the Panama, Suez, Manchester Ship and Kiel Canals combined?

Cancer And The King

When the late King's serious illness first became public knowledge, and an operation to remove one of his lungs was necessary, it was widely rumored that cancer was the trouble. Understandably no physician wished to comment on the matter publicly, but in private it was said that recovery from such an illness, in such an advanced condition, was very rare, and that the outlook for the King was brief and grave. Now it is possible to say, without showing bad taste, that the King had cancer and that it was the indirect cause of his death.

It is no more deplorable that a king should die of cancer than that the least of his subjects should suffer a like fate; in such matters we are all on equal footing. But the King's death by cancer calls our attention, in the most dramatic fashion, to this disease which has during the past fifty years come very much into the public consciousness and also, it must be said, into public dread. Whether cancer is more widespread than formerly, or whether medical science now recognizes as forms of cancer many ills which previously went under other names, we are not in a position to say; but it is a fact that we hear more of cancer now than ever before.

Not all that we hear about it is bad. Great advances have been made in recognizing cancer in its early stages, and it is now common knowledge that a cancer diagnosed early has often a good chance of cure. We know that hundreds of the ablest biologists and physicians in the world are devoting all their skill and intuition to the study of this disease, and that while a cure for it has not been found, a cure is not regarded as an impossibility.

The death of His Majesty brings this struggle against cancer sharply to our attention once again, and we suggest that anyone who feels moved to make a personal act of tribute to the late King's memory could do no better than send a contribution to the Canadian Cancer Society.

NOTES AND COMMENT

An anthropologist says that man was as intelligent 10,000 years ago as he is today. Considering what an effort it would take to be stupider, we are not surprised that the lazy rascal has avoided it.

The Guelph Mercury asks: "What's worse than squeaky shoes in a public library?" Well, we suggest squeaky people. Or people who use a juicy pipe as a bookmark. Or people who write back-answers in the margins of books whose opinions they don't like. Or those people who make the books smell as though they had been fried in deep fat. Or people who put in the things the artists left out of the pictures in the art books.

Logic And The Dangers Of History

REFLECTIONS ON THE WORLD TODAY by Paul Valery (Pantheon Books Inc.).

TO HAVE a mania for yesterday's books is indeed a madness; there are other books which bear reading and mention in such a column as this other than those published last week. Some good books have been friends to many generations; there are others, new acquaintances, worth cultivating. Such a new acquaintance is Paul Valery's 'Regards sur le Monde Actuel', published in 1945, and in English in an abridged edition in 1948, under the title "Reflections On the World Today."

It is a selection of essays and lectures by a French poet and essayist, a man of cultivated insight. Paul Valery was born in 1871; he died just before this English edition was published. His lucid imagination, his freedom from the patterned thinking of conventional political and social historians, and the quality of his logic make the essays truly remarkable. No attempt will be made here to assess them or analyze his philosophic system or lack of it. (The lack may be expected from the dedication—"To those who adhere to no system or political party and who, therefore, are still at liberty to question what is in doubt and not free to deny what is beyond question".) Paul Valery speaks brilliantly for himself. Hear him on history.

"History is the most dangerous concoction the chemistry of the mind has produced. Its properties are well known. It sets peoples dreaming, intoxicates them, engenders false memories, exaggerates their reflexes, keeps old wounds open, torments their leisure, inspires them with megalomania or persecution complex, and makes nations bitter, proud, insufferable and vain.

"History can justify anything you like. It teaches strictly nothing, for it contains and gives examples of everything."

ALTHOUGH he does not set up a rationale or develop a coherent and full exposition —perhaps he is an artist, not a plodder, in thought—he does fortify his statements by reasons. He says that in the present state of the world the danger of being beguiled into history is greater than it ever was.

In Valery's view the age of the finite world is beginning. The entire habitable world has now been explored, seized, and shared among nations. "An entirely new, excessive, and instantaneous solidarity between regions and events is already a most marked result of this development. We must henceforth relate all political phenomena to this new universal condition, since they all represent a resistance or compliance to the effects of this final delimitation and increasingly close interdependence of human dealings. The habits, ambitions and loyalties we have acquired in the course of our past history have not ceased to exist, but moving into a society of very different structure, they are losing their meaning and becoming the source of fruitless endeavours and mistakes".

The main preoccupation of politicians used to be, he says, to acquire territory. To this end, they used force, they deprived someone else of the land they coveted, and that was the whole story. "But we can all see undertakings, which were once restricted to a conference, followed by a duel, followed by an agreement, must from now on give rise to such inevitable generalizations as 'nothing can be done without having the whole world interfere', and that no one will ever be able to foresee or set limits to the almost immediate effects of what has once been initiated."

✧ ✧ ✧

THIS passage—indeed the whole essay—and following passages in it are among the most remarkable in the book.

He says that the forecasts which it was once possible to make, the traditional calculations, have become more futile, than they ever were.

"The aftermath of the recent war is showing us how certain events which in the past would have determined, for a long period and in accordance with their decisions, the features and development of world politics are becoming in the space of a few years as though devitalized, absorbed, and contradicted by their immediate consequences, owing to the number of agents involved, and the extended range and complexity of interests.

"We must expect such transformations to become the rule. The farther we go, the less simple will effects become, the less shall we be able to foresee them, and the less will political operations and even armed interventions or, in a word, visible and direct action, be what one expects them to be.

"Since effects are becoming so rapidly incalculable from their causes, and even turn against their causes, perhaps from now on it will appear childish, dangerous, and mad to 'court' an event, to try to produce it, or to prevent if from taking place; perhaps the political mind will cease 'thinking in terms of events', a habit essentially due to and encouraged by history. It is not that there will be no more events or 'crucial moments' in the course of time; there will indeed be immense ones! But those whose function it is to wait them, to prepare for or to avert them, will necessarily learn to be more than ever sceptical of their consequences. It will no longer suffice to combine desire and power when launching some enterprise. Nothing has been more discredited by the last war than the pretensions to foresight. Yet it seems to me that there was then no lack of historical knowledge."

Remarkable analyses and judgements, are they not? More remarkable still do they appear when one realizes that the above passages were written in 1931, and refer to the Great War of 1914-18 and its aftermath.

✧ ✧ ✧

SUCH is the quality and validity of Paul Valery's reasoning. It is an artist's perception as well as logician's coherence. He seems to have an intuitive capacity to sense the miasma and reality which lie beneath facts, events and mole-hills of scholarship.

There are wise, pungent and astonishing observations on a dozen different, though related subjects in this 200-page book which includes a foreward—one of the longer essays in it—written in 1931 for a predecessor of this "Reflections on the World Today". Here are some jottings taken at random from various chapters—Napoleon, who was passionately fond of history "began to wane as soon as he ceased to astound" . . .

"There is nothing easier than to point out the absence, from history books, of major phenomena which were imperceptible owing to the slowness of their evolution. They escape the historian's notice because no document expressly mentions them."

"Anyone who is honest with himself and who is reluctant to speculate on objects which cannot be connected rationally with his own experience no sooner opens his newspaper than he finds himself entering a disordered metaphysical world. What he reads and hears is strangely out of keeping with whatever he observes or is in a position to observe. If he sums up his impression, he finds himself thinking: No politics without myths" . . .

"The new state-craft is to the old what the stock-jobbers hasty reckoning, the nervous movements of speculation in the precincts of the stock exchange, its sharp fluctuations and reversals, its unsteady profits and losses, are to the old economy of the family man, the slow and careful accumulation of patrimonies . . . Long-laid plans, the profound thought of a Machiavelli or a Richelieu, would in our time, have no more consistency or value than a stock-exchange tip."

"History will never record anything more stupid than European competition in politics and economics, compared, combined and contrasted as it is with European unity and agreement in matters of science."

THESE quotations have been taken from the first thirty pages of the book, so rich it is in thought and phrase. Our copy is heavy with underlining, but space permits of few other quotations—for instance from his remarkable analysis of liberty, of the idea of dictatorship, of the European mind, of France, of destiny and literature. He is especially sensitive in dealing with common abstractions, like 'liberty', 'freedom', 'mind', 'nations', which defy definition and yet are bases of attitudes and thinking. A few short quotations at random: "When the State is strong, it crushes us. When it is weak we perish" . . . . "The dictator may begin to think of artificially creating the anguish and dangers in response to which the dictatorship was established. Images of war may then allure" . . . "In the French, an apparent levity of character is accompanied by a singular endurance and elasticity. The general ease and pleasantness of relationships unite in them with a formidable and constantly alert critical feeling" . . . "Paris is dominated by a completely mental mobility . . . . Bores do not find such favour as they enjoy in other cities of Europe; and this sometimes to the detriment of profound ideas" . . . (On Progress:) "Has not waste become a public and permanent necessity?" (On museums and galleries): "One of the surest and cruellest effects of Progress is thus to add to death an accessory pain, which is aggravated in proportion to the hastening of the revolution of habits, and ideas. It was not enough to perish; we must become unintelligible and almost ridiculous; and if one has been a Racine or Bossuet, take one's place among grotesque painted faces, tattooed, exposed to smiles and somewhat terrifying, which are lined up in galleries and imperceptibly blend into the stuffed representatives of the animal world".

These snippets are unfair to the themes of the book and Paul Valery's exquisite, logical mind. He has not set himself up as, nor appears to be, an epigrammatist, a phrase-maker or a debunker. Although he proposes rather than expounds his ideas, they are developed ideas.

The translation has been admirably made by Francis Scarfe.

✧ ✧ ✧

HAVING ALREADY quoted so liberally, to end this column as usual with another quotation seems overloading. We cannot refrain from these, which are somewhat related to Valery's comments on newspapers and history. The are from the Port Hope 'Guide', 1885, and are recalled in O. D. Skelton's monumental biography of Laurier. Before Riel's execution in November 1885, the Port Hope 'Guide' said: "It has come to a pretty pass indeed when a red-handed rebel can thus snap his fingers at the law." After the execution the Guide said: "It has come to a pretty pass indeed that in the noon-tide glare of the nineteenth century political offenders must suffer death if they dare to assert their just rights".

Historic Parallel - Elizabeth and Victoria

FROM THE MONTREAL STAR

NOT long after her return to England Queen Elizabeth will meet the Privy Council. The meeting is a necessary formality of accession to the throne, the first meeting of the new sovereign with her advisers. It is a solemn ceremony at which Privy Councillors will swear allegiance, kneeling before Her Majesty and kissing her hand.

It is an ordeal for a young woman but we can be sure that against the background of her training the new Queen will come through it royally, as did another young Queen 115 years ago. Victoria, a little younger than Elizabeth, came to the throne with far less preparation for regal office, but a natural dignity carried her through the long and tiresome ceremony and gave her an opportunity to display the natural grace that charmed friends and critics alike.

The story of this ceremony, which will be re-enacted soon with other principals, is best told by Charles Greville, the great diarist. Greville was in the best possible position to tell it, for he was Clerk of the Privy Council. It fell to him to get together the 220 Privy Councillors and to be present as Clerk throughout the ceremony. Here is his story as told in the famous diary under date of June 21, 1837:

✧ ✧ ✧

THE young Queen met the Council at Kensington Palace at eleven. Never was anything like the first impression she produced, or the chorus of praise and admiration which is raised about her manner and behaviour, and certainly not without justice.

It was very extraordinary, and something far beyond what was looked for. Her extreme youth and inexperience, and the ignorance of the world concerning her, naturally excited intense curiosity to see how she would act on this trying occasion, and there was a considerable assemblage at the Palace, notwithstanding the short notice which was given.

The first thing to be done was to teach her her lesson, which for this purpose Melbourne (Lord Melbourne, the Prime Minister) had himself to learn. I gave him the Council papers, and explained all that was to be done, and he went and explained all this to her. He asked her if she would enter the room accompanied by the Great Officers of State, but she said she would come in alone. When the Lords were assembled, the Lord President informed them of the King's death, and suggested, as they were so numerous, that a few of them should repair to the presence of the Queen and inform her of the event, and that their lordships were assembled in consequence; and accordingly the two Royal Dukes, the two Archbishops, the Chancellor and Melbourne went with him.

The Queen received them in the adjoining room alone. As soon as they had returned the proclamation was read and the usual order passed, when the doors were thrown open and the Queen entered, accompanied by her two uncles, who advanced to meet her. She bowed to the Lords, took her seat, and then read her speech in a clear, distinct and audible voice, and without any appearance of fear or embarrassment. She was quite plainly dressed, and in mourning.

AFTER she had read her speech and taken and signed the oath for the security of the Church of Scotland, the Privy Councillors were sworn, the two Royal Dukes first, by themselves; and as these two old men, her uncles, knelt before her, swearing allegiance and kissing her hand, I saw her blush up to the eyes, as if she felt the contrast between their civil and their natural relations, and this was the only sign of emotion which she evinced. Her manner to them was very graceful and engaging; she kissed them both, and rose from her chair and moved toward the Duke of Sussex, who was farthest from her and too infirm to reach her. She seemed rather bewildered at the multitude of men who were sworn, and who came one after another to kiss her hand, but she did not speak to anybody, nor did she make the slightest difference in her manner, or show any in her countenance, to any individual of any rank, station or party. I particularly watched her when Melbourne and the Ministers and the Duke of Wellington and Peel approached her.

She went through the whole ceremony, occasionally looking at Melbourne for instruction when she had any doubt what to do, which hardly ever occurred, and with perfect calmness and self-possession, but at the same time with a graceful modesty and propriety particularly interesting and ingratiating. When the business was done, she retired as she had entered.

(PEEL) said how amazed he was at her manner and behaviours, at her apparent deep sense of her situation, her modesty, and at the same time her firmness. She appeared, in fact, to be awed, but not daunted, and afterwards the Duke of Wellington told me the same thing, and added that if she had been his own daughter he could not have desired to see her perform her part better.

It was settled that she was to hold a Council at St. James's this day, and be proclaimed there at ten o'clock, and she expressed a wish to see Lord Albemarle, who went to her and told her he was come to take her orders. She said, "I have no orders to give; you know all this so much better than I do, that I leave it all to you. I am to be a St. James's at ten to-morrow, and must beg you to find me a conveyance proper for the occasion."

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus our Lord, according as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue: whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust.

And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; and to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; and to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity. . . . For so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. (II Pet. 1: 2-7, 11.)

✧ ✧ ✧

After these things I heard a great voice of much people in heaven, saying, Alleluia; Salvation, and glory, and honour, and power, unto the Lord our God. . . . And I heard as it were the voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of mighty thunderings, saying, Alleluia: for the Lord God omnipotent reigneth. (Rev. 19: 1, 6.)

Infiltration

(The Times, London)

Cockroaches in disconcerting numbers have begun to invade television screens in America, yet in this case it is difficult to muster the suppressed moral indignation with which infiltrators are usually regarded. It is not so much that one sympathizes with the cockroaches in their quest for warmth (for it is apparently this that draws them to the mysterious tubes inside the sets and accounts for their intermittent appearances on the screen); it is simply that one cannot help being mildly gratified when an elaborate and expensive invention has its leg pulled, on a nationwide scale, by one of the least glamorous forms of insect life.

Perhaps the people most adversely affected by this development are those who perform on television. In the cinema there has been recently a marked tendency for animals to steal the picture. Many a soulful or a sultry glance from the heroine's eyes has been largely wasted because the audience was much more interested in the rhinoceros which was about to charge her from behind, and great chunks of dialogue have been practically obliterated by the roars of carnivores and the gibbering of apes.

If actors in the studio have got to compete with unpredictable diversions by cockroaches it is going to be very hard on them. Nothing is more calculated to pervert the intentions of a lady singing "I'm going to wash that man right outa my hair" if it appears to some at any rate of her audience that her coiffure is rife with orthopterous insects; and how is the great actor to know that, when he starts back aghast and exclaims: "Is this a dagger that I see before me?", he will not appear to be quailing before a cockroach? No doubt television in the United States will survive this unexpected crisis; and it may be, of course, that viewers, by a judicious choice of programs, will subject the insects to an ordeal so severe that they will voluntarily withdraw to the wainscotting rather than continue an existence so intimately linked with commercial radio.

Nothing Tame About Shrew

("Answers", London)

A mouselike creature so small that it can be held in a closed fist has been making naturalists whistle with amazement. It is the short tailed shrew, and it was already remarkable enough in that it has an appetite for twice its weight every day, and has a distressing habit of dying of shock when in danger of being caught by man.

But the latest news about the shrew is even more remarkable. It has been discovered that it carries a nerve poison as deadly as that used by an Indian cobra and that the poison glands of a single shrew carry enough doses of it to kill 200 mice.

The danger from the shrew's venom is small, however, so far as man is concerned. For some reason the shrew is practically paralyzed with fear when he is detected by a human being, and scientists have handled dozens of them without being injured in any way.

When face to face with other creatures of garden and meadow, the shrew becomes a ferocious bundle of furry death.

One scientist put three shrews together in the same cage. A few hours later he found only one shrew left—and it had a very fat stomach.

In fact, his stomach is the shrew's greatest enemy, for it must be filled 24 times a day.

A·F·I·E·L·D with
NICK NICKELS

A week of inconsequential outdoors doings forced me to snoop in Miss Genevieve Sullivan's Five-Foot-Shelf of past-Peterborough history at the Public Library.

She rewarded my search by showing me a small volume from her desk, a diary entitled "Six Years in the Bush." Of battered condition and light contents, it nevertheless shed interesting observations about backwoods bush life through the experiences of a gay young English blade. He lived in Canada West—chiefly in the Fenelon Falls - Peterborough—area from 1832 until 1838.

His name was Thomas Need, a man so modest—as far as authorship was concerned—that his name appears nowhere in his book.

Need was an Oxford graduate and of considerable means. These he spent on bush real estate "where an acre was equivalent in price to a bottle of wine," in financing a sawmill, in hunting and fishing when he felt like it and attending social affairs whenever or wherever the occasion offered. Nor did he think twice of travelling to Peterborough, Cobourg, York, St. Thomas and other flourishing settlements of that day to hobnob with the "Gentry."

He was delighted to arrive in Kingston from New York on his way from the Old Country, to a land "under our own King's sceptre." Need observed in those days that "England thought only of glory, and damn the expense" and quotes a sample of this about two naval ships of the line in Kingston harbour:

> . . . the mouldering hulks of those threatened Leviathans of the lakes, the "St. Lawrence" and the "Psyche", each pierced for 120 guns. The latter is especially memorable for the unprecedented outlay upon her; she was first cut out in the rough then sent to England to be shaped, and finally returned to Canada to be finished, at a total cost to the nation of one million Sterling—The lakes she was intended to navigate are, it is well known, fresh water; and yet, by a truly Irish oversight, she was fitted with an apparatus for reducing salt water into fresh, in addition to a vast number of water casks . . .

Of ice fishing 110 years ago Need writes:

> On Chemong Lake, we observed some 40 or 50 Indians in their picturesque gypsy-like tents watching for fish. They will stand many hours together over a hole in the ice, darkened by blankets, with a fish spear in one hand and a wooden decoy fish, attached to a line, in the other, waiting for a maskalongy or pike, which they strike at with almost unerring certainty the moment the bait is seized. In this way, the skillful fisherman will sometimes catch 150 to 200 pounds weight of fish in a day; though, of course, very frequently they are a long time unsuccessful.

Through friendships made with members of the Family Compact he was appointed Commissioner for the improvement of inland navigation and was favoured by a visit from the Lieutenant-Governor at Fenelon Falls. Need did himself proud by giving his distinguished visitor a dinner party in his shanty:

> There was a noble maskalongy, supported by the choice parts of a couple of bucks; then for entremets, we had beaver tails (a rare delicacy), partridges, wild fowl and squirrels. My garden supplied the dessert, which consisted of melons, raised from English seed, but far exceeding their parent stock in size and flavour, plums, strawberries and apples. There were grapes, too, but the high-bush cranberry, by far the most delicate and most admired of all our native fruits, was not yet ripe. His Excellency declared himself well satisfied with the reception.

A notation in the month of July:

> This month was fine and favourable for the hay harvest. According to the Provincial Game Laws, deer hunting begins in July and ends in February, but this law, like many others in the growing Colony, is only of use inasmuch as it serves as a moral restraint upon the gentlemen: the mere backwoodsman regards it lightly enough, and the Indian not at all.

♠ ♠ ♠ ♠

Mr. Need pointed out that "Chemong" meant "the lake of canoes." This is an interesting point. We have lazily accepted that the name means "Mud". Present day Cree and Ojibway grammars show "Chee-man" means "canoe."

For Your Little Black Book

Canadian National Sportsmen's Show will be held in Toronto's Coliseum March 14 to 22. There are two special trains going up from Peterborough; on March 15, the CGE crowd will travel to the show en masse and on March 22, employees of the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Company . . . . A reminder to sportsmen about White Cane Week, featured elsewhere on this page. Many of the handicapped men were ardent fishermen and they still enjoy a day on the lakes. Tom McQuigge, Oswald Meagher, Earl Schwantz, Frank Simmonds and others would be glad to get an invitation from some of you chaps come spring. How about arranging to take them with you singly or in small groups now and then? Let these fellows SEE that you are unselfish fishermen.

Blind Run Diaper Laundry Raise Pure-Bred Canaries

By DONALD SWAIN

When he began losing his sight three years ago, Oswald Meagher hit upon the idea of starting a laundry service for baby diapers.

Tom McQuigge, blind in one eye since World War I, "didn't know what to do" when he lost the sight of his other eye nine years ago. Through the home teaching service of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Mr. McQuigge learned basket weaving and turned a hobby of raising canaries into a profitable sideline.

Today, these two local men are typical of thousands of blind persons who have adjusted themselves.

Baby Valet Service

Washing diapers is a full time job with Mr. Meagher. As chairman of the local White Cane Week committee, he will be even busier this coming week (February 10-16) and Mr. McQuigge is looking forward to talking to district school children on the meaning of the white canes blind people carry.

After 21 years as a mail carrie, Mr. Meagher learned that he would soon lose his sight. With a wife and two small children to support (Patricia, now four and Billy 11) he faced up to his approaching blindness and discussed different ways of meeting the situation.

With six-week old Patricia taking up most of her time, Mrs. Meagher often remarked on the amount of time she had to spend washing diapers.

About the same time, a magazine story about a Toronto man who had started a diaper service prompted Mr. Meagher to look into the posibility of starting one in Peterborough. He found there was no similar service in the city and purchased a small automatic washer and electric drier. Soon, he was up to his elbows in suds, and in the diaper business, in one room of his home at 464 Driscoll Terrace.

Expanded Business

A counsellor of the CNIB heard of his enterprise and encouraged him to buy more machinery and expand. With the assistance of the institute, an addition was built at the rear of the Meagher's home and a large washer and revolving drier were installed.

The idea caught on fast. Folders advertising Meagher's Baby Valet Service were sent to all new mothers, and newspaper and radio advertising were used to boost the new laundry service.

JESTS

Too late the forward youth shall find
That jokes are sometimes paid in kind;
Of if they canker in the breast,
He makes a foe who makes a jest.

John Gay: Fables I, 1727.

Mr. Meagher gives doctors a good deal of credit for getting him new customers and now is branching out into other lines of "flat" laundry (uniforms, blankets, and towels) at the request of local service clubs and industries.

To speed up pick-up and delivery, a truck was purchased, and George Gaivey, Mrs. Meagher's brother was hired as driver.

Mr. Meagher does everything in connection with laundering the diapers except sort them, because of course, he can't see the numbers identifying whom they belong to.

"Not having to go out to work in a factory every day and still being able to learn a living right at home, means a lot," Mr. Meagher explains. The diapers go through eight processes, including several rinsings before they come out "fluffy dry" and Mr. Meagher operates both machines and helps wrap the parcels.

For recreation, he bowls Thursday nights with other blind bowlers in the city. Mr. Meagher not only bowls, he holds the city blind bowling championship and the Canadian championship for high triples by a blind bowler as well. He won the title last spring with a 767 triple and his singles score of 281 made him runner-up in that department.

Foreman Makes Baskets

Until 1940, Tom McQuigge was a foreman with the Department of Highways working out of Marmora. He came to Peterborough that year and was foreman of the CGE gate patrol until 1943. He had lost his left eye in World War I and the loss of the sight of his good right eye forced him to give up his job nine years ago.

He credits the home teaching service of the CNIB with lifting him out of the doldrums and giving him a new outlook on life. "I didn't know what I was going to do," he explains." A man can't sit down and dry up when he goes blind. He has to get busy and do something."

Tom McQuigge did just that. Miss Rose Munro, one of the institute's teachers from Kingston taught him how to do basket work and to use his own words, he "started feeling like a new man right away."

Now he weaves wastepaper baskets, clothes hampers, plant and magazines stands out of wood fiber strips which find a ready market locally during the spring and summer.

Raising Canaries

He also raises canaries, a hobby with him before he lost his sight and through CNIB counselling, he is now "quite happy and getting along fine."

Last year, he talked to several classes in city schools during White Cane Week. He says the results of this education program are quite evident. "You certainly can see the difference when you go down town. Five or six children often ask if you want to cross the street or catch a bus."

This year, Mr. McQuigge will be one of the blind people who will be visiting district schools during White Cane Week. As well as impressing school children with the maning of the white cane, he says he will also be emphasizing "care of the eyes". Mr. McQuigge says he regards the preventive aspect of blindness as being even more important than educating the public in how to assist and rehabilitate those who have lost their sight.

PART-TIME HOBBIES AND BIG BUSINESS occupy the lives of some blind people of Peterborough. Tom McQuigge of 7 Edgewater Blvd., Upper Photo, raises pure-bred canaries and does commercial basketry; he was organizer and first president of the Peterborough branch of the C.N.I.B. In Lower Photo, Oswald Meagher, of 464 Driscoll Terrace, operates a successful diaper service laundry from a plant at his home. Branch members lecture on assistance to the blind to city and county school children; they have noticed that street-crossing courtesy, as depicted in the photo at the Bottom of the page, has increased greatly during the past year.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

Winter Offers Opportunity To Study Beauty Of Tree

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

Freezing weather is the time to appreciate the winter value of evergreens and deciduous trees and shrubs that have peculiarly shaped and arranged trunks, branches or twigs.

Evergreens, whether their foliage is broad-leaved, like the rhododendrons, needle-shaped, such as that of pines and spruces, or scale-shaped, as that of the arborvitae, are special wintertime attractions.

Rhododendron foliage is a thermometer of sorts for as the temperature drops the leaves droop and curl inwards. At near zero they are curled so tightly that they are pencil-like in width.

Hemlock, fir and spruce needles lose their lustre and the trees actually are thinner on a real cold day. Only the Japanese and English yews show no variation in frigid weather.

When opportunity offers, study barks and buds. Lilac buds, which developed last autumn, are so green and plump that one expects them to burst in bloom on the first warm day.

The large varnished buds of the horsechestnut show weatherproofing at its best, while the bright red winter twigs of the shrub dogwoods, cornus alba, sibirica and stolonifera, place these plants at the top of any list for the winter garden.

The younger and more vigorous the twigs of these species, the brighter the winter color, hence the need of yearly removal of old canes.

The color and general characteristics of a tree's bark come with old age and mature trees are valued for these characteristics.

The shagbark hickory and sycamore are among the best examples of how trees divest themselves of their spent, useless growth. Particularly appealing, too, are the picturesque head and red bark of the upper branches and trunk of a Scotch pine.

No other tree of our flora enables the observer so early to study the life history of its flowers and fruit as does the flowering dogwood. A shrub oftener than a tree, its branches are within easy reach and it conducts its operations so openly that they invite attention.

In early spring, the great white blossoms appearing before the leaves transform the tree into one large bouquet. It is the glory of the fields and challenges the attention and admiration of every observer.

In summer its low branching habit and dense foliage give it a peculiar and attractive appearance. The clusters of shining red berries together with the dark red leaves mark it in the autumnal woods, and in winter, the curious, gray box-like flower-buds which tip its branches are unique and striking. These buds stand up from the tips and are very conspicuous

Gardening Questions

Q—Is the well-berried holly used for Christmas decorations hardy in south-western Ontario? If so, would the seeds germinate and thrive?—P. D.

A—This colorful English holly is not hardy where tempertures drop to 10 degrees. The seed would germinate but the seedling plants would not survive their first winter out of doors.

Q—About two months ago I planted some tulip bulbs. Now they are pushing their way through the ground and I am worried lest the cold winter weather prevents their blooming next spring.—N. T.

A—Tulip shoots should not appear above ground this quickly unless the bulbs were planted very shallow. While it is doubtful that they will be harmed in any way I suggest covering them with two or three inches of sand and when the ground is frozen mulch with straw or similar loose material.

Q—A recent gift package included a number of tulip bulbs. Can they be kept over for planting next autumn?—R. W.

A—Since bulbs dry out quickly, unless in the soil, plant them as soon as possible where you want them to bloom. Or, plant in deep pots of soil or sand, moisten well, place in a cold garage or shed and cover with a foot or so of peatmoss, straw or similar material, to prevent sprouting. In late March plunge pots in the ground, covering with two or three inches of soil. After blooming, transfer the bulbs to the garden.

Q—Will the removal of faded blooms of annuals increase their flowering season?—K. E.

A—Yes, in most cases. Snipping off the faded flowers will keep the plant trying and trying to realize its big life ambition: to produce seeds and then perpetuate itself.

The rhododendron is the "weatherman" of the garden. The degree of curl in its leaves is a pretty good termometer.

White Cane Week In City

Rehabilitation of the blind is the theme of Canada's seventh annual White Cane Week being held next week, February 10 to 16.

Locally White Cane Week is being sponsored jointly by the Louis Braille Society and the District Council of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

Two national organizations, The Canadian National Institute for the Blind and the Canadian Council of the Blind are co-sponsors of the week-long campaign designed to focus public attention on the problems sightless persons have to overcome. The district council of the CNIB arranging a series of lectures in schools throughout the district.

"The purpose of White Cane Week is to acquaint the public with the white cane and its uses," says Colin McEachern, secretary of the C.N.I.B. District Council. The idea is to enlist the co-operation of the public with those who carry white canes, so they will assist them in various ways such as helping them across busy streets.

The white cane has become a symbol of blindness, and Mr. McEachern says it was chosen because it can be easily seen by others who know that the person carrying it is blind.

Blind people do not use a white cane as a walking stick, he explains They use it to push along ahead of them and feel the edge of the curb, or a sudden step down. By tapping a cane against different objects, blind persons with their delicate sense of touch can determine what material the objects are made of.

"The white cane," says Mr. McEachern, "is an extension of the finger."

Eagles Down Petes, 7 To 5 Before 1,800 Fans In Hot Senior "B" Contest

The see-saw struggle for supremacy between Petes and Eagles continues, with the Eagles the winners this time as they downed their O.H.A. senior "B" city rivals 7-5 before about 1,800 fans last night at Civic Arena. The game did not change the standing to any great extent, the Petes still being in top spot as Kingston and Eagles fight it out behind Belleville. After leading 3-2 in the first frame, the Eagles were blanked next chukker as the Petes poured in three goals to lead 5-3 going into the third. Eagles exploded for four unanswered markers in the last stanza of a lightning fast and rather chippy tilt. Petes drew nine of the 15 penalties, and both Chum Fryia and Ron Horton got cuts on the face, the former by a stick and the latter by a puck. Ray Harding and Bert Hill drew majors early in the game for fighting.

Kept It Fast

Both teams started off at a hot clip and maintained their speedy pace practically throughout. The opposing goalies sprawled dozens of times to stop sizzling stabs as play swept up and down, with a lot of neat combination shown. It was quite even the first heat, Petes had a margin on play in the next chapter, and Eagles dominated most of the third. Referee Maurice Walsh—on the A.H.A. staff—handled the tussle well.

Showing the teamplay of Ned Vitarelli's pack ,seven players did the scoring and nine earned assists. The snipers were Freddy Mortimer, Reg. Stewart, Dootch Vitarelli, Bert Hill, Bill Berwick, George Samalenko and Jim Munroe. Toodie Greenlaw clicked for three assists, singles going to Mortimer, Hill, Bill Crowley, Keith Montgomery, Samalenko, Munroe, Berwick and Stewart. Gus Leonard led the way for Jim Ellis' squad with two tallies, as Chum Fryia, Drake Jopling and Ted Collins notched the others. An assist each went to George Steele and Ron Horton. Both goalies were good.

An Early Fight

Fred Mortimer slipped in the first one on Greenlaw's pass with the goalie sprawled after one save. Harding later drew a high-sticking penalty against Crowley and it touched off a brief fist fight between Hill and Harding, who drew majors. Mason served Harding's two penalties. Smith went off next for high-sticking. The Petes were shy one player halfway through when Stewart counted a nice one in close on combination with Greenlaw and Fred Mortimer. Mason returned and Smith got it again for holding, but he was back when Jopling's long shot from Eagles' blue-line glanced off an Eagle skate. Fryia shot through fast to pick a corner inside and tie it up. Fryia then got the air for slashing, followed by Smith for tripping. They were on again when Vitarelli slapped in Hill's corner passout at the crease edge to make it 3-2 for Eagles.

Tied The Score

Gus Leonard tied it up early in the second on Steele's rebound, and Gus added another seconds later when his corner pass caromed in off Goalie Milne. Crowley was waved over for interference and Collins counted from Horton, again the puck being deflected off an Eagles' defender. Crowley returned and Dugan and Munroe were chased for a bit of high-sticking, but no damage was done in their absence. Play was hot for a space till Dugan drew a boarding penalty and Fryia went off the ice with a cut over the mouth. Horton went away next for hooking to leave the Petes shy two for half a minute. But no damage resulted despite a near mixup between Montgomery and Wade.

Eagles Drive

Hill cuffed in a corner passout in the third on a play built up by Crowley and Montgomery. Fryia hit the trail for slashing and Horton went off after stopping a puck with his forehead. Berwick tied it up with a hot backhander in close, aided by Samalenko and Munroe. Fryia returned and Steele got it for interference but was back when Samalenko scored the winner with a hot angle drive after Berwick checked and recovered in Petes' territory and passed to him.

The Petes then drove furiously in an effort to tie it up, but Munroe got the insurance counter with a long screened shot on a pass back after Stewart and Greenlaw had taken the puck into a corner. West went over for tripping in the final minute of play.

Teams:

Petes: Goal, Harding; defence, Jopling and E. Leonard; centre, Garvey; wings, Collins and Floyd; alternates, Dugan, Fryia, Mason, G. Leonard, West, Steele, Wade and Horton.

Lindsay Takes Puck Win Over The Links

LINDSAY, Feb. 9 (ENS)—Over 800 rabid hockey fans watched the Lindsay "B" juniors consolidate their league leadership here last night by beating Peterborough Triple Links 9-4 in a fast, clean and rugged contest.

The Links, backed by some fine goal-tending by Batley, battled right to the wire, though they were out-scored every period but the second. The win moved the Lindsay club three points ahead of the second-place Belleville Hawks.

Captain Dave Lucas, of the Kin kids, scored the first goal on a combination play with Hall and Vasey. Two minutes later, the locals went two up with another goal off the stick of big Wally Shervington, assisted by Macdonald and Marshall. Red Robinson added to his point total by getting the first Peterborough goal on a pass from Armstrong at the half-way mark but Lindsay came back with two more tallies before the period ended to make the score 4 to 1. Schinkel got one, assisted by Lucas, with Deeth and Vasey combining for the other.

Drove Hard

The Liftlock lads made a determined bid in the second frame when the Heffernan-Twist-Coyle line got two goals. Flashy and rugged wingman of the Kin junior, Don Schinkel won himself a hat by potting two more goals in this period to add to his other from the first period. He was assisted by Marshall on the first one and Vasey on the other.

Armstrong and Robinson combined for one of the sweetest goals of the night and the visitors were pressing hard at the bell.

Completely outplayed in the final period, the Links never quit trying even though Lindsay scored three unanswered goals by Hall, Deeth and Dysart. Batley was sensational especially at the half-way mark when the league's highest scoring line of Powell, Schinkel and Dysart were putting on the pressure. Hall's goal was unassisted while Hall and Vasey assisted on Deeth's goal and Lucas assisted on Dysart's final score.

Peterborough: Goal, Batley; defence, Clapper, Armstrong; forwards, Robinson, Ferguson, Buckton; alts., Heffernan, Twist, Coyle, McCracken, Stewart, Floyd, Sullivan, Bigford.

Lindsay: Goal, McGuire; defence, Lucas, Marshall; forwards, Vasey, Hall, Deeth, alts., Powell, Schinkel, Dysart, Smith, MacDonald, Copeland, Shervington.

Scoring summary:

First Period

Lindsay—Lucas, (Hall, Vasey) 2:13
Lindsay—Shervington (MacDonald, Marshall) 4:27
Peterborough—Robinson (Armstrong) 12:16
Lindsay—Schinkel (Lucas) 15:34
Lindsay—Deeth (Vasey) 19:28
Penalties—Schinkel, Lucas.

Second Period

Peterborough—Heffernan (Coyle) 10:31
Lindsay—Schinkel (Marshall) 10:56
Peterborough—Coyle (Twist, Heffernan) 12:18

Economy Move Facing O.H.A.

TORONTO, Feb. 9 (CP).—The Ontario Hockey Association may be in for an economy move.

Jack Roxburgh, O.H.A. president, Friday told the association's annual meeting it has lost money during the last two seasons. He felt some action should be taken to assure that the trend is halted.

Although the amounts weren't large—last year the O.H.A. lost $1,600 — president Roxburgh wasn't sure where the group should start economizing.

"It has become a serious situation," he said. "We'll have to have a special meeting soon to see what can be done about it."

As a start, the executive decided to discontinue the most-valuable-player trophies,presented to all O.H.A. teams applying. Of the 155 teams operating in 1951, 100 applied for and received the awards.

Norwood High School Defeats Marmora 9-2

MARMORA, Feb. 8 (ENS) — Supported by a good contingent of fans Norwood High School won an exhibition hockey game with Marmora High School on the Marmora rink Friday evening, 9-2. Stackhouse, visiting goalie gave a good exhibition in goal and was given better defence than Lynch. Newman scored three for the winners and also got an assist. Scott scored twice unassisted and furnished two assists. Laing and Smith were also aggressive. For the losers Brooks and W. O'Neill were the scorers. The game was cleanly fought with penalties almost a minimum.

Teams—

Norwood — Goal, Stackhouse; Defence, Wilson, F. Lynch; Centre, Smith; Wings, Laing, Scott; Alternates, Fairman, Newman, Peoples, Post, Begg.

Marmora—Goal, D. Lynch; Defence, M. Walker, Bell; Centre, Paranuik; Wings, Sabine, Hickey, Alternates, W. O'Neill, Shannon, Brooks, Maloney, Leonard, P. O'Neill, R. Walker, Drummond, Brownlie.

Referee, T. Cousins, Deloro.
Linesman, F. Baker, Norwood.

Various hoop results are in elsewhere on games staged hither and yon about the district last gloaming. Cage action tonight at the Collegiate and the Y.M.C.A. Belleville Glens tackle Gord McIntyre's local Marines at eight in the "Y" in the second game of their sectional finals of the E. Ont. loop. A three-game series, Marines having yanked out a close first win on the Quinte floor the other night. This one here should be a keen contest by the husky males. Toronto Riverdales meet P.C.V.S. senior "A" boys in a Collegiate exhibition, following a prelim tilt. A stern test for Bev Goulding's classy basketeers.

Shore Nearly Washed Up?

An Ottawa columnist suggests that Eddie Shore of Syracuse in the A.H.L. should get out of hockey ere he ruins it for more folks. And a former player for Shore, one Ken Hayden, writes in The Hockey News that he quit because he "just couldn't take that guy any more." Says playing for him is slave labor and he could write a book called "How Cheap Can You Get?" Seems Shore lays down the law on how many sticks a player can use in a season, makes players use elastic bands instead of tape on their stockings to preserve 'em, and won't allow tape on sticks, to save money. Players are fined for breaking certain rules and even for turning the wrong way on ice or not stopping properly. He is heartily disliked by his men, and no doubt Nit O'Hearn could tell us more along that line if he wanted to talk.

Kingston tackles the Eagles here Monday night in an O.H.A. senior "B" fray and it should be a dandy. These two teams are currently fighting it out — and have been for many weeks — for third place in the standing. Eagles have pulled a game in front several times but the battling K's pull right up in a tie with 'em shortly. Gradually bolstering as the schedule draws toward a close, Kingston will come up with a powerful pack and might well take this one here Monday. But not if Eagles are playing up to form. Yeah, this senior scrap deserves a hefty Monday night puck crowd.

Patrick And The Whipper

None other than Whipper Billy Watson will team up with Pat Flanagan in the main pro mat match here Tuesday night against Athol Layton and Fred Atkins. Top grapplers in a team bout, and it'll be a tough evening for the referee. Whip and Pat are generally considered the pick of the tag teams in the wild and woolly wrestling game, while slashing Layton and rough Atkins come as mean as they make them in this type of bout. A "natural" for mat followers. Zorra goes against Warren Bockwinkle in the semi-final, while Chief Suni War Cloud — the colorful Indian from California —is pitted 'gainst Jim (the Bull) Wright in the prelim. The Bull is a nasty newcomer to these parts.

Another big crowd at Civic last eve saw another fine senior "B" scrap betwixt Petes and Eagles. Later took this one 7-5 by coming from behind in the third period and riding home on a four-goal spiurge. These teams sure dish up some dandies, and last night they were travelling at jet speed from start to finish. Scoring was well spread about by Eagles and fairly well by Petes, except that Gus Leonard tallied twice. One brief flurry of fists between Harding and Hill early in the tilt, and several high-sticking incidents, but generally the opposing players were crowding each other so hard and fast that a guy didn't have time to rough it up. A streamlined struggle and handled well by Toronto's Ref Maurice Walsh, just back from A.H.L. duties.

Grimston Arrives For Talks On Miller

LONDON, Feb. 9 — (CP) — Doug Grimston, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, said today he expects to have talks here and in Oslo concerning the elgibility of Dave Englebert Miller, left-winger of Edmonton Mercurys.

Grimston, who arrived here Friday night on his way to Oslo for the Olympic games, said he will probably discuss Miller's status in talks with J. F. (Bunny) Ahearne, secretary of the British Ice Hockey Association and C.A.H.A. representative in Europe.

Miller's eligibility to play for Mercurys in the Olympic hockey championships has been questioned by the Swedish Ice Hockey Association. Miller played for Streatham of the English National League three years ago and was classified as an "independent"—a status roughly equivalent to semi-pro.

Canadian hockey officials in London privately predict a first-class row will be provoked if Miller plays for Edmonton in the Oslo tournament.

Lindsay Cagers Take Three Against P.C.V.S.

Lindsay indicated they'll be contenders during the next few years in collegiate basketball Friday night when their bantam, junior and senior cage teams trimmed P.C.V.S.' "B" teams in Lindsay.

Coach Bev Goulding's inexperienced bantams were easy prey for the Lindsay boys. Although they have been improving with each game, the Garnet and Grey were off the pace set by the Lindsay team.

Undefeated this season in four league games, Lindsay's bantams rocketed to a 34-2 score in the first half and then were forced to settle back in the second half, finishing with only a 48-8 score.

Reg Truax, a promising hockey goalie, was the game star with 18 points. The cool-headed lad teamed up with Blackwell to spell doom for P.C.V.S. A tall player, Blackwell fed passes to Truax continually and also helped in the scoring with four points. For P.C.V.S. Allin with three points, McKinney with two and Brown with one point were the best.

The Jack Cullis-coached junior "B" team from P.C.V.S. were handed their second game in three starts by the Lindsay juniors for their first win, 50-41. This put P.C.V.S. out of the running and gave St. Peter's High, who were idle, the group honors.

The small Lindsay floor confused P.C.V.S. in the opening quarter and then the Lindsay cagers quickly took advantage to build up a healthy lead.

Ran Out Of Time

That lead was never threatened until late in the fourth quarter but the double colors ran out of time. Lindsay took a 13-7 score in the first quarter, 26-12 at the half, 40-24 in the third and a final score of 50-41.

The Garnet and Grey started to shoot better in the fourth quarter as they gradually became used to the floor. They managed to foul out two Lindsay players with five personals and this left the Lindsay team weakened.

But the performance by Jack Graham for Lindsay surpassed all junior "B" performers this season. With a variety of shots including jump and hook shots, Graham ran up a total of 28 points.

The P.C.V.S. juniors concentrated on Art Truax, the high scorer in the Peterborough game. He scored only eight points.

Gord Johnson's seniors were toppled 45-31 in the senior "B" tilt after holding the Lindsay cagers for more than half the game. The Garnet and Grey threw up a zone defence which helped them hold a one-point lead at the half. But Lindsay soon broke through in the second half and went on for the win.

A fight highlighted the game in the final minutes when Sandy Dewar tangled with a Lindsay player. The Lindsay boy leaped for the ball and landed back on the floor on Dewar's head. Just as a foul was placed on the Lindsay cager, Dewar tossed the ball and hit the player on the head. Quickly the boys were separated before a free-for-all started.

Frise was P.C.V.S.' top man with 10 points but fouled out early leaving them with little depth in the second half. McDuffee topped Lindsay with a first half rally and finished with 12 points closely followed by Graham with 10.

Oshawa Bid Turned Down

GALT, Feb. 9 (CP).—An Intercounty Baseball Association meeting which ended early Friday decided to reject applications for senior membership by Port Huron, Mich., Windsor, Niagara Falls and Oshawa.

The league will operate again on a 48-game schedule, starting May 17 and ending Aug. 16, with four teams to enter the playoffs.

Some clubs wanted a 60-game schedule, but were voted down.

Members of the Stratford team, which will not compete this year, were put up for disposal on the open market with the $200 claiming price to go to the Intercounty treasury. St. Thomas, the last-place team, claimed Irish Miskimmons; Kitchener took George Boniface, and Waterloo Billy Flick. The other clubs passed up their chances and the remaining Stratford players were declared free agents.

Prior to the general meeting, the executive met and ratified 19 of the 20 resolutions passed at the annual meeting in St. Thomas. The transfer of the Kitchener Legionaires to Don Gallinger, former pro hockey player, and the St. Thomas Legion franchise to the St. Thomas Baseball Association were confirmed.

Charlie Wagar of Brantford and Harry Cline of Kitchener were appointed to the executive.

The spring meeting will be held in Guelph April 5.

Havelock Takes Trent Valley Division Lead

HAVELOCK, Feb. 9—(ENS)—The largest crowd of the season attended the T.V.L. hockey game here on Friday night to witness the encounter between Norwood and Havelock who were tied for first place in the northern division of the league. Havelock won 10 to 4. Soft ice tended to slow up the game which was rather rough there being 13 penalties.

Reid of Havelock scored four goals unassisted. The locals led by 6 to 0 before Norwood scored. For the visitors Payne got two of their four goals.

The following gives the goals of the game:

First Period

Havelock—Caravaggio (Aikins) 1:09
Havelock—McIndoo (Caravaggio) 2:15
Havelock—Willshaw (Crowder) 16.00
Havelock—Hamilton 17.26
Havelock—B. Laing 17.35

Second Period

Havelock—Reid 2:14
Norwood—Thorpe (Creighton) 10:25
Norwood—Brydges (Creighton) 11:00
Havelock—Reid 19:15
Havelock—Reid 19:49

Third Period

Norwood—Payne (Thorpe) 5:35
Norwood—Payne 5:45
Havelock—Willshaw (Crowder) 10.30
Havelock—Reid 19:50

Penalties—Havelock (5)—Hamilton, Berwick (2), Wilson and Pace. Norwood (7)—Thorpe (2), Tompkins (2), Griffin, Payne, Brydges.

Referee—Jonkins; linesman Leggitt.

Lineup

Norwood: Goal, Jones; defence Rogers and Tompkins; centre, Thorpe; wings, Creighton and Brydges; alternates, Payne, Thompson, Griffin, Whitnell, Ferguson, Robinson, Slater.

Havelock: Goal, Bradley; defence, Berardi and Anderson; centre, Aikins; wings, McIndoo and Caravaggio; alternates, Reid, Willshaw, Crowder, Laing, Hamilton, Berwick, Wilson, Pace.

M. O'Donnell Leads

Midge O'Donnell of Harrison's led the Playfair Mercantile League Thursday night with a triple of 763 and single of 265. G. Doherty was second with 743 (310); B. Murray 726 (279), D. Taylor 657 (281), D. Thomas 655, J. Price 647 and T. Williams 642.

Marie Ackison was high among women with 686 (272), Marg Rogers was second with 608. Jean Trotter led in singles with 280.

Seven points were marked up Harrison's over Co-Op, Grant & Loucks over Can. Canoe, Combines over Loblaw's, Mustangs over U.C.O., Turner's over Cherney's, and J. J. Turner over Ovaltine. Harrison's had high pinnage for the evening with 3231.

Knox still lead the loop with 116 points, followed closely by Austin's with 112, Kesco 109, Harrison's 108, Mustangs 101, Grant & Loucks 91, Turner's 86, Cherney's and Can. Canoe each with 74, A. & P. 73, Co-Op and Turner's each with 69, Pet. Express 63, Loblaw's 59, U.C.O. 58, Combines 48, Dom Stores 35 and Ovaltine 25.

Normals-Nurses Victorious In Lasses' Loop

Improving with each game this season, the Normal school lasses were not to be denied Friday night. They edged through Black's cagers for a 19-17 victory in the girls' city league game.

In the second game the Nurses finished stronger in the second half to down C.G.E. girls 37-25 in a second close fixture.

Although they have basketball material aboard, Normals this year have had trouble getting started. Recently they have showed signs of improvement and Friday night was no exception. They edged Black's in both halves.

Foul shots played an important part in the first half, in favor of Normals. B. J. Waddington and Betty Merrett led the scoring for Normals and also sank five of seven foul attempts as they went ahead 11-10. Marnie Hollingsworth for Black's was tops in that half with two baskets and two foul shots for six points.

Normals pulled through a low-scoring second half on the strength of eight points by Lynn Faircloth, B. J. Waddington, Betty Merret and Gwen Todd. Meanwhile Blacks could muster only seven points by Reta Naylor and Rosie McInroy. Normals' B. J. Waddington led the game scoring with nine points followed by Marnie Hollingsworth with six points for Black's.

Neat Hoop Play

From the standpoint of good basketball, especially more scoring, the Nurses-CGE game was better than the first although it was not as close.

Anita Davis with seven points, helped in the scoring by Pat Martyn and Jean Bell, enabled Nurses to hold a 16-15 score in the first half. Barbara Luther, Lee, Batley and Jackson kept C.G.E. lasses within reach of the Nurses. But the Nurses began to roll in the second half and at the same time held C.G.E. to a smaller score than they rolled up in the first half.

Jean Bell accounted mostly for the Nurses' win as she went on a 12-point scoring spree in the half. Joan Smith, Anita Davis and Pat Martyn added the other nine points as they totalled 21 points.

Meanwhile the C.G.E. scoring in the half was distributed well between M. Waye, Barbara Luther, M. Jones and M. Batley.

Jean Bell totalled 18 points for the Nurses to easily take the night's scoring honors. She was followed by Anita Davis who racked up 12 points. Barbara Luther topped C.G.E. scoring with six points.

Games next week have been postponed in accordance with the day of mourning for King George VI. These games will be played later, if necessary, in the schedule.

Lineups—1st Game—Normals (19)—Scollard 2, Faircloth 2, Waddington 9, Merrett 5, McCullagh, Jermey, Todd 1.

Blacks (17)—McIlhagga, Hollingsworth 6, Pollack, Vint, McIlvena 2, Naylor 5, McInroy 4.

2nd Game — Nurses (37) — Smith 2, Davis 2, Martyn 5, Dawe, Slater, Bell 18, Armitage.

C.G.E.—(25)—Waye 4, Luther, B. Luther 6, Lee 4, Jones 3, Batley 5, Jackson 3.

Buffalo Bisons Nip St. Louis 4-2

By The Canadian Press.

Thanks to a pair of old hands, Grant Warwick and Ab Demarco, Buffalo Bisons are only three points out of second place in the American Hockey League's eastern division pennant race today.

Warwick slammed home three goals and drew an assist Friday night while Demarco picked up a goal and two assists to lead the Bisons to a 4-2 triumph over the injury riddled St. Louis Flyers. The victory enabled the Bisons to pull to within three points of Providence.

The two veterans finished one-two in the individual scoring race last year to spark Buffalo to the eastern division flag. Demarco wound up with 113 points and Warwick with 99.

Harry Taylor and Jackie Hamilton notched the St. Louis tallies.

Leafs Unveil New Rookie For Game With Canadiens

By CRAIG SWAYZE, Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto Maple Leafs don't often introduce a new face on the National Hockey League scene, but when they do you can be sure it's something special. The name is George Armstrong. The height is six-foot, one-inch and the weight is 195 pounds. Add to that a bullet-like shot, plenty of speed and 30 goals this season in American Hockey League play and you have the most publicized rookie to come up the ladder in many a year. The big right-winger arrived in Toronto Friday from Pittsburgh where he was leading the A.H.L. scoring parade. All ready for tonight's battle over second place with Montreal Canadiens and just in time to don a uniform for a workout with the Leafs, the former Toronto Marlboro junior looked plenty sharp in practice, working on a line centred by Max Bentley and balanced on the other wing by his former team-mate, Danny Lewicki.

Hap Day, the Toronto club's assistant general manager, watched closely Friday, but would make no comment.

More Talkative

Joe Primeau, the Maple Leafs' coach, was more talkative. "He looked pretty good, didn't he?" said the former N.H.L. star. It was hardly a question.

However, even though Day was more reserved, he looked pleased as punch.

Armstrong is ready for tonight's big game, but whether the rest of the team is too remains a matter of question. Leading the third-place Montreal squad by only one point, the Leafs are well aware the tussle is one of the most important of the season.

Minus the services of Maurice (Rocket) Richard once again, the Canadiens will nevertheless present a formidable array of talent to Toronto tonight. Their amazing rookie brigade will be bolstered by Lorne Davis, up from the A.H.L. Buffalo Bisons. He will fill in for the ailing Rocket.

Tonight's other N.H.L. tussle pits the fifth place New York Rangers against fourth place Bruins in Boston.

A full slate is scheduled for Sunday. Montreal moves into Chicago for an afternoon tussle with the tail-end Black Hawks while Detroit Red Wings play at Boston in the evening and the Leafs meet the Rangers at New York.

Sunday night's Leaf-Ranger clash will be the first meeting of the two clubs since their 3-3 deadlock at Toronto Jan. 2. They were scheduled to play in Toronto Feb. 6, but the death of King George VI brought about a cancellation of the game.

President Clarence Campbell of the N.H.L. announced Friday that the game has been rescheduled for Tuesday, Feb. 19, at Maple Leaf Gardens.

Do Wealth And Poverty Aid Or Hurt Religion?

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, DD.

The rich young man who came to Jesus inquiring the way to eternal life (Mark 10:17-22) has had an unenviable place in religious history.

Though we do not know his name, the gospel incident has given him anonymous fame, and at the same time brought upon him much harsher judgment than he would seem to have deserved.

In correctness of life he was undoubtedly remarkable, for Jesus loved him and offered him a place in His small circle of immediate followers.

If the rich young man is to be judged, it might well be by those of similar wealth, who would put themselves in his place, and decide what they would have done with that particular challenge. Indeed, it might be by any of us, not possessed of much worldly goods, who might, nonetheless, put some cherished thing between ourselves and the supreme commitment of devotion and loyalty to the Master.

So, let us view the young man with a compassionate sadness, remembering that he went away sad, never again to enjoy the great possessions that had kept him from the greatest glory and treasure of all.

Other rich men who heard Christ's call, either from Jesus Himself, or in the early days of the Christian Church, made a better response than the rich young man.

Joseph of Arimathea who sought the body of Jesus for burial, seems to have been a man of some substance, and Barnabas was a man of property, who sold it all for the benefit of the common Christian fund. Lydia, the seller of purple, (Acts 16), was probably prosperous, with her well-to-do customers.

But Christianity, despite the fact of some rich disciples and the "saints in Caesars household," seems to have had its rise chiefly among the poor. We know of the poor saints at Jerusalem (Romans 15:26) to whose help the more prosperous contributed, and Paul makes much of this contributing to "the necessity of saints."

This association of Christianity with poverty, and the fact that later saints have renounced wealth or worldliness to lead lives of devotion and service, has often led to a glorification of poverty that is not justified by the facts.

It has been my observation that the blessings of poverty are sung usually by those who have never known what it is to be poor.

Moreover, Christianity was built upon the heritage of the Old Testament, with a philosophy of abundance, of hills covered with flocks, valleys clothed with corn, and fields dropping fatness.

It was only when material prosperity led to uprightness and forgetfulness of God, the giver of all, that the prophets sounded the note of warning.

There is no blessing in either wealth or in poverty, but only in the blessedness that God bestows.

Warkworth Circuit Holds Annual Meeting

WARKWORTH, Feb. 9 (ENS)—A representation of the official board members of the three churches, St. Paul's United Church, Dartford United and Oak Heights United, which comprise the complete charge on the Warkworth United Church circuit held their annual business meeting in the Sunday school rooms of St. Paul's United Church on Wednesday evening.

The. Rev. H. G. Lester conducted the business meeting. Clarence Boyce, the secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting. It was decided to hold a memoria lservice for our King in each of the churches, on Sunday.

Mr. Lester gave a report of his work on the circuit stating there are 401 members on the charge with 970 people under pastoral oversight with 277 families. He stated there are three Women's Associations forming six groups, three Sunday schools and the pastor has seven day schools under his religious instructions. Various other items of business were handled: the pension fund assessment as based on the minister's salary is $132.94 for Warkworth, $32.75 for Dartford and $26.90 for Oak Heights.

For the election of the recording steward as the secretary of the official board it was moved by Mrs. J. E. Edgar of Warkworth, and seconded by Stanton Lawrence of Oak Heights, that Clarence Boyce be re-elected.

The two representatives to presbytery for 1952 were elected: Ben Buchanan from Warkworth and Fred Denike for Dartford with C. W. Massey and Lorne Evans as alternates.

For the Missionary and Maintenance committee for 1952 the three church treasurers were to form the committee: Glen Hancock from Warkworth, Chas. Honey, Dartford, and A. P. Sayles from Oak Heights. Mr. Hancock is treasurer for the whole circuit.

The question of the anniversary dates was to be held for Oct. 12, 19 and 26 at the different appointments. As St. Paul's, Warkworth will be holding their Centenial this year, plans are not completed as yet regarding which date they will use.

In regard to the summer holidays of the minister there will be an inter-change between the charge of United Churches and the Presbyterian charges as usual during the months of July and August.

A visiting committee from the presbytery was present composed of the Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith of Campbellford, the Rev Mr. Whitehorn of Seymour Circuit and Mr. Barnum, a layman from the Seymour circuit. Dr. Smith stated their purpose was to keep a check on the charge with regard to any problems that arise involving the minister and the church.

Mr. Whitehorn dealt with the financial side, noting that the charge was in a "healthy state".

Mr. Barnum, the layman from Seymour, spoke briefly congratulating the charge on the "excellence of their work." At the close Grant Allen of Warkworth moved a vote of appreciation to the visiting committee which was seconded by Charles Honey from Dartford.

PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER

VOL. CIV. No. 34 — SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 1952

MUSING ON THE REIGN of two queens is Richard H. Reynolds, 73-year-old Boer War veteran from Millbrook. After looking at the photo of the new Queen, Mr. Reynolds is reminded of his youthful adventures during the reign of Queen Victoria. He swore an oath of allegiance to her as he enlisted for the Boer War and he was in the funeral procession as the body of the queen passed through the sorrowing London streets on the way to Windsor for burial.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

MAIN STREET TOPICS

WARMER TIMES

Temperature a year ago Friday night was an ear-freezing 28 below zero. By 9 a.m. today, temperature was up to 23 above, from a night low of 20 above.

RECORD CROWD

A record crowd for this season for Civic Arena attended the Petes-Eagles hockey match Friday night. There were 1,703 in the arena. The Eagles won 7-5.

FRACTURES RIBS

Injured when he fell while cutting wood Friday, Irwin Robbins, 35, 625 Chamberlain St., was admitted to hospital and treated for fractured ribs.

SCALP CUT

Edwin Hill, 35, RR 9, Peterborough, was admitted to hospital here Friday and treated for scalp wounds received in a fall.

SEES TAX INCREASE

An increase of 8 mills in the St. Thomas tax rate this year was the warning of Ald. Peter Laing, finance chairman, "unless there are substantial reductions made in the estimates."

MUSH!

Skis are common enough sights on a car top in winter. Dog sleds are another matter. First seen on a car top this winter was in front of a downtown hotel Friday night. A Hamilton family own the sled and four dogs for it.

HURT AT PLAY

Gene Blewett, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Blewett, Bridgenorth was taken to Civic Hospital suffering from concussion. He was injured Friday afternoon while playing in the schoolyard at Bridgenorth Public School.

CANCEL FUNCTIONS

Because of the death of King George VI the Canadian Legion has cancelled all activities up to the end of Feb. 16. This means there will be no social functions, bingos or other social events until after the late King's funeral.

UNVEILING

A stained glass window dedicated to the memory of Amy Bell Jamieson, wife of the late Edward V. Eldridge, will be unveiled in St. Andrew's United Church at a special ceremony Sunday morning. Mrs. Jamieson was a lifelong member of that church.

REV. DR. COADY ILL

Rev. Dr. Coady, one of the promoters of the co-operative movement in the maritime provinces, was stricken by a heart attack Thursday, as reported here yesterday. He was the guest speaker at the Holstein breeders banquet here a year ago, which set a new record for attendance at Club Aragon.

PURCHASES LUMBER FIRM

George Lancaster, general manager of the Armstrong Lumber Co., said today that his firm had purchased the Barker Lumber Co. of Kingston. The Kingston purchase will be the fifth branch of the firm to be operated by Merrill Muttart, prominent Canadian lumberman. Other branches are in Peterborough, Port Hope, Brantford, and Paris. Jack Carter, who has six years' experience with the Armstrong Lumber Co. in Peterborough has been appointed manager of the Kingston branch.

PROLIFIC FAMILY

The telephone book shows 21 Thurston families in the Dunsford area, six more at Bobcaygeon, and 10 at Lindsay, a total of 37 families in that section of Victoria County. One of those who used to come fairly often to Peterborough was R. E. Thurston, curler and cheese factory representative. Three related Thurston youths and their brother-in-law Jack McMullen comprised the rink of curlers that won the Junior Farmers of Ontario Trophy here on Thursday. Incidentally, there are 17 Paynes and 13 Fallis families in the Warsaw and Millbrook telephone lists.

Gas Smothers Woman, 86, At Roseneath

Granddaughter Finds Woman Dead; Father Unconscious

ROSENEATH, Feb. 9 (ENS) — Eighty-six-year-old Mrs. Korah Skinkle was found dead in her bed Friday afternoon, asphyxiated by coal gas. Her home is on Highway 45, just south of Roseneath.

Her son-in-law, John Linton, 68, was found unconscious in his bed. His daughter, Mrs. Leslie Greacen of Roseneath, found them both after she had been notified by a bread salesman, Floyd Alton of Peterborough.

Shortly after noon on Friday, Alton knocked at the Skinkle door, and got no answer. Noticing no fresh footprints in the newly fallen snow, he telephoned Mrs. Greacen.

She came to the insul-brick bungalow and broke in the door. The house was filled with coal gas and the fire was out. Her grandmother was dead, and her father unconscious. She sent her daughter Lorna, 12, to the home of Norman Sherwin, a neighbor, to telephone a doctor.

Remembered Nothing

Dr. George Field of Roseneath came and pronounced Mrs. Skinkle dead, and tried to revive Mr. Linton. This morning, Mr. Linton was still only partly conscious, but said to be out of danger. He could remember nothing of Friday's events.

Dr. W. E. Wilkins, Cobourg coroner, came to the Skinkle home later and said he believed Mrs. Skinkle had been dead for about five hours.

Mrs. Skinkle, the former Mary Baker, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Baker, and was born on the Baker homestead in Alnwick township. She was the last of her family.

Twice married, she was first wed to John Timlin, and they lived at Bridgenorth for a time, later returning to Alnwick township where they farmed successfully in the western part of the township.

Their only daughter, Mrs. John Linton (Ida), died in 1918, leaving three children who were raised by Mrs. Skinkle. Mr. Timlin died in 1927, and later his widow married the late Korah Skinkle, who died six years ago in Dartford, where they lived.

Since 1946, she has been living in Alnwick.

Surviving are three grandchildren, Mrs. Leslie Greacen, Roseneath, Mrs. Lile Hie, Trenton, and Harry Linton, Cobourg.

Funeral service will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. in the McMillan funeral home, Roseneath. The Rev. R. C. White will officiate and burial will be in Centenary Cemetery.

Crown Officials To Take Oath On Wednesday

Senior district judge J. A. McGibbon has called a special session of the Peterborough County Court to administer the oaths of allegiance to Queen Elizabeth II to local crown officials, crown attorney John A. Bradshaw announced today.

It will be held in the county courthouse at 10 a.m. Wednesday and the ceremony will be open to the public.

According to the Ontario Public Officers' Act and the Dominion Demise of the Crown Act only those who hold positions under the Great Seal of Ontario or direct from the Federal government have to be re-sworn Mr. Bradshaw said. But all local barristers are being asked to re-affirm their allegiance at the ceremony and Mayor Hugh Waddell and Warden Dick Stewart of Peterborough County have also been invited to attend along with their respective councils.

Will Administer Oath

The ceremony will begin with Mr. Bradshaw in his capacity as Clerk of the Peace, administering the oath to His Honor Judge McGibbon.

Then, Judge McGibbon will administer the oath to other officials who will include: Sheriff John A. Harstone, His Worship Magistrate W. R. Philp, crown attorney John A. Bradshaw, coroners Dr. Herbert Young and Dr. H. G. Carleton nine justices of the peace from the city and county, Registrar of Deeds, J. R. Corkery, the deputy registrar of deeds, two division court clerks and the county jailer.

Two separate oaths will be administered to Magistrate Philp, in his capacity of local master of the supreme court and also judge of the family court.

Four oaths will be administered to Sheriff Harstone who occupies three other crown offices: local registrar of the supreme court, registrar of the county court and local registrar.

"Soldier Of The Queen" At Queen Victoria's Funeral

A 73-year-old Boer War veteran is looking forward to the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II. He is Richard H. Reynolds of Millbrook, who was "a soldier of the Queen" during the South African campaign of 1899-1902. Furthermore, he was one of the few Canadian soldiers to march in the funeral procession of Queen Victoria.

When Queen Victoria died Mr. Reynolds was convalescing in England after a bout of enteric fever and a severe attack of bronchitis. So he joined the Colonial Corps which was hastily formed to take part in the funeral procession.

The Colonial Corps was a composite of Australians, New Zealanders, Indians and other overseas troops—but chiefly British troops. So far as Mr. Reynolds is aware, there were only three Canadians in it—himself and two others.

Better Future

With a queen on the throne again, he feels that Britain's fortunes will take an upward swing.

What does he think of Queen Elizabeth II?

"Well, if she turns out to be anything like Queen Victoria she'll be a wonderful ruler. I'm sure she has it in her; in fact she has shown it already. She is a wonderful woman."

Mr. Reynolds was born in London and came to Canada with an uncle when only 11 years of age. At 14 he started working in a bakeshop at Watford, near London, Ont.

He learned both baking and candy making. He liked candy making best and later went into business for himself in that line, successfully retiring at the comparatively early age of 58. Since 1941 he has lived in Millbrook.

He first felt the beckon of adventure when war broke out in South Africa in 1899. In London, Ont., he joined the Canadian Mounted Rifles. Later this unit moved to Toronto and was renamed the Royal Canadian Dragoons.

A bit of quick thinking got him into the dragoons in the first place.

Had To Be 23

At that time recruits had to be 23 and look like it. But young Dick Reynolds, then only 20, couldn't fool the trained eye of the colonel.

The conversation went something like this:

Colonel (suspiciously) — "How old are you?"

Reynolds—"Why I'm 23, sir."

Colonel — "Twenty-three? You look younger than that to me."

(No answer from Reynolds.)

Colonel—"Well, why don't you answer me?"

Reynolds (desperately) — "I've been told that a soldier never talks back to an officer."

Colonel (aside) — "All right, he'll do."

The trip to Cape Town from Halifax took 30 days. During that time he and his shipmates vainly looked for land as visual relief from the seemingly endless expanse of water. But without success. Most of the time they spent below decks caring for their horses which were transported in slings.

A short period of training at Stellenbosch, 25 miles from Cape Town, and then the dragoons moved off for the fighting zone.

Enemy Wary

They had their first brush with the Boers shortly after they crossed the Orange river and began to invade the Orange Free State. The men found themselves fighting a wary enemy who scarcely ever came to grips with them.

Mounted patrols would sweep across the veld without hindrance and then as they approached a koje (hill) they would be met with a volley of well-directed small arms fire.

Operating in groups of four, the dragoons would unite; one man would lead the horses back out of firing range; and the other three would try and winkle out the concealed Boers. If they were successful the fourth man would bring up the horses and they would press on to the next hill. And if opposition was too tough they used their horses to get away.

Crack Shots

"The Boers would be well hidden and they were crack shots," says Mr. Reynolds. "They didn't wear uniforms. When we got near they took down their rifles from the racks and let go at us."

A thing that often puzzled Mr. Reynolds and his fellow dragoons was the mobility of the Boers.

When dusk came the Canadians would be battling away with an almost invisible enemy sniping from a hillside to the north. When dawn came, firing would commence from the south. During the hours of darkness the Boers had either infiltrated their lines or made an immense semi-circle to take the Canadians from the rear.

While in South Africa Mr. Reynolds got to like the Boers.

"They were fine people," he says. "Now when I think of it, years afterwards, I feel we should have left them alone. At the time, of course, we were fighting and we tried to kill as many as possible."

He was frequently in Boer homes where it was freely admitted that some of the menfolk were away fighting the British forces. In that more civilized day nobody thought of reprisals on the relatives of fighting men.

British and overseas troops entered Pretoria and Johannesburg without too much heavy fighting, he recalls. The heaviest engagement he was in was at the Klip river.

There the Boers were lodged in strength on the opposite bank and they had some light artillery to help them pour down a hail of fire on the attackers.

Caught Fever

It wasn't a Boer bullet but a South African "bug" that finally caught up with Mr. Reynolds. He caught enteric fever. On the hospital ship taking him to England he caught bronchitis after his weight had dropped from 170 pounds to 96.

While convalescing at a camp near London he frequently was visited by members of the Royal Family. Several times he shook hands with the Prince of Wales, later to become King Edward VII. Also with his wife, later Queen Alexandra.

He was picked to be one of the Colonial Corps forming part of the queen's funeral procession. As he recalls it, the procession was from the Palace of Westminster to Paddington station. Queen Victoria was buried at Frogmore, near Windsor, beside her husband the prince consort.

A snapshot of Mr. Reynolds, shows him in the wide floppy Anzac-type hat with a high-button tunic and a bandolier over the right shoulder. Complete with a revolver on his right hip, a bayonet offsetting it on the left, and a swagger stick in his hand, he looked every inch the carefree soldier of the period.

Youth, good health and a high spirit of adventure—a typical Kiplingesque "soldier of the queen."

Struck By Auto Youth, 19, Seriously Hurt

HAVELOCK, Feb. 9 (Staff)—Seriously injured when struck by a car Friday night, Raymond Gray, 19, of Marmora, is still unconscious in Peterborough Civic Hospital today.

He was hit while crossing Highway 7 in the village and thrown 15 feet, ending up against a snow bank on the south side of the highway.

The car driven by Andrew B. Couchler of Ottawa was travelling east.

Gray is said to be suffering from undetermined head injuries, a broken right leg and injuries to his right arm.

He was given first aid tretament by Dr. J. D. Holdcroft and then taken to hospital in Peterborough by ambulance.

Police Chief Robert Hall investigated.

Library Adds RecordCollection

A collection of 240 records are available for circulation at the Peterborough Public Library starting today.

This record collection which contains both 78 and 33⅓ r.p.m. speeds will be loaned out at a charge per day of two cents for the 78s and 10 cents for the long playing records.

For this small sum the music lover can choose for his listening pleasure anything from Beethoven symphonies to Broadway musicals. Opera is also available with Caruso, Ponselle and Melchior to mention only three of opera's great performers, are represented both in full-length albums and L.P.s of groups of selected arias.

On the piano discs are names such as Horowitz, Paderewski, Sanrom, Schweitzer and Rubenstein.

Lighter Too

For those preferring music in a lighter vein there is Gilbert and Sullivan. And still lighter musical comedies such as Annie Get Your Gun, Oklahoma and Brigadoon.

Two narratives are also included in the collection—The White Cliffs of Dover, and The Littlest Angel.

Librarian William Graff said that it is expected 90-100 new L.P.s will be added to the collection annually.

Millbrook Store Only One With Crepe For Mourning

From now on, and for an indefinite period, army officers will be wearing a thick band of black mourning cloth on their left arms. The suddenness of King George VI's death caught all his subjects unexpectedly. Local tailors, for one, were unable to supply the required demand for black armbands for officers of the armed services.

To cope with the local demand, army officers here reached out to Millbrook to have a contract for 100 black mourning bands finished by Friday night.

Friday afternoon, when the Examiner called around, Mrs. G. A. Woods who manages a women's dress shop, was busily engaged with a helper. Working as quickly as possible they were cutting out the 3¼-inch black armbands from wool crepe cloth.

Finished Friday

The 100 armbands were contracted to be finished by Friday night.

Officers of the 50th Heavy Anti-Aircraft Regiment (RCA) found that the armbands are not a general issue. They must either have them made up by their wives or buy them from an outside source.

Armbands are to be worn on the left sleeve, half way between the elbow and the shoulder. Officers will wear them on their uniforms and greatcoats for an indefinite period; warrant officers will wear them for the funeral only.

Mrs. Woods has the best material available: wool crepe. Because the fibres do not slip, wool crepe is considered most suitable.

Exhaust Fumes Kill Man, 30

Firemen worked for half an hour trying to revive Robert Staples, 38, 304 Brock St., found unconscious in a parked car at the rear of 219½ Hunter St., early today.

Staples was taken to hospital and pronounced dead at 3:35 a.m. While patrolling his beat shortly before 2 a.m., Constable John Conlin saw the car motor was running and investigated.

After switching off the ignition, Constable Conlin attempted to revive Staples, then asked a passerby to summon the fire department.

When the efforts of firemen failed to revive Staples he was taken to hospital by ambulance and pronounced dead a short time later.

Coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton has not yet announced whether an inquest will be held.

Await Plans On Proclamation

Plans for Peterborough's observance of Friday February 15, the day of the funeral of King George VI, were being considered at the City Hall Friday afternoon with concern for formal propriety.

Mayor Waddell said that it was not then clear whether the government's proclamation of a day of national mourning was sufficient authority for municipalities.

"We are not certain as to whether it is necessary for us to issue any announcement regarding Peterborough and the other cities and towns." His Worship said.

A news report from Ottawa Friday night said that "only the courts, banks and Dominion government offices will be required to close on the day of the King's funeral, under the federal proclamation.

"The proclamation appoints the funeral date as a public holiday to be observed as a day of general mourning by all persons throughout Canada. Under the law it is binding on banks and Dominion institutions."

From Toronto it was reported that Mayor Lamport would issue a proclamation declaring Feb. 15 a public holiday and day of mourning with a civic memorial service to be held in Maple Leaf Gardens.

Only essential activities of the city would be carried on, according to the prospect in Toronto.

Mayor Waddell said he did not wish to issue any statement until he made careful enquiry as to the probable extent of general observance of the day by industrial and commercial business here and elsewhere.

City's Balance Not So Bad

Peterborough's financial statement for 1951 will show a deficit, but the balance sheet will be more favorable than was estimated a month ago, Mayor Hugh Waddell told the Examiner today.

Earlier intimations were suggesting an excess of expenditure over receipts of approximately $26,000.

"It won't be half that", His Worship said. "We expect that the statement will be available for the finance committee at its meeting Monday night".

Presumably the deficit for last year's municipal operations will be around $11,000 or $12,000, or maybe less.

And She Likes It

Woman Successful Insurance Salesman

"There's nothing I'd rather do."

That's the opinion of Mrs. Ruby Brooks, one of Peterborough's four women insurance agents. For the past nine years, Mrs. Brooks has been selling insurance, and liking it.

In 1935 her husband, Fred Brooks, died, leaving her with two small children, Nancy and Beverly. Mr. Brooks had been an insurance agent, and it seemed only natural that some years later Mrs. Brooks should take up his work.

"I'd often thought that if I ever had to go to work, that's what I'd like to do," she said. When her chance came, she did it.

Two Daughters

Mrs. Brooks is a grey-haired, pleasant woman with clear blue eyes who could probably charm a premium right out of your wallet. She has two daughters, one of whom, Nancy, is attending the University of Western Ontario. Beverley is at P.C.V.S.

"You've really got to love people to be in the insurance business," she says. "You've got to like every minute of it."

Of course, she said, there are times "when you could kick over the traces and let everything go hang". But those were the exceptions. It's a happy job for Mrs. Brooks.

MRS. RUBY BROOKS

She estimated that about 60 per cent of her calls were on male prospects, the other 40 were women. But of her methods of preparing a list of prospects, she would say nothing.

"They're mostly in the books on selling," she said, "but some people don't read them, and I don't see why I should tell my competitors how I work."

"They're really not secrets, you know, but after all, Eaton's don't tell Simpson's."

Officials Deny Scuttling U.S. Dog Derby

OTTAWA, Feb. 9 (CP). — No matter what Lake Placid, N.Y., dog derby officials may think, those in charge of Canada's International Dog [illegible] 'are not trying to scuttle anyone" a spokesman said Friday night.

He was commenting on criticism by officials of a dog derby to be run at Lake Placid next Monday and Tuesday that change of the Ottawa derby dates from this week to next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, was an attempt to "scuttle" revival of the sport in the United States.

The Canadian change was necessitated by the death of the King.

The Lake Placid report said telegrams had been sent to two U.S. Senators criticizing as "disloyal and insulting" the decision of a U.S. Air Force entry to cancel from the Lake Placid event to stay in the Ottawa race. Of this the Ottawa race official said:

"If these people are such sportsmen that they have to appeal to their Senators, we have no comment to make. Here in Canada we consider sled dog racing a sport that has nothing to do with politics."

He added that the new Canadian dates had been set after all drivers—including U.S. entries—had been consulted and were considered the best for all concerned.

And the spokesman added, "We know of no 'international' sled dog derby at Lake Placid. The only international dog derby is right here in Ottawa."

SKATERS AT OLYMPICS — Canada's figure-skating team, with the exception of Toronto's Suzanne Morrow, now in Sweden, get together at Bislett Stadium in Oslo for pre-Olympic practice. The outdoor rink, used as a soccer field in summer, will be the scene of the opening and closing ceremonies, free skating and speed-skating events. Shown left to right are: Marlene Elizabeth Smith, Niagara Falls, Ont.; Norris Bowden, Frances Dafoe, Peter Firstbrook and Vevi Smith, all of Toronto.

Hamilton Edges Indians 5-4 As Guelph Lashes Windsor 13-5

By The Canadian Press.

The top two teams of the Ontario Hockey Association's Senior A loop lost their games Friday night to clubs making a strong bid for playoff positions.

Hamilton Tigers moved to within one point of fourth place Owen Sound with a 5-4 win over the first place Stratford Indians at Hamilton. Four Tiger goals in the last 12 minutes did the trick.

Brantford Redmen whipped second place Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen 7-0 in Brantford to break out of a fourth place tie with Owen Sound, idle Friday night.

The O.H.A. Junior A League ran truer to form, however, in its three games Friday night.

The second place Guelph Biltmores walloped the ninth place Windsor Spitfires 13-5 in Guelph to move to within two games of the league-leading Toronto Marlboros.

Barrie Flyers gained their second straight victory at home with a 4-1 win over last-place Oshawa Generals, and Toronto St. Michael's moved into undisputed possession of fourth place in the 10-team loop with a 6-2 game over Kitchener Greenshirts.

Bob Sabourin tallied three of the St. Mike's goals while Mark Reaume, Jim Logan and Bill Lee added the others. Duke Edmundson and Gary Collins pushed in the Kitchener markers.

Leads Attack

At Barrie, Hilly Menard led the Flyers' attack with two counters while Don McKenny and Larry Thibeault added the others. Herve Dejordy scored Oshawa's lone goal.

Ron Murphy was the big gun in Guelph's vaunted attack, marking up four goals while Dean Prentice came through with three and Chuck Henderson and Andy Bathgate added pairs. Frank Bettiol and Harry Howell bagged singles.

Bobby Brown was Windsor's outstanding player with three big goals. Harry Howell and Elmer Skov pushed in the others.

In senior play, Lloyd Ferguson banged in three to lead Brantford to their win while Bill Simpell came through with two of his own. Don Oberholtzer and Joe Holota added the others.

Ab Conick led the Hamilton attack with two goals while Harry Hursley, Paul Miocinovich and Frankie Liscombe added the others. Al Ritchie pushed in three for Stratford and Mickey Roth fired a singleton.

4 Of Original N.H.L. Team To Attend Special Dinner

TORONTO, Feb. 9 (CP).—The four living members of the National Hockey League's first all-star team of 1931 will get together in Toronto Thursday, March 13, for the first time since their playing days.

The Ontario Sports Writers and Sportscasters Association announced tonight that Eddie Shore, King Clancy, Bill Cook and Aurel Joliat will be among a dozen or so notables to attend its first annual sports celebrity dinner in aid of crippled children.

The event marks the opening of the annual Easter seals campaign of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children. Proceeds of the $25-a-plate dinner—possibly $8,000 or more—will go to the society.

Other celebrities who have accepted invitations are:

Boxing—Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney.

Golf—Sandy Somerville of London, Ont., Canada's golfer of the half century and only Canadian to win the United States amateur; Francis Ouimet, first U.S. golfer to captain the Royal and Ancient at St. Andrew's, a post he holds this year.

Other Notables

Jim Thorpe, outstanding all-round athlete of the half-century in the U.S.;

Lionel Conacher, Canada's outstanding athlete of the half century;

Bobby Rosenfeld of Toronto, Canada's outstanding woman athlete of the half-century.

The association said it is awaiting replies from invitations to other sports notables including Percy Williams of Vancouver, Canada's 1928 Olympic hero.

The dinner also will honor Marlene Stewart, the 17-year-old golfing star from Fonthill, Ont., selected by association members as Ontario's outstanding athlete of 1951.

The announcement emphasized that none of the proceeds of the dinner will be used to pay expenses of celebrities. Some are paying their own way. Others are being brought by sponsors.

The Variety Club of Toronto is bringing Thorpe.

N.H.L. Sponsors

The N.H.L. is sponsoring the appearance of the four men who made the first all-star team in 1931, first year of the annual selections. Shore, with Boston Bruins, and Clancy, with Toronto Maple Leafs, were the defencemen. Cook, with New York Rangers, was right wing, and Joliat, with Montreal Canadiens, was left wing. Two members of the team are dead—Goalie Chuck Gardiner of Chicago Black Hawks and centre Howie Morenz of the Canadiens.

Three are still active in hockey—Shore as manager of Syracuse in the American Hockey League, Clancy as coach of Pittsburgh Hornets, Toronto's A.H.L. farm team, and Cook as coach of the Rangers. Joliat now lives in Ottawa.

Favorite Hymn Of King George

LONDON, Feb. 9 — (CP). — The favorite hymn of King George VI was "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," a hymn based on the 23rd Psalm.

The hymn was written in 1868 by Henry W. Baker.

The tune, known as Dominus Regit Me, was composed by the Rev. J. F. Dykes.

The Scottish metrical version of the 23rd Psalm was a favorite of the King and of other members of the Royal Family. It formed part of the service at the wedding of Queen Elizabeth to Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh.

It is believed the King acquired his first fondness for the Crimond setting of the 23rd Psalm at services held during his stays at Balmoral Castle, the Scottish Royal residence on Deeside.

The words of the hymn are:

The King of love my shepherd is,
Whose goodness faileth never;
I nothing lack if I am His
And He is mine for ever.

Where streams of living water flow
My ransomed soul He leadeth,
And where the verdant pastures grow
With food celestial feedeth.

Perverse and foolish oft I strayed,
But yet in love He sought me,
And on His shoulder gently laid,
And home rejoicing brought me.

In death's dark vale I fear no ill
With Thee, dear Lord, beside me;
Thy rod and staff my comfort still
Thy cross before to guide me.

Thou spread'st a table in my sight,
Thy unction grace bestoweth;
And O, what transport of delight
From Thy pure chalice floweth!

And so through all the length of days
Thy goodness faileth never;
Good Shepherd, may I sing Thy praise
Within Thy house for ever!

Amen.

Record Crowd Views Bancroft Puck Game

BANCROFT, Feb. 8—(ENS)—An all-time record crowd here watched Trenton Flyers and Bancroft Pontiacs play a 5-5 tie game in Bancroft arena on Thursday night. By mutual consent no overtime was played.

For the first time since the arena was built the fans (1,150 strong) jam-packed the four sides and overflowed to the top of the lunch and dressing rooms. During the intermissions, it was impossible to move more than a few feet and to get anyplace one had to weave, wriggle, push and push.

Originally the game had been scheduled for Jan. 30, but due to an unfortunate misunderstanding the visitors did not arrive and a near-record crowd just sat and waited for an hour. Tonight it was a conscience gate as those in attendance at the first game were allowed in free, without having to present ticket stubs or rain checks. Naturally, every boy in the village was present.

Group Captain C. G. McCall, C.O. No. 6 Repair Depot, Trenton, arranged matters so that the Flyers donated their services and his team did not take one cent for expenses. As a result of this, Branch No. 181, Canadian Legion, Bancroft, the sponsors of the exhibition game, added $277 to the cenotaph fund. At the conclusion of the game Legion president Wm. Lavalley announced that his organization would donate $25 to the Bancroft hockey club in order to pay for any and all sticks that were broken or damaged.

Norman Brough, with four goals to his credit, was away ahead in the scoring race. The other Pontiac goal was by Doug Maxwell. For the Flyers Spence netted two and Schmidt, Rockley and Attrell each accounted for singles. Lineups:

Trenton Flyers—Goal, Cook; defence, McConkey, Schmidt; centre, Spence; wings, Buckin, Turner; alternates, Faradin, Fink, Blendell, Cully, Grant, Attrell, McClay, Cross, Hockley. Manager-coach, L. Wentzloff.

Bancroft Pontiacs—Goal, Young; defence, Stringer, McAlpine; centre, E. Brough; wings, N. Brough, Delyea; alternates, D. Maxwell, Bruce, T. Maxwell, Dugald, Hogarth, Green, G. Maxwell. Manager, Shapiro; coach, Tanner.

Referee, Ellis of Trenton; linesman, Follis of Bancroft. Timers, Grant of Trenton and Wilson of Bancroft. Announcers, Jack Milne and Milt McGhee of Bancroft.

Salary Increases

SARNIA, Feb. 9 — (CP). — A salary increase of $400 yearly retroactive to January 1, 1952, has been granted elementary and secondary school teachers by the Board of Education. The increase raises the minimum salary for a public school teacher to $2,400 and for a secondary teacher to $2,800.

Ask Escalator Clause

TORONTO, Feb. 9 — (CP). — Toronto's secondary school teachers Friday repeated their demands for an escalator contract clause based on the cost of living index. On the basis of the demand—a $3 monthly increase for each point rise in the index over 10 — each teacher would receive a raise of $691 for the year that began on January 1.

MAKING YOUR VALENTINES is real fun both for the boys and girls who are not old enough to go to school, and for those who have started to school. They brighten the day for the sick or shut-in and the granny and aunt always like to receive a home-made Valentine.

New Zealand 30 Runs Behind

CHRISTCHURCH, N.Z., Feb. 9 —(Reuters)—New Zealand was 30 runs behind the West Indies with all second-innings wickets standing at the close of the second day of the first test match here. There are two days' play left.

Twice during the West Indies innings it seemed New Zealand might take first innings lead, but the tourists fought back to score 287 in reply to their opponents' 236—a lead of 51 runs. New Zealand scored 12 without loss in their second knock.

The Indie's three opening batsmen were out for 57 and New Zealand were on top, but then Frank Worrell (71) and Clyde Alcott (65) came together and put on 129 for the fourth wicket.

Just when it seemed they were on the way to centuries J. A. Hayes clean-bowled them both and four wickets fell while the score moved from 186 to 189.

Then John Goddard, the Indies' captain, and Simpson Guillen carried the West Indies safely past the home team's total, putting on 51 for the eighth wicket before Goddard was out. Gullen hit 54.

Tom Burtt, left-arm spinner, took five wickets for 69—best figures of the match so far.

Frank Paterson Says Thanks For 'Spiel Aid

Appreciation of the help received from Canada Packers Ltd. and Quaker Oats Co. in arranging for the successful curling bonspiel of Ontario Junior Farmers was expressed today by Frank C. Paterson, agricultural representative.

"It was characteristic of Peterborough goodwill," Mr. Paterson said, "but we don't want to accept it without publicly thanking those and others, including the Curling Club, for their co-operation. Canada Packers took the supper problem off our hands, and Quaker Oats donated the four first prizes. That was material aid contributing a great deal to the success of the bonspiel, and to the impression 88 young farmers from various parts of the province received of our city."

Between Christmas, Easter We Have Valentine Day

By NANCY CLEAVER

Here's to February Fourteenth! Here's a verse by John Masefield which would grace any Valentine:

"I have heard the song of the blossoms and the chant of the sea,
And seen strange lands from under the arched white sails of ships;
But the loveliest things of beauty God ever has showed to me,
Are her voice, and her hair, and eyes, and the dear red curve of her lips."

Don't these lines make you think of Saint Valentine's Day? The winter may seem long and spring very far away—and then along comes Saint Valentine's Day. With a little planning you can make it a very pleasant break between Christmas and Easter.

Small boys and girls are full of questions and when they ask about "Saint Valentine" you can tell them that not one Saint, but several of them owned the name of "Valentine." The most famous of these Saint Valentines were two men who lived in the third century One was a Roman priest and the other Bishop of Terni. They both met a martyr's death on February 14th. The association of the Lover's Festival with their name was accidental.

During the old pagan festivals of Pan and Juno in February, young men and young women used to draw each other's names out of a box. There was much merriment over this rite. Gradually the ordinary folk continued this custom but carried it out on Saint Valentine's Day.

Although the stores are full of pretty Valentines and the books of Valentines to be cut out are a help to busy mothers, what about "home-made" ones? Pre-school children, especially, can spend many happy hours making Valentines if mother will provide the necessary material. Spread out newspapers on the kitchen table and then assemble old magazines with colored pictures, paper doilies for borders, blunt scissors, paste and red cardboard. Place a waste-paper basket nearby, and have the children help clean up when they finish their handwork.

A Valentine can brighten the whole day for a sick or shut-in or a lonely person. A granny or an aunty would love to receive a home-made Valentine from a small relative. Busy mothers do well to encourage their children to remember the old relatives who may mean a lot to a child and who love the small boy or girl very dearly.

Even school age boys and girls can have a good time planning their own individual Valentines. They won't need help in making heart outlines, but they might like to have a little assistance in making up a rhyme. There are two inexpensive books in the Pocket Book Series—"The Merriam Webster Pocket Dictionary" and "Roget's Pocket Thesaurus," which are useful in any home. Encourage your child to look up, himself, the spelling or pronunciation of a word when in doubt. A thesaurus gives alternative words with similar ideas and helps a student distinguish different meanings.

Language is a tool and even in making up a verse for a Valentine, a child can grow in the skillful use of words. The same words get a bit monotonous when read a number of times, such as:

"Roses red, violets blue,
Honey's sweet, and so are you."

Strive for a little originality in the versifying which goes on in your family. You may not have a real poet in your midst, but you can have a lot of fun making up "I love you" verses.

Dies From Injuries

WALKERTON, Feb. 9 (CP). — Mrs. John Beitz, 82, of Carrick Township, died Thursday night in Bruce County Hospital, three days after she had been struck in front of the hospital by an automobile driven by Police Chief Donald Gilchrist.

4-Man Crew To Test Bobsled Run

OSLO, Norway, Feb. 9 (AP).—Four huge men were ready to risk their lives today in a test to determine if the Olympic bobsled run is safe for a four-man crew.

The quartette comprises the United States' sled No. 1, one of the top favorites to bring the four-man title to America from the sixth winter Olympic games which open here Thursday.

Stan Benham, Lake Placid, N.Y., 195-pound member of the American world champion teams of 1949 and 1950 is the driver of the sled. With him are Pat Martin, Massena, N.Y., 270 pounds; Jim Atkinson, Hamilton, N.Y., 242 pounds and Howard Crossett, Bradford, N.H., 260 pounds.

Benham said his team had agreed to a request from the International Bobsled Federation to test the run which was closed to four-man sleds Friday after an American and Italian team shot over the ice coated side on the third run.

Curtis Stevens, Lake Placid, manager of the American team, insisted the turn would never do for four-man sleds.

"It's not built right," he said. "You can't get into it properly. It needs to be hollowed out or banked differently but the Norwegians won't agree so far. It's perfectly all right for two man sleds because they are shorter and slower."

The two-man American team suffered slight injuries in Friday's run. The members of the Italian team which followed the Americans over the side at the same spot on the 1,500-metre run were not injured.

Brothers In Jail

WELLAND, Feb. 9 — (CP). — James Kelsey, 29, joined his brother, Lloyd Frank Cross, in Welland County Jail Friday night. Both are charged with murder in the bludgeon slaying of Sam Delibasich, a Welland taxi driver, in December, 1949. Kelsey was deported from the United States on Friday by U.S. Immigration Department authorities.

Appointment Confirmed

TORONTO, Feb. 9 — (CP). — The appointment of A. V. Lyman as secretarial assistant to Opposition Leader Farquhar Oliver was confirmed Friday by the Ontario Government. The opposition leader chooses his secretarial assistant and the government confirms his choice as a matter of course.

Return To Normal

LONDON, Feb. 9 (Reuters). — Britain's radio and television programs will return to normal next Saturday — the day after King George's funeral — the BBC announced Friday. But, like the theatres, they will have their jokes and songs censored for some months to come.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Bill Wilkinson, 23, former junior hockey player who is a paraplegic as the result of a highway accident two years ago, Friday night in Aurora was presented an automobile equipped with special hand controls. The ceremony took place at a benefit hockey game.

Bill received his crippling injury when his motorcycle skidded and spun out of control, tossing him into the ditch. He lay for two hours alongside the highway with a broken back while companions sought assistance.

The money for the car was raised through public subscription. Some of the proceeds from the benefit game will be handed over to him in cash. He will continue to attend business college in Aurora. A job awaits him upon graduation.

J. Stafford Beck, Toronto, president of the Ontario Badminton Association, Friday in Stratford asked all clubs, except Stratford, to close Friday, Feb. 15, date of the burial of the King.

The Stratford club will open at 6 p.m. Friday. Players from Sudbury, Toronto, Hamilton, Kingston and Windsor will compete in the O.B.A. tournament from Feb. 12-17 and it was felt necessary to open the club.

President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League announced Friday night in Montreal that the Feb. 6 postponed game between New York Rangers and Toronto Maple Leafs will be played Tuesday, Feb. 19 in Toronto. The game was postponed because of the King's death.

Ontario's representative in the Canadian curling championships last year won't be entered this year. Gerve Meech's High Park rink Friday defeated Gordon Campbell's Toronto Granite Club rink, 1951 Ontario curling champions, 9-8 in the final of the Toronto division of the province-wide playoffs.

England's Football Association has banned sport in London and greater London from Monday to Friday next week. This is the period which covers the lying-in-state and funeral of King George VI.

Light heavyweight boxer Bob Satterfield Friday in Chicago was granted an injunction preventing his 110-pound wife from cuffing him.

Lawrence T. (Larry) Pennell, Brantford promoter, said Friday he will recommend at a meeting Sunday that the Brantford Red Sox Baseball Club, last year's champions of the Intercounty Baseball Association's senior loop be dormant during the coming season. The club has already sent notice that it will ask permission to withdraw for 1952.

Rinks from Sarnia and Toronto Victorias Curling Clubs qualified Friday for the final round in the second annual bonspiel of the Kitchener-Waterloo Granite Women's Curling Club. In the semi-finals of the Record trophy, the main event, Mrs. A. McCandless of Sarnia took a 14-10 victory over Mrs. M. Cameron's Kitchener entry.

WHITE CANE WEEK

7th Nation-Wide Campaign for Courtesy Assistance to the Blind

It's Up to YOU to Help The Blind!

THE WHITE CANE AS A SYMBOL

As the symbol of blindness, the White Cane signifies the desire of blind men and women for independence and social responsibility. On the street, with the White Cane to guide them, they can travel alone. They are free to come and go as they will. This freedom is conditional to some extent upon the courtesy of the sighted public. But it is freedom nonetheless. Which of us has not become confused in a strange district and asked a passerby to set us on the right road? We don't feel inferior in any way, and once we have got our bearing, we can go on our way. The same is true of the blind man.

The men and women who carry the White Cane are not beings set apart. They seek to enter every phase of ordinary life, finding their way with their White Canes, hoping that those who can see will regard them as the normal citizens that they are.

LISTEN FOR THE TAPPING CANE

- Listen for the Tapping Cane which is the blind man's polite request for assistance. Then "do as you would be done by" and lend a helping hand to the less fortunate.
- A little thought on your part will indicate the right course of action. Don't take things for granted. Always ask the blind man what assistance he needs. He is quite capable of telling you and will not be embarrassed by explaining exactly where he wants to go, what but he wants to get on, etc.
- Go the whole way. If you are letting a blind man out of your car or have given him other assistance, be sure before leaving him that he knows exactly where he is and that he has his bearings so that he can start off on his own again with confidence and safety.
- If you are driving a car take a little extra time and give that sightless person with a white cane the right-of-way.

Courtesy and Assistance:

The use of the White Cane is a practical method of assisting the blind to greater independence through the intelligent co-operation of the sighted public. If you wish to be courteous to those who are blind, assist them whenever possible. The following are a few suggestions:

DO allow a blind person to follow you when guiding him off or on a bus.

DO assist the blind person to locate entrances to homes, stores, etc.

DO remember that the steady tapping of a White Cane signifies that a blind person wishes your assistance.

DO ask a blind person where he wishes to go and be sure he has his bearings before you leave him.

DO remind the cyclist that his approach is silent and to allow the blind person to pass in front of him.

DO remember never to push or forcibly steer a blind person.

DON'T race your car motor while waiting for a traffic light when a blind person is crossing in front of you; as this may confuse him.

DON'T leave obstacles such as bicycles or children's toys on the sidewalk. They cannot be seen by a blind pedestrian and may cause serious accidents.

DON'T leave your car door open while parked. It may cause a serious accident to a pedestrian, and especially to the blind pedestrian.

DON'T back out of a driveway until you make sure the sidewalk is clear of pedestrians.

DON'T GRASP A BLIND PERSON BY THE ARM BUT ALWAYS ALLOW HIM TO TOUCH OR HOLD YOUR ARM FOR GUIDANCE.

Holding Leap Year Tea

Leap Year isn't going to be all rosy for the men—even if they are married. That is if women keep on thinking up new work for them as the ladies of Mark St. Church choir have done. Next Saturday afternoon they are holding a Leap Year Tea but all the work will be done by their husbands and the male choristers. Mr. Ed. DeNure and Mr. Max Pomeroy will receive the guests. Mr. Ernest Lillico and the Rev. E. W. Rowland will pour tea from three until four o'clock and Mr. F. L. Edworthy and the Rev. B. S. Morwood will preside from four until five. The bake table and candy table will also be staffed with men but the ladies do intend to prepare the supplies themselves.

Can Get Dressing To Waterproof Clothing

Wet snow-togs are no problem in families which have discovered how to waterproof their clothing at home.

Clear waterproof dressing is sold in department and hardware stores for cloth auto tops, awnings, tents and shoes. Mothers have discovered it is just the thing for kiddies' snowsuits.

The dressing will not stiffen, shrink or discolor the material; when applied properly, it is invisible. Rubbed or brushed on a fabric, it treats the threads so they will not absorb water, but it does not seal the pores and garments stay comfortable to wear. An added advantage is that mud splashes or other non-greasy spots will not penetrate the treated fabric and can be sponged off easily. Clothes stay cleaner longer.

Leather goods concerns use clear waterproof dressing by the gallon as a leather preservative. Shoes can be protected by a home treatment. Remove all the old dirt and shoe polish with a good fabric cleaner, apply the waterproofing as directed, then shine with shoe polish. A boy's leather mitts will make a million snowballs and still be dry under their waterproof coating.

The waterproofing is claimed ideal for an old umbrella which leaks in a heavy rainstorm, a raincoat which has lost its water-repellancy, or a hunter's jacket and gabardine cap.

Want A Change? Re-Package Your Personality

This is the time of year when we all get restless—the winter of our discontent. We are tired of winter, of ourselves, and spring seems to be around a too far-off corner.

What we all want right now is to be somebody else, change places in a kind of universal game of musical chairs. The housewife longs to be Vivien Leigh, if only for a couple of weeks. The office worker wishes he were an explorer for an heroic venture or two. Quite likely the arctic explorer wonders why he didn't pick a comfortable office job for his lifetime work.

Since we have no good fairy to make our Cinderella wishes come true, we have to make the best of our present occupation. But we can change our "package"... our appearance . . . the way we look. Looking different, and our consciousness of the difference, makes us feel different. That will do very well for this modern, realistic world.

Fortunately there are a lot of ways we can change ourselves... whether we are secretaries or housewives...without becoming movie actresses or television stars.

Change Skirt Style

We can, for one thing, experiment with skirts, and let them give us a new "package." Slim skirts have been in fashion for quite a few years, and they are still good. But full skirts are newer still. So, if you have been a faithful devotee of the slim skirt, why not change to the full skirt, with all the crinolines that go underneath? In this mid-season time of year the change in skirt style will change your personality just enough to make you feel young and fresh again.

Or Start at the Top

This is a good time, too, to start at the top of the package by changing your hair. If you have been wearing your hair in just about the same style for years now is the time to do something about it.

Why not try the poodle cut, the newest and shortest of all hairdos. For this the hair measures two or three inches all over the head and looks like a curley cap...young and carefree.

Or perhaps you don't feel as daring as that. Then, why not try a centre part instead of a side part, or a side part instead of the customary centre part you've been wearing for many seasons.

Try repackaging yourself, and see the difference it makes. Try a new package for a new personality.

Chapter News

NORWOOD CHAPTER

NORWOOD, Feb. 9 (ENS). — The local chapter of the I.O.D.E. met in the Legion Hall with Mrs. A. M. Weir regent presiding. The chapter decided to continue sending monthly parcels overseas. Principal of the public school was given permission to use prize money donated by the chapter as entry fee for Kiwanis Festival.

Mrs. Elmer Metcalfe, educational secretary, reported on presenting high school prizes and gave a brief outline of the I.O.D.E. scholarship and art competitions.

Mrs. Gerald LaBrash, convener of services at home and abroad, reported that during the past year 90 articles of knitted and other garments had been sent overseas.

It was decided to hold an evening of euchre, and an afternoon bake sale and tea on St. Patrick's Day at the King's Hotel.

Two new members were received.

Nominations for the officers took place, and the names received and posted will be voted on at next meeting.

Mrs. A. Waddell and Mrs. W. P. Forshee were hostesses for the very dainty lunch served at the close of the meeting.

Norwood Guild

NORWOOD, Feb. 9 (ENS). — The regular meeting of Christ church Guild was held in the parish room on Wednesday afternoon. The meeting opened with prayer by the president Mrs. Harold Mainland, followed by a scripture reading by Mrs. Arthur Townsend.

The Guild has agreed to buy and make additional gowns for the junior choir. Plans were made for a tea and parcel post sale to be held on April 12.

The Guild is having corporate communion on Ash Wednesday, at 9 a.m. followed by breakfast in the parish rooms.

The slides of the churches and mission fields in Saskatchewan were shown by Rev. Peasgood.

A social period was enjoyed by the ladies with Mrs. Joe Rae, Mrs. Townsend and Mrs. A. Duckworth serving tea.

Beauty Briefs

Colored hair is a way to beauty. Highlighting the ends of the hair and working in blonde streaks are two ways. Streaks of grey hair give a distinguished air.

Daily, or nightly, massaging of cream into the neck and throat is a must, if you are to have an Annie Laurie neck—"her neck is like the swan."

A facial now is a wonderful "lift" for winter-weary skin. The home type, either bought at a toiletry counter or beauty salon, or the "pantry-shelf" type—using yeast, egg or plain old-fashioned oatmeal, are all excellent for stirring up stimulation and "peeling" off dry and dead skin.

Hartnell's Evening Dresses Are Short and Glamorous

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON — (CP)—Evening dresses by Norman Hartnell are short but still carry all the romantic glamor of court ball gowns.

Women who recall with horror the skimpy short dresses of the early 1920s can relax. Hartnell's new styles show little sign of the jazz age influences. Instead there are glorious semi-crinolines of embroidered tulle, showing entrancing glimpses of silk or nylon-clad ankles and delicately-styled shoes.

Length is four inches from the ground at back, six in front. Voluminous skirts fan out from tiny waists over several layers of petticoat. One example is a semi-crinoline in white tulle with narrow shoulder straps, its full skirt and tight bodice embroidered in iridescent scallops of emerald sequins.

Hartnell, dressmaker to the royal family, has long kept royal favor with his exquisitely-embroidered crinoline gowns, and despite the new trend towards shorter styles his designs contrive to retain their intricate charm.

Named For Film

A daring short number with sophisticated appeal is a navy faille dress called "La Ronde". This is slim and clinging with a straight, ballet-length skirt which gets merry-go-round fullness from a spiral pouf frill. The dress takes its name from a French film which has proved a hit in London.

Among other styles by Hartnell is a black dress called "Zombi". Although this year's fashions generally avoid the nude neckline, this has a strapless top coyered by a short bolero. Fashioned from inch-wide ciri braid hand-sewn in a circular movement, the dress flounces outwards from a smooth hipline to a Mae West hemline and has something of the dark drama of gypsy costume.

Return of the fichu neckline is seen in "Star of Eve", a crinoline of midnight blue over white tulle scattered with blue and white stars. The draped organza fichu stands high on the shoulders and is pleated tightly across the bra to form part of the bodice.

Most useful of this year's more elaborate styles are the stiff silk coats with tiny waists and full, round-about hemlines. Designed for garden-party and race-course wear they are equally suitable with short evening dresses.

CZECHO - SLOVAKIAN BRIDE of Reginald Gould of Peterborough, is the former Lida Strnad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Strnad, Peterborough. The couple were pictured as they left the George St. United Church following their marriage.

Gould-Strnad

A newcomer to this city one year ago, Czechoslovakian Lida Strnad culminated a four month friendship with Reginald Charles Gould of Peterborough when their marriage was solemnized at George St. Church by the Rev. A. A. Mathews.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Josef Strnad with whom she came to a new home here. The groom is son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gould, Parkhill Rd.

For the wedding Miss Strnad chose a gown of white taffeta topped with a lace jacket and she wore a headdress of white carnations and carried in her bouquet carnations and orchids. She was given in marriage by her father and attended by the groom's sister, Miss Beverley Gould who was frocked in mauve taffeta and wore a headdress of matching tulle. The bridesmaid's bouquet was of yellow carnations.

The groomsman was Mr. Jack Blaby. During the signing of the register Mr. Percy Harrison sang "I'll Walk Beside You" and "Because" with accompaniment by organist Mr. Charles Allen.

A reception was held at the bride's home, 148 Parkhill Rd. Her mother was wearing navy with a corsage of white carnations at her shoulder and the groom's mother wore red sweetheart roses on her navy gown.

The couple took the traditional honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls after which they will make their home in Peterborough, presently living at 148 Parkhill Rd.

Guild Votes $100 To Building Fund

MARMORA, Feb. 9 (ENS)— The February meeting of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild was held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. H. R. Pearce. The rector, Canon J. M. Brownlie opened the meeting with prayer in which special mention was made of the Royal family and Queen Elizabeth. In the absence of the president, Mrs. F. Leal, the chair was taken by Past President Mrs. D. Robertson.

One hundred dollars was voted to the Building Fund. Mesdames W. D. Lavender and T. Pearce were appointed as a purchasing committee in connection with the play which will be presented by a cast under direction of Mrs. J. W. Hickey. It was decided to devote proceeds of the same to the building fund.

Mrs. R. G. Winters presented a new surplice to Canon J. M. Brownlie the rector who thanked the ladies for the treasured gift. The March meeting will be held in the Parish Hall. The rector closed the meeting with prayer after which refreshments were served.

Party Pretties

Like the lace on a Valentine a few well placed garnishes can dress up food and give it a party air. And some of the pretties are made with the most ordinary kinds of food.

Turnips, for instance, make daisies that would be the pride of any gardener. (Or of any hostess, for the sandwich or relish tray.) Just cut very thin slices crosswise of the turnip. Then cut holes in the centers of the slices with the tip of a knife, and insert a tight carrot curl. Now, with your kitchen scissors, snip the turnip up to within ¼ inch of the carrot, making about twenty petals. Snip off a diagonal piece from the tip of each petal to make a pin-wheel effect.

Field daisies are easy too. Make the petals fewer and wider, and snip two diagonal pieces, one from either side of each petal. By varying the petals, and using larger and smaller pieces of carrot for the centre, and even by layering the turnip slices, you can make just about any flower you favor. For calla lilies, take two thin turnip slices and bend them gently around a carrot stick stamen, leaving the tops open. Fasten at the bottom with a toothpick and crisp in ice water.

Roses are made by simply cutting the tip not quite off a tomato, leaving a bit of the skin attached. Then, with the pieces of skin still connected to the tomato, pare around and around. Turn the top upside down and coil the paring on it, dropping the end into the coil. Pretty? And of course, you'll use the tomatoes in a salad.

The dressing for salad or fish can be part of the garnish. Halves of green peppers, hollowed out beets, lemon shells are made to order for holding tarter sauce or mayonnaise. Or you might garnish a fish salad plate with a beet flower. Just make slits in whole pickled beets and insert radish slices. Go round and round the beet until it is covered with crisp red and white petals. Place on watercress or lettuce.

Nothing To Wear

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — When a woman says: "I haven't a thing to wear," she's usually stretching the truth a bit.

But model June Bright wasn't kidding when she told that to police.

Miss Bright, 25, wife of disc jockey Gene Norman, showed up at the station in a brief, black satin bathing suit and told this story:

The shapely model told sympathetic but appreciative officers she was moving to a new home and wore only the bathing suit while packing in 76-degree weather. She put her entire wardrobe, $4,000 worth, in her car. Then she donned a coat, drove with friends to a cafe and went in to eat. When she came out the wardrobe was gone.

Fealty Vows Sent By IODE, Jewish Women

A message to the bereaved Royal family has been sent by national president of the I.O.D.E., Mrs. J. H. Chipman. The message, addressed to the new Queen, conveyed: "Loving sympathy to Your Majesty in the grievous loss of our King, your father," and trusting that in her personal sorrow and great responsibility she will be sustained by a knowledge of the depth of love and loyalty extended to her by her people here.

"From every province of Canada, we, the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, deeply mourn the loss of our beloved King and extend to Your Majesty and her Royal Highness, Princess Margaret, our loving sympathy" said the message to the Queen Mother. "Knowledge that the memory of a life so nobly lived and dedicated to the welfare of his people and his times can never die, but will be treasured and revered for all time," it was hoped would comfort them.

To the Queen Mother Mary the IODE sent "Deep and loving sympathy in the great loss to our Empire and the world of our beloved King, your son. At this time of personal sorrow and national mourning the members of our Order wish you to have knowledge of the warmth of our devotion to the memory of a King, who, under great stress and strain, gave so unsparingly of himself, and our loyalty to a Queen who now dedicates her young life to our Empire's high destiny."

President of the National Council of Jewish Women, Mrs. Harold Lorie, sent a message to the Queen Elizabeth: "The National Council of Jewish Women of Canada grieves for you in your severe personal loss. Council women remember with affection and admiration the great qualities of heart and mind of the late King, your father—his courage, his steadfastness of purpose and especially his consideration for the human rights of all. They humbly offer you their loving sympathy and loyalty in your sorrow and in the task that lies ahead."

Jewish women also sent a message to the Queen Mother: "Our hearts go out to you, Queen Elizabeth, and to all members of the Royal Family, in your sorrow.

As wives and mothers the members of the N.C.J.W. are grateful to you and the late King, your husband, not only for your steadfast performance of duty, but for the example of your beautiful family life. Council women will long remember the noble, kindly personality and gracious Kingship of his late Majesty King George VI."

"Dress-Up" Pie For Special Valentine Parties

Set a pretty table for Fberuary parties and the occasion will be happily remembered. Golden pineapple caramel pie is an elegant dessert whether you're honoring St. Valentine or a president's birthday this month. It's a sweet bit of glamour to serve the card club, and makes a fine "dessert and coffee" treat for an evening with friends, too.

Making the filling is "as easy as pie" with canned pineapple conveniently ready-to -use. This delightful combination of crushed pineapple and brown sugar has the luscious sun-gold color of Hawaiian sunshine. The tender latticed top looks as dainty as a ruffled valentine and easy directions for making it are given in tre recipe.

Pineapple Caramel Pie

¾ cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ teaspoon salt
1 can crushed Hawaiian pineapple
1 tablespoon grated orange peel
2 tablespoons butter
1 recipe plain pastry (for 2 crust 9-inch pie).

Mix brown sugar, cornstarch, and salt. Blend with a little of the crushed pineapple. Add remaining pineapple. Cook, stirring constantly until thick and clear. Stir in orange peel and butter. Cool slightly. Line a 9-inch pie pan with pastry, leaving ½ inch hanging over edge of pan. Fill. Lay five ½ inch wide strips of pastry one way across filling, about ¾ inch apart. (Twist strips as they are laid across pie.) Lay five strips diagonally across. Seal and flute edges. Bake in hot oven (425 deg. F.) about 35 minutes. 6 servings.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Forsyth Celebrate 59th Anniversary

"Fifty-nine years is a long time," said Walter Forsyth and Mrs. Forsyth smiled agreement. Today the Forsyths are quietly celebrating their 59th wedding anniversary.

"We've been through a lot together," said Mrs. Forsyth. They were married in Montreal where Mrs. Forsyth had been brought up and it took some time for her to become accustomed to Peterborough after living in sprawling Montreal with its great ships. The local steamers looked like lifeboats to her when she first arrived.

But now they agree Peterborough is a pretty fine place to live. They have made their home here for the past 45 years with the exception of one year spent in Lakefield.

Before they were married, Mr. Forsyth, who is 82, was a salesman with various companies and travelled around a lot. After he married he settled down some, but they still moved about. One daughter was born in Vermont.

Finally they moved to Peterborough and Mr. Forsyth began to work steadily as a painter and decorator. He redecorated the Empress Hotel and the Grand Hotel as well as private homes for some years. But when it began to get easier to get work to do than to make money at it, he took a position with the DeLaval Co. where he worked the next 29 years. He was foreman of the company's paint shop. He retired about seven years ago.

Crippled

Mr. Forsyth has done some fishing and some bowling, but arthritis crippled him so that he had to get about on crutches for a time. However he recovered and gets about with no difficulty and is just as vigorous as his wife is.

Mrs. Forsyth, whose maiden name was Francis K. Abraham was born in Glasgow 78 years ago next April 17. She was brought by her parents at the age of 10 months to Montreal and lived there until her marriage.

She has always done crocheting and knitting and still turns out beautifully finished work—mostly baby's clothes. In other years she has won first prize at the Exhibition for her baby's clothes and bed shawls. She still does all but the finest work without glasses.

Built Home

They built a home at 298 Prince St. and lived there for eight years before they gave it up. Now they live alone in an upper apartment in a house at 493 Cross St., owned by a daughter, Mrs. Harold McIntosh.

They had 10 children, but their eldest, a boy died. They have 31 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren.

This evening there will be a family gathering at 493 Cross St. One daughter Mrs. William Robinson, who came from her home in Montreal for her father's 82nd birthday Jan. 18, was persuaded to stay over for the anniversary.

Their children are Mrs. E. Ward (Ethel), Mrs. Joseph Bolton (Ada), Mrs. R. King (Dorothea), Gladstone Forsyth, Harold Forsyth, and Mrs. Harold McIntosh, (Lillian) all of the city; and Mrs. C. Bradley (Maude) Chicago, Mrs. Wm. C. Robinson (Gertie), Montreal, Miss Ellen (Nellie) Forsyth, Tweed.

DOROTHY DIX

Completely Neglects Father Pampers Grown Children

DEAR MISS DIX: Can you tell me why a wife with a steady and faithful husband who provides everything she wants should be inconsiderate and quarrelsome with him, while catering to the slightest wish of her grown children? This woman has a good personality but doesn't consider her husband of sufficient importance to merit any of it. Her charm is reserved for the sons and daughters. H.L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Perhaps you think you have presented me with an unusual problem, but it is, on the contrary, quite commonplace. Many a woman clings to the theory that a husband has no place in her life except to be a father to her children, supporting them financially but having no other function in their upbringing. Such a woman rules her home as a matriarchy and woe to hubby if he questions her authority or crosses her will.

She gets her comeuppance when the childred marry and evade her iron hand in the velvet glove rule at last. With no one to pamper, mom turns into the most miserable person on earth. By that time, she and father have grown so far apart she doesn't know he exists. His role is to sit the corner and pay silent but worshipful homage.

Children Should Act

The grown children in this family could do a lot to improve the situation between mother and dad. They surely must realize the seriousness of their mother's conduct, and should try (1) to make her see the error of her ways, and (2) by their own consideration of father to atone for mother's neglect. When she realizes that her beloved children are aware of her great fault, she should take immediate steps to amend it.

This attitude is wrong from so many angles. It's most unfair to a conscientious husband who has worked, and is working, hard to give his family the best in life; it sets a very bad example in human relationships for the children, and it establishes a barrier between husband and wife that may still remain when they enter the last phase of their life together—the days of sunset when the children have left the family hearth and the old folks are left alone.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My son, who is in service, is in love with a divorced woman who has a small baby. Her family isn't very sympathetic to her, and she has had a difficult time with them as well as with her husband. She feels unwanted by everyone, and so, I guess, was glad to turn to my son for affection. He says he won't marry her in a hurry, but when he does make up his mind he'll do what he wants with or without our blessing.

SADIE M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You are a kind person; even in the midst of worry over your son you are still sympathetic toward this evidently unhappy young woman. Your son has a mind of his own and will apparently do what he likes. There is nothing you can do to stop him. Talking rarely helps, the young call it nagging.

There is a good possibility that the marriage will work out well. The girl certainly needs affection and understanding, which I am sure you can adequately supply. Best of luck to you all.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I have been married five years. He now has a chance to get a better job in another state, where I am sure we could be very happy with our two children. However, my mother says she'll die if I leave her. Am I wrong in wanting to go with my husband? Mother won't be left alone, as I have other sisters home.

MRS. G. T.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your mother is being most unreasonable. Your first duty is to your husband, and if he thinks his chances of success are better elsewhere, you should go with him. In fact, I think you should live away from your mother on general principles if she is so possessive. Be kind when you tell her you're going, and don't argue. Refuse to answer any objections she may raise. Write to her often and give her a little financial help, if she needs it and you can afford it. Send her little gifts from time to time to show you haven't forgotten her.

Readers' Column Conducted By Mary Moore

Question: Someone asked in the column one night how to whiten white knitted baby garments that had turned yellow. If white woollens start to turn yellowish use 3 oz. peroxide to two gallons water in washing them, dry them in direct sunlight. Hope this may help someone. A Regular Reader (Mrs. J. McG.)

ANSWER: Thank you so much. I hope the reader who was enquiring sees this tip. Let me help you some time.

✧ ✧ ✧

QUESTION: I have been reading your column for some time and have received your splendid ideas and recipes, and now wonder if you could help me, and considerably other women are in the same predicament as I am. My husband has had a duodenal ulcer for some years and as you know should be on a restricted diet. The dinners are not too bad, as we can always prepare roast beef, chicken, broiled steak or bacon, vegetables, milk or fruit (cooked) desserts, but the suppers are getting me down, as to know what to prepare for him.

We seem to have soup or cereal, sandwiches, so often and he is quite tired of eggs. Could you suggest some menus or recipes for supper dishes. If you could discuss this subject sometime in your column I know so many women would appreciate reading it. Mrs. W. R. S.

ANSWER: This is a touchy subject for me to answer, but I shall only tell you the kind of foods we were taught to serve in ulcer diets—when I was in school.

I have some close friends and relatives who are in the medical profession. I telephoned my favourite and read him your letter. Then I said "Why don't you fellows have mimeographed or printed sheets of recipes for these girls with ulcerated husbands?"

The answer was: "Aren't they supposed to know how to cook before they get married? We don't have time to teach them. We tell them what not to eat, and to emphasize milk, eggs, meat and cereals—and no roughage".

So there you are—how is a gal to win or learn?

I have two or three ideas that I think will give your meals a lift. But I want to interject here that one of the smartest things you can do to relieve the monotony of an ulcer diet is to change dishes, rooms where you eat, manner of serving — in other words, pack mealtime with surprises. For instance, since your husband can have soups, buy him a soup tureen—find those old-fashioned, old-world individual soup dishes with lids on. Make the best split pea soup, mulligatawny or French onion soup in the country. There is a cookbook that contains hundreds of different recipes for cooking eggs. Over a couple of years you could try all of them—of course, by that time, with all your thoughtful care, your husband's ulcers will be cured.

Macaroni Ring

Boil in plenty of salted water one-half pound macaroni (or spaghetti or noodles); then drain. Add to it 2 cups hot milk, ½ lb. shredded or finely chopped cheese (mild or old), 4 tablespoons margarine or butter, 2 cups soft breadcrumbs, 2 well-beaten eggs, 2 tablespoons each chopped onion, pimiento (if available) and parsley, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper. Mix these gently together. Pour into buttered ring mould (or any baking dish). Stand in pan containing hot water. Bake until mixture is set at 350 deg. Fahr.—about 35 minutes. Fill centre with creamed fish or chicken or green vegetable in season.

Baked Fish With Lemon Butter

Bake or broil any choice fish steak or fillet—halibut, salmon, pickerel, sole are some of the favorites. They should be brushed with lemon juice, dotted with butter and sprinkled sparingly with salt (if this is allowed in the ulcer diet) and baked or broiled at high heat, turning once. (if fish is placed on sheets of aluminum foil to fit the pieces it is very easily turned over.) Serve very hot with

Lemon Butter: Cream 2 tablespoons butter until very light, then gradually beat into it 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon paprika—and if allowed 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley.

If I neglect the ulcer patient recipes please write to me and jog my memory and I will give you some more.

BY-LAW NO. 18

The Board of Trustees of The Roman Catholic Separate School Board of The City of Peterborough.

A BY-LAW AUTHORIZING THE BORROWING OF FOUR HUNDRED AND THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS UPON DEBENTURES FOR BUILDING PURPOSES.

WHEREAS it is expedient to Borrow for the purchase of a School Site and the Erection of a School a sum not exceeding FOUR HUNDRED AND THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($430,000.00) upon the credit of the Board to issue Debentures therefor bearing interest at the rate of Four and One-half per cent (4½%) per annum payable (semi-) annually and to provide for discount and the expenses incidental to negotiation and sale of such Debentures;

AND WHEREAS it is expedient to make the principal period of twenty years next after the date of issue of such Debentures, of such amounts respectively that, with the interest in respect of the Debt, the aggregate amount payable for principal and interest in each year shall be, as nearly as possible, the same: subject to the statutory proviso that each instalment of principal may be for an even $100.00, $50.0, or $1,000.00 or multiple thereof, and, that notwithstanding anything herein contained, the annual instalments or principal and interest may differ in amount sufficiently to admit thereof;

AND WHEREAS the amount of the whole rateable property of the Board, according to the last revised assessment roll thereof is $4,133,455.00.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the existing Debenture debt of the Corporation, exclusive of local improvement debts secured by special rates or assesments, is $118,300.00.

AND WHEREAS by By-law Number 18 as amended of the Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School Board of the City of Peterborough at paragraph five, it was provided as follows:

5. Commencing in the year 1952 and thereafter in each year in which an instalment of principal of the said debt and interest become due, the Board shall levy and raise the specific sum shown for the respective year in the fourth column of the said Schedule. Such sum shall be levied and raised by a special rate sufficient therefor over and above all other rates, upon all the rateable property of the Board in the Municipality.

AND WHEREAS it was intended that the said paragraph five should read as follows:

5. Commencing in the year 1952 and thereafter in each year in which an instalment of principal of the said debt and interest become due, the Board shall levy and raise the specific sum shown for the respective year in the fourth column of the said Schedule. Such sum shall be levied and raised by a special rate sufficient therefor, over and above all other rates, upon all of the rateable property in the municipality assessed for Separate School purposes.

NOW THEREFORE the Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School Board for the City of Peterborough, enacts as follows:

By-law Number 18 as amended of the Board of Trustees of The Roman Catholic Separate School Board for the City of Peterborough as enacted on 23rd October, 1951, is hereby further amended to read as follows:

1. For the purpose aforesaid the Board shall borrow upon the credit of the Board a sum not exceeding FOUR HUNDRED AND THIRTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($430,000.00) and shall issue Debentures therefor in sums of not less than $50.00 each. Each Debenture shall bear interest at the rate of 4½% per annum (semi-) annually and shall have coupons attached thereto for the payment of such interest.

2. All the Debentures shall bear the same date, shall be issued at one time and within two years and shall be made payable in annual instalments during the period of twenty years next after the date of issue thereof, and the respective amounts of principal and interest payable in each of such years shall be the amounts so designated in Schedule "A" hereto annexed.

3. The Debentures shall be payable as to both principal and interest in lawful money of Canada and may be made payable at such place or places in Canada as shall be designated thereon.

4. The said Debentures shall be sealed with the Seal of the Board and signed by the Chairman of the Board, or by some other person authorized by by-law to sign the same, and by the Secretary-Treasurer, and his signature thereon may be written, stamped lithographed or engraved.

5. Commencing in the year 1952 and thereafter in each year in which an instalment of principal of the said debt and interest become due, the Board shall levy and raise the specific sum shown for the respective year in the fourth column of the said Schedule. Such sum shall be levied and raised by a special rate sufficient therefor, over and above all other rates, upon all of the rateable property in the municipality assessed for Separate School purposes.

6. The said Debentures may contain a clause providing for the registration thereof pursuant to Section 336 of the Municipal Act.

7. Pending the sale of the Debentures, the Chairman of the Board and the Secretary-Treasurer may raise for the purposes aforesaid by way of loan on such Debentures any sum or sums of money not exceeding in all the sum hereby authorized to be borrowed and may hypothecate such Debentures for such loan.

8. The Board shall have the right, at its option, to redeem the said Debentures either in whole or in part on any date prior to maturity at the places where and in the moneys in which the said Debentures are expressed to be payable, upon payment of the principal amount thereof together with interest accrued to the date of redemption and upon giving previous notice of said intention to redeem by advertising once in the Ontario Gazette and once in a daily newspaper of general provincial circulation, published in the City of Toronto and once in a local newspaper, such notice to be advertised as aforesaid at least thirty days before the date fixed for redemption. Notice of intention to redeem shall also be sent post at least thirty days prior to the date set for such redemption to each person, in whose name a Debenture so to be redeemed is registered at the address shown in the Debenture Registry Book. Where only a portion of the Debentures of this issue is so to be redeemed, such portion shall comprise only the Debentures that have the latest maturity dates, and no Debenture of this issue shall be called for such redemption in priority to any such Debenture that has a later maturity date.

Believes Beef Prices Will Remain High

TORONTO, Feb. 9 (CP)—W. P. Watson, Ontario Livestock Commissioner, said Friday that beef prices are likely to stay fairly high this year.

He told the annual meeting of the Ontario Association of Agricultural Societies that sale of United States beef cattle in Canada during recent weeks likely will drive Canadian prices down to the pegged U.S. level. The Canadian price was likely to follow the U.S. trend in 1952.

Canadians ate less beef—on a per capita basis—last year than during 1950, Mr. Watson said.

Medals For Nurses Archaic Money For Studies Needed

Medals for nursing students who graduate at the head of their year are "archaic," Dr. G. Stewart Cameron told the annual meeting of the Civic Hospital Board of Governors in submitting his report as chairman of the School of Nursing Committee.

"What is really needed," said Dr. Stewart, "is some means of financially assisting the qualified student to pursue post-graduate studies. Your committee would like to give further consideration to this matter."

"In the short time she has been with us, Miss Evelyn M. Robson has created a friendly atmosphere among her staff and students," Dr. Stewart said. Miss Robson took over as Director of Nursing Service and Principal of the School of Nursing when Miss A. L. Thomson resigned during the summer.

More nurses are becoming available and there appears to be average stability in the nursing staff, Miss Robson told the board in presenting the report of the nursing department.

70 Graduates

There are 70 graduate nurses on the staff, and the professional staff is assisted by eight nursing assistants, seven nurses' aides and 16 orderlies.

During the year, 64,447 patients were treated. The largest number of patients in the hospital at any one day was 228, with a daily average of 176.5. There were 3,004 operations performed and 1,068 blood transfusions were given.

Miss Betty Louise Strebe was awarded the board of governors' scholarship for one year of university post-graduate study.

On September 4, a new class of 36 nursing students was accepted, Miss Robson reported, and there are now a total of 91 students in training: 28 seniors, 30 intermediate and 33 preliminary students.

In December, the school's affiliation with the Ontario Hospital at Kingston for training students in psychiatric nursing was discontinued. An agreement has been worked out with the Ontario Hospital, Whitby, so the nurses-in-training can obtain the required experience there.

Chronicaaly Ill Patients Social Service Problem

How to give proper care to chronically ill patients is a problem of social service that has not been satisfactorily solved, Superintendent John Hornal told the Civic Hospital Board of Governors in submitting his annual report.

At least 30 patients were in hospital at the year's end who could be classed as chronically ill, Mr. Hornal said. "Most of them require nursing care, many of them as much or more than the average acutely ill patient."

On the other hand, Mr. Hornal said, those requiring only a minimum of care would be better off in an institution "where their horizon would not be confined to a single room.

"In this connection we are extremely indebted to the Women's Auxiliary who are doing so much for this group by their weekly visits, the tuck cart service, the library service and the occupational therapy service," said Mr. Hornal.

Revenue Short Of Estmate

Although there were 25 per cent more patients in 1951 than 1950, Mr. Hornal said that the increase "was not as grat as was anticipated" with the result that revenue fell short of the amount estimated at the beginning of the year.

Present indications are that the hospital will be used more this year than in 1951, however, costs have risen substantially in the meantime and revenues which would have been satisfactory in 1951 will not cover the same proportion of expenses in 1952.

While the hospital has always been sympathetic to the problem hospital costs bring to people who require its services, the need for funds forced the hospital to adopt a practice of asking for prompt payment of accounts, said Mr. Hornal. The practice of requesting patients to pay weekly in advance does not mean the hospital refuses treatment to those unable to pay for them.

Discuss Credit

"If the patient cannot meet the demand, our credit department is able to discuss with the patient or his representative the best arrangements to meet the problem."

Restricting visiting hours to one hour during the afternoon and evening which was introduced following the influenza epidemic last winter pointed up the possibilities of operating the hospital services with fewer staff. "While restrictions are always iksome," Mr. Hornal said, "it was felt that in the interests of both the patient's welfare and the economy of the hospital that some control should be exercised. After a study of the practice in other centres, the present policy was adopted."

Teachers' Strike Proves Headache

HALIFAX, Feb. 9 (CP)—After years of reasoning, begging and threatening, teachers in Cape Breton county rural and village areas have taken strike action—for the first time in the province—to back up demands for increased salaries.

Unrest is evident among teachers in the other Atlantic provinces.

Cape Breton county rural and village teachers, members of the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union, walked out Jan. 31 to back up demands for a $300 annual salary increase. County council, which first threw the whole thing into the lap of the provincial government, now has called a special session Feb. 15 to re-study the matter.

Meanwhile, the result of a province-wide strike vote is pending and the Cape Breton teachers held a mass meeting at Sydney Friday night.

Some 5,000 Cape Breton pupils enjoy their unexpected holiday, skating on ponds in country areas; forums and theatres in industrial centres are doing roaring business. But parents worry: the kids will have a lot of catching up.

Tar Boils Over

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 9 — (ENS)—Firemen answered their first call in recent weeks on Friday when a large container used for melting tar caught fire. Workmen are busy repairing the damage caused by the $200,000 fire which partially destroyed a large business block on Bridge St. west, and were putting tar on the newly-completed roof of the building when some snow was believed to have got into the tar container, and the tar boiled over the sides and onto the street.

Flames were leaping high into the air when firemen arrived. The blaze was extinguished without difficulty.

Land On Island

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 9 — The Air Ministry announced on Friday night that two navy sea planes, part of an Argentine southbound sea and air task force, landed Thursday on disputed Deception Island in the Antarctic's South Shetland group. Both Argentina and Britain have laid claim to the tiny island.

Urges Interest In Labrador

LONDON, Feb. 9 —(Reuters)—Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express today urges the British people to start "the new Elizabethan age" by getting cracking on the development of the Commonwealth and Empire — particularly Canada — which "one government after another has put on the shelf."

The Express says in an editorial that British skill and money should be employed in Labrador, where vast deposits of high-grade iron ore are being developed "to Britain's shame" by United States dollars.

Britain lost "a century of opportunity" by failing to get in on the ground floor of this project but can "with energy and imagination . . still share in this Eldorado of iron."

"On the lower St. Lawrence, railways and hydro-electric power stations are being built to bring the iron ore down to the sea," the Express says. "After them will come towns and industries based on the ore.

"Skilled men will be needed by the thousands. They should come from Britain."

Lakefield M. & S. Club To Buy Choir Collars

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 9 (ENS)—Newly-elected president, Mrs. W. H. Fife, presided on Tuesday evening when the Missionary and Service Club of the United Church met at the home of Mrs. Charles Hunter with 23 members present.

Mrs. Raymond Jackman was in charge of the devotional period and Mrs. Carmen Payne led in prayer. Mrs. P. H. Darling gave a talk on "What Makes a Christian". In her address Mrs. Darling stressed the importance of giving time, talent and financial backing to the church.

Financial report, showing a balance of $218, was given by treasurer, Mrs. Stanley Hart, who also reported the total realized from the bazaar to be $133. The sum of $50.00 was sent to the Rev. Arthur Steed in Africa to help in his missionary work.

Mrs. George Carey reported that the Mission Band had sent their allocation of $60 to the presbytery.

Mrs. Thomas Payton, on behalf of the choir ladies, spoke of the need of new collars for the choir gowns, and on motion of Mrs. McCracken and Mrs. D. Davis the club will purchase 24 collars.

A committee of three, Mrs. C. Payne, Mrs. Theo. Down and Mrs. S. Henderson were appointed to help with the C.G.I.T. mother and daughter banquet on Friday evening.

Mrs. Fife was appointed the representative to the Missionary and Maintenance committee from the Club. Mrs. McCracken then gave a report of the recent presbytery meeting held in Peterborough to which she was the club's delegate.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. S. E. Richardson, Mrs. Down and Mrs. Allen Graham.

White School W.I. Hears Notes Of Thanks

WARKWORTH, Feb. 9 (ENS)—The White School branch of the Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Owen Clark on Wednesday. Mrs. Owen Findlay opened the meeting. Letters from the president and secretary of the Allanby W.I. in Cumberland, England were read in appreciation of food parcels received from the White School Branch.

Mrs. Edward Huycke, convener for agriculture and Canadian industries, gave a paper on that subject. Mrs. Stanley Brenton gave a reading entitled "Jimmie"; Mrs. Arthur Menellley read an article on "The Praying Mantis". A round of community singing was enjoyed and was followed by game of Bingo.

Calendars and "The Royal Album" were presented to the White School Branch of the W.I from the Allonby W.I. in England.

Elizabeth Has 2 Queens' Help

By STANLEY CLARK

LONDON, Feb. 9 —(Reuters)—Queen Elizabeth II begins her reign with the sure comfort that behind her stand two women—one middle-aged, the other an octogenarian—steeped in the elaborate traditions and etiquette of queenship.

She knows that whenever she is at a loss she can ask the help of these two royal ladies who, in two reigns lasting 42 years, have mastered the finest subtleties of queenly behavior.

They are her mother, the Queen Mother Elizabeth, 51, and her grandmother, the Queen Mary, 85.

For the first time in British history two queen mothers are alive.

Queen Mary, product of the Victorian age, is regal, gracious. She has lived to see six reigns. She is kindly, but strict. In her eyes, every human emotion must be subordinated to the demands of the throne.

Queen Elizabeth is of the people. She married the late King without the knowledge that she would be queen. She has warmth, a ready comradely smile. With the King she has shown that the royal family, above all, is a happy, united family.

Red Paper In U.K. Criticizes Monarchy

LONDON, Feb. 9 (Reuters)—Britain's Daily Worker appears to have gone off at a tangent from the Kremlin and cominform line on the death of King George VI and the accession of Queen Elizabeth II.

The Moscow line has been to record the event and say nothing more.

The Daily Worker—only Communist daily in Britain—has made crystal clear that it has no time for monarchy. It has injected notes of sarcasm and cynicism into reports and features concerning the royal family, and conveyed to readers an impression that all the present fuss and ceremony is a costly waste of time.

He is charged with shooting William Lingard, 67, at Port Hope on Feb. 1. Lingard is recovering from a revolver bullet wound in the abdomen.

NEW QUEEN Elizabeth brings Britons hope of better times.

LAST QUEEN, Victoria, best beloved monarch.

QUEEN Elizabeth was a ruler in fact as well as title.

Great Britain's Queen's Have Left Strongest Impression On Country

LONDON — (NEA)—Out of Britain's past, two famous queens emerge as triumphant figures. It is natural that a comparison will be drawn between the new Queen and those two great monarchs—the original Queen Elizabeth and Queen Victoria.

There are many similarities between the three; they acceded to the throne early in life; they were born of parents who originally had little hope of contributing to the royal line; they all lived a glorious love story.

But there are also monumental differences. Chief, of course, are the times the three gallant ladies lived in. Elizabeth and Victoria gave so much to their ages that historians call them the "Elizamethan" and "Victorian" periods. Elizabeth ruled for 44 years, Victoria for 63.

Elizabeth was queen in the 16th and 17th Centuries, when the English monarch was ruler in fact as well as title. By the 19th Century, when Victoria became queen, the power of royalty had been reduced by consitiutional limitations.

✧ ✧ ✧

The present queen is the only one of the three to be married and a mother before she acceded. Victoria married after her coronation and bore a future king. Elizabeth never married and was the last of her line.

The reign of Elizabeth began tempestuously. Her father was Henry VIII. Her mother was Anne Boleyn. Scarcely anyone would have believed that the daughter born to Anne in 1533 would one day mount the throne of England.

Became Queen When 26

She had an elder sister and an elder brother. Both became monarchs. But Edward VI died when he was 16 and "Bloody Mary" had no children. So Elizabeth took her place on the throne and in history in 1558, when she was 26, one year older than the new Queen.

✧ ✧ ✧

There was great rejoicing throughout England when Mary died. Religious questions had torn the island. Mary had sent Elizabeth to the Tower of London and the future queen was very nearly beheaded.

Elizabeth was handsome but no beauty. Court rumors said there was a physical defect that prevented her from having a child, but she had many suitors. Her romance with Robert Devereux, 2nd Earl of Essex, has long been celebrated in story and drama.

It was a love story ideal for the stage because it had the ingredients of passion and hate. Both Elizabeth and Essex were headstrong, stubborn and willful. They were attracted to each other physically, but the court gossip was that they didn't really like each other.

Essex Beheaded

And there was the final scene of their romance, a scene that has always made the story a popular vehicle for great actresses. Essex was condemned to die for an ineffectual "rebellion". Elizabeth sat alone in her chambers, with the power to pardon her erstwhile lover or let him be beheaded. Stubbornly she refused to move and Essex died.

Elizabeth's last years were desolate. Essex was the last of her favorites. She had no children and so the next in line for the throne was James, the son of her enemy Mary, Queen of Scots. Elizabeth died in 1603, an old lady mourned by none but the English people.

✧ ✧ ✧

She contributed much to her country. It was during her years on the throne that England's Navy, under the intrepid Hawkins, whipped the Spanish Armada and that Britain really began to "rule the waves." For 44 years, she was a symbol of a nation whose strength and destiny would stretch around the world.

✧ ✧ ✧

Her namesake, Princess Elizabeth, inherits a country much different. The golden days of the British Empire have faded. Its strength is challenged in many places. The monarchy still exists, but it is no longer the end-all of British rule.

The two Elizabeths share one thing. The first Elizabeth prided herself on being a "mere Englishwoman," by which she meant that she was virtually pure English in blood. Her mother, Anne Boleyn, was an English commoner. The present Elizabeth is a child of a Scotch noblewoman, also not of Royal birth.

Through the centuries, Britain's monarchs have come and gone, and her queens have left the strongest impression on the country. A new queen now mounts the ancient throne and Britons, although saddened by the death of George VI, hope that somehow the advent of a Queen may bring better times.

Role Of Women Theme Of WA

HAVELOCK, Feb. 9 (ENS)—"In the Home" was the theme for the devotional period at the meeting of the Women's Association of Havelock United Church at their meeting in the Sunday school auditorium Thursday afternoon, and was led by Mrs. G. W. Chiles and Mrs. F. Rogers.

Mrs. Chiles read the scripture lesson and gave a talk on the theme, which dealt with the direct effect the home has on the nation, the role of the wives in helping husbands and children to live under the inspiration of God. In closing she she spoke about the loss the British Commonwealth of Nations has sustained in the passing of King George VI. He regarded the scriptures as the foundation of his nation's greatness and the bulwark of its security. His home life exemplified his belief in God and was an inspiration to all that was noble in the heart of the nation.

A minute's silence was observed followed by prayer by Mrs. Rogers who also announced the hymns.

During the business session it was decided to hold a hot supper featuring Irish stew on March 4.

Mrs. H. R. Haacke gave a reading, a solo was sung by Mrs. S. Southward and Mrs. A. Russell conducted a stunt contest. The president, Mrs. N. Blakely presided.

Age, Youth Celebrate Birthdays In Omemee

OMEMEE, Feb. 9 —(ENS) — Ninety-four and four celebrated together Thursday at the birthday party for Wililam Rehill of Omemee. His great-grandson, Billie Rehill, was four just one day sooner. Mrs. Rehill will be 92 on March 7. Last Sept. 12, they celebrated their 69th wedding anniversary.

Others attending the birthday party were Billie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Rehill, and another grandson Willard Rehill with his wife and small son and daughter Murray and Nancy.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Rehill, Omemee boasts four other nonagenarians. Mrs. Harvey Brooks and Samuel Faulkner are each past 90; Mrs. James Cunningham is 91; and Mrs. Richard Poast was 95 last Dec. 7.

Mrs. Poast has spent the last five winters with her daughter, Mrs. M. Lethangue in Pontypool, but during the Summer months insists on occupying her Omemee residence where she does her own housework. One of her hobbies is hooking mats and each summer she completes a new one.

Westwood W.M.S. Plans Crokinole

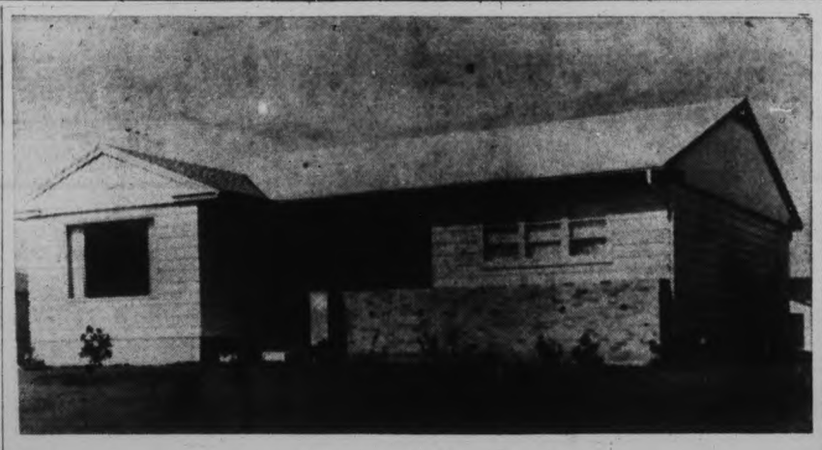
WESTWOOD, Feb. 9 (ENS)—Members of St. Andrews Woman's Missionary Society were entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. S. Neilson for the February meeting.

A hymn and prayer by the president, Mrs. Clayton Brackenridge, opened the meeting. A crokinole party will be held next Friday in the community hall, proceeds to be used for the new training school for leaders.

Mrs. Neilson was the leader for the program. Mrs. W. Morris rendered a solo and Mrs. W. J. Breckenridge presented the topic on Institutional Churches.

Strange But Generous

PIETERMARITZBURG, South Africa (CP).—"Don't say I never give you anything," said a complete stranger to an elderly woman in her home here as he threw two five-pound and some one-pound notes in her lap. He left the house immediately and the woman handed the money to the police.



Disadvantages In Building Basement Outweigh The Apparent Advantages

One of the biggest questions among people planning homes today is whether to have a basement or not. Houses away from public sewage facilities and with doubtful natural drainage have never been practical basement building locations states architect Richard B. Pollman. One cannot say that a basement is never necessary since some irregular building sites make a lower floor necessary from a construction standpoint. But unless there is good and sufficient reason for building in that manner, the many disadvantages connected with a basement would seem to outweigh any apparent advantages.

Many people living in homes with basements are today expressing the greatest enthusiasm for basementless homes. In recreation rooms, owners and their friends have complained of sinus trouble, arthritis and similar disorders. Their children have contracted colds. The toys have rusted and fallen apart. Accidents on the basement stairway help make the home one of the most dangerous places to be in.

Modern Equipment Takes Less Space

A modern ground floor laundry is cheerful and efficient. Little space is required for laundry equipment and it can be located adjacent to the kitchen or actually a part of it.

The advent of deep-freeze refrigerators and scientific cold storage rooms makes the old "fruit-cellar" out moded.

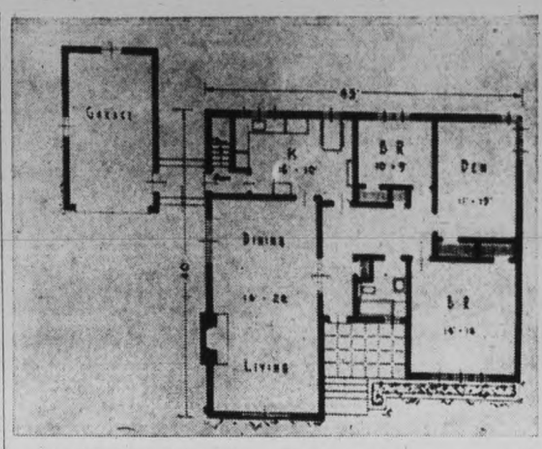
In heating, cleaner, quieter, smaller and much more efficient units are the rule. They can be located in a very small soundproof space and provide healthful radiant warmth to the entire floor area so that cold floors and drafts can be entirely eliminated.

More Organized Storage Space

Another very important planning principle in basementless houses is the general overall distribution of "organized storage" space. The use of storage walls permits the inclusion of many more closets in the average home. In addition the storage of bulky things can be easily planned as a part of the garage or even a storeroom can be planned. Where garages are attached to the house, they can be heated and provide a real workshop, greenhouse and general hobby centre. Most houses with pitched roofs have storage space in the attic.

The basement house is usually constructed with practically no finished basement work included in the original selling price. When this area is finished into rooms, it naturally adds to the value of the property, but it is not apparent from the outside.

The basementless house is an entirely different kind of planning, Assuming it to have the same major room sizes as the basement-type, it is easy to see that it must have additional space above ground to provide for laundry, heating, storage, hobbies, recreation, etc. The overall size of the house will be larger and because this is apparent, it may have some bearing on the investment or resale value.



HOUSE No. 623—Outer walls of this compact, ranch-style home are of 10" cedar clapboards painted white. The roof is turquoise blue, and the brick wall at the front, forming a long flower box, is of varying shades of buff. Chimney is of smooth, white stucco. Porch and front steps are red concrete. Inside are six well-planned rooms and a bathroom off a central hall. While the present owners need only two bedrooms as indicated on the floor plan, the good-sized den could serve as a third bedroom. The kitchen is particularly bright and roomy with excellent dining facilities. Easy access to the front door is provided. House contains approximately 28,500 cubic feet, without garage. Victim Saves Rescuer WANGANUI, N.Z. (CP)—During a life-saving club team race here a member who was acting as a "drowning victim" saw a competitor in danger from cramp. The "victim" reversed his role and saved the lifesaver but was disqualified for leaving his marker.

Substitute For Sun

NARVIK, Norway (CP)—This city in northern Norway, where the sun is absent for two of the winter months, has built a "solarium" for school children, featuring ultra-violet radiant walls and ceilings.

Board Of Control Supports Lamport

TORONTO, Feb. 9 (CP)—The Toronto Board of Control Friday backed up Mayor Allan Lamport when he told the executive of the Canadian National Exhibition that city council should have greater representation on the C.N.E. executive, there should be a greater Canadian emphasis in the grandstand show and a proper accounting system to show taxpayers whether the show is making or losing money.

Charge Eight People Endanger Children

CAIRO, Ill., Feb. 9 (AP) — Warrants charging conspiracy to endanger lives of children have been filed against eight persons in connection with disturbances during the transfer of Negro children to previously all-white schools.

One is a white lawyer, the other seven are Negroes.

At least six Negro children have been transferred to white schools under an Illinois law which forbids state financial aid for school systems which practise segregation.

The eight were accused of conspiring to commit acts "endangering the lives and health of children by forcing them by threats and inducements to enter" Cairo schools previously for white children only. The warrants did not explain how the children's lives were endangered.

Hearings are scheduled Feb. 14. The eight were released under $1,000 bond each Thursday. The maximum penalty is a year in jail and $200 fine.

Profit Pyramid

BLENHEIM, N.Z. (CP).—Cars are really scarce in New England. Way back in 1943 a Blenheim man bought an ancient vehicle for $18, repaired it and resold it for $37. Since then the auto has changed hands several times and its cost its present owner $660.

Food Parcels Fail To Arrive

Three neighbors in the Dublin-Water St. district have reported that three of four food parcels they sent to England did not arrive. The fourth arrived, so watersoaked that is was not usable.

All four parcels were mailed in sufficient time to reach England by Christmas. Postmaster Harry White commented Friday that he has received some complaints about food parcels not arriving, but that there has been no great number.

"If they'd come in and give me particulars—how much postage, the address, and so on— I could fill out a tracer form to be sent on to the postal inspectors at Ottawa," he said.

No Insurance in U.K.

One of the men who lost a parcel—it was the second in succession — mentioned that there was free insurance provided in Canada for the parcels, but that such insurance couldn't be had in England.

"With the increased postage rates, a man wouldn't mind sending food parcels if only he could be sure they would arrive," he said. "It would be good if we could get insurance in England as well."

One man, whose parents live in Gosport, England, sent two parcels in November—25 pounds and 50 pounds—and neither arrived. Both were sent direct from a chain store.

A second sent a 10-pound parcel to Manchester; it was not delivered, and was the second Christmas food parcel he had sent that suffered that fate.

The third man's parcel, 20 pounds, was sent to London, and was delivered. The contents were soaked in seawater.

Present limit for food parcels is 20 pounds; the change was made in January. New rates for parcels are, with old rates bracketed: five pounds 95c (50c), 20 pounds $3.25 ($2).

Says Newsprint Problem Eases

MONTREAL, Feb. 8. (CP)—R. M. Fowler, president of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, Friday told some 35 publishers from the United States and Canada that the newsprint problem is gradually being overcome.

He spoke to the board of directors of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association and repeated statements made at the annual convention of the C.P.P.A. two weeks ago that more newsprint will be available this year than last.

The publishers' sessions are closed but delegates said the newsprint problem was the chief topic.

W. Blackburn, publisher of the London Free Press, is the lone Canadian on the board of directors.

Baby Saves 23

TORONTO, Feb. 9 (CP) — Lynda Thompson, 18 months old, can only say "Momma." She said it loudly enough Thursday night to arouse 23 persons when fire broke out in a city tenement. All escaped. "I know she cries loudly," said her mother, Mrs. Ruth Thompson, "but from now on I won't mind it so much."

ISLE OF CAPRI, Italy, Feb. 9 (AP)—Norman Douglas, 84-year-old Austrian-born Scottish novelist, was reported near death at his villa here Friday. Douglas, who has lived in the island for 30 years, suffered a stroke Wednesday and has been kept under an oxygen tent since.

Baking Sale Nets $43 For Millbrook W.M.S.

MILLBROOK, Feb. 9 (ENS)—Mrs. H. A. Turner was hostess for the February meeting of St. Thomas' Anglican Women's Guild on Wednesday. Mrs. Percy Hamilton, the president, conducted the devotions and asked the members to join her in a minute of silent prayer in respect for King George VI.

Mrs. T. A. Campbell, the treasurer, reported that $43.40 had been realized from the home-baking sale held last month, and that there was a satisfactory balance in the bank.

Miss Anna Fair reported two calls on members of the parish who were ill, and the secretary that two cards of good cheer had been sent. It was moved by Mrs. Turner and seconded by Miss Raikes that $1 talent money should be taken by each member during Lent, and that the proceeds should be turned in at the April meeting.

The following were appoined to distribute cards to families of the parish, who are being asked to contribute 10c for each of the 12 holidays of the year: Mrs. D. Sheppard, Anne St.; Miss E. Raikes Main Street; Mrs. F. Lowery, west of the station; Mrs. D. R. Fowler from the station to the post-office; Mrs. Chote, Centre Street; Mrs. Hutchison ,King Street; Mrs. Hamilton, Tupper Street; Misses Anna Fair and Ellen Kent, east end; Mrs. Brockenridge and Mrs. T. A. Campbell, members living in the country.

Two new members were welcomed to the Guild, Mrs. James Godfrey and Mrs. Russell Smith. Mrs. A. Chote and Miss Kent served refreshments.

Bancroft Credit Union Names 1952 Directors

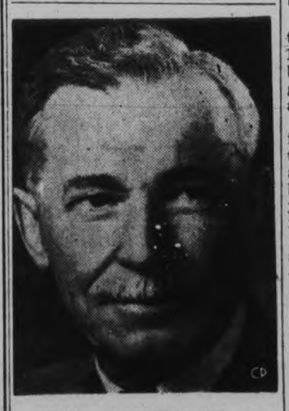
BANCROFT, Feb. 9, (ENS) — North Hastings Community Credit Union Limited had its first annual meeting in the Canadian Legion hall Monday night. A large number were present to hear progress reports, elect officers and hear two speakers, the Rev. W. G. Dwyer of Madawaska and Philip Larkin of Friendship House, Combermere.

Elizabeth Lowden, A. F. Grayling and Brian Murray were elected to the board of directors, for two year terms. Other members of the board are Dr. R. Y. Haryett, G. C. Ward, Albert E. Wright and George Whitfield. Chauncey Ray and J. W. C. Hutton were elected to the credit committee for similar terms. Other members of this committee are John Hawkins, Patrick La Barge and Elvin Bruce. One elected member to the supervisory committee was John Hutchinson. The other two are Henry Philips and Gordon Broughton.

In the treasurer's report Mrs. Jean Ward showed that the association had deposits of $464.75 and 38 members. During the meeting three new members were approved by the board of directors. Mrs. Ward also reported that at present there were eight loans to members and that the past month had shown a decided upswing in credit union activities.

For Simple English

LONDON (CP).—An article in a local magazine says council agendas and committee reports need purging of "lazy, sloppy, circumlocutory and obscure English." Sometimes, the article said, official reports are guilty of "downright bad grammar."



NEW APPOINTMENT—Col. G. M. Carrie, of the Defence Research Board, a native of Owen Sound, has been named to succeed Dr. Otto Maass as scientific adviser to the Army Chief of the General Staff. Four Women On Privy Council

LONDON, Feb. 8. (AP)—Elizabeth II is the first Queen of Great Britain to have a Privy Council containing members of her own sex.

There are four women on the present council, the highest Royal advisory body. They are:

Queen Mary, 84.

Dame Margaret Bondfield, 79, first woman minister of labor (in the Labor government of 1932-31), a council member since 1929.

Miss Florence Horsbrugh, sixtyish, the present minister of education.

Dr. Edith Summerskill, 50, minister of national insurance in the Labor government which fell last October.

Plainville WM.S.Plans March Church Supper

PLAINVILLE, Feb. 9 (ENS)—February meeting of the Plainville W.M.S. and W.C.T.U. was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ewart King. During the business session conducted by the president, Mrs. C. Manley, plans were commenced for a supper to be held at the church in March.

The three members who attended the presbyterial in Campbellford last week, Mrs. Kin, Mrs. W. Herriott and Miss Clara King, presented brief reports. Plans were also made for observing the World Day of Prayer when the ladies of St. Annes W. A. of Bewdley are to be guests.

Program convener was Mrs. Wallace Buttars, assisted by Mrs. Louis Buttars and Mrs. Malcolm Buttars, using the program as outlined in the Missionary Monthly and a chapter from the study book, "From Lakes to Northern Lights."

Mrs. Frank Westington, president of the W.C.T.U., presided over a brief period, with "Frances Willard Month" as a theme with the use of clip sheets regarding her life and work. Plans were made for a social evening to be held in the church basement later in February sponsored by the W.C.T.U. when the Camborne Union are to be guests.

Eleven couples of the Young Adult Club enjoyed a theatre party in Port Hope as a group for their February meeting one evening this week returning after to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maclean Herriott for lunch. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Buttars were joint hosts with the Herriotts, and together responsible for the evening. A name contest was played and hot dogs and coffee served. The president, Wallace Buttars held a brief business discussion, when a committee was formed to procure and arrange a one act play on request of the ladies of the W.M.S.to be presented at their supper in March. Rev. A. Y. Robertson offered prayer.

May Urge Licensing Of Canadian Painters

TORONTO, Feb. 9 (CP)—The question of licencing of painting contractors may be one of the highlights at the convention of the Canadian Association of Painting and Decorating Contractors at Kingston Feb. 24-26, the Association said Friday.

Some 300 persons are expected to attend the 48th annual meeting. It is expected representation will be made to Ontaraio and Quebec governments to help implement a licencing act for painters.

The association said it believes it would be in the public interest to limit commercial decorators and house painters in two ways: by licencing, allow only skilled journeymen to enter the decorating field; upon licencing, have contractors post a bond guaranteeing satisfaction of work.

Belleville Reports 1,000 Unemployed

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 9—Winter peak in unemployment has been reached in Belleville, the National Employment service office reported Thursday. Nearly 1,000 are on claim in the city and district.

H. H. Reed, office manager predicted seasonal work would soon start to relieve the situation. Majority of those out of work are unskilled laborers, but some carpenters and other building trade workers are also jobless.

A "certain amount" of construction and railway work should take up the slack soon, Mr. Reed said.

SCIENTIFIC ADVISER — Dr. Otto Maass, chairman of McGill University's chemistry department, has been appointed as scientific adviser (special weapons) to the military Chiefs of Staff. His fields include biological and chemical warfare. One of Canada's outstanding chemists, Dr. Maass is a director of the Canadian pulp and paper research institute and a member of the National Research Council.

Church Reports Show Progress

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 9 (ENS)—Reports presented at a recent vestry meeting of the Church of St. John the Baptist showed excellent progress made in all departments.

In presenting the rector's report, the Rev. L. J. Delaney paid tribute to the congregation for the good work of the past year. In regard to church attendance, financial support and widespread interest, there was a marked improvement.

The "Every Member Visitation", Mr. Delaney reported, had strengthened the parish. Harold Deeth read the "Honor Roll" of those who had made the calls; Fred Remnant, John Hampton, Fred Dainton, Harry Pemberthy, Mrs. Hugh Ketchum, Mrs. William Rasleigh, Mrs. John Mather, Dr. H. R. Campbell, Ed. Rogers, Ron. Burgess, Art. Dainton, George Birch, Ken Remnant, Claire Sisson, Murray Patterson, Bill Twist, Mrs. J. Eaton, Mrs. William Hudson, Mrs. J. Twist, Mrs. W. O'Brien, Miss Joyce Hutt and Mrs. J. Spargo.

The rector spoke of visiting the outlying families, new families, those sick in the hospitals or in difficulty. His work is seasonal, in the fall concentrating on the Sunday school, and in winter and spring on Confirmation preparations. Because of the large number of children in the parish he stressed the importance of youth work, Sunday school, Junior W. A., Junior Choir, Little Helpers and the Daily Vacation Church School in summer.

At the same time he expressed appreciation of the good work of the adult organizations and their leaders, in the Guild, the Women's Auxiliary, the choir and of late, the Men's Group who come on the third Sunday to Holy Communion at 8:30 a.m.

The parish, he said, needed above all, a strong parish council to advise and support the rector and wardens, and suggested three active committees that would strengthen the church: first, a finance committee to look after the details of the church money matters; second, a building and property committee to look after repairs and improvements; and third, a sidesmen's committee to organize the sidemen.

In regard to the finances, Harold Deeth and Mrs. Walter Chappell, enevelope secretary, had been in effect a small but efficient finance committee, Mr. Delaney remarked.

Fred Dainton, P. Perley, Claire Sisson and G. Pearson were appointed to the building and property committee. Sidemen appointed were Ken Remnant, convener, Ed. Rogers, Murray Patterson George Birch, W. O'Brien, Reg. Murduff and Art Dainton.

Further elections were; rector's warden, Fred Rermnant; people's warden, John Hampton, Jr.; lay delegates to synod, R. K. Slater and O. A. Langley; envelope secretary, Mrs. Walter Chappell; vestry clerk, Harold Deeth; parish council, Dr. H. E. Gastle. Dr. H. R. Campbell and William Hampton; auditors, G. Winder-Smith and W. Gregg.

Mrs. Walter Chappell reported that there were 157 envelope users for 1952, and vestry clerk Harold Deeth reported an increase of almost $600 in pledges.

Other reports given were the Women's Auxiliary by Mrs. S. E. White, the Guild by Mrs. H. E. Gastle, the Xhi Rho by Murray Patterson, the Sunday school by Mrs. Harold Deeth, the Junior girls by Mrs. E. Rogers and the choir by Mrs. J. Twist.

Special mention was made of the "Valentine Tea and Sale" to be held on February 12 in the parish hall by the W.W. and the vestry meeting at which unfinished business would be concluded on Feb. 18. The Lenten season will begin with a special service on Ash Wednesday, Feb. 27 at 8 p.m.

WMS Meets In Norwood

NORWOOD, Feb. 9 — (ENS)—The W.M.S. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church met at the home of Mrs. S. A. Sexsmith, the president, Mrs. Sexsmith, opened the meeting. Mrs. Gilmour led in prayer. The topic, "The Growth of Church and State in South American" was given by Mrs. William Gollocher. Prayer, followed by Mrs. S. A. Sexsimth. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Aitchison Mrs. Sexsmith read an item on "True Freedom" in South America.

COLLECTIVE COTTON CROP — Great mounds of new cotton are piled up at the Pakhta-Aralsk receiving depot in the Kazakh Republic of Soviet Russia. One Frenchman In Five Would Emigrate

PARIS, Feb. 9 Reuters)—One Frenchman in five would like to emigrate, a country-wide public opinion poll shows.

The three main reasons for wanting to leave, in order of importance, are:

1. The housing shortage.

2. Desire for better living standards and chances for advancement.

3. Desire for a salary high enough to permit marriage.

French possessions overseas draw the largest number of emigrants, with Canada second and the rest of North and South American third.

The Canadian government immigration office, crowded daily with prospective emigrants, recently moved to more spacious quarters and now is seeking even larger ones.

In the first five years after the liberation, 4,500 Frenchmen went to Canada. In 1951 6,000 went. Some 10,000 have been selected to leave for Canada during the next few months.

A majority of would-be emigrants are skilled technicians, experienced farmers, aeronautical engineers, mining experts, and others with a solid trade or profession.

30 Per Cent Would Leave

In 1946, a French poll discovered that 30 per cent of Frenchmen wanted to leave France. Approximately 26 per cent were prepared to change their nationality at once. Only five per cent wanted to go to French colonies; and 21 per cent were 2prepared to go anywhere as long as it was outside France.

Today, French possessions overseas are far more popular. But the number of persons prepared to go anywhere has greatly increased.

Peasants, who constitute 40 per cent of the population, are least willing to budge. Only 17 per cent of them are potential emigrants. In small towns, the percentage is 25, in towns of between 20,00 and 120,00 people, 32 per cent and in Paris and the large cities, 25 per cent.

Those who leave have no illusions about "streets paved with gold." What they ask about are union wage scales, cost of living and the availability of apartments. Few dream of becoming the "rich uncle in America."

Long-Term Investments

French newspapers have urged the French government to take an innterest in its departing citizens by seeing that the French colonists are backed by long-term investments. They particularly recommend that investments are made in the province of Quebec, where French is the main language, visas are unecessary for French settlers, and French farmers and farm workers are guaranteed a job before leaving France.

Except for the mass emigration of Protestants after the revocation of the edict of Nantes, and the departure of thousands of Alsations and Lorrainers after the Franco-Prussian war, France has never seen such an exodus as today.

A French reporter covering the departure of a boat-train crowded with Parisians setting off for a new life in Canada wrote:

"One felt that one was watching the suicide of a nation."

Bring King's Body To London To Lie In State

LONDON, Feb. 11. (AP)—King George VI came back to London for the last time today and three Queens,—his mother, his wife and his daughter—saw the body carried reverently into Westminster Hall for three days' homage from the nation. The body came by train from Sandringham, and was carried on a gun carriage three miles from King's Cross station to Westminster. A cold rain beat upon the coffin, surmounted by the heavily-jeweled crown, as the horse-drawn gun carriage bearing it made its slow way along streets lined with sorrowing subjects.

His train, bearing Queen Elizabeth II and the Royal Family, edged noiselessly into King's Cross station in a downpour of rain and sleet at 2:46 p.m. BST (9:46 a.m. EST) after a private funeral service at the Sandringham estate where he died Wednesday.

Despite a drenching, thousands lined the three-mile route to Westminster Hall where the body will lie in state until the burial at Windsor Friday.

Windows all along the route, many engaged by enterprising rental agencies, were crowded. Many spectators on the streets held umbrellas.

The black-veiled young Queen stood by as Grenadier Guardsmen lifted the oak coffin from its black hearse coach.

Hides Grief

She was pale and drawn but hiding her grief. Queen Mother Elizabeth, Princess Margaret, the Duke of Edinburgh and then the King's brother, the Duke of Gloucester, rode from London to Sandringham with the Queen in her coach just behind the car which bore the coffin.

Just before the Royal party stepped from the train, a Royal attendant in top hat climbed into the hearse coach and placed the Imperial Crown with its 3,094 jewels on the King's casket.

The Queen and women of her party did not wait to follow the procession in its slow progress to Westminster but left at once by limousine for Buckingham Palace.

Guardsmen carried the casket across the scarlet carpeted platform to a horse-drawn gun carriage. The silence was broken only by escaping steam from the Royal engine and the commands of officers of army, navy and air force guards of honor standing by.

Walk Behind Carriage

The Dukes of Edinburgh and Gloucester, wearing long black coats and high silk hats, walked slowly across the platform and took up positions just behind the green-and-mahogany gun carriage.

At the command of the honor guard officer, the cortege moved out past the thousands, many of whom had waited in the chill drizzle for hours, some all through the night.

Armed Pirates Seize Diplomat For Ransom

HONG KONG, Feb. 11 (CP) — Armed pirates attacked the 3,560-ton British steamer Wing Sang off the China coast today and held a United States diplomat and the British master for $10,000 ransom.

Messages received here by the British Navy tonight said the ransom had been paid.

The Wing Sang was en route to Keelung, on the north tip of Formosa, from Hong Kong. The Keelung radio station said the vessel's position was near Communist-held Amoy.

The U.S. diplomat was identified as Edward Stansbury of Waterbury, Conn., reported returning to Formosa from a vacation in Hong Kong. Stansbury is vice-director of the U.S. information service in Taipeh.

The steamer, carrying 75 passengers, radioed she had been attacked by an armed junk off the China coast between Swatow and Amoy. A Royal Navy destroyer was reported going to her aid.

Lured Onto Junk

The messages said the junk pirates lured Stansbury and the Wing Sang's master, Capt. H. G. Hoddard, aboard their armed junk.

After they had paid the ransom the two men were allowed to return to the Wing Sang which continued her voyage to Keelung.

Navy authorities said the pirates fired on the ship in the straits of Formosa, wounding one sailor.

The pirates asked to see Stansbury, who was returning with his wife to Taipeh from Hong Kong.

Stansbury went aboard the junk and the two men were told they were being held for ransom.

The Wing Sang is owned by the Indo-China Steam Navigation Company and is registered at Hong Kong.

19 Skiers Killed By Avalanche

VIENNA, Feb. 11 (AP)—Nineteen skiers were killed and 10 injured early today when an avalanche buried an Alpine hut near the Arlberg Pass, the Austrian news agency said.

Twenty other persons in the hut were dug out by rescue squads.

Most of the dead and injured were German skiers.

The avalanche occurred on the slopes of Home Ifen mountain, which marks the border between Austria and Germany southwest of the German town of Oberstdorf.

An Austrian policeman reported:

"Everything is smashed to pieces. The avalanche must have come down about 1:30 a.m. and caught all the skiers fast asleep. They said they heard only a sudden terrible noise and then the roof cracked like cardboard."

Heavy snow plagued several sections today after the deepest fall in many years.

Reports from Linz said an avalanche in upper Austria toppled a freight train from the line. Two workers were injured.

1 Down, 4 Damaged Score For U.S. Jets

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 11 (AP)—United States Sabre jets today shot down one Communist jet and damaged four, boosting their two-day bag to four kills and nine MIGS damaged.

The U.S. Fifth Air Force, as its policy, did not announce U.S. losses, if any.

Fifth Air Force headquarters said one enemy jet was shot down in a dogfight between 18 Sabres and 60 Red jets high over North Korea.

Unidentified planes over the Seoul area Sunday night caused an hour-long blackout.

Queen Promises To Follow Father's Selfless Service

LONDON, Feb. 11 (Reuters).—Queen Elizabeth today pledged herself in a message to parliament to follow the example of "selfless dedication" set by her father.

Prime Minister Churchill brought the message to the House of Commons to be read by the Speaker, William Morrison.

The message said:

"I know the House of Commons mourns with me the untimely death of my dear father.

"In spite of failing health he upheld to the end the ideal to which he pledged himself of service to his peoples and the preservation of constitutional government.

"He has set before me an example of selfless dedication which I am resolved with God's help faithfully to follow."

A similar message was read in the House of Lords.

Churchill then moved an address be presented to the Queen conveying the deep sympathy of the House.

The motion assured the Queen that the late King's "inspiring devotion and service to his peoples and his inspiring example in the time of their greatest peril" would always be held in affection and grateful remembrance by them.

Churchill also moved that messages of condolence be sent to the Queen Mother and Queen Mary.

Everyone in the House of Commons chamber was in black.

Clement Attlee, speaking for the Labor Party opposition said a "great King and a very good man" had passed.

Attlee said during King George's reign there were developments in the Commonwealth which "entailed the abandonment of outward forms which lesser men might have felt it difficult to surrender."

"But he was essentially broad-minded and ready to accept changes which seemed necessary," he said.

"Let us hope we are witnessing the beginning of another Elizabethan age no less renowned than the first," he added.

Members then left the chamber to walk in procession to Westminster Hall, headed by the Deputy Sergeant at Arms carrying the mace, and the speaker.

The members followed in pairs, led by Churchill and Attlee.

Car Hits Pole Woman Dies On Highway 2

Auto Skids On Ice Pole Driven Into Left Side

COBOURG, Feb. 11. (ENS)—Alice Pardiac, 43-year-old Cornwall woman, was killed almost instantly when her car skidded and hit a post on Highway No. 2, just after passing over the CPR level crossing six miles west of here on Sunday afternoon.

Alone In Car

She was alone in the car and driving east when her automobile slid on the icy shoulder of the road and then skidded sideways into a telephone pole.

The impact did not shatter the pole but drove it into the left side of the car, just opposite the driver. The window was shattered and the door bent inwards. Her left chest crushed, she was flung on her side with head almost out the right hand door.

Coroner Dr. Robert McDerment of Port Hope was called and after pronouncing her dead, the body was removed to Port Hope. The accident victim is a widow and resided at 14 Lennox St. in Cornwall.

The accident was investigated by Provincial Constable C. Meadows of Cobourg.

A WIDOW WAS KILLED when her car smashed into a hydro pole on Highway 2, about six miles west of Cobourg Sunday, Mrs. Alice Pardiac, 43, of Cornwall, driving alone, lost control of her car when it skidded on an icy patch and slid into the pole.—(Murray Smith Photo).

Says Detectives Kidnapped Him

DETROIT, Feb. 11 —(CP)—A Detroit man has complained that he was "kidnapped" by Detroit detectives and, without extradition proceedings, turned over to Ontario provincial police.

In Windsor Crown Attorney Bruce J. S. Macdonald Saturday termed the incident an "honest error."

Lester M. Ingles, 45, told a federal district attorney that two Detroit detectives arrested him in his hotel room and placed him in the custody of two Windsor area policemen. He was then taken to Amherstburg, and questioned in connection with a robbery with violence charge.

Ingles said he was kept in an unheated cell for two days before being released.

Jack Harvill, chief of detectives, said that his men had misunderstood an order to hold Ingles in Detroit.

Manslaughter Charge Laid

BOWMANVILLE, Feb. 11 (CP) —Provincial constable Lorne Galbraith said Sunday night that a manslaughter charge has been laid against James Holtby, 41, of nearby Maple Grove.

Holtby is accused of being the driver of a truck involved in an accident that took the life of George Oulds, 37, of Bewdley, two weeks ago. Oulds was a passenger in an automobile in collision with the truck.

British Army Relaxes Restrictions In Egypt

ISMAILIA, Egypt, Feb. 11 — (Reuters)—Restriction of movements in this once-terrorized zone were generally relaxed by British army headquarters this weekend because the situation has "vastly improved," it was announced today.

Lt.-Gen. Sir George Erskine, after a secret conference Saturday with the Egyptian governor of the Suez canal zone, Abdel Hady Ghazaly, armed 40 more Egyptian police and removed all military road blocks on the main road from Port Said to Suez.

Strict British control is still in force over traffic on all other roads leading out of the zone into the delta. All vehicles still are subject to search.

The total of oil tankers and train-loads of fertilizer leaving the zone was also stepped up, a headquarters statement said.

Question Right Of Red China At Conference

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 11 (AP) —The chief United Nations' truce negotiator today questioned Communist China's right to take part in a Korean peace conference and suggested that the problem of which countries should negotiate the peace be solved after an armistice is signed.

Rear-Admiral C. Turner Joy also told the Reds, in effect, to give up any ideas of deciding the fate of Formosa or settling other Asian problems at a Korean peace conference.

"If it is your view that the commanders must make inappropriate recommendations, then the U.N. command delegation will be opposed to any recommendations being made," he said.

The Allies previously have made it clear that unless both sides agree on recommendations, none can be made. Negotiators have agreed to discuss withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea and peaceful settlement of the Korean question.

Joy's statement came during a session of the full armistice delegations on agenda item five—recommendations to governments involved.

Answers Statement

Joy was replying to Sunday's statement by North Korean Gen. Nam Il, which attacked an allied proposal that recommendations for a peace settlement be sent to the U.N. as a whole. Nam argued that "many members of the U.N. are violently opposed to the war in Korea."

At a later staff officers' meeting the Allies offered conditionally to give up their demand that neutral teams interview displaced civilians to determine whether they want to live in North or South Korea.

The U.N. asked the Reds to spell out the exact duties of the proposed committee on prisoner exchange and joint Red Cross teams which would help with the program.

Mourning Ends May 31

LONDON, Feb. 11 — (AP). — Court morning for King George VI. is to last until next May 31 by his daughter's Royal command. The period is shorter than had been generally expected.

Mob Slays Iran Governor 55 Said Killed In Rioting

TEHRAN, Iran, Feb. 11. (AP)—Two newspapers reported today that 55 persons were killed and more than 300 injured in six hours of fierce street fighting Saturday at Zabol, a town along the Afghan frontier. Official sources admitted that an angry mob had beheaded the provincial governor and three other officials, but there was no confirmation of the larger casualty toll, which the anti-government papers Attash and Dad published. They quoted "informed Tehran sources.

Rival tribesmen battled in the city's streets, the papers said, after an election dispute burst into warfare with firearms, knives and clubs. A wave of looting and burning spread through the town. Troops reinforcements rushed from nearby Kerman province.

Official sources said martial law is being enforced in Zabol, and that Premier Mohammed Mossadegh ordered local authorities to arrest and "punish severely" those responsible for the killings.

Government - controlled radio Tehran reported an armed mob swept into the government offices at Zabol, where an election board was in session, and beheaded Governor Ali Nagi Koswar, election board chairman Nazar Irani and two other officials.

The bloody outbreak was reported to have started as a protest against new election supervisors. The mob was said to oppose the Mossadegh government and was believed to have been non-Communist.

Rival political groups also clashed Saturday at Damghan, northeast of Tehran. Two persons were killed and many injured, reports here said.

The national elections, being carried out on a piecemeal basis, are only one-sixth completed although they have been going on nearly two months. With at least 25 dead before the weekend's outbreaks, they have been the most violent in the country's history.

Mossadegh's Nationalist party won all 22 of the seats thus far decided in the election of 136 deputies for the lower house of Parliament.

28,000 Police

TUNIS, Tunisia, Feb. 11 (Reuters)—About 28,000 troops and special armed police have been sent to Tunisia from France and Algeria during the last three weeks, a French residency spokesman said today.

Great Reporter Writes On Lying-In-State

The Examiner has completed arrangements with Rebecca West to publish her description of the lying-in-state of the late King in Tuesday's edition.

We are particularly proud to announce this, for Rebecca West is widely acknowledged to be the foremost interpretative reporter of our day. A woman of unusual intellect and literary gifts, she has since 1912 enjoyed an international reputation for her ability to reach beneath the externals of great events, and to write of them with a clarity and understanding which is unique. There is no comparison between what she has written during the war years, and the work of those female journalists who are dismissed as "sob-sisters".

Rebecca West will be known to many of the Examiner's readers as the author of many books on current affairs, the greatest of which was "Black Lamb and Grey Falcon", a study of Balkan politics.

On Friday next the Examiner will carry the fullest accounts of His Majesty's funeral that can be obtained from the news services. On Saturday it will also publish Rebecca West's account of the funeral. As it will not be necessary for her to work hastily, we are confident that this will be the best description of the funeral that can be obtained anywhere.

King Haakon Arrives In U.K.

LONDON, Feb. 11 (Reuters).—King Haakon of Norway arrived here today as the first of a long list of monarchs and state representatives coming to attend the funeral Friday of King George VI.

From Moscow came the announcement that the Russian representative will be Georgi Zarubin Soviet Ambassador in London. The British embassy formally informed the Soviet Foreign Minister, Andrei Vishinsky, of the King's funeral and invited a Russian delegation to attend.

The Netherlands will be represented by Foreign Minister Dirk U. Stikker as well as Queen Juliana and the Prince of the Netherlands.

Grand Duchess Charlotte, Sovereign of Luxembourg, will also attend the funeral accompanied by her consort, Prince Felix, it was announced today. They will be accompanied by Foreign Minister Joseph Bech.

Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett of Israel will leave Paris for London on Thursday to attend.

L. B. Pearson, Canada's External Affairs Minister, will attend the funeral.

Says Commonwealth Prefers Word Realms

LONDON, Feb. 11 (AP). — Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today that Commonwealth countries prefer to be called realms, rather than dominions.

He thus entered the controversy which has been raised since Elizabeth II was proclaimed "Queen of this realm and her other realms and territories" last Friday, instead of the traditional Queen of "Great Britain, Ireland and the British dominions beyond the seas."

The Capetown newspaper Die Burger, which usually reflects the views of the South African government, said it appeared the Queen's title had been altered without the prior approval of all dominion parliaments.

Churchill said the word "dominion" once was greatly esteemed, but now the many peoples in the Commonwealth found that "realm" is an expression of unity combined in most cases with deep allegiance to the crown or respectful association with it.

Snow 15 Ft. Deep Paralyzes Denmark

AALBORN, Denmark, Feb. 11—(AP)—The worst snowstorm in Denmark since 1898 hit the northern part of Jutland today.

All rail and bus connections were cut. Lights and telephones went out in most places. Snow lay 15 feet high in several towns.

In Aalborg, the district's biggest town, officials estimated it will take about a week to remove the huge masses of snow.

The Copenhagen-Frederikshaven Express got stuck in the snow at Tylstrup, stranding several hundred passengers.

Newark Airport Ordered Closed After 30 Killed

ELIZABETH, N.J., Feb. 11. (AP)—A crippled airliner roared down into this frightened, crash-plagued city today, sliced into a big apartment house and blew up—the third major air disaster within the city in less than two months. There were 30 known dead, and two persons unaccounted for, making a possible death toll of 32. At least 115 have perished in the three, successive residential-district crack-ups. The National Airlines DC-6 disabled by engine trouble at 1,000 feet in a clear midnight sky, nosed over—and like two others before it—plunged down into the city, as residents cringed before the familiar oncoming scream.

The plane rammed into the 52-family dwelling, exploded into flying fragments and fire.

Twenty-eight of the 63 persons aboard the Miami-bound plane, including three of the four-member crew, were dead or missing. At least four apartment-house residents were killed. Forty persons, most of them the plane's survivors, were injured—about one-third of them seriously.

Two of the four engines of the DC-6 failed shortly after its take-off from the airport. The pilot radioed a final, terrified, "Can't make it back." Then his plane nosed over and roared to the earth.

It ripped into the top of the four-storey brick apartment house. Flames burst from the building as the plane caromed off, breaking into blazing wreckage in a tree-top and the playground of a children's home.

Townspeople awakened in terror as they heard the oncoming roar from above — the air their mayor has called an "umbrella of death."

"Plane crash, run," someone screamed inside the apartment house.

It was like a familiar signal in this industrial city of 110,000, about 10 miles south of New York City.

Last Dec. 16, a non-scheduled C-46 dropped in flames into the Elizabeth River, killing all 36 aboard. January 22, an American

Have 17 Suspects In Baby Racket

MONTREAL, Feb. 11 (CP) — Police today started rounding up 17 more suspects in connection with Montreal's million-dollar illegitimate baby racket.

Police said at least two more nurses and two more doctors are suspected of being members of the ring, involved in taking babies from unwed mothers here and selling them in other parts of Canada and in the United States for amounts ranging from $3,000 to $5,000.

Lawyer Herman Buller, Dr. Leon Azoulay, and construction foreman Bill Dutka have already been arraigned in criminal court here on charges of conspiring to deprive mothers of their children and of having carried out deprivations.

Police said that some of the many suspects have never been prosecuted because of lack of proof.

Lone Gunman Grabs $9,000 From Manager

WINDSOR, Feb. 11 (CP) — A lone gunman this morning forced Andrew Stuart, Canada Bread Company sales manager, to hand over $9,000 and then escaped, eluding a police chase.

The man walked into the company garage in east-central Windsor, fired four shots, grabbed a bag containing the money, and drove away in a car which had been parked in front of the garage.

At 1.15 p.m., two hours after the robbery, police said they are holding two suspects in connection with the action. They would not say under what circumstances the two were picked up.

A police cruiser, hailed by a Canada Bread employee, was unable to overtake the bandit's car. The cruiser approached from a direction opposite to that in which the bandit drove away.

France Ready For Red Strike

PARIS, Feb. 11 (Reuters).—The French government moved swiftly today to counter a Communist call for a country-wide 24-hour strike Tuesday.

About 8,000 troops, mobile guards and police have been mobilized to meet possible disorders if the Communist-dominated transport unions obey the strike call.

The Communist-led Confederation of Labor and the Communist party ordered the strike in protest against an official ban on a party demonstration and in support of higher wage demands.

Massey Will Leave For Canada Feb. 16

LONDON, Feb. 11 — (CP) — Vincent Massey, Governor-General-Designate of Canada, will fly to Canada the day after the King's funeral, it was learned tonight.

The flight will probably be made in the R.C.A.F. aircraft expected to bring Defence Minister Brooke Claxton here from Canada en route to next week's North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting in Lisbon.

Massey, who will be sworn in as Governor-General February 28 at the opening of the Canadian parliament, originally planned to travel home by sea last Friday but decided to remain for the funeral.

Teachers' Strike In N.S. May Be Province-Wide

HALIFAX, Feb. 11 (CP)—Nova Scotia teachers' demands for higher wages have threatened to mushroom into the first province-wide strike of its kind in Canadian history.

The Nova Scotia Teachers' Union voted Saturday in favor of strike action on a provincial basis to enforce demands for better pay.

The announcement was made by union president Gerald Tingley of Amherst. A total of 1,658 voted for strike action, 952 against.

"The executive," Mr. Tingley said, "is not recommending strike action at the present time since the 'yes' vote for the provincial strike represents only 63.5 per cent of those voting."

Members also voted to establish a fund to support the 243 Cape Breton rural and village teachers now on strike. Their walkout, which began 11 days ago, was against the wishes of the union executive, and marked the first teachers' strike in Nova Scotia's history.

They left their classrooms when the municipality turned down their request for a $300 yearly salary increase on the grounds that the responsibility for teachers' salaries fell on the province.

Premier Macdonald's government says that it is already paying more than its share of education costs.

County council, meanwhile, will consider a proposal later this week that the teachers be given a $300 interim bonus pending the clarification on the matter.

About 5,000 children are affected by the strike. The teachers declared they would not return until their wage demands were met.

The Nova Scotia Union said there will be another meeting of the parent body in Halifax Feb. 23. It also asked locals to continue negotiations on a local level and warned that it would not support further independent strike action.

Salaries paid to teachers are set by the individual school sections except that they must not fall below minima set by the provincial government.

Military Chiefs Discuss Rearmament

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 11 (AP) —Some of the best military brains of the 12 Atlantic Allies met today to study proposals for intensifying the rearmament drive to defend the west.

In the opening preliminary to the meeting here Feb. 20 of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization council, the N.A.T.O. military committee started a searching evaluation of recommendations by W. Averell Harriman's 12-man committee of experts.

Reliable sources said the Allied chiefs of staff generally considered as fair the report on how the west can most efficiently step up rearmament, but that some believe its long-range recommendation are woolly.

Presiding over the gathering of 150 military experts at Superior Technical Institute is Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, chairman of the Canadian joint chiefs of staff committee.

Informed sources said the United States has been urging Britain to agree on a Mediterranean command set-up into which Greece and Turkey could be fitted easily after their coming entry into N.A.T.O.

Seek Separate Command

The U.S. wants Admiral Robert B. Carney's Southern European command expanded to include those two east Mediterranean countries. Britain seeks a separate command under British leadership.

The Mediterranean command and Harriman's report are two of five major items before the meeting. The others are aircraft production, pilot training and a European army treaty.

During the N.A.T.O. council session in Rome, the Allies were hopeful the final European army treaty would be approved here. Political strings West Germany has attached to furnishing her manpower has killed hopes of that.

Won't Rescind Mourning Edict

OTTAWA, Feb. 11 (CP)—The government does not plan to rescind its proclamation appointing Feb. 15, the day of the King's funeral, a day of general mourning for Canada, it was learned Saturday from the prime minister's office.

A London announcement said Friday that Britain has decided against a general suspension of work and the closing of schools on the day of the funeral.

Officials here believe the British decision results from the fact the United Kingdom can scarcely afford the loss of even one day of production in her present critical economic position.

Fire On Boats

TOKYO, Feb. 11 (AP). — The Japan Maritime Safety Board today said 10 Japanese fishing boats were fired upon in the East China Sea Sunday and are missing. Radioed messages said the identity of the attackers was not known, but they were believed to be Communist Chinese craft.

"... I shall not want"

Today through the light shed upon the twenty-third Psalm by the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baxer Eddy, its promise brightens into practical fulfillment.

Supply, health — whatever is legitimately needful—is available to man without fail, and comes through the spiritual understanding of God, divine Love, which Christian Science brings.

Anyone who thoughtfully studies Science and Health and puts its teachings to the test in his daily life will find the "still waters" of the Bible promise.

Science and Health may be bought, borrowed or read at all Christian Science Reading Rooms. The coupon is also for your use.

MRS. THOMAS STILLMAN

The death occurred on Sunday after a lengthy illness at a Peterborough nursing home of Mrs. Thomas Stillman a lifelong resident of Otonabee Township. Mrs. Stillman formerly Maude Braden was born in Otonabee 72 years ago the daughter of Edwin Braden and Eleanor Fife. She was a member of the Keene United Church. Her husband died three years ago.

There survive five sons Albert, Harold and Fred of Otonabee; Stanley of Lindsay and Earl of Havelock; two daughters Mrs. Fred Andrew (Eleanor) of Peterborough and Mrs. Harold Coons (Edith) of Keene and one brother Stanley Braden of Toronto. Several grandchildren also survive.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday from the home of her son Harold, Lot 11, Concession 8, Otonabee at two o'clock with burial in Keene cemetery. The Rev. H. B. Herrington of Keene United Church will be in charge.

WILLIAM EDWARD PEARSON

William Edward Pearson, 87, of Young's Point, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. Cooke, Young's Point, Monday, after a lingering illness.

Mr. Pearson was born in Missouri township, Oxford county, son of the late Thomas Pearson and Lorenda Thornton and has lived in Young's Point for the past two years. Formerly he lived in Peterborough for eight years, coming here from Lakeside Village, Ont.

An adherent of the United Church of Canada, he was a retired farmer.

He leaves two daughters, Mrs. R. Cooke (Blanche), of Young's Point, and Mrs. W. Hudson one brother, Burton, of Kintore, Ont. His wife, the late Sarah Thornton, predeceased him May 1940.

The funeral will be held Tuesday from the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. Cooke, Young's Point, at 8 p.m. Canon F. J. Fife, of Young's Point, will conduct the service. The body will be taken to Kintore United Church, near Woodstock, for service Wednesday at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Kintore cemetery.

Wartime Pilot Sent To Paris

OTTAWA, Feb. 11. (CP)—The air force today named a 36-year-old wartime fighter pilot to go to Paris to take charge of RCAF arrangements to field an air division of 11 new squadrons in France.

Group Capt. Keith Hodson, who has been director of strategic air plans at R.C.A.F. headquarters, will assist the Canadian ambassador in Paris in negotiating for required air bases.

He will also arrange with the United States air force for integration of maintenance and supply units.

A native of the Channel Islands, Group Capt. Hodson joined the R.C.A.F. in 1938, and during the early part of the war was chief instructor at an advanced flying school at Moncton, N.B.

Going overseas in 1941, he flew with 602 Fighter Squadron of the R.A.F. and in 1942 was named to command No. 401 R.C.A.F. Fighter Squadron. The following year he was placed in command of No. 126 R.C.A.F. Wing and in 1944 took the wing to continental Europe.

Tries To Flee Suspect Shot

TORONTO, Feb. 11 (CP) — Robert Cosloff, 21, lies seriously wounded in hospital today from a bullet wound suffered when Constable George Mattison fired in an attempt to stop two men from fleeing arrest.

The policeman had surprised the two men in an alley behind a suburban grocery store Saturday night.

Police said the constable had been kicked and beaten by the men with a lead pipe and a butt of a revolver and had fired at them as they fled over a fence.

Other policemen found Cosloff lying on the ground wounded. He will undergo an emergency operation to remove a piece of skull pressing on his brain.

Shortly after the shooting James Cuthbertson, 22, was arrested in a stolen car and was charged with Cosloff with attempted shopbreaking, car theft, assaulting a policeman, carrying offensive weapons and having burglary tools.

The Weather

Peterborough Temperatures:

Today:
Night low..30 Noon..32
Noon barometer.....28.7

Yesterday:
Highest....30 Lowest..14

One Year Ago:
Highest....37 Lowest..6

½-inch snow.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office at 9.30 a.m. today:

Synopsis:

Temperatures climbed overnight as a mass of mild air passed through Ontario travelling eastward. By morning northerly winds brought fresh cold air from the Arctic regions down over the province. A few snowflurries accompanied the advance of this new air mass, with heavier snowfalls just to the lee of the Great Lakes. In these regions snowflurries are expected to last throughout the day.

Clearing skies tonight will permit temperatures to fall 10 degrees or so below Sunday night's recorded minimums. On Tuesday increasing cloudiness and moderating temperatures are expected over all of Ontario.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Tuesday:

Lake Erie, Lake Ontario, Niagara regions, Windsor, Toronto, Hamilton:

Cloudy with a few light snowflurries clearing tonight and clouding over again Tuesday afternoon. A little colder. Winds northwest 20 today, light tonight and Tuesday. Low tonight and high Tuesday at Windsor, St. Thomas, Toronto, Trenton, St. Catharines and Hamilton 20 and 30.

Summary for Tuesday: Cloudy.

Kirkland Lake, Haliburton, Eastern James Bay regions:

Cloudy with a few light snowflurries clearing this afternoon. Cloudy Tuesday. Colder. Winds northwest 15 today, light tonight and Tuesday. Low tonight and high Tuesday at Killaloe 5 and 20, Earlton 10 below and 10 above, Moosonee 25 below and zero.

Industrials And Oils Dip On Exchange

TORONTO, Feb. 11 (CP). — Industrial and western oil prices dipped sharply today in early afternoon dealings. Golds and base metals weakened slowly.

Trading was active as western oils and lower-priced base metal speculation again dominated exchange activity. It was a secondary gold, however — American Yellowknife—that attracted most interest as it added pennies in a turnover of more than 200,000 shares.

Utilities, manufacturing companies and miscellaneous issues led industrials lower while papers, agricultures, foods, banks and textiles weakened steadily. Steels, liquors and refining oils, drew firm support while retail stores edged upward.

Western oil losses ranged from pennies to about 25 cents. Calgary and Edmonton, Canadian Atlantic, New British Dominions, Pacific Petroleum and Scurry traded lower.

Base metal leaders were mixed. International Nickel, Noranda, Normetal and Waite Amulet strengthened while Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge and Labrador weakened.

Senior golds posted three losses against one gain. Secondary issues showed a small majority of penny declines.

Newark Airport

Airlines Convair hurtled into a residential district, killing all 23 aboard and seven residents.

Today's plane was two minutes off the ground when its pilot, Capt. W. G. Foster, radioed that an engine had failed. The field told him to come back.

Foster started dumping fuel to lighten his load, then another of the four engines went out.

Terrible Noise

"We were about 1,000 feet up when the motors conked out and made a terrible rumbling noise," said Stewardess Nancy Taylor, of Coral Gables, Fla., a survivor. "It was the most terrible noise I ever heard.

"As the plane fell, I could hear screams and yells. All the passengers still had their straps around their waists. I didn't know whether I was alive or not. My body had been twisted upside down."

In the city below, dwellers leaped from their beds.

"The house shook," said Herman S. Goldford, occupant of the building at the intersection of Salem and Westminster Avenue where the plane struck. "My wife and I got up and grabbed the children and ran, trying to get away. We kept running, trying to get away from the searing heat."

Breaks Apart

The plane broke apart as it tore through the top of the apartment building, leaving fire and explosions in its wake. The rear of the plane landed in a tree, then dropped to the street. The front section shot on into a yard and burst into flame.

Plane seats were scattered along the way. Most of the surviving passengers were reported sitting in the rear of the plane.

"There were pieces of plane all over the place", said Louis Ehrenberg, 45, a nearby resident. "I saw a man and pulled him out. He was dead. We pulled out more people—most of them dying. I picked up one man's arm and it came away from his body. My son picked up a baby. It was dead too".

Explosions rocked the area at intervals.

Airport Closed

The crash brought an immediate order from the port of New York authority closing Newark airport, one of four it operates in the metropolitan area. The others are La Guardia and Idlewild in New York city and Teterboro in New Jersey.

As a prelude to a scheduled House of Representatives' aviation sub-committee hearing today into the second crash, the authority had issued an advance press release calling the field one of the safest in the country. After the crash, it asked that the statement be withheld.

Elizabeth residents for months have been protesting the planes roaring low over the city as they approached or left the field. Citizen groups had threatened to block the runways with their bodies.

As the plane came down today, it barely missed the Janet Memorial Home, an institution for children of broken homes. Inside 48 children and 12 adults were sleeping.

Jailed 15 Months For Theft Of City Car

Joseph Cooper, 40, no fixed address, was convicted of car theft in Police Court today. He was sentenced to 15 months definite in Ontario Reformatory

He was picked up in Toronto, about 1 a.m. February 1, driving a car identified as belonging to Walter A. Henry, 544 Douglas Avenue. An hour and a half before, Mr. Henry had reported the car missing, and O.P.P. district headquarters here relayed the information to Toronto by radio.

Two Toronto detectives, Victor Hargan and Kenneth Schultz, spotted the car at Queen and Spadina at 1:20 a.m. and gave chase. They caught up with the car at Bay Street, opposite the City Hall and arrested Cooper.

Detective Hargan said that Cooper produced an ownership card and driver's licence in the name of Walter A. Henry, 193 Barington Avenue, Toronto. When informed the car was stolen, Detective Hargan said Cooper replied he knew it was, but that it had been recovered two hours previously in Port Hope.

Papers In Car

Mr. Henry told the court that Cooper had installed some cupboards in his home a few weeks ago, and that the driver's licence and ownership papers were in the glove compartment of the car, which was in his garage.

A service station operator, Mackenzie King Reid, produced a carbon copy of a slip for a rental battery which he said Cooper rented February 1, and signed the name Walter Henry. The original of the slip had already been introduced by the Crown as an exhibit.

Mr. Henry said there had not been a battery in his car, as he had laid it up for the winter.

Cooper elected a summary trial and pleaded not guilty a week ago and did not enter any defence. He said he had no objection to a statement he gave Constable Douglas Farthing February 4 being admitted as evidence.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said the admission of the statement was enough to convict Cooper, but asked Magistrate W. R. Philp to disbelieve the part of the statement in which Cooper implicated another man.

When his record was produced, Cooper admitted being convicted of fraud in Toronto involving a car on April 26, 1950. He was placed on suspended sentence for one year, but on October 24 of the same year, he was sentenced to 12 months in Hamilton for car theft and given three months additional consecutive sentence for breach of probation on the false pretences charge.

He was released October 24, 1951, and has been doing carpentry work in Peterborough.

Bring King's Body

pulled the gun carriage past the silent throngs.

Heedless of wind and rain, the Duke of Edinburgh doffed his hat and walked bareheaded behind the gun carriage in the procession as it moved toward Westminster. The Duke of Gloucester was bareheaded, too. Behind them trudged the black-coated officials of the Royal household.

The coffin was draped with the scarlet-and-gold Royal standard. The crown rested on a purple cushion, its jewels glistening dully in the sleety rain. Also on the coffin lay a single wreath of white flowers, from the queen grandmother, Mary.

Attend Service

The Queen, with her mother and sister, remained at Buckingham Palace only a few minutes. Then, accompanied by her 84-year-old grandmother, as well as by her mother and sister, she left to attend the short service at Westminster Hall.

The flags of all the Commonwealth made a blaze of color in the great grey hall beneath a window. No other banners, wreaths or emblems decorated the walls.

The centuries blended in the scarlet Tudor uniforms of Yeomen of the Guard and the dark suits of Winston Churchill and Clement Attlee, present and former prime ministers.

The Speaker of the House, wearing his ceremonial robes of black and gold brocade, followed a sergeant-at-arms carrying the mace, the emblem of his authority, into the hall. Churchill and Attlee walked behind the Speaker at the head of the members of parliament.

The six-tiered catafalque, 42 feet long and 17 feet wide, covered with the purple of royalty, stood in the centre. A tall candle glowed at each corner.

Three Queens Unbowed

The three queens stepped from the main entrance of the hall and stood silently to one side as the cortege came to a halt in front of the hall. The wind lashed at their black veils. All were erect and unbowed, their sorrow screened from onlookers.

The commander of the honor guard called out, "Royal salute," and the khaki-clad troops presented arms with a flash of bayonets and lowered their crepe-draped colors.

A minute later, guardsmen removed their big bearskin hats and marched to the coffin. They carried it slowly toward the grey canopy leading to the hall.

Crowds were packed thick around the courtyard but there was no sound except for tolling of bells from the tower of nearby Westminster Abbey.

As the casket was carried inside, the Queen Mother stood back and allowed the new Queen to enter first in order of precedence.

Ushered Into Hall

The Earl Marshal, the Duke of Norfolk, in scarlet and gold tunic, carried the ceremonial staff of office in his hand and ushered the pallbearers into the hall.

The services wer short. The Queen and other members of the Royal family appeared again at the door of Westminster and drove off in a limousine.

A simple, poignant procession accompanied the coffin as it left the Sandringham church just at 11 a.m. (6 a.m. EST) today for the two-mile trip to Wolverton railway station and the 110-mile train journey to London.

Take Up Duties

For three days the three women had mourned in private, just as any British family might. Today they returned to their people and took up their regal missions.

But at Sandringham there were no muffled drums, no bands playing a funeral march, none of the panoply that goes with majesty.

A mournful skirl of bagpipes signalled the departure of the sad procession down the winding country road.

"The souls of the righteous are in the hands of God."

That was the lesson at the brief service in St. Mary Magdalene before the procession set out. Gamekeepers, farmers and woodsmen who had worked for the King joined the Royal family in mourning.

"Lord now lettest Thou Thy servant depart in peace"—"the Nunc Dimittis"—concluded the rites.

Eight of the King's foresters carried the coffin on their shoulders to the waiting gun carriage. The King's piper pierced the still air with the notes of "The Flowers of the Forest" and "The Land of the Leal" as the procession moved off.

Three uniformed policemen preceded the coffin. Grenadier Guards marched behind them.

Walk Behind Coffin

Just behind the coffin walked the young Queen's husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, and the King's brother, the Duke of Gloucester.

Queen Elizabeth, her mother and her sister rode behind them, in a closed black limousine.

Hundreds of estate workers, villagers and others fell in behind as the procession moved out of the estate.

Thousands, reverently hushed, lined the winding road to Wolferton station.

At Wolferton the coffin was transferred to the same hearse car which had carried the body of the King's father, George V, on the same sad journey from Sandringham to London.

The state funeral procession on Friday through the streets of London will begin at 9:30 a.m. (4:30 a.m. EST). The coffin will be taken to Paddington Station and placed aboard a train to be taken to Windsor Castle. Final rites there before burial in historic St. George's Chapel are expected to start at 2 p.m. (9 a.m. EST).

The King's last London resting-place—huge Westminster Hall — is one of the cradles of British history.

Built as a roistering place in 1097 by Rufus the Red, son of William the Conqueror, it has survived to absorb history and glory into every stone and beam of its structure.

A purple carpet was spread over the entire floor of the Hall to muffle the steps of the mourners. A four-foot-high gold cross was brought from Westminster Abbey for the front of the six-tiered catafalque.

Allies Settle Airfield Plan

LISBON, Feb. 11 —(AP)—Informed American sources said Sunday that the go-ahead has been given for construction of Allied airfields in France and French Morocco, long a bottleneck in Western Europe's air defence.

The United States, which is paying the lion's share for airfield construction, has been holding back on the French portion of the program because of a complicated and pyramidal system of French taxes amounting to an estimated 22 per cent. of all construction costs.

An informant said that while no hard and fast agreement with France has been reached, sufficient assurances have been given that a way will be found to ease the tax burden.

Window Unveiled St. Andrew's Church

The unveiling of a window in memory of Mrs. E. V. Eldridge took place in St. Andrew's United Church at the Sunday morning service.

The ceremony was performed by Mrs. E. C. Howard of Gananoque, a sister of the late Mrs. Eldridge, and the words of dedication were given by the Rev. H. A. Cotton, minister of the church.

Mrs. Eldridge, the former Amy Belle Jamieson lived in Peterborough all her life and was a lifelong member of St. Andrew's Church. She was an active member in both the W.A. and the W.M.S. of that church.

March 27 Deadline

THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, Feb. 11 (Reuters)—The International Court of Justice today gave Britain until March 27 to submit a reply to an Iranian memorandum concerning the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute. The normal period of 12 weeks has been cut as the court wishes to speed the hearing of the case.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, Feb. 11 — (CP)— The American dollar, today opened at 3/32 of one per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Saturday's close. That is, it took $1.00 3/32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.78 5/16, also unchanged.

Italy Renounces Peace Terms With Russians

ROME, Feb. 11 (AP).—The 1947 Italian peace treaty was virtually expunged from the record Sunday by Italy's announcement that she renounces any further obligations to the Soviet Union under its terms. Repudiation of treaty obligations to Russia — announced Saturday night in a note handed to Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Kostylev—was seen as an indication that Italy intends to go ahead with the building of an army, navy and air force beyond the limitations set by that treaty and will pay no more of the $100,000,000 war debt claimed by Russia.

The western powers notified Italy just before Christmas that she is free to disregard all treaty limitations on her arms and have undertaken to help her rearm to build up the defences of Western Europe. Russia and her satellites have protested this as an aggressive act against the Soviet Union.

The Italian note charged that Russia herself had violated the peace treaty pledge to support Italian membership to the U.N. Russia vetoed the Italian membership application recently for the fifth time, demanding that all applicants—including some of her Communist satellites—be brought in in one package.

Takes Her Share

Russia already has taken over a considerable portion of the old Italian war fleet. The treaty called for Italy to surrender to the Big Four powers virtually half of her fleet. The United States and Britain relinquished their claims. But Russia took all her claimed share within a year after the treaty was signed.

The treaty also provided that Italy pay Russia $100,000,000, either in war industry equipment current production or Italian assets left in the Soviet satellites of Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania.

Italy claims the assets behind the Iron Curtain are worth all of the total debt. Russia has claimed that the Italian foreign properties are worth $25,000,000 or $30,000,000.

Operation Sun Dog Starts In Labrador

MONCTON, N.B., Feb. 11 (CP) —Six R.C.A.F. planes loaded with men and equipment left here during the weekend for Goose Bay, Labrador, the advance base of "Operation Sun Dog III", army-air force tactical manoeuvres.

The men were paratroopers of the 1st Battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment, of Valcartier, Que. They will carry out winter training manoeuvres at Goose Bay and Fort Chimo, on Ungava Bay.

Members of the 1st Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, administrative personnel from the army's eastern command and R.C.A.F. transport personnel will also take part in the exercise, being held to test winter airborne operations.

The exercise will last about a week.

Utilities Report Surplus Of $97,045

Peterborough Utilites Commission reports a net operating surplus of $97,045.54 in the electrical department last year.

Total revenue was $1,037,835.13 of which domestic power consumers paid $440,033.06. Commercial lighting, mostly in retail business, contributed $184,096.95; and commercial power, the electricity sold by the commission to the city's industries accounted for $376,-798.35.

In the expense column, the biggest item is $670,159.11 paid for power purchased from Hydro-Electric Commission for delivery to Peterborough consumers. Operating charges amount to $196,-889.43 and there is an allowance of $55,551 for plant depreciation. Total expenditure was $940,789.59.

Total Assets.

Total assets of the commission are listed at $3,258,762.47, of which the plant value is $2,273,004.02, a capital increase of 21 per cent over the 1950 figure.

Major increases occurred in substation equipment $191,009,65 and distribuation system $113,556.59.

Again looking at the balance sheet under liabilities, the debenture debt is $244,600, an increase of $88,600 over the preceding year. In addition, there is an overdraft of $114,263.67, pending issuance of debentures to cover plant and equipment expenditures. Depreciation reserve has increased $40,-956.64.

In the operating statement under expenses, total expenses have increased $63,627.76 or 8 per cent over the 1950 figures. Of this increase $21,495.26 was in the power purchased; $26,877.55 in the operation and maintenance of the distribuation system; $9,231.95 in interest and principal on debentures. Under revenue, the total revenue has increased $103,236.29 of 11 per cent over the 1950 figure. Of this increase, 49 per cent was in domestic lighting; 20 per cent in commercial lighting; and 28 per cent in commercial power.

The average monthly peak in 1951 was 22,100 kw. as against 19,900 in 1950. This is an increase of 11 per cent. Total kilowatt hour consumption of the system was 114,049,400 kw. hrs., at an average cost of 59c per kilowatt hour.

Nine thousand, nine hunderd and sixty-four domestic consumers used a total of 46,172,291 kw. hrs., of which nearly 50 per cent was through the flate rate water heaters. Average consumption per consumer per month was 386 kw. hrs. Average bill was $3.69. Average revenue per kw. hr. .96c. (96/100 of one per cent.) There was an increase over 1950 of 299 consumers, and of 9 per cent in average consumption and average bill. Revenue per kw. hr. has remained relatively the same.

There were 1250 commercial consumers using a total of 12,821,-805 kwhrs. Average revenue per kwhr. was 1.43 (nearly 1½ cents). In comparison to 1950 there was a decrease of 5 per cent in the number of consumers, but an increase in kwhr. consumption of 17 per cent per customer, and an increase of less than 1 per cent in revenue per kilowatt hour.

There were 200 power consumers in 1951, using a total of 45,-183,120 kwhrs., with an average revenue of .91c per kwhr. While the number of consumers has decreased 14, total kw. hr. consumption hsa increased 10 per cent, while average revenue per kw. hr. has decreased 2 per cent.

In general, the consumption of electric energy has increased in all groups, while revenues per kilowatt hour have remained relatively the same. This has brought about an increase in total revenue for the department of 11.1 per cent over the 1950 figures.

Campbellford Couple 40 Years Married

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 10 — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reycraft, Campbellford celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary Thursday.

In the evening the couple sat down to a turkey dinner with their family and a few other friends.

For a number of years Mr. and Mrs. Reycraft were successful farmers in the Morganston district. Eight years ago they retired to Hastings and then two years ago they came to live in Campbellford.

They have three sons Arthur of Warkworth, Gordon of Orland and Harry of Campbellford, also eight grandchildren.

Gifts from the family included a tri-light floor lamp, an electric tea kettle and a vacuum cleaner. They also received many lovely cards from their friends.

At Brother's Funeral

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 11 — (ENS)—H. S. Staples, pastor of the Baptist Church here, is in Toronto where he will attend the funeral of his brother, Robert there on Tuesday. Robert Staples died in Peterborough on Saturday morning after being overcome by carbon monoxide fumes in his car.

Commit Colborne Man

COBOURG, Feb. 11 —(ENS)— Harold Spafford of Colborne on Saturday was committed for trial here on two charges of theft. He was committed on a charge of theft of dual wheels and tires from Wilson's garage in Cobourg and theft of a chain saw from Oran Day of Cramahe township. The alleged offences occurred last month. He was also committed for trial Monday last on three other theft charges.

Seymour To Buy First Fire Truck

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 11 — (ENS)—The Campbellford Public Utilities Commission have pledged their full support in assisting to house the fire truck the Seymour township council propose to purchase. A comittee consisting of Archie Meyers, Howard Hogle and P. C. Denyes was appointed at a meeting of the commission on Saturday evening, and these men will look into the matter immediately.

If the Seymour truck is longer than the Campbellford pumps, a wall will have to be knocked out and an extension added to the existing fire hall. Otherwise, the officials feel the present building should be adequate to house the two pieces of firefighting equipment.

Neither the commission nor the town council will be able to do anything to assist Seymour until definite arrangements are made for the purchase of a specific truck. So far the purchase is only in the talking stage. The Campbellford truck, through an arrangement is on a temporary basis, until Seymour can get their own firefighting equipment.

Stalled Car Escapes Undamaged In-Crash

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 11 — (ENS)—An accident in the early hours of Saturday morning resulted in about $150 damage to one car and almost no damage to the other vehicle when a car parked on the highway, without lights, was struck by an automobile travelling in the same direction.

Frank Stephenson of RR 1, Baltimore, 19, said the battery cable on his car broke, putting the lights out and stalling the car on the highway, about two miles south of Norwood on Highway 45. He was out of his car attempting the repair of a broken cable when a car driven by 35 year old Bruce Wallace of Campbellford ploughed into the parked vehicle from the rear.

The Wallace vehicle was damaged about the front end to the extent of about $150. The Stephenson car escaped with practically no damage. Province Constable George Rose of Campbellford investigated.

Thieves Enter Store Steal $30, Cigarettes

ROSENEATH, Feb. 11 (ENS)— When Kyle Brown, went to his general store on an errand Sunday morning he found his store had been entered through the night and more than $30 in money and several cartons of cigarettes had been stolen.

Constable Fred Norris of Roseneath was called and later Provincial Police were called in from Cobourg.

Entrance was made by pulling a board off the door of the basement. As yet no arrests have been made.

Revived Three Times Child Four Dies

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP). — Theresa Cartagena, revived three times with emergency massage to her stopped heart, died Saturday night, her brain apparently starved for oxygen during the periods of lifelessness.

An attending doctor said the four-year-old child died at 11:15 p.m., "probably of cerebral anoxia"—brain damage caused by a lack of oxygen.

She was undergoing a minor eye operation at the Brooklyn Eye and Ear Hospital.

W. G. Spencley

The funeral for William Gailord Spencley, 4 Spencley's Lane, who died in Civic hospital Thursday was held Saturday from the Comstock funeral home.

The Rev. A. A. Mathews, of George St. United Church, conducted the service.

Pallbearers were George Sorenson, Samuel Montgomery, Thomas Montgomery, George Wilkins, E. H. Sisson E. W. Curtis. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

R. R. Dyer Heads Tool Engineers

The Peterborough chapter of the American Society of Tool Engineers elected a new executive at a meeting Thursday. Heading the new officers is chairman R. R. Dyer.

Other officers were, first vice-chairman, Len Hansher; second vice - chairman, Gord R Page; third vice-chairman, Jack M. Graham; secretary, Carl H. Wellman; treasurer, G. Wainwright.

Guest speaker for the evening was E. C. Polidor, chief engineer for Engineers Specialties Divis-ton, Buffalo. He spoke on gauge inspection by optical projection methods.

During the Second World War, Mr. Polidor was for four years, chief of the Rochester Ordnance Gauge section. It was here that measuring by optical projection methods came into wide use.

He used many slides to illustrate his explanation of the new method.

He was introduced by chairman Bob Dyer and thanked by Bill Fisher.

Several inspectors and guests from city plants were among the 100 who attended.

Lawyers Seeking Five-Day Week

HAMILTON, Feb. 11 (CP). — The Ontario Bar Association Saturday adopted a resolution urging the Provincial Government to designate Saturdays non-juridical days like Sundays.

It means lawyers could close their offices Saturdays without fear that legal papers would be served that day.

The resolution was interpreted by one lawyer to mean, in effect, "a five-day week for lawyers."

Legal papers could be written Saturdays, but if an amendment is passed by the Government to the rules of practice and statutes they could not take effect until the following Monday. Courts would not necessarily be closed on Saturdays, although most of them are.

The association also passed a motion requesting the Law Society of Upper Canada—the ruling body of Ontario's Law Association—to set up a fund to compensate the public in case any lawyer should misappropriate his client's money.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Feb. 11 (CP) —Progressive Conservatives gained their sixth seat in the Newfoundland legislature as counting ended Saturday night of ballots in Thursday's by-election in St. John's West.

Hydro Lines Extended To New Users

Details of extension of their electrical circuits last year are mentioned in the annual financial statement of the Utilities Commission.

"The department erected 36.4 miles of service wire, 22.3 miles of secondary conductor; 16.2 miles of primary conductor and four miles of high tension conductor."

The distribution transformer capacity was increased by 1,890.5 kva. Other details of new work were: 453 three-wire services; 63 two-wire services and 580 flat rate water heaters connected. This is a decrease from 1950 when 134 more services and 139 more flat rate water heaters were connected.

There are now 6,188 flat rate water heaters connected to the lines, with a total of 3,619 kilowatts.

This means two of every three consumers have flat rate water heaters.

For the city corporation, the commission erected 124 street lights, 12 flood lights and two sets of stop lights.

Substation capacity has been increased during the year by 5800 kva. or 29%. Total substation capacity is now 26,050 kw. Peak substation loads, however, have reached 19,700 Kw., an increase of 3,556 Kw. or 22% over the 1950 figures.

With this condition in mind, property was obtained on High St. near Lansdowne St., and an 1,800 kva. temporary transformer station erected, complete with high tension supply and primary distribution circuits, pending delivery of a 4,000 kva. unit substation.

The 4,000 kva. substation ordered for the High St.-Third Ave. site was erected, and placed in service during July, 14 months after the date ordered. A complete 44,000 volt high tension and 2,300 volt distribution system was erected to distribute this load.

Missionaries Leave To Help Christians

MONTREAL, Feb. 11 —(CP)— Western missionaries are leaving China today not because they are afraid to suffer for their faith but because, under present circumstances, they are "obviously a burden" to the Chinese Christians among whom they work, Dr. Stewart Allen said last night.

Dr. Stewart, recently deported from China after being imprisoned for more than a year, said in a sermon that the missionaries were leaving behind them a "living church" which would survive all attempts to destroy it.

Fate Of Five Unknown By Sisters

HONG KONG, Feb. 11—(Reuters)—Six Canadian nuns who left China voluntarily said today they knew nothing of the fate of five Sisters sentenced by mob trial to jail and expulsion.

The nuns, who arrived here, said the trial took place in Canton last December. They had not seen the five other nuns from Quebec since then and did not know where they were. The six said they themselves were not expelled but were allowed to leave voluntarily.

Two of the nuns were of the congregation of the Immaculate Conception, the same order as the five who faced the mob trial. They were stationed in a different part of Canton. They were Sister Ste. Lazar de Bethanie (Josephine Couturie), 52, of Propolis, Que., and Sister Ste. Jean Baptiste (Irene Pelland), 53, of St. Helen de Bagot, Que.

These two Sisters, who had been in China 16 and 23 years respectively, operated a Roman Catholic school in Shameen, former foreign section of Canton.

The other four Sisters, of the order of Our Lady of the Angels, operated St. Peter's hospital in Canton. They were Sisters Ste. Elie (Catherine Saulnier), 41, Moncton, N.B.; Ste. Guy (Irene Desilets), 35, Nicolet, Que.; Ste. John Bosco (Irene Desilets), 27, Drummondville, Que.; and Ste. Brunne (Cecile Huppe), 33, St. Pierre de Broughton, Que. The two with the name Irene Desilets are not related.

Detained Mother Superior

The Communists had "detained" the Canadian mother superior of St. Peter's hospital, Sister Ste. Tharcisius (Adrienne Gosseling), 40, of Granby, Que.

The nuns said she applied for an exit visa with the others but it was not granted. She hoped to get permission to leave within a month, the Sisters said.

The four Sisters from the hospital said they applied to leave Canton on advice from their superiors after police began to call the hospital and harass them by asking endless questions.

The day they left, last Saturday, they interrupted their travel preparations to bind the wounds and wash the shores of 100 patients. They said the detained mother superior was doing her best to carry on the hospital operation with the aid of two Chinese Sisters.

Brethren of Clementi Lodge A.F. & A.M. No. 313 of Lakefield are hereby advised to attend a service of mourning on Friday, February 15 at 7.30 p.m. for our late sovereign Most Worshipful His Majesty King George VI.

The Scope of NATO

On December 29th last the Secretary of State for External Affairs made the following motion in the House of Commons:

That it is expedient that the Houses of Parliament do approve the protocol to the North Atlantic Treaty on the accession of Greece and Turkey, signed by Canada at London on October 17, 1951, and that this House do approve the same.

The House approved. Thus Canada is committed to approval of a military alliance with Greece and Turkey, under the North Atlantic Treaty. What has either Greece or Turkey to do with the North Atlantic? Why should true North Atlantic countries bring Middle East Nations into their organization? What is the scope of NATO anyway? Is it to stick to its main purpose, the defence of Western Europe, or is it to become a military League of Nations with commitments all over the world?

* * *

The late Mr. Litvinov was neither the first nor the last man to realize that peace is indivisible. One cannot protect one's house by guarding the front door and leaving the back open. A dangerous back door to Europe is through the Middle East—Turkey, Greece, Egypt, Iran—both geographically and economically (their oil, for instance). Canada has her frontiers as far east as that. Canada has a direct back door to a farther East: the Orient. Whether she likes it or not, Canada is a Pacific Power. The main Allied Pacific Powers—the U.S.A., Britain, France and Canada—are already members of NATO. Should the other two Pacific Dominions of Australia and New Zealand become members of NATO? What is the scope of NATO?

* * *

This is an urgent matter to be considered at the NATO Lisbon conference opening Saturday. Should Norway be consulted about the situation in the Middle East? Should Turkey be involved in decisions about submarine warfare off the Newfoundland coast? NATO's hands are full already with immediate problems of European defence, and it is already a bulky organization. Will NATO weaken its capacity by extending its field?

* * *

Mr. Pearson skirted around the problem when introducing the motion on December 29th to approve the protocol admitting Turkey and Greece to NATO. Considerations affecting the decision were mentioned by Mr. Pearson:

It was thought at one stage that possibly the result which we all desired could be achieved by some kind of reinforcement of the bilateral defence arrangements which these two countries already had with the United States and certain other countries, and which by the overlapping membership of those arrangements with the membership in the North Atlantic Council could achieve the purpose we had in mind.

It was also thought at one stage that possibly this purpose might be achieved by building up a separate Middle East or Mediterranean pact which would be closely associated with the North Atlantic Pact, again through overlapping and possibly military planning.

After careful consideration it was decided that the best solution of this problem was not those which I have indicated, but rather an invitation to these countries to become full members in the North Atlantic Council, and signatories to the North Atlantic Pact.

This was the position taken from the beginning by the United States and by the United Kingdom. It was the position taken by the Governments of Greece and Turkey themselves, who felt that full membership was the best solution to the problem, from their point of view. It was the position taken by the North Atlantic military advisers. It was felt also that, even if it had been desirable, probably it would take too long to work out a Mediterranean or Middle Eastern or Near Eastern pact which, indeed, if we tried to do it, would involve problems of inclusion and exclusion which would not be settled easily, at least at this stage.

As a result of this consideration we agreed unanimously to draw up a protocol, which, if it were ratified by all the Governments of the North Atlantic Organization, would invite those two countries to acceede to our pact.

* * *

What is the significance of the admission of Greece and Turkey to NATO (if it is finally approved by all NATO members)? Mr. Pearson gave his hand away when he said: "The effect of the protocol is not to extend the nature of our obligations under the North Atlantic Treaty. These remain as they were. It does, of course, extend the area of obligations, the area in which we specify and reaffirm and indeed organize to carry out the general commitments which we have already undertaken as signatories to the United Nations Charter." This is diplomatic double-talk. Such a diverse extension of the "area of obligations" is in fact an extension of the nature of the obligations. It is a development which Canadians should follow very closely; for the next step to admission of Greece and Turkey to this military alliance could be the sending of Canadian troops to the Middle East.

"Heavy Snowfall Hits Southern Ontario"

On Saturday Toronto, Hamilton and other southern and western Ontario centres reported that the first real snowfall of 1952 began to blanket Southern Ontario at noon on Friday. Four inches had fallen in Toronto by nine o'clock. And of course, Toronto traffic went into its accustomed tizzy, according to the papers. Peterborough had perhaps an inch.

We object to the assumption that anything which hits Toronto automatically blankets Southern Ontario. If there are a couple of robberies in Toronto, Southern Ontario is swept by bank robberies. If heat afflicts Toronto, Southern Ontario is sweltering. If Toronto has quadruplets, Southern Ontario is having a rash of babies. What bombast! What pretensions! It is a pack of nonsense. Toronto is not Southern Ontario.

The misconception springs from Torontonians' assumption that the hub of the universe is Toronto. Even Toronto newspapers succumb to the fallacy. Peterborough could be sweltering in 110 degrees of heat; but if Toronto were only a cool 85, news reports emanating from that hub would say: Southern Ontario enjoys pleasant summer weather. If a foot of snow falls on Kingston, Belleville, Peterborough and Lindsay, but only a half-inch on Toronto, the snowfall in Southern Ontario is not noticed by the central newspaper agencies.

But let four inches fall on Toronto! Then the wires hum. Toronto news centres question their out-of-town correspondents: how much snow did you get? If only small amounts have fallen, the account does not assume the big proportions Toronto editors might have planned for it; nevertheless, the story comes out with this heading—because Toronto has had four inches—"Heavy Snowfall Hits S. Ontario, Tangles Traffic." Bosh!

Canadians With Titles

If Lord Alexander's earldom is gazetted before he leaves this country, he will become the second Earl resident in Canada. The other is The Right Honourable the Earl of Egmont, who lives in Calgary. We believe that this gentleman has lived in Canada many years as a plain citizen, but the quirks of succession took him into exalted peerage to become the eleventh Earl of that title.

The Honourable Shane Alexander, a youth of 16, is now to become Baron Alexander of Rideau as a result of his father's elevation in the peerage. If he returns to Canada to become a Canadian citizen (as Viscount Alexander has suggested he might) he will be the sixth living Canadian baron, apart from the old French title recognized by Queen Victoria held by Baron de Longueuil. The five Canadian barons in the British peerage are: The Right Honourable Lords Aylmer (9th baron and 12th baronet), Beaverbrook (1st baron), Rodney (8th baron) who lives at Fort Saskatchewan, Alberta; Shaughnessy (3rd baron); Strathcona and Mount Royal (3rd baron). The first barons of the last two titles were C.P.R. builders.

In addition to these Canadian noblemen (not all of them living in Canada) and only the last two creations being for bona fide Canadian citizens, there are ten other Canadians (by residence or birth) who hold hereditary titles. These ten baronets are: Sir James Dunn, Sir Joseph Flavelle (2nd Bart.), Sir Francis Heathcote, a clergyman (9th Bart.), Sir Gordon Johnson (5th Bart.), Sir Francis Knowles (5th Bart.), Sir Sydney Oakes (2nd Bart.), Sir Hugh Edward Poynter (3rd Bart.), Sir Francis Rose (4th Bart.), Sir Charles Tupper (2nd Bart.) and Sir Arthur Allan Stonehouse (17 Bart., whose succession is not yet definitely proved).

And there are more titled Canadians, knights entitled to be called Sir, but whose titles cannot be passed on. There are no fewer than 29 of these knights, most of them Canadians by birth, whose titles were bestowed before the spring of 1919 when the Borden Government respectfully requested His Majesty not to give any more titular honours to resident Canadians; or got in the time of the Bennett Government which briefly lifted the ban, in 1934 and 1935. In addition to these knights, baronets, barons and others, there are dowagers—Ladies living in various parts of Canada, each with a title.

So, all in all, Canada has a surprising number of titled citizens, considering that the conferring of titles on Canadians in Canada is barred by Parliament.

NOTES AND COMMENT

The proper way to back into a parking spot is, we read, to begin straightening the wheels when your front seat is even with the front car's rear seat. We presume that if the other car is a Cadillac convertible, and yours is an English midget you thereby back right into a cozy parking space in its luggage compartment.

Musical Notes

by PETER PIPER

IT has been said that the day of private patronage is dead. Like all generalizations this is only half true. There is, of course, a tendency for the state to take over the function of encouraging the arts. In most countries, too, the incidence of high taxation has caused wealthy people to draw in their horns. Nevertheless, the role of the private patron of music and the arts during the past few years has not been unimportant. In the first place, of course, our Royal family has shown an interest in music which other sections of the public have been quick to copy. For many years the Queen Mother Elizabeth took our new Queen and her sister to the children's concerts in London conducted by Sir Malcolm Sargent and helped to mould their musical taste. Our late King's tastes did not turn overmuch to music, though as a cadet at the Royal Naval College he was a treble in the College choir. Our new Queen is much interested in music, and it is highly likely that she will continue and extend the royal patronage of music.

✧ ✧ ✧

APART from royalty the names of such as Lord Howard de Walden, Mrs. Elziabeth S. Coolidge, the Princess de Polignac, to name only three in different countries, will be remembered for their services to music. The late Serge Kussevitzky, too, not only was a famous musician on his own account but also did much to encourage rising young composers. In fact it is due to him that Benjamin Britten wrote his first (and, in my opinion his best) opera. This is what Britten says: "He (Kussevitzky) asked why I had not written an opera. I explained that the construction of a scenario, discussions with a librettist, planning the musical architecture, composing preliminary sketches, and writing nearly a thousand pages of orchestral score, demanded a freedom from other work which was an economic impossibility for most young composers. Kussevitzky was interested in my project for an opera based on Crabbe, although I did not expect to have the opportunity of writing for several years. Some weeks later we met again, when he told me that he had arranged for the commissioning of the opera, which was to be dedicated to the memory of his wife, who had recently died". Chances such as these do not come every day, and sometimes they happen to the wrong people. Britten seized the opportunity and wrote the first opera for many a long year by an Englishman to be given in most of the famous opera houses of the world.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE news of the King's death has naturally overshadowed all the other happenings of the last few days. On the day of the announcement the broadcasting stations rose to the occasion magnificently and provided a rich array of "Solemn Musick". Listeners to the CBC heard an impressive array of recordings of the music of Bach, though some of the numbers would have been rather more appropriate to a day of solemn rejoicing than of mourning. During the afternoon the whole of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony was played. The last movement, that paean of joy, in which Beethoven burst the bounds of symphonic music and introduced the human voice, took on a poignancy that fitted the occasion. Fittingly, too, Elgar's Second Symphony, which was undertaken as a loyal tribute to his sovereign and completed as an elegy on the death of a loved monarch, also found a place in the programme. What a pity it is that it requires the death of the King to elicit such a galaxy of good music. Apart from such things as the usual CBC Wednesday nights and the series of piano recitals being given by Agnes Logan Green on Monday evenings from CHEX and sponsored by the Peterborough Examiner there is ordinarily such a pitiful lack of decent music on the radio. Could the public take a slightly stiffer dose of good music? I think so.

✧ ✧ ✧

A SHORT while ago I promised to look into the causes of the failure of the Kingston Rotary Music Festival to make the grade. The general opinion is that it was run on too lavish lines, in the same class as the Winnipeg Festival. In view of the population it should have set itself a more modest task, at any rate at the outset. There was no lack of co-operation from the music teachers, the University, and the civic and church authorities. Church choirs co-operated whole-heartedly, and the press gave splendid coverage. Special rental rates for auditoriums were granted by the schools. Rotary clubs from across the border chipped in, and, what is more, no drawbacks were encountered as a result of enlisting the aid of the Americans, who also contributed many contestants. Entries for the second year were down slightly in numbers, but not enough to account for the very considerable deficit. In fact it would have been necessary, according to the information that I possess, to more than double the number of entries to make both ends meet. The edjudicators were appreciated, but owing to the elaborate scale of the organization they accounted for too great a proportion of expenses. It was like chartering a bus to take half a dozen people to Toronto. It is certainly a blow to music in Kingston that the Festival has had to be discontinued. Let us hope that in due course it may be revived and that the lessons so hardly learned may be applied successfully. In the meanwhile the fate of the Peterborough Music Festival will depend on the measure of support that it receives in the forthcoming contests in May. The Kiwanis Club, which sponsors the Festival, together with other loyal supporters, is busy conducting an energetic drive to bring it to the notice of musicians far and near. It is still too soon to say how things are progressing, though the last day for entries, March 31, is creeping nearer inexorably. This is its sixth year, and the Kiwanis Club has profited by the experience in all respects except, alas, financially. It is true that the losses have been less spectacular than at Kingston, but they have not been negligible. They have, in fact, been quite heavy over a period of five years. This year the omens are better. Most important of all the syllabus was published considerably earlier than heretofore.

✧ ✧ ✧

A NEW musical periodical is out: its name is Repertoire. The name describes the aim, that of bringing to the notice of the public music both new and old with a view to escaping from the beaten track. The January issue includes the third of a series of articles on the piano music of Bartok, an article on new music for two pianos, Revel's folksongs, Elizabethan choral Ayres, and much other interesting material. In each case publishers and prices are listed. Needless to say it is published in the States. Canada is still without any musical periodical whatsoever. I refuse to believe that a nation of fourteen million, with the second highest standard of living in the world, is not yet in the position to support a musical magazine. How much longer must we wait for it to be put to the proof?

Sitting Up With a Sick Friend

We're All Yummy

By JACK SCOTT in the Ottawa Citizen

THE alarm clock exploded at 7:30 and instantly the Advertising Man was wide awake. He smiled broadly at the ceiling.

"Man!" he thought, stretching luxuriously. "This new Foamair Pillow gives you the sleep of your life. No other pillow affords such satisfying, sleep-easy comfort. Doesn't sag or hollow out and so-o-o-o nice to be next-to, thanks to the pure air flowing through its myriad, dust-free cells!"

He sprang out of bed and strode down the hall to the bathroom, whistling gaily. "Breakfast is ready," his wife called from the kitchen.

"Just takes a jiffy, darling, for the 30-second workout!" The Advertising Man called to her. "Say, you can fee-e-e-el the difference in your scalp when you use St. Vitus, the live action hair tonic. Stimulates, invigorates, gives that natural look, yet St. Vitus contains no harmful ingredients. Just pure vegetable oils and lard."

"Women adore its tangy flavor, too," his wife called back cheerily.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE Advertising Man shaved and dressed and bounded to the kitchen. He paused in the doorway to admire a charming domestic scene. Little Rollo, his year-old son, sat in his high chair. His wife was dressed in an attractive house-coat and looked like a movie queen. In one corner sat Fido, an immaculate wire-haired terrier.

"We're a Zing-up family!" The Advertising Man cried.

"Yes!" his wife carolled. "We're a Zing-up family since switching to All-Grass, the natural laxative cereal with the locked-in goodness that helps you back to youthful regularity, lost because of a lack of bulk in our diet."

"Zing-up families free themselves from laxative slavery," The Advertising Man chuckled. "No longer fired from guns, it's broken up by atomic power to bring you that extra grass flavor!"

"Me, too, Daddy," lisped little Rollo. "I love its yummy goodness!"

As The Advertising Man spooned his All-Grass he looked at his wife with open admiration.

"Men notice the little things about a woman," he said. "I adore my wife after two years of marriage!"

"That's because I'm Double-Lovely today," the Advertising Man's Wife said. "Feetlebaum's new skin creams penetrate deeper, gently float away dust and grime. Why? Because Feetlebaum's contains the scientific magic ingredient doctors call 'Lardogin', made of lard and gin. No other skin cream can make that statement!"

"And your lipstick!" exclaimed the Advertising Man.

"It's the new color, Kelp, stolen from the mermaids," his wife replied. "Men adore its sultry low-tide flavour, made on a formula that seems to last forever."

✧ ✧ ✧

THE Advertising Man got into his overcoat, kissed his wife and child and hurried to the door. He paused momentarily to reach down and pat the head of Fido, the wire-haired terrier.

"Arf! Arf!" Fido barked. "I love my boss because he feeds me crunchy Posties, the yummy dog biscuits that taste like mailmen. Yes, it's Posties for this smart dog for they keep a canine's teeth and gums in top condition. Yes, I'm a happy dog these days since my boss switched to crunchy Posties."

"Good dog," said the Advertising Man, turning for the door.

"Remember, daddy," cried little Rollo, his big eyes wide with trust and love. "Look to the future for your loved ones. Make your savings grow the Canada Savings Bond way. Our whole family can enjoy the rewards of saving."

As the door closed the Advertising Man's Wife reached into her bodice, pulled out a Colt .45 and quickly shot little Rollo and Fido in the head.

"I'll get him tonight," she mused, "because I sure can't stand any more mornings like this."

Letter To The Editor

MUST RESIST GOVERNMENT INTERFERENCE

Sir: We are writing this letter to voice our appreciation of the very fine editorial included in your paper dated Wednesday, January 30th. This editorial was written under the heading of "The Shiftless Canadian Male".

We would be very interested to know whether or not any of the Ottawa people accepted the challenge issued in this editorial.

There is a necessity for opposition to the growing tendency of our Government to interfere with personal freedom. We feel that this tendency can be met by means of newspaper editorials and public opinion.

We sincerely hope to see more of this type of discussion in your fine newspaper.

Yours very truly,
D. A. HARWOOD.

Ed. Note: Ottawa has given no figures as to the number of servicemen who neglect their dependents. The Department of Defence now considers dropping its proposal.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Paul had determined to sail by Ephesus, because he would not spend the time in Asia: for he hasted, if it were possible for him, to be at Jerusalem the day of Pentecost. And from Miletus he sent to Ephesus, and called the elders of the church. And when they were come to him, he said unto them: Ye know, from the first day that I came into Asia, after what manner I have been with you at all seasons, serving the Lord with all humility of mind, and with many tears, and temptations, which befell me by the lying in wait of the Jews....

And now, behold, I go bound in the spirit unto Jerusalem, not knowing the things that shall befall me there: save that the Holy Ghost witnesseth in every city, saying that bonds and afflictions abide me. But none of these things move me, neither count I my life dear unto myself, so that I might finish my course with joy, and the ministry, which I have received of the Lord Jesus, to testify the gospel of the grace of God. (Acts 20: 16-19, 22-24.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And when we had finished our course from Tyre, we came to Ptolemais, and saluted the brethren, and abode with them one day. And the next day we that were of Paul's company departed, and came unto Caesanea.... And as we tarried there many days, there came down from Judaea a certain prophet, named Agabus.

And when he was come unto us, he took Paul's girdle, and bound his own hands and feet, and said, Thus saith the Holy Ghost, So shall the Jews at Jerusalem bind the man that owneth this girdle, and shall deliver him into the hands of the Gentiles. And when we heard these things, both we, and they of that place, besought him out to go up to Jerusalem. Then Paul answered, What mean ye to weep and to break mine heart? for I am ready not to be bound only, but also to die at Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus. (Acts 21: 7, 8, 10-13.)

Pembroke's Road

(Pembroke Bulletin Standard-Observer)

We accept The Examiner's sympathy—not that we need it, but our Scots forebears would rise up in wrath if we scorned a gift, no matter how trifling—but perhaps we may be pardoned if we indulge in a little smug satisfaction at the expense of Peterborough. While that city is waiting for the "Department of Highways to get around to doing something about it (the Trans-Canada Highway) in those parts", the Department of Highways has already done quite a lot about it in this part of the province. We can be fully as generous and magnanimous as The Examiner. Peterborough can have the name—Pembroke has the road.

As for the fire and the execution, they may have been sent to keep us humble.

27 Nationalities

(Sudbury Star)

It is seldom that Sudburians have the opportunity to hear such a flow of oratory as was the case on Sunday evening when Prime Minister St. Laurent, Defence Minister Claxton and Hon. Lester B. Pearson, secretary of state for external affairs, made an official visit to the city.

While Sudburians blushed modestly over the verbal bouquets of the distinguished visitors, in which tribute was paid to the spirit of unity in which 27 nationalities work and play together, there was recognition of the serious note that modulated the tone of the speeches by the three members of the Ottawa government.

Blind Montrealer Operates Own Radio Repair Shop

MONTREAL — (CP)—Roland Burelle, 42-year-old Montrealer, is unique in Canada.

He is the only blind man in the country who holds a graduate's certificate as a radio technician. He is so proficient today that he operates his own radio repair shop.

Blind since he was nine years old, Roland Burelle first thought of studying radio when he heard about the Radio Engineering Institute for the Blind at Omaha, Nebraska. He had saved up $2,000.

"You'll never manage, radio is just a maze of wires and condensors and it's a mystery to people with sight, so how do you expect to solve its intricacies? You'll burn your fingers black with soldering irons," his friends told him.

But Burelle was undaunted. The Canadian National Institute for the Blind backed him and encouraged him. "Try it," he was told. "The blind have faith. They can do anything."

At Omaha, Burelle met La Von Peterson, director of the institute, who developed and perfected adaptations which enable the sightless to use the same precision used by other technicians.

"We had three hours a day of class lectures and five hours of laboratory work, and I always studied by Braille text books late into the night," says Burelle.

The blind radio technician repairs a radio in the same way as a sighted person, but where the latter uses his eyes to find the trouble, the sightless uses his ears and his sensitive fingers. His instruments give him a sound and his numerous dials have raised dots for his fingers.

"People said that I'd burn my finger black with the soldering iron, but look at my assistant. Ask him who burns his fingers most often.

"Customers call on me with work every day. My business is growing and I have proved that the blind can do anything because they have faith," he said.

Col. E. A. Baker, blind managing director of C.N.I.B., said of Burelle:

"We should understand that Mr. Burelle is the first Canadian to take this course. The development of his new business will be watched with interest. It is possible that he will pioneer a new field of endeavor in this country."

Sound advice for the hard-of-hearing:

Remain deaf to high prices for HEARING AIDS!

Zenith believes that no hearing aid need sell for more than $85. And $85 is Zenith's one price for one quality, Zenith's finest. No other hearing aid, at any price, gives you the combination of features you get in a Zenith "Royal" and "Super-Royal." And no other hearing aid enjoys more enthusiastic preference among men and women who can well afford to pay any price for an instrument! Zenith sincerely urges the hard-of-hearing not to buy any hearing aid until they have read the truth about hearing aid claims. This startling and long needed information is contained in Zenith's free book: "Frauds and Facts." No one who suffers from loss of hearing need be confused any longer about conflicting claims and needless high prices! Zenith clears up the "mysteries" . . . leads the way to a new and wonderful world of hearing . . . shows how to save $100 or more! Perhaps someone you love would appreciate this free book. It will be mailed, postpaid, in a plain envelope, to anyone you wish. So write, this very day, for "Frauds and Facts." Zenith Radio Corporation of Canada, Ltd., Dept. N2415B, Canada Trust Bldg., Windsor, Ont., Canada.

REMEMBER . . . Zenith's one price is $85 (Bone Conduction Devices available at moderate extra cost.)

HIGH AND DRY—The meandering Missouri River played a trick on the engineers and made this $1,970,000 bridge an object of controversy. The river wandered away from the channel that was to have been crossed by the brideg between Decatur and Onawa, Ia., rendering it useless. Now, Army engineers say they have no money to steer the river back to its normal channels, and residents of the area are waiting impatiently for some action to get the river back under the bridge.

Vaughan Glover Assumes Office

MARMORA, Feb. 11—(ENS)—Vaughan Glover, president, and his slate of officers were installed into office at the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held here on Thursday night. The installation of Mr. Glover was conducted by John E. Buchan president of the Belleville Chamber while Roger Young vice-president was installed by H. W. Sabine. Ralph Neal, secretary and Floyd Loveless, treasurer were also installed by Mr. Buchan.

Mr. Buchan paid tribute to the Marmora Chamber.

Past president Fraser, tendered his thanks to officers and members for their support in the past year and presented a gift to W. J. Cottrell in appreciation of his work as editor of the Chamber's bulletin during the past two years.

President Glover thanked the directors for electing him and pledged himself to do all he could for the welfare of the organization in 1952.

In giving the results of the election of directors, H.W. Sabine said 65 out of the 75 ballots sent out to members had been returned. F. R. Loveless reported receipts of $744.71. A vote of $300 was made to the Recreation Centre. A. F. Fraser reported for the planning and development committee. He said the planning board had held several meetings and had zoned and laid out a plan for the municipality. This has not yet been approved by the municipal board.

Chairmen of committees were announced by the president as follows: membership and finance —R. Young; program and entertainment—Rev. G. D. Young; agriculture—Irwin Milboy; industrial and civic—A. J. Maynes; retail and merchandise—D. P. Marett; publicity and tourist development—T. J. Bateman; saftey —C. T. Nicholson; planning and development—C. R. Whittemore; reception—A. F. Fraser.

George Hosang of Belleville presented a fine charcoal portrait of Reeve V. M. Lynch to the Reeve in appreciation of his contribution to the radio program "Ontario Marches On" when the village of Marmora was featured.

The night for monthly meeting was changed from second Thursday to first Thursday. The Belleville Chamber will be asked to use its influence in getting a curling rink in that city. The surcharge on patients in Belleville hosptial who come from outside the city was a subject which received some discussion. The extension of No. 14 Highway from Belleville beyond Marmora to north of the county, it was said should be a project that the Belleville and Marmora Chambers should unitedly have a voice in and work for. The Belleville president promised that his organization would study the matter.

The meeting closed with hearty vote of thanks to A. F. Fraser retiring president, by R. G. Walsh for his leadership and advancement of the Chamber activities during the four years it has been in existence.

WHAT A DAY!

What a misery it can be on those days when you are feeling way below par. How slowly the hours drag by when you feel seedy and sluggish and seem to ache all over.

And how unnecessary it all is, very often

Most times that dull, logy feeling is the direct result of constipation and kidneys not working properly. You need something more than a simple laxative these times. You need Kruschen Salts.

Millions the world over have learned the benefits of Kruschen . . . the salts that are like those in the waters of famous Mineral Springs. Acting in two ways at once, laxative and diuretic (for sluggish kidneys), Kruschen helps rid the body of waste matter. It goes right to the cause of that miserable, sickish feeling that constipation brings about.

Get some Kruschen today. Less than half a teaspoonful can make you feel better all day long.

Canada, Australia Making Strong Bids For New Citizens

By D'ARCY O'DONNELL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Feb. 11—(CP)—Canada and australia, two members of the British Commonwealth with plenty of room for additional population, are running a close race in the post-War drive for new citizens.

Canada is ahead at the moment, but Australia could overcome the lead in a matter of months.

Since the end of the last war, Canada has admitted approximately 625,000 immigrants and Australia 591,000, a difference of 34,000.

Both countries are tapping the same sources—the United Kingdom and Europe. Both have plans to assist immigrants who cannot afford to pay their passage.

Neither country has set a long-range immigration target. Some high-ranking Australians have expressed the hope that the population of their country will grow to 20,000,000 in the next 25 years. Australia now has a population of 8,000,000.

Canada's Agricultural Minister Gardiner, has said several times he believes this country could support a population of 50,000,000. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, has gone farther and suggested that Canada could eventually have a population of 100,000,000. Canada now has a population of approximately 14,000,000.

Canada admitted an estimated 195,000 new citizens in 1951, the largest number for any year since 1913. No target has been set for 1952, but the number of admissions is expected to be as great as last year if there is no serious unemployment.

Australia admitted approximately 133,000 immigrants in 1951 and has set a target of 150,000 for 1952.

Following is the immigration record of the two countries since 1946, the first year following the end of the Second World War:

Year	Canada	Australia
1946	71,719	18,217
1947	64,127	31,765
1948	125,414	65,739
1949	95,217	167,727
1950	73,912	174,540
1951	195,000	133,000
Total	625,389	590,988

United Kingdom Immigrants

Canada obtained about one third of her immigrants from the United Kingdom, while Australia obtained about one half from that source.

More than 200,000 of Canada's 625,000 immigrants in the post-war years came from the United Kingdom. Australia's total of approximately 591,000 included 276,000 citizens from the United Kingdom or other members of the Commonwealth.

Complete figures were not available here on the number of immigrants reaching Australia from other than Commonwealth countries, but large numbers were from Poland, Latvia, Italy and Holland.

In 1949, for instance, Australia admitted 35,000 Poles, 11,000 Latvians and 10,000 Italians. In 1950, admissions included 32,000 Poles, 11,000 Dutch and 13,000 Italians.

In 1952, Australia hopes to obtain 25,000 Dutch, 15,000 to 20,000 Italians, 12,000 Germans and 30,000 to 35,000 from displaced persons camps.

Canada admitted more than 400,000 persons from countries other than the United Kingdom. They came from practically all parts of the globe—about 50,000 from the United States, 125,000 from Northern Europe and 225,000 from all other countries.

In 1951, a total of 27,000 Germans were admitted to Canada compared with 4,900 in 1950. Italian immigrants totalled 21,312 compared with 8,258 in 1950.

Other large groups included Dutch, French, Poles, Ukrainians, Yugoslavs, Czechs and Danes.

Eternal Youth

WINNIPEG (CP) — A person 80 years old can do anything that can be done at 18, said Dr. A. R. Cragg of the United College here. He told a luncheon meeting: "If you can keep the part above your eyes alive, the rest of you won't go dead either."

Eager Moose

FORT WILLIAM, Ont. (CP) — "Billy the Moose" has become a familiar mascot at a timber camp near Nipigon, where his first arrival recently sent the loggers scurrying for cover. Billy now wanders freely with the horses and causes little stir as he gets handouts from the cook.

Big Timber Haul

FORT FRANCES, Ont.—(CP)—Hauling of timber products is proceeding rapidly under ideal conditions in the Rainy River district. Cutting of sawlogs has been completed at most of the larger pulpwood camps but continues at a few others.

Level Crossing Tip

WINGHAM, Ont. (CP)—Suggestion that a light or reflector be placed on either side of every railroad box-car was made at a regional meeting of the Grey county farm forum. The resolution pointed out that freights carry lights only at the front and rear.

BUT, THEY'RE ONLY SO-SO—Sewing expert Ann Necchi teaches the wonders of the sewing machine to a class of wide-eyed boys at the Madison Square Boys' Club in New York City. Free classes for boys ranging in age from seven to 10 are conducted each week at the club. Once they master the art of machine darning and button replacement, the boys will go on to more artistic subjects of embroidery and applique work.

Swiss Climbers Plan Assault On Mt. Everest

By HAROLD K. MILKS

India's best known Himalayan expert will accompany a team of Swiss mountain climbers making a new attempt this spring to climb the unconquered heights of 29,141-foot Mount Everest.

He is Ram N. Rahul, consultant to many Himalayan expeditions.

The new assault on Everest, sponsore dby the Alpine Research Foundation, will be the first to be attempted by any group from the Nepalese side of the world's tallest mountain.

The Swiss party of eight experienced alpine climbers and four scientists is led by Dr. Eduard Wyss-Dunant, who directed the Swiss expedition of 1949.

The exepdition will establish a base camp at the 20,000-or-21,000-foot level. From there advance camps will be erected up to a top height of 27,000 to 28,000 feet — the last one the jump-off point for a dash toward Everest's unknown summit.

Two members of the team will try the final stretch but the subzero gales which sweep across the heights of Everest rule out an overnight stay on the summit even if they reach it. They must return in one day to their last advance camp, or perish in the cold, rarified air near the top.

Good Chance

With them the Swiss climbers are bringing new type lightweight oxygen breathing apparatus. It is described as far superior to that used by previous expeditions.

Rahul, who has himself climbed to 27,000 feet in the Himalayas, and was liaison officer to the Swiss Himalayan expedition of 1949, agrees with Eric Shipton, who led the last British reconnaissance expedition up the slopes of Everest, that "the Swiss have as good a chance of reaching the summit as anyone."

Rahul estimates it will require at least two weeks after reaching Nepal for the climbers to set up their base camp. Another fortnight may be required before the actual climb begins.

The pair of climbers selected to make the final dash "have only one job," said an Himilayan expert here. "It is to climb that last two thousand or more feet and come back alive with a report of what they found at the top."

If successful, the Swiss climbers may solve an old mystery. That is the secret of what happened to George Mallory and Andrew Irvine, a pair of British climbers who vanished into the clouds shrouding the last few hundred feet of Everest's peak June 7, 1924, and were never seen again.

Many believe they actually reached their goal, only to die on the lonely heights.

Expect Deluge New Stamps

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 (AP) — Stamp collectors throughout the world expect a deluge of new stamps as a result of the death of King George VI and the ascension of Queen Elizabeth II to the throne. But it won't come all at once.

First, an issue to honor the new monarch will have to be issued. This will be followed by a complete new stock of stamps to replace the ones that now bear the picture of the late King.

When George VI was crowned in 1937, Britain and her colonies issued 202 special stamps. Britain issued only the widely-used three-halfpenny stamp. Canada issued one stamp, Newfoundland 11, New Zealand three, Australia two, South Agrica five and South West Africa eight.

"For 15 years I've kept my nose to the grindstone!"

"I've been building my own business . . . working hard . . . plowing profits back in . . . literally keeping my nose to the grindstone night and day. But it's paid off.

"My business is well established now and this year, for the first time, I was able to take out a fair amount of profit.

"I decided to put this profit to work for me in some other line of business by investing in bonds or stocks of some good companies. I didn't know too much about these things, so I asked a friend what he thought was a "buy". He suggested that I talk it over with his investment dealer, McLeod, Young, Weir & Company. I did, and on their advice I bought some securities that are turning out to be mighty fine investments."

Pulling up fast as they approach the O.H.A. senior "B" stretch drive, the Eagles could pass Belleville Hawks by Wednesday night and go into second place in the group standing. They've 21 points now to Hawks' 24, and they play Kingston here tonight, and Belleville on Wednesday in Civic Arena. Two wins and they'd be in second position. But they have a tough opponent to hurdle this eve in the K's, who also have 21 points. A local loss tonight would push Eagles back into the cellar. Yes, the group race is just that close at present. So, Kingston and the Vitarelli pack will shoot the works this p.m. in a hot clash, with plenty at stake. It rates a big crowd.

Showing that size isn't everything in hockey, Look Magazine has a piece on Ted Lindsay of Detroit Wings. Called "Puck's Bad Boy", the article says the star leftwinger for the N.H.L. leaders is just five feet eight inches and goes but 163 pounds. Yet he's as hard-hitting a forward as there is in the league. He's proven that by besting the rough Bill Ezinicki regularly in a long-standing feud. Ted was good enough to jump directly from St. Mike's junior "A" club to Detroit Red Wings and not only stay up there but star season after season. Husky Bill Juzda of Leafs says: "Lindsay is just about the toughest character in the league. He always has an elbow or a stick in your face. He's as ornery as they come." Kettle calls pot black, eh?

* * * * * *

Remember "Ole Poison"?

They used to call big Nels Stewart "Ole Poison" when he played with Hooley Smith and Babe Seibert for Montreal Maroons. A great guy on the attack, he holds the N.H.L. scoring record of 324 goals. Now a salesman in Toronto, and author of book on how to play hockey, Nels has promised to play for the N.H.L. Oldtimers here Saturday night, game proceeds going to the crippled children's fund. Nels twice won the Hart Trophy as the league's most valuable player, so he must be regarded as one of the all-time greats in hockey. Ditto with Dit Clapper, Lionel and Chuck Conacher, Bill Cowley and several more of these former stars who have promised Dave Kerr to be on deck.

* * * * * *

In fact, Lionel Conacher last year was voted Canada's outstanding athlete of the half century. As a kid we saw him play amateur at the Brock for a Toronto senior team when fans laughed as little Red Legion pushed him around. But when larger Frank Collins tried to rough him up the Big Train forgot to be pleasant and laid him like a rug. Conny went over then to Pittsburg as pro hockey was just starting to catch on in the States and he starred later in N.H.L. play in New York and Montreal. He once boxed Dempsey in his prime, shone for years on the gridiron, starred in lacrosse, track, wrestling, etc., and is now a Federal member of parliament. Balding and with a bent beak, huge Lionel will show at Civic comes Saturday p.m.

Ski Jumps And Thumps

Skiers held forth around here Saturday and Sunday in the Southern Ontario zone championships. Mike Howe, 15, of Hamilton had the best record to head the list as he won in the cross-country, slalom and junior boys' jumping. Dave Palmateer of Toronto was second. Eric Kurle of Toronto was tops for senior men in the jumping at Nassau, his best effort being 110 feet. He showed a lot of style. Kurt Kessler soared 125 feet once, but a fall spoiled his championship chances. Ab Vass led the Peterborough jumpers. A crowd of 1,000 viewed the jumps and got a lot of thrills as it was slippery landing out there by the river's edge.

* * * * * *

Gord McIntyre's cage Marines erased Belleville Glens 67-45 in the "Y" Saturday evening to take the series in two straight. A lot of fouls on the small floor. Hugh Dibben led local snipers, while Ab and Joe Stewart were going strong during the second half. Whole crew clicked well in this joust against good opposition. Outboards now chug-chug into O.A.B.A. intermediate playdowns. Bev Goulding's senior "A" P.V.C.S. pack put on an impressive show to edge Toronto Riverdales 59-57 at the Collegiate, while the P.C.V.S. juniors took a 46-44 exhibition win o'er Port Hope seniors in another close one the same night. The junior "A" team is at O.C.V. I. on the morrow.

Watson And Flanagan, Layton And Atkins Tag Team Match Heads All-Star Card

There will be a Canada versus Australia angle in the outstanding main tag team bout at the Brock on Tuesday night. Pat Flanagan prevailed on his long-time grappling pal Whipper Billy Watson, to team up with him against Lord Athol Layton (who resided in Australia) and the champion from "down under", rough Fred Atkins. No one else but a top wrestler like the Whip could help Flanagan enough against the slashing Layton and the rugged Atkins, a short-tempered driver who ignores most mat rules.

Fred Atkins

Layton felt in losing the tag bout here last week that Lou Pitoscia was the weak one, and he lined up Atkins for a partner. Layton expressed extreme satisfaction when he learned that Whipper Watson was teaming up with Flanagan. The judo chop expert and Watson are old ring enemies—and fans will recall the time Layton put Whip in hospital with a slash to the throat. Watson later took a decision over him. It should be one of the wildest bouts ever seen here before the biggest crowd to ever attend a wrestling show at the Brock.

Zorra

Two first-class supporting scraps are on the card. Zorra, the French Tarzan, tackles a fast husky in Warren Bockwinkle in the semi-final. Chief Suni War Cloud takes on a hard-hitting and hated wrestler in Jim (the Bull) Wright in what is expected to be a sizzling premin.

SKI JUMPS THRILL 1,000—A crowd of 1,000 viewed the Southern Ontario zone ski jumps Saturday afternoon at Nassau as some of the top performers in the province participated. Eric Kurle of Toronto, was the winner of this competition. Left photo shows Ab Vass taking the Peterborough Club championship as he was caught at tree-top level finishing sixth of 19 competitors. He jumped 89 and 87 feet. Right photo depicts another just off the lip of the jump as he soars toward the 110-foot mark. Kurt Kessler twice went better than 120 feet but a fall spoiled his championship chances.—(Examiner Staff Photos).

Barbara Metcalfe Triumphs In Senior Slalom

Junior and senior women dominated the action Sunday at Bethany as Barbara Metcalfe, Toronto Ski Club, won the Southern Ontario senior women's downhall slalom combined championship and Pat Prevost, Camp Borden, the junior combined championship.

Miss Metcalfe won the senior trophy, donated and presented by Mrs. Mollie Craig, Peterborough, chairman of the Ontario women's section, with total time of 92 seconds for the two events. She won over Louise Genest, Toronto Ski Club, a total time of 95.6 seconds and Mrs. Craig, a total time of 95.9.

Patsy Prevost easily won the combined for junior women with a total of 76.8 seconds for the downhill and slalom. Her nearest opponents were Liz Perkins, Hamilton Cedar Springs, with 80 seconds and Shirley Proctor, Toronto Ski Club, with 83.5.

At first many skiers thought Mrs. Craig would win her own trophy as she easily won the downhill event out of 13 contestants with a time of 44.6 seconds for the 1,300-foot course with a vertical drop of 265 feet.

The champion combined skier, Barbara Metcalfe placed second with a time of 46 seconds. Another Peterborough skier, Mrs. Jane Matthews, placed third with a time of 48.4 seconds while Cathie Coutts, Toronto Ski Club, was fourth in 50.2 seconds.

Fall In Slalom

A fall in the slalom placed Mrs. Craig well down in the standing and increased her combined time. Meanwhile Barbara Metcalfe placed third in the slalom with a time of 46 seconds.

First place in the slalom went to Joan Ellis, Toronto Ski Club, in 41.4 seconds, closely followed by Peterborough's Mrs. Shirley Sackville with a time of 42.1 seconds. Another Toronto Ski Club skier, Louise Genest, made the slalom practically all Toronto winners with a third place time of 43.8 seconds.

Peterborough skiers, Miss Mary Dodds and Mrs. Matthews were fifth and sixth respectively.

Patsy J. Prevost edged Liz Perkins by four-tenths of a second for the junior downhill honors with a time of 29 seconds. A Toronto skier, Arlene Hastie, placed third with 32.9 seconds and Shirley Proctor, another Torontonian, fourth.

Miss Proctor swept the junior women's slalom edging Miss Prevost by three-tenths of a second with a time of 47.5 seconds. Liz Perkins was third in 50.6 seconds and Dot Todd, Hamilton Cedar Springs, fourth, in 52,5 seconds.

The summary:

Junior women— Downhill—P. Prevost, Camp Borden, 29 seconds; L. Perkins, Hamilton, 29.4; A. Hastie, Toronto 32.9; S. Proctor, Toronto, 36; D. Todd, Hamilton, 38.5; J. Townsend, Peterborough, 48 seconds; M. Perkins, Hamilton, 49.4.

Slalom—S. Proctor Toronto, 47.5; P. Prevost, Camp Borden, 47.8; L. Perkins, Hamilton, 50:6; D. Todd, Hamilton, 52.5; M. Prevost Camp Borden, 59.3; M. Perkins, Hamilton, 68; Joan Townsend, Peterborough, 69.

Senior women—Downhill—M. Craig, Peterborough, 44.6; B. Metcalfe Toronto, 46; J. Matthews, Peterborough, 48.4; C. Coutts, Toronto, 50.2; K. Forsyth, Toronto 50.6; L. Lindvick, Hamilton, 50.8; Louise Genest, Toronto, 51.8; Mary Dodds, Peterborough, 52.2; L. Bunting Toronto, 54.3; L. Ellis, Toronto, 76.5; J. Hallett, 70; S. Hambridge, Toronto, 73; P. Fulford, Toronto 84.3; B. Redfern, Toronto, 102.

Slalom — Joan Ellis, Toronto, 41.4; S. Sackville, Peterborough, 42.1; L. Genest, Toronto, 43.8; B. Metcalfe, Toronto, 46; M. Dodds, Peterborough, 47.8; J. Matthews, Peterborough, 51.2; L. Banting, Toronto, 51.2; P. Fulford, Toronto, 51.3; M. Craig, Peterborough, 51.3; J. Lindvick, Hamilton 52.2; K. Forsyth, Toronto, 52.8; K. Coutts, Toronto, 58.4; S. Hambridge, Toronto, 63.8; J. Hallett, 70.7; B. Redfern, Toronto, 73.9.

Toronto Stylist the Winner In Senior Ski Jumps To Thrill 1,000 At Nassau

Eric Kurle, Toronto Ski club, sailed with the grace and ease of a bird from the Nassau ski jump Saturday for leaps of 104 and 110 feet to win the Peterborough Ski Club's invitation senior men's jumping meet. More than 1,000 people, on both sides of the river were treated to the best ski jumping in Ontario as the province's top performers took part. This was actually a preview of the Ontario jumping championships which will be held next week.

Cars filled with spectators started to stream up Highway 28 at 1 p.m. Many chose the east bank of the river to sit and watch, but about 500 watched the jumps from the base of the hill.

Southern Ontario zone champion Kurt Kessler, Toronto Ski Club, started the jumps off with a perfect 100-foot leap and from therein the thrills were many.

Had The Style

Kurle's excellent long-distance jumps and his style won him the day's honors. For his advance to the lip of the jump, his take-off and his landing, Kurle received 48 points for the first and 51.7 for the second. When added to his distance mark he received 220 points.

Odd Michaelson's style was better than Kurle's but the University of Toronto student had shorter jumps of 103 and 94 feet to place him second with 216.2 points. Clark Munro, Toronto Ski Club, squeezed into third place with 209.1 points for jumps of 99 and 91 feet.

Kessler should have placed first and would have except for a fall on his second jump. Besides his first jump of 100 feet, he leaped for 121 feet on his second try but fell on the icy flats. That fall cost him style points and he placed four with 204.7 points.

Kessler's ability was shown in his final jump in the long-standing competition. Just as the crowd started to move home he thrilled them with a 125-foot jump and a perfect landing. This leap was only seven feet off the jump record.

Fifty-six-year-old Celius Skavass, well-known for his performance in jumping at Nassau in 1938-39, placed fifth with jumps of 102 and 105 feet. The next oldest, Peterborough's Chris Olsen, jumped 85 and 86 feet.

Won Club Title

Ab Vass, who placed sixth, won the Peterborough club championship with his jumps of 89 and 87 feet. He received style points of 47 and 45 for 193.6. His closest rivals were Olsen with 182.9 points and Dave Johnson with 182.4.

Conditions for jumping were only fair. During the first half the jumpers' enemy, a snowstorm, hampered the eyesight while at the bottom on the flats, the landings were slippery on the icy snow. Despite the hard-packed surface there were only nine falls, none serious.

The icy flats provided thrills for the crowd and scares for the jumpers. Several times the skiers came within a few feet of sliding into the icy river water.

Summary—Eric Kurle, Toronto Ski Club, 220 points; Odd Michaelson, U. of T., 216.2; Clark Munro, T.S.C., 209.1; Kurt Kessler, T.S.C., 204.7; Celius Skavass, T.S.C., 204.5; Ab Vass, Peterborough S.C., 193.6; J. Torswick, Hamilton, 187.3; D. Prysinski, Hamilton, 185.4; H. Godding, U.ofT., 183.8; C. Olsen, Peterborough, 182.9; Dave Johnson, Peterborough, 182.4; B. Pipher, Oshawa, 181.2; H. Heddle, Hamilton, 181.1; B. Clarke, T.S.C., 180.7; O. Friele, U. of T., 177.3 Ian Blaiklock, Peterborough, 175.2; H. Greaaker, U. of T., 171.8; J. Myhre, U. of T., 169.2; Gary Braund, Peterborough, 155.8.

Player Clouts Ref Crombie

STOUFFVILLE, Feb. 11 — A berserk display by Bud McIver of Orillia featured the OHA Senior B game here Saturday night between Orillia and Stouffville. Stouffville won, 9-1.

The first period had just started when McIver was given a two-minute penalty for boarding by refree Jim Crombie. McIver took exception to the penalty and hit Crombie with his stick. It required players of both sides to hold McIver in check. Crombie made the penalty a match and threw McIver out of the game.

McIver threw his stick into the fans when they booed him as he headed for the dressing room. In the passageway he became embroiled with fans and police assistance was required to break up the melee.

Crombie is a well known refree in Peterborough.

Dr. R. Clark's rink of V. Brown, K. Bissett, and B. Harrison defeated an Agincourt rink 13-7 at Lindsay on Saturday night in the British Consols competition, and they will now go to Toronto Granite Club Thursday to compete with seven other district winners. We join with all members in wishing them the very best.

Our ladies' curling club is represented by three rinks at the Oshawa curling bonspiel today. The rinks are skipped by Mrs. O. M. Steer, Mrs. F. Hall, and Mrs. E. Northey.

The Seagram Trophy won recently by Dr. Clark's rink at the Quebec City bonspiel, arrived here on Friday. It's a beautiful trophy of the tankard style.

Winning skips Saturday afternoon: R. Williamson, A. Ingram, and T. Ryan. At night: C. Lawrence and F. Stenson.

Mark Train says: "Have a place for everything and keep the thing somewhere else. This is not a piece of advice; it is merely a custom."

Lakefield Boys Win

KEENE, Feb. 11 (ENS).—On Thursday night at Keene the Lakefield midgets downed Keene 6-4. J. Pue and Wasson led the winners with two goals each. Heffernan and Pratt got singles. Bethune led the losers with three goals. McCarthy got the other and assisted Bethune on one.

The four penalties were evenly divided. Lineup:

Lakefield: Goal, Wingette; defence, Pratt, Burger, Murphy; forwards, Wasson, Darling, McCracken, J. Pue, Heffernan, Downs, Hinton, Hill.

Keene: Goal, J. Lang; defence, Shelton, Colby, Whalen; forwards, Elmhirst, McCarthy, Bethune, Renwick, Edwards, Fitzgerald, Jack Steele, Joe Steele, D. Shearer, Scriver.

P.C.V.S. Cagers Take Pair In Close Frays

Contenders for the Toronto high schools' cage championship, undefeated Riverdale Collegiate's senior cagers fell to the Senior "A" giant-killers from P.C.V.S. 59-57 in the Garnet and Grey gym in a Saturday exhibition game.

In the preliminary, the Garnet and Grey juniors had to overcome a 10-point deficit to defeat Port Hope high seniors 46-44 in the first close shave of the evening.

After the Riverdale-P.C.V.S. game, Coach Bev Goulding said, Riverdale was no pushover; if there was a return game we'd have our hands full."

The Toronto cagers went undefeated this season through their district schedule and this week are entering the city quarter-finals against Northern Vocational.

Excellent shooters, Riverdale jumped to an early lead which saw P.C.V.S. in the game only on the strength of foul shots. The Torontonians carried a 16-9 lead at the first quarter but gradually began to slip in the second when P.C.V.S. began to rally. They were down 30-24 at the half.

Kept Possession

From therein it was a matter of catching up and taking the lead. The last 35 seconds were hectic for collegiate fans as P.C.V.S. were trying to keep possession. They lost it once on a violation and later waived a foul shot to hold the ball for the slim win.

The closeness made the game rough, especially on body contacts under both hoops. In the last quarter P.C.V.S. had numerous breakaways but were chopped down.

The personal fouls played havoc with the Riverdale quintet who lost three top men, Johnston, Grey and Hainey. This left them a man short late in the game and permission was given by P.C.V.S. to allow one man to return. Grafstein was lost to P.C.V.S. by the fouls route.

Dave Langhorne topped the scoring with 16 points, closely followed by Bryan Young with 14 and Don Ash with 10. But the game's honors went to Bruce and Grey of Riverdale, each holling up 18-point efforts.

The large floor and a determined P.C.V.S. junior "A" quintet were too much for Port Hope's senior cagers who appeared at first quite capable of matching the local senior "A" power.

The lakeshore cagers started out by running over the Garnet and Grey 12-9 in the first quarter and then held their 10-point leads in the second before the homesters began to fly. They whittled the lead to five points, 23-14, at the half. The local quintet then went on to take the lead 30-29 at the third and the win in the last.

Bob Boorman topped previous performances with a 16-point scoring spree for P.C.V.S. while Dan Griffin produced his normal 14 points. Trawin for the Ports sent in 17 points and Jordan 13.

Lineups, first game:

P.C.V.S. Junior "A"—Armstrong 1, Corbett 6, Allen 4, Griffin 14, Marshall, Roberts 3, Eastwood, Boorman 16, Burgess, Carleton 4.

Port Hope Seniors — Ross 3, Jordan 2, Lenahan 5, Trawin 17, McFarlane, Welde, Sisson, Gordon, Anderson.

Second game:

P.C.V.S. Senior "A"—Ash 10, Hendry, Young 14, Grafstein 5, Hempstead 3, Brown 9, Langhorne 16, Cranfield.

Toronto Riverdale — Bruce 18, Johnston 3, Grey 18, Barber 6, Stewart 8, Hainey 4, Shapiro.

Marines Rub Out the Glens In Two Straight Frays To Advance In O.A.B.A. Play

Coach Gord McIntyre's Marines stepped into the Ontario intermediate basketball playdowns Saturday night when they drubbed the Belleville Glen Roys 67 - 45 for their second successive win in the best of three series for the Bay of Quinte League title. The Marines and Glens finished the season with eight wins and two losses and a flip of the coin gave Marines two home games in the best of three series. They won't need the third game.

Who the Marines' next opponents will be is not known. But Saturday night the Belleville cagers said that the opposition will likely be Brockville or Queen's University from the other section of Eastern Ontario.

Had Reserves

A powerful reserve of player strength for Marines was the deciding factor in the series. Saturday at the "Y," only Summers, Ketcheson and Muirhead could score for Glens and these players were bushed by the fast pass in the third quarter.

Meanwhile, Marines seemed to be just getting started, probably because they changed at regular intervals throughout the game. Their alternates were as strong as Belleville's best and that factor gave Marines the win.

Both teams relied upon a man-to-man defence and this resulted in fast, rough play up to the half. Not until late in the second quarter could Glens break Marines' stiff defence, keeping up to the locals before that with long field baskets.

But Marines opened with a stronger defence in the second and a quick break up the floor. After a series of these attacks the Glens tired and Marines from there in seemed to drift in close at will.

To try to stop Marines' offensive, Glens switched to a zone defence late in the fourth but the Peterborough cagers didn't let that bother them. They still scored at will.

Lots Of Fouls

The man-to-man defence and the small floor resulted in many personal fouls, 19 called on Glens and 22 on Marines. But no one was ousted, although Joe Stewart, Doug McPherson, Gord Burns, all of Marines, and Summers and Ketcheson of the Glens had four fouls each. Ketcheson meanwhile had 10 foul shots, making seven good, while Burns had four for four, and Joe Stewart four for five for Marines.

Chum Gillespie, Doug McPherson and Gord Burns all turned in fine performances, especially in the first half when the trio dropped in long field scores to keep Marines up. They also were strong on the defence.

Ab Stewart with brother Joe were the offensive guns for Marines in the second half, Ab dropping in 11 points during the game, the baskets usually coming when needed. Hugh Dibben, who was concentrating on rebounds until the last quarter, stood out and then went on a rampage in the final session for 10 points.

Batchelor was the outstanding player for Glens throughout the game with one-hand key-hole shots and under-the-basket work. Ketcheson, with long shots and foul points, and Summers with a variety of shots in the fourth were other Glen stars.

Lineups:

Marines (67) — Dibben 14, Thompson 2, Payne 10, A. Stewart 11, J. Stewart 8, Smith 2, Trimm 1, McPherson 5, Gillespie 8, Grafstein, Burns 6, Dadson.

Belleville (45)—Page 1, Summers 11, Muirhead 2, Watson, Dudley 2, Hayman, Batchelor 12, Kane, Ketcheson 11, Garrow 4, Soules 2.

Belleville Trips Kingston 5-2 In Junior "B"

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 11—Before an "Oldtimers' Night" crowd of 1,962, the Belleville Hawks defeated the cellar-dwelling Kingston Vics, 5-2, here Saturday night in an O.H.A. junior "B" fixture in the Belleville Memorial Arena.

The Hawks took a commanding 4-0 margin in the first period and were never threatened. The visitors scored the only goal of the middle stanza and then each team tallied once in the final 20 minutes.

Bill Strahan led the attack for the winners with two goals and as many assists, while Hec LaLaLnde earned three assists, Johnny Monroe and George Jacklin were each credited with a goal and an assist, while Pete Green got the odd one. Jerry Montgomery and Maurice Chevrefils were the Kingston marksmen.

Between the first and second periods former Belleville hockey stars, dating as far back as 1915, showed their wares as the "whiskers" and the "wrinkles" battled to a 3-3 deadlock.

O.M.H.A. Playoffs

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association today announced the first round playdown draw for the Juvenile A, Midget A, and Bantam A series. All series will be home and home, total goals to count, and must be completed not later than February 23.

Maple Leafs Come Through Take 2 Weekend Tilts; Wings Blank Boston 2-0

By The Canadian Press

Toronto Maple Leafs came through a tough National Hockey League weekend with flying colors, picking up two important wins at the expense of Montreal Canadiens and New York Rangers. Edging the Canadiens 3-2 Saturday night in Toronto, the Leafs continued their winning ways with a 4-3 Sunday victory over the Rangers at New York. The double win moved the runner-up Maple Leafs a game closer to the league-leading Detroit Red Wings and three points out in front of third-place Montreal.

The Wings clinched a 2-0 victory over the fourth-place Bruins Sunday night at Boston, but it was their only game of the weekend. The Canadians, after bowing at Toronto Saturday, managed to edge the tail-end Black Hawks 3-2 in a Sunday matinee at Chicago.

Saturday night's other game saw fifth place New York pull to within two points of the Bruins with a 4-2 tussle played in Boston. Both clubs fighting fiercely over the fourth and last playoff spot, dropped their Sunday tilts.

Armstrong Clicks

Rookie George Armstrong, just up from the Leafs' American Hockey League farm, Pittsburgh Hornets, gave Toronto its winning edge Saturday.

Billy Reay gave Montreal a first period lead when his team had a two man edge. Then Howie Meeker put the Leafs out in front with two second period goals.

Elmer Lach of Montreal tallied the game's only other goal midway through the final session.

In the other Saturday clash, New York Rangers exploded for three goals within 64 seconds midway through the first period to clinch their 4-2 victory over the Bruins at Boston.

Eddie Kullman, Ed Slowinski and Reggie Sinclair banged in the big three while Jim Ross added the other late in the opening session. The goals nipped goalie Jim Henry's string to 150 minutes and 36 seconds of scoreless play.

Dave Creighton and Bill Quackenbush scored for Boston.

Rookies Score

At the Chicago matinee, Montreal's rookies again led the way with Dickie Moore, Paul Meger and Bernie Geoffrion scoring the Habs' three goals. Bill Mosienko and Sid Finney saved the Hawks from a shutout with third period markers.

Terry Sawchuk chalked up his 11th shutout of the season last night at Boston when the Red Wings blanked the Bruins 2-0. Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay were the Detroit marksmen.

Syd Smith and Max Bentley tallied twice each last night for Toronto's 4-3 win in New York.

Ed Slowinski scored three goals for the Rangers, but Smith's second goal—at 11:51 of the final stanza—proved to be the winning one.

No games are scheduled tonight or Tuesday in the N.H.L. but two are on slate Wednesday. Detroit is at Toronto while Boston plays in New York.

Hornets Blank Capitals 2-0

By The Canadian Press.

Pittsburgh Hornets and Hershey Bears continue to maintain wide leads atop the western and eastern divisions of the American Hockey League.

Pittsburgh blanked Indianapolis Capitals 2-0 Saturday and was inactive Sunday while Hershey split a weekend doubleheader, dropping a 7-3 decision to Providensce Reds Saturday and winning 4-2 against the same team on Sunday.

In other Sunday games, Syracuse shaded Buffalo 5-4, Indianapolis outscored St. Louis 6-3 and Cleveland and Cincinnati played to a 1-1 deadlock.

Saturday, it was Cleveland 5, Syracuse 2; St. Louis 6, Buffalo 2.

Stack Resumes Training For Olympics

By JACK SULLIVAN.

OSLO, Norway, Feb. 11 (CP).—Speed-skater Frank Stack of Winnipeg put on his skates Sunday and resumed training after a torn cartilage in his left knee kept him out of action for two weeks.

The 46-year-old veteran reported his knee was "not bad" and he hoped it would stand up for the winter Olympics starting on Thursday.

That was the best news for the Canadian team. Last week a doctor examined the injured knee and said it was extremely doubtful Stack would be able to compete in the Olympic 500 and 1,500 metre races in which he is entered.

The four-time Canadian champion and one of Canada's greatest skaters resumed his practice at Lillehammer, about 70 miles north of Oslo. He is due in Oslo today and will have his knee examined by a doctor.

Tough Conditions

Meanwhile, the Alpine skiers at Norefjell, about 130 miles northwest of Oslo, reported conditions "really tough" with no snow on the course and rocks jutting up from the ground, making the going dangerous.

The Norwegians are packing snow on the giant slalom and downhill courses but Franz Gabl, coach of the Canadian women's team, said it is almost impossible to put the courses in shape before the opening of the games.

The figure skaters are out early and practicing more than five hours daily at Bislett and Jordal Amfi Stadiums in the central section of the city and also on the rink near Sogn, the Olympic headquarters in suburban Oslo.

The Canadian figure-skating was complete with the arrival of Toronto's Susan Morrow from a five-week tour of Germany and Austria.

Weekend Stars

Howie Meeker, of the Toronto Maple Leafs who Saturday scored twice within six seconds to set up the Leafs for a 3-2 victory over Montreal Canadiens.

Goalie Terry Sawchuk of Detroit who chalked up his 11th shutout as Wings downed Boston Bruins 2-0 Sunday.

Syd Smith and Max Bentley of Toronto who each tallied twice to give Leafs a 4-3 victory over New York Rangers Sunday.

Ed Slowinski, New York, who scored his team's three goals on Sunday.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

England's Olympic hockey team with Winnipeg's Jimmy Foster playing a brilliant game in goal rocked the sports world 16 years ago today by defeating Canada 2-1 in the final game of the Winter Olympics hockey tournament at Garmisch-Partenkirchen. That was the only time Canada was beaten for the title since the winter games were established in 1924.

Drama Festivals Begun By Lord Bessborough, 1935

For the first time since the Dominion Drama Festival was incorporated by Royal Charter in 1935, Peterborough is having the honor—and responsibility—of being a Festival centre. The Festival's importance is recognized by civic and industrial officers, as well as by others with a special interest in the dramatic arts.

The Board of Education has made the Collegiate auditorium available to the Festival committee for the last week of February. A civic welcome is planned at the opening of the Festival, Tuesday, February 26; and visiting companies of actors are to be feted by the City on the final evening, Saturday, March 1.

Three industries in the city have co-operated to advertise the details of the Festival. The Canadian General Electric Company, the Outboard Marine, and the Quaker Oats Company have inserted the half-page advertisement which appears in today's paper.

The Eastern Ontario Drama Festival being held in Peterborough is one of thirteen Regional Festival of the Dominion Drama Festival being held across the country from January 14th (British Columbia) to March 22nd (Newfoundland). The best productions from these Regional Festivals may be invited to take part in the final festival being held this year at Saint John, N.B. April 28th to May 3rd. Each province has one Festival, lasting from two to six days, depending on the entries; and the more populous ones are divided: Quebec has two, Ontario three (Eastern, Central and Western).

To judge the festival entries impartially, each year a distinguished critic and man of the theatre is brought to Canada. Usually it is an Englishman, for very few American critics are capable of judging plays in both French and English.

Adjudicators From England

This year the regional adjudicator is Pierre Le Fevre, who was born in New York of French parents, and was educated in England and France. He is a permanent resident of England, a drama critic and producer, and has played with the Old Vic company.

For the final Festival another adjudicator is brought out to Canada especially to judge its entries, and thus further to ensure the impartiality of the adjudication. He will see afresh those plays already chosen as best in Regional festivals by Mr. Le Fevre.

At the final Festival, this year at St. John, the Bessborough Challenge Trophy, the gift of the Earl of Bessborough, former Governor-General and Founder of the Festival, is awarded for the best presentation of a full length play, in English or French.

The Eastern Ontario Drama Festival taking place in Peterborough from Tuesday February 26 to Saturday March 1 will not only be a feast of plays, ten of them. It will not only be an opportunity to view four full-length plays and six one-acters, and to see some of the best companies in Eastern Canada perform. It is also an occasion for people to hear expert criticism of the plays and actors immediately after each performance.

Adjudication A Highlight

It is the adjudication which distinguishes a Festival from just a whole week of plays. Mr. Le Fevre will appear on the stage after the final curtain each evening and tell actors, producers and audience what his expert eye, ear and professional mind judge to be good and bad.

The adjudicator's criticisms are so frank and honest and penetrating that they sometimes do not seem kind. However, the chief reason companies enter Festivals is to have their work appraised by an expert. From the audience's point of view, the adjudication may be the highlight of the evening.

Most adjudicators, like Mr. Le Fevre, are themselves actors. They can present the criticisms and praise so vividly that the adjudication is itself a stage show: informative, witty and great fun.

For many weeks a Festival committee has been at work in Peterborough. Headed By R. J. Bolton, some twenty members and assistants have been arranging the complex details of the Festival—securing hotel accommodation, lining up stage props and settings, attending to the various lighting requirements of the plays; devising programs, after-show entertainment for the players; arranging for the sale of tickets.

All told it is a very large endeavor.

Mark Anniversary Of Border "Feud"

KENORA, Ont. (CP)—This year is the 60th anniversary of a legal argument over the Ontario-Manitoba provincial boundary and Kenora, centre of the old dispute, plans a double birthday to celebrate the event.

Formerly known as Rat Portage, the town was incorporated as a Manitoba town in 1882. Ontario disputed the claim and in 1892 the judicial committee of the Privy Council ruled that the town rightfully came under Ontario government jurisdiction.

Thus this northwestern Ontario town marks its 60th anniversary as Rat Portage, Man., and Kenora, Ont. There is plenty of ammunition for a colorful celebration.

At one period in its tangled ancestry, the two had two police forces—one from each province. In 1883, Manitoba sent a small "army" to keep order during the elections.

The town originally got the name of Rat Portage from the muskrat. In 1905 the town's name was changed to Kenora which the residents thought more dignified, using the first two letters of the names Keewatin, Norman, and Rat Portage.

NEW ROLE — Actor John Buckmaster has his hands cuffed behind him and a broom across the chair to restrain him as he is held in a New York police station. The English star, who played the Dauphin in Shaw's "St. Joan," was arraigned on assault charges after he was arrested for molesting women and brandishing knives on the street.

27 Warnings Issued To Owners Of Animals

Humane Inspector Bruce Menzies reported at the monthly meeting of the society held last week that during January he had issued 27 warnings to owners of animals. He had also been able to return 17 dogs to their owners and had found homes for eight cats. There were 35 cats and 63 dogs humanely destroyed and 33 dead dogs and 21 dead cats picked up. Twenty-two stray cats and 17 stray dogs were also taken in by the inspector. During the month four out of town trips to investigate reported cruelty to animals were made.

HERE'S HOWE—Michael Howe of the Hamilton Cedar Springs Ski Club with brother, Peter, gave Southern Ontario junior skiers a lesson in skiing over the weekend. Michael won championships in the cross-country, jumping and slalom while Peter won the downhill. With a determined look (top left) Michael flies into the air off the junior jump for a distance of 52 feet on his second jump. Andrew Beer, Toronto Ski Club (top right), yells: "How's my time?" as he crosses the cross-country finish line at Kemp's hill. But Michael Howe (lower left) just 53 seconds later swished across the line for first place.—(Examiner Staff Photos)

Development Road Work To Be Resumed By Province

As soon as the spring breakup is over the department of highways will resume work on the four development roads they have taken over in Peterborough county.

Last year they spent $45,000 on development roads in the county but there is no budget yet drawn up for this year. It will depend on the amount of work to be done and the amount of money available from the department.

Work has been stopped during the winter months.

About a mile remains still to be done of the Clear Lake road. It is a seven mile stretch running from Highway 28 (a mile or so south of Young's Point) along the Clear Lake shoreline to McCracken's Landing.

The unfinished mile is at the McCracken's Landing end. There must still be some sections cut out of the rock and this will mean drilling and excavation. Finally, the surface must be graded and gravelled.

Delayed By Dispute

Work was stopped for a time during last summer when a dispute arose as to the route the road would take on the final leg between Bryson's Landing and McCracken's. Cottagers objected to their private road being used, claiming it would damage their property.

A couple of other routes were considered. But finally the department approved a route that runs over the cliff area and comes out on the main road into McCracken's, somewhere about the loghouse of Dick Crowe, at the top of the second hill.

Work should be completed by early summer.

The 29-mile road between Havelock and Lasswade is also in its last stages and should be finished this summer.

Light Grading Yet

A crushed gravel surface has been put on the first 12 miles, the most heavily travelled portion. Work remaining consists mainly of light grading and gravelling.

A quarter-mile diversion has still to be completed as well.

Construction of the 20-mile Church-Line road in Galway-Cavendish townships will be continued this spring. Some grading has been done but the road must be widened. A bridge was also built by the department.

The fourth developemnt road is the six-mile stretch between the Chandos post office and Glen Alda. Part of the road just needs widening, grading and gravelling; but the last two miles is only an old lumber trail on which the township owns the right of way.

Some rock cutting has already been done.

Departmental officials are making no promises on how much will be done on the Church-Line and Glen Alda roads. This year they are purse conscious.

All but the Clear Lake road have 66 foot right of ways and are 24 feet wide. In some parts, the Clear Lake road is only 20 feet wide. That is thought sufficient for the amount of motor traffic on it.

When the improvements are finished the department will hand these four roads back to the municipalities to maintain.

Hamilton Brothers Clean Up In Weekend Ski Meet

A Hamilton brother team, Michael and Peter Howe, from Cedar Springs Ski Club, over the weekend gave Southern Ontario junior skiers a lesson on how skiing should be done. Michael was the main teacher as he won the Southern Ontario junior boys cross-country, the jumping and the slalom championships, while his brother, Peter, won the downhill in easy fashion.

Saturday Michael won the cross-country held at Kemp's hill. Through fields, over fences, through muddy patches, through bush, up and down hills he finished the three-mile run in 23 minutes, 10 seconds.

The fourth to leave (each contestant left at minute intervals). Howe finished only one minute after the first man out, Andrew Beer, Toronto Ski club, finished. The Hungarian-born skier placed second with a time of 25:15 minutes.

Third place in the cross-country fell to Peterborough skier, Dennis Hale, in 26 minutes, 10 seconds, making his debut in skiing competitions. Fourth place went to David Palmateer, Toronto Ski club, and fifth to Robin Collins, Peterborough Ski club.

Wins Jumping

Three hours later Michael Howe won the junior jumping championship with a total of 144.2 points for jumps of 50 and 52 feet. For his style on advancing to the lip, the take-off and landing he received 28 and 34.5 points.

Palmateer placed second with jumps of 52 and 43 feet for a total of 143.1 points, Andy Beer third with 135.2 and John Todd, Hamilton Cedar Springs, fourth with 116.2.

The 15-year-old skier raced to his third championship at Bethany Sunday when he bettered his brother Pete's time in the slalom by a minute. Michael finished the difficult course in 37 seconds while Peter's time was 38.1 seconds.

Arnold Coheen, Toronto Ski club, placed third in 40.2 seconds while Cedar Springs club members, Tim and John Todd were fourth and fifth. Peterborough slalom competitors were well off the pace, Ross Dobbin completing the course in 61.7 seconds and Pete Ashby in 125 seconds.

Brother Wins

But brother Peter swept the fourth event, the downhill, a hard course 1,300 feet long, with a vertical drop of 265 feet. His time was the best for the afternoon, dashing through the snow in 36.2 seconds.

Michael was not far off the mark, finishing second with a time of 38 seconds while Bob Crossan, Hamilton, was third in 38.2 seconds and Arnold Coheen, Toronto Ski Club, fourth in 39.8 seconds. No one from Peterborough was in this race.

Summary

Downhill—Pete Howe, Hamilton, 36.2 seconds; M. Howe, Hamilton, 38; Bob Crossan, Hamilton, 38.2; Arnold Coheen, Toronto, 39.8; Paul Baker, Toronto, 43; Andy Beer, Toronto, 44.2; Dave Palmateer, Toronto, 46; John Todd, Hamilton, 46.5; Ron Richards, Oshawa, 48.2; George Wilson, Oshawa, 49; Bob Lamont, Toronto, 58.9; John Peaker, Toronto, 62.8.

Slalom—M. No Inquest Held Into Death Of R. S. Staples

There will be no inquest into the death of Robert Sherwood Staples, 39, 304 Brock St., who was found unconscious in a parked car early Saturday morning, Coroner H. G. Carleton said today.

Staples was taken to hospital and pronounced dead at 3:35 a.m. Saturday after he was found unconscious by a policeman at the rear of 219½ Hunter St. Constable John Conlin saw the car motor was running while patrolling his beat shortly before 2 a.m. and investigated.

Efforts of both the constable and later city firemen failed to revive Staples, and he was taken to hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Mr. Staples was born in Ontario, son of Robert Staples and Sadie MacDonald of Toronto, and has lived in Peterborough for one year. Formerly he lived in Campbellford.

He was a presser at Jardine's cleaners and an adherent of the Baptist church.

He leaves two brothers, W. Staples and H. S. Staples, both of Campbellford, and one sister, Mrs. Norma A. Staples of Toronto.

The funeral will be held from the Kaye funeral home to the Ralph Day funeral home, Danforth Ave., Toronto, for service at 1:30 p.m., Tuesday. Burial will be in Park Lawn Cemetery.

R.C.A.F. Seeking Recruits In City

Flight Lieutenant J. W. Matthews of Toronto will hold the R.C.A.F.'s first recruiting drive in the Peterborough district this year Tuesday and Wednesday at the armouries.

The air force recruited twice in Peterborough during the fall and in October had almost 100 contacts, a large number of these people entering the air force. Outside the Toronto district, the Peterborough area is the most productive for actual strength in Ontario.

This will be the second time in Peterborough that women have been recruited for service since the war years. They will be enlisted for many technical trades, but must be between the age of 18 and 30 with Grade 10 education. Veterans of any services will receive special consideration.

At the armouries Flight-Lieut. Matthews will interview applicants who will later be sent to Toronto for aptitude tests and medical examinations.

There are opening in most of the groundcrew trades for men between 17 and 40 who have a minimum of Grade 8 education. The aircrew recruits must have junior matriculation and be between 18 and 25.

Wishful Thinking

Can this be March weather we're having? Today has been mild with snow flurries from time to time, but the temperature at 9 a.m. was 34 and even though it dropped two degrees, the snow still didn't stay around long. We're having strong winds that are usually March's fare. It all seems like March, doesn't it? And if we're having March weather now, will we have April weather in March, and May weather and so on? Whew! It's hot for June, isn't it?

Three Injured In Crash At Fraserville

Two Peterborough men are in Civic hospital and a third is recovering at home from injuries received Saturday noon in a two-car crash, a quarter of a mile south of Fraserville on Highway 28.

Munro Cameron, 24, of 444 Dublin St., has a lacerated forehead and facial cuts.

John Jupp, 34, Juliet Rd., is also in hospital with an injured knee and cuts and bruises.

Treated by Dr. Bob Young and now resting at home is 26-year-old Ernest R. Ferren, 511 Cross St., Peterborough taxi driver.

The accident was on a straight stretch of highway, a quarter of a mile south of Fraserville.

Skidded on Ice

Ferren, who was driving back to Peterborough from Port Hope, hit a patch of ice and the rear end of his taxi swung out to the left. A southbound car driven by Jupp collided with the left side of the taxi which was knocked into the west ditch.

Both new-model cars were wrecked.

Jupp and his passenger, Cameron, were taken to hospital and are still there. Ferren received medical attention at the clinic.

Provincial Police from Cobourg are investigating the accident.

Special Services For King, Churches Filled

Capacity congregations attended special commemoration services for the late King George VI in city churches Sunday.

Sermons were based on the King's life of service both to his country and the world and special prayers were said for the Royal family and the new Queen, Elizabeth II. God Save the Queen was sung at the majority of the services.

Miserere—the psalm of mourning was sung following the morning mass in all the Roman Catholic churches in the diocese.

The commemoration services were held at the following Protestant churches: George St. United, Knox United, St. Andrew's United, St. James' United, Trinity United, Mark St. United, St. Paul's Presbyterian, Murray St. Baptist, Park St. Alliance, All Saints' Anglican, St. George's Anglican.

Struck By Car Youth Later Dies

Struck by a car Friday night on Highway 7 in Havelock, Raymond Gray, 19, of Marmora, died Sunday morning in hospital here. Police Chief Robert Hall of Havelock said today no charges would be laid against driver of the car, Andrew B. Coucher of Ottawa.

Raymond Gray

Gray was struck while crossing the highway and thrown 15 feet against a snow bank. He had head injuries, a broken right leg and injuries to his right arm.

Industries, Stores Open On Day Of Funeral, Observe 2 Minutes' Silence

Representatives In City Decide Not To Close Down; Banks, Gov't Buildings, Courts Close

Peterborough industries and retail stores will not close Friday on the national day of mourning for the death of King George VI. Instead they will hold a two minutes' silence in tribute to the late Monarch. At a meeting of industrial and retail establishments called today by the Chamber of Commerce it was decided not to shut down. But there is this proviso: There may be a last-minute change in plans, directed by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. The CMA is now making a survey across the dominion and it is just possible that, as a result of this survey, they will ask for a complete shutdown. These instructions could come as late as Wednesday, James Fraser, manager of the Peterborough Chamber of Commerce, said today.

As things stand at the moment it appears that factories and downtown stores will be doing business as usual, with a two-minute silence observed at 11 a.m. Banks, government buildings and the courts will not be open.

The liquor store and the two brewers' retail stores will be closed. Local hotels have not yet received official word on whether or not they will be open.

Schools Close

The Department of Education have ordered all schools in the province closed for the day. Commemoration services are being held in both public and separate schools on Thursday.

Motion pictures theatres will not be open during the afternoon but there will be evening shows. The Motion Picture Industry Council of Canada requested its 2,000 member theatres not to open till 6 p.m. on the day of the king's funeral.

Sports events have either been cancelled altogether or postponed.

There will be no civic service in passing tribute to King George.

No Civic Declaration

Mayor Hugh Waddell said today that council felt it would be better for individual groups to make their own arrangements for commemoration services. Civic officials didn't want to arrange anything that would conflict with existing plans—particularly services in churches.

"If it had been summertime we might have held an outside service," said the mayor, "but as it is we have not a large enough. In Toronto they have Maple Leaf Gardens."

Mayor Waddell said it was not necessary for the city to issue a proclamation declaring Friday a day of mourning. The federal proclamation was sufficient.

Two Directives

The issue of whether to close or not has been confused by two directives.

Last Friday the Canadian government issued a proclamation declaring Feb. 15 a public holiday to be observed by all Canadians "as a day of mourning." That decision was reached before Queen Elizabeth II requested that the funeral of the late king should be observed with two minutes' silence and there should be no general suspension of work and closing of schools.

The federal government is unlikely to change its original plans because of this.

A Canadian government spokesman said the British decision stemmed from the fact that Britain cannot afford even a day's lag in vital production.

In Sault Ste. Marie confusion reigns.

After the federal government's proclamation everyone presumed that all offices, stores and public buildings would be closed. Then civic officials said that the ruling applied only to banks, courts and federal buildings.

But bank officials claim they can't close unless the mayor declares a civic holiday. The mayor thinks that the federal proclamation is sufficient.

Mother's Instinct Saves Baby From Burning

An 18-month old baby boy was saved from a fiery death in his blazing crib Sunday morning by his mother's premonition that her baby was in danger.

When she awoke from a sound sleep at 3 a.m., Mrs. Roy Tripp, 147 London St. had a feeling something was wrong. Detecting the smell of smoke, she rushed into the room where baby Brian and her five-month old twin daughters were sleeping.

The blankets on Brian's crib were afire. Snatching the baby from the bed, she roused her 22-year-old husband. Mr. Tripp attempted to beat out the flames with his hands, but seeing they were too much for him, he called a neighbour, Don Natley, who lives up stairs.

The two men used water on the fire and had it out when firemen arrived a few minutes later.

Brian was taken to hospital and given first aid treatment by Dr. Leslie Calvert. Dr. Calvert said the baby suffered only slight burns on his left hand.

An electric tea kettle is blamed for igniting the blaze. Brian had a bad case of croup, and the kettle was plugged into a socket near his bed, to keep the air moist so he could breathe easier. Apparently the cord became overheated and became so hot, the blankets which it was touching ignited.

An estimated $200 damage was caused by the fire.

Canadians First Of Troops To Take Oath

By ROWLAND GOULD.

WITH THE COMMONWEALTH DIVISION IN KOREA, Feb. 11 — (Reuters). — Canadian officers, standing stiffly at attention in the Korean cold, were the first in the British Commonweauth Division to swear allegiance to Queen Elizabeth II.

Brig.-Gen, J. M. Rockingham, commander of Canada's 25th Brigade, administered the new oath Friday to Lt.-Col. K. A. G. Vallee of Montreal, commander of the French-speaking Second Battalion, Royal 22nd Regiment.

At the battalion tactical headquarters, Vallée declared:

"I do solemnly swear allegiance to Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth II. . . ."

Vallee took the oath in English, but many of the 41 officers of his Van Doo battalion reepated it in French. The French-Canadian officers, standing bareheaded but bundled in parkas, each held a Bible.

Before swearing in the Van Doos, Rockingham took his personal oath before Lt.-Col. Norman Wilson Smith, commanding officer of the Princess Patricia's Light Infantry and senior commander of the Brigade.

Others Swear Allegiance

RRockingham administered the oath Saturday to other Canadian regiments and tank artillery units. He authorized Major W. H. Ball, commanding the Royal Canadian Engineers, to swear in officers of scattered Engineer units. The late King was colonel-in-chief of the 22nd Regiment and the Canadian Engineers.

. . Vallee, in a personal message of sympathy to the Queen-Mother on behalf of his regiment, expressed "deep grief" and offered Her Majesty "our heartfelt sympathy." His message also pledged "unshaken loyalty" to the new Queen.

Regimental officers said they hoped Queen Elizabeth II. would become colonel-in-chief of the Van Doos, but realized there was much protocol involved.

2 Minor Roles Win Praise

HALIFAX, Feb. 11 (CP)—Their performances in minor roles brought acting awards to an 18-year-old Halifax girl and an Ontario-born navy man as the Nova Scotia Regional Drama Festival ended here Saturday.

Douglas Cooke, 25-year-old chief petty officer from Windsor, who is in the naval air service, took the award for top performance by an actor for his role as a bumbling but well-meaning Englishman in the suspense thriller "Grand National Night" by Dorothy and Campbell Christie.

Raven-haired Anna MacCormack gave the best performance by an actress in her portrayal of an amorous Hoyden from Boston in the festival winning production of "Second Threshold" staged by the Halifax Theatre Arts Guild.

Adudicator Pierre LeFevre termed her performance "a very excellent and real piece of acting."

Of the festival-wining play, written by Phillip Barry and produced a year ago on Broadway, Mr. LeFevre said: "The all-round level of acting and visual impression was as highly polished as one could have wished."

Robbers Flee

TORONTO, Feb. 11 (CP)—Mrs. Herbert Smith threw an empty milk bottle and a flower pot from an apartment kitchen window to rout two masked robbers she saw attacking her 55-year-old husband Saturday night. But the thieves fled with a cardboard box containing $50 in cash and the business accounts for the Canada Thrift Groceteria, which Mr. Smith owns.

Use Trawler, Rowboat To Give Proclamation

SARK, Channel Islands, Feb. 11 (Reuters)—By plane, by fishing trawler and finally by rowboat, the proclamation of Elizabeth II, as Queen of England—and Duchess of Normandy—reached this surf-bound islet Saturday.

The rowboat had to complete the delivery because the fishing vessel went aground just off the rockbound pier.

More Production Needed CMA Head Says

TORONTO, Feb. 11 — (CP) — Canadians must produce more and spend less if they are to meet the threats of further inflation and higher prices, Hugh Crombie, president of the Canadian Manufactruers' Association, said today.

"The defence effort," he stated in an address to the annual conference of the Canadian Retail Federation, "has to be achieved in a time of relatively full employment.

"The normal average increase in man-hour productivity is not sufficient to take care of added production requirements. Either the working force or the hours worked per week must be increased, or there must be a reduction in the production of goods for civilian use and a lowering of the standard of living."

Employers, workers and government, said Mr. Crombie, should work in the closest co-operation, understanding and confidence.

Reasonable Profit

"A manufacturer or a retailer is entitled to a profit, but it should be fair and reasonable. Wage earners are entitled to a fair wage, but it should be in return for a fair day's work. Governments are entitled to revenue, but to no more than is required to provide the services they are called upon to supply.

"When the country is obliged to spend huge sums on rearmament, it is essential, if inflation is to be kept within bounds, that everything possible be done to reduce expenditures on non-defence projects.

"It would appear to me that the huge rate of taxation is one of the principal reasons for the present high level of prices."

Mr. Crombie said the design of Canadian products shuld be improved.

"Generally design is good, but sometimes I see articles displayed on a shelf or counter that positively make me shudder."

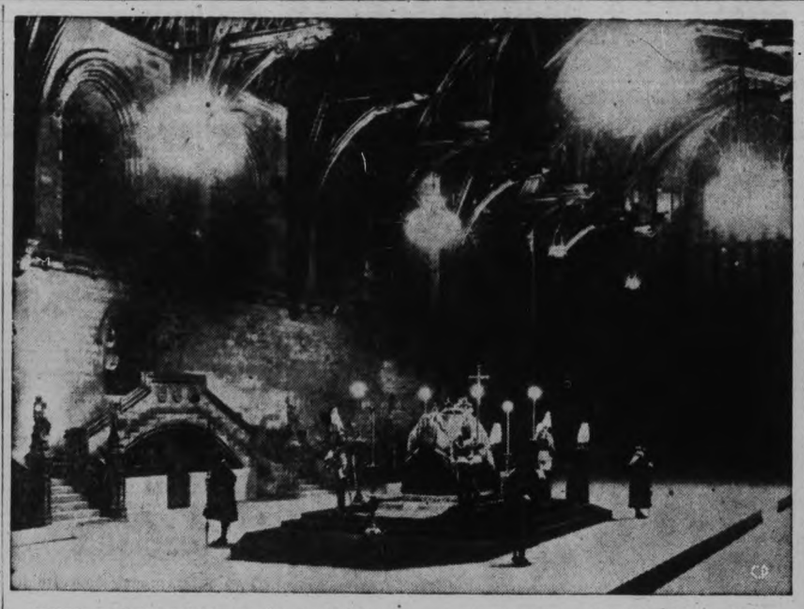
The National Industrial Design Committee intimates, Mr. Crombie added, "that notwithstanding its efforts to interest the public in good design, the consumer's choice is still limited to what the retailer offers; and the committee suggests that the standards of the manufacturer and the retailer are being forced on the consumer because the latter has no power of individual choice."

Allowance Stops

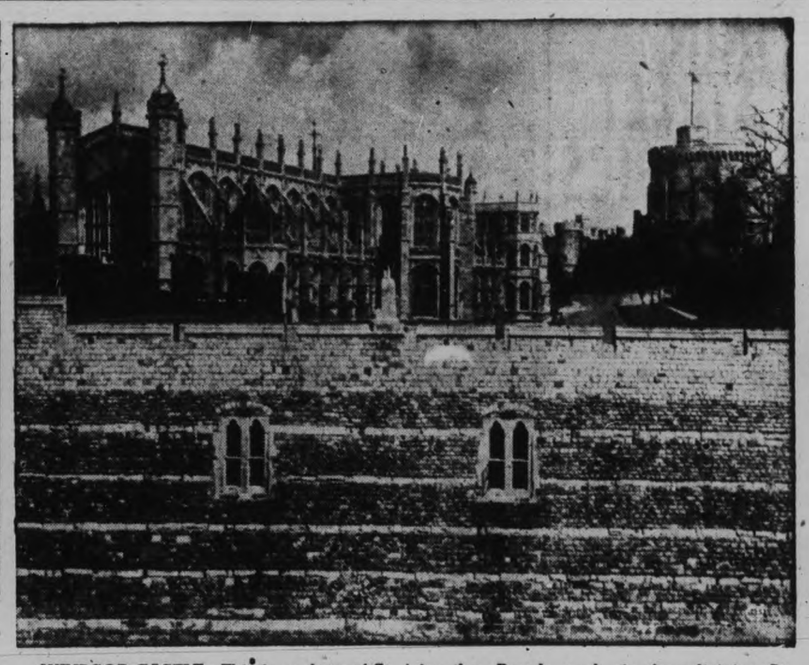
LONDON, Feb. 11 (AP). —The News Chronicle said Sunday the Duke of Windsor received an annual allowance of £25,000 from his brother, the late King George VI, which ended with the King's death. The Duke receives no grant from the state. When he abdicated in 1936 his personal fortune, largely accumulated from revenues of the Duchy of Cornwall, was estimated at several thousand pounds. .

Submarine Safe

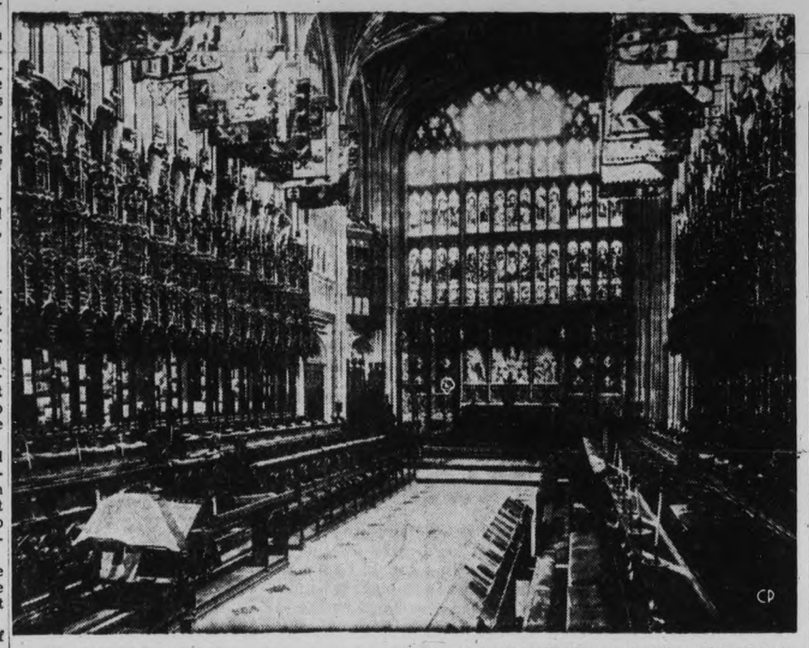
SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 11 — (Reuters).—An Australian navy spokesman reported that the Royal Navy submarine Truculent, with a crew probably of 59 persons, which failed to report after a dive on exercises off New South Wales today, had surfaced safely. Earlier the navy organized a search for the submarine after the Australian frigate Barcoo lost contact with her during exercises.



WESTMINSTER HALL—The body of King George VI will lie in state in Westminster Hall, the oldest part of the House of Commons. In the above photo the body of King George V is shown lying in state following his death in 1936.



WINDSOR CASTLE—This is a photo of St. George's Windsor Castle where King George VI and members of the royal family spent much of their time. His body will be buried in the Royal vault in the adjoining St. George's chapel. The Castle stands atop a hill on the banks of the Thames river in the County of Berkshire, 21 miles west of London.



ST. GEORGE'S CHAPEL—The body of King George VI will be laid to rest in the Royal vault in St. George's Chapel in Windsor Castle in solemn traditional service Feb. 15.

Children Find Indian Graves

PORT COLBORNE, Ont., Feb. 11 (CP)—The curiosity of children about a hole being dug for a new house has resulted in the finding of a mound of Indian graves containing a treasure of archaeological items.

Collectors became interested when children brought home clay pipes, human bones, arrowheads and knives and pierced bear claws from necklaces. It has been established that the house excavation is on the site of an Indian massacre in what was known as "the grasshopper war."

Ancient Indian stories say that a band of Iroquois warriors descended on a Huron camp and massacred the inhabitants. The fighting began as a result of an argument between a Huron and an Iroquois boy about a grasshopper on a stick.

Investigate Death

WINDSOR, Feb. 11 (CP)—The body of Ernest Joseph Leboeuf, 32, of suburban Sandwich township, was found Sunday by police who received a call to a downtown apartment building. They said he died of a fractured skull caused by "external violence." They are holding one man in connection with the death. However, one report was that he was fatally injured in a drunken brawl in an alley and was carried into the apartment where he died.

Call Off "Strike"

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Feb. 11 (AP).—Northern Ireland's Nationalists decided Sunday to scrap the stay-away policy that has keept their members of parliament out of Britain's House of Commons for 12 years. As a result, Northern Ireland's two Nationalist M.P.'s, Michael O'Neill and Cahir Healy, will take their seats in the house this month.

Extra Allocation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—The government Saturday allocated an extra million pounds of aluminum to the American automobile industry for the April-June period to help build more cars and alleviate the industry's unemployment.

Declare Radio Can Help Spread Arts

VANCOUVER, Feb. 11 (CP)—T. J. Allard, general manager of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters, said today radio can do much to comunicate the great works of all fields and all times to everyone.

"Radio is in many ways the most flexible of all press or mass communication devices," said Mr. Allard in a speech prepared for delivery to the British Columbia Association of Broadcasters.

"Perhaps radio can snatch the literary and musical treasures of the world from the clammy hands of the emotionless intellectuals and dramatize them in all their full-flooded, rich, emotional power so that they become once more what their composers intended them to be—the common music, the common speech, the common entertainment."

Mr. Allard added:

"What Shakespeare wrote he wrote for entertainment. The goodly and robust company around him probably never had a thought in their heads of culture or uplift or the arts.

Expressed Themselves

"They wrote and acted to express themselves, to have a good time, to entertain, and if some of our pseudo-intellectuals of today would remember that instead of beating their breasts about the arid cultural desert of North America, it might be easier for mass media of comumnication to communicate the great works of all fields and all times to everyone.

"It should not be beyond the ingenuity of private broadcasters, who have triumphed over incredible obstacles already, to find a way to do just that."

Mr. Allard reiterated his opinion that radio in Canada, as a means of mass communication, should be treated in the same way and subject to the same laws as printed publications.

RICH SOIL

The fine grain-growing soil of the prairie provinces was the result of ages of glacier action on the land.

Takes Jail Term Won't Reveal Gun

CALGARY, Feb. 11 (CP) — Graham Sexsmith, district farmer, accepted a 14-day jail term Saturday rather than give up a pistol. He appeared in police court for sentencing on a charge of pointing a firearm.

Court was told earlier that Sexsmith had fired on a motorist who pulled into his driveway. The shots struck the car. Sexsmith refused to tell police where the gun was hidden and was remanded while a search was made of the property. The gun was not found.

Queen Alternates Between Roles

SANDRINGHAM, England, Feb. 11 (Reuters)—Elizabeth II Saturday alternated between the roles of Queen and mother.

Between periods of signing state papers and making arrangements for the funeral of her father, she went to the nursery, only room in the sprawling country mansion where there was the sound of laughter.

Her infant daughter Anne and her son Prince Charles, at 3½ years heir to the throne, played happily with toy animals the Queen brought back from her Kenya trip.

The atmosphere of soft-footed mourning pervading the corridors and rooms of the Royal country house has puzzled young Charles, but has not quelled his high spirits.

In answer to repeated questions since last Wednesday, his nurse had told him his grandfather had "gone to sleep." When the new Queen, his mother, returned home he asked her the same question.

She set the chubby youngster on her knee, smoothed his fair hair carefully with her hand, and told him his grandpapa had gone to God and was happy there.

Pull Down Flag

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 11 — (CP)—Police said Sunday that two youths pulled down a flag flying at half-staff in front of the fire hall here and hid it in a nearby residence. The flag was flying in mourning for King George VI.

New Coronation With Have Solemn Rites

By NICK BARKER

LONDON, Feb. 11—(AP)—The coronation of 25-year-old Queen Elizabeth II in Westminster Abbey will be a most solemn religious ceremony as well as a triumphant state occasion.

The date for the coronation has not been announced.

The ceremony itself is an ordeal of strength, lasting several hours in its intricate ceremonial. Queen Elizabeth will be arrayed in three sets of robes: a crimson robe of state on entering Westminster Abbey, the coronation vestments with a dazzling imperial mantle of gold cloth, and a robe of royal purple velvet worn in the procession from the Abbey.

The Archbishop of Canterbury will anoint the Queen on her head, chest, and the palm of her hands with oil from a golden spoon. He will say:

"Be thy head anointed with holy oils as kings, priests and prophets were anointed."

Before the Queen is crowned she will take her coronation oath to govern her people according to their laws and customs.

Scene of Splendor

At the moment of the coronation, Queen Elizabeth will be seated. The dean of Westminster will carry the crown which the archbishop will place on Her Majesty's head.

At that instant, the entire assembly will shout: "God save the Queen." The peers and the heraldic kings of arms will don their coronets, trumpets will sound, and the great guns at the Tower of London will boom.

After the crowning the archbishop pronounces a benediction, the sovereign takes her throne, and the archbishop delivers an exhortation.

Then princes of the blood and peers of the realm come forward to kneel before the Queen, touching her crown and kissing her left cheek.

Another moment of drama follows this homage. Drums beat, trumpets sound, and the assembly shouts:

"God save the Queen. Long live the Queen! May the Queen live forever."

The young Queen's final solemn moment will be at the high altar of the Abbey where she will take communion. Then, amid a flash of naked swords, she will join a triumphant procession from the Abbey.

Set T.B. Record

KINGSTON, Feb. 11 (CP) — Dr. A. R. J. Boyd, medical officer of health, said Sunday that the city has completed a 12-month period without a single death from tuberculosis. It is believed to be a Canadian record for communities of 5,000 population or more.

Hitch-Hiker Killed

TORONTO, Feb. 11 (CP)—William E. Brown, 45, was killed Saturday night as he tried to hitch a ride in suburban Scarboro township. Truck driver Thomas Chong, 29, of R.R. 1, Whitby, said that Brown motioned for a lift and jumped in front of the truck.

Convicted of Assault

BRAMPTON, Feb. 11—(CP)—A jury in Ontario Supreme Court Saturday convicted Marvin Henrickson, 34, of common assault in the gunshot wounding Dec. 19 of 56-year-old Frank Hackim. He was sentenced to six months in prison. The charge was reduced from one of attempted murder.

Man Dies In Crash

WINNIPEG, Feb. 11 (CP)—One youth was killed and another severely injured in a plane crash Sunday near Estevan, Sask., Department of Transport officials said here Sunday night.

Judge Dies

TORONTO, Feb. 11— (CP) — Judge Tyler, 94, county court judge for 15 years prior to his retirement in 1936, died Sunday.

DR. LEON AZOULAY, 54, who police charge is a key figure in Montreal's $1,000,000 illegitimate baby racket, is scheduled for arraignment in Crimfinal Court today. Police Prosecutor, Antonio Lamer said the physician would be charged with abduction and conspiracy. Dr. Azoulay faces two specific charges—in the summer of 1951 of unlawfully and with intent depriving a mother of her children under 14, and possessing and detaining them contrary to the statute of an article in the Criminal Code, and several days before that offence, of conspiring with another man to commit a similar offence. Dr. Azoulay was released on $10,000 bail, pending Supreme Court judgment on his appeal against conviction on a charge of manslaughter last year. He was found guilty of performing an illegal operation, following which the patient died.

Eight Fatalities During Weekend

By The Canadian Press

The mysterious death of a man in Windsor, six fatal traffic accidents and a woman who died from a fall, brought the total of persons killed in eastern Canada to eight during the weekend.

A Canadian Press survey early today showed that six persons were killed in Ontario, one in Quebec and one in New Brunswick.

Joseph Leboeuf, 32, of Sandwich township near Windsor, was found dead of a fractured skull caused by "external violence." Police are holding one man in connection with the death.

Near Chesley, Ont., 92 miles north of London, Mrs. Louis Unruh, 62, of Elimwood died of a fractured skull after two automobiles crashed in a blinding snowstorm. Alice Pardiac, 43, of Cornwall was killed when her automobile struck a pole near Cobourg.

Leo Nadeau, 25, died in an automobile-train accident near Toronto.

Raymond Gray, 19, of Marmora was killed by an automobile near Peterborough and William E. Brown, 45, met a similar death near Toronto while trying to hitch a ride.

In Quebec City, Mrs. Wellie Beauchene, 72, died of a fall on the sidewalk.

In New Brunswick, at Juniper, six-year-old Elizabeth Comeau was killed by an automobile which she failed to see because of snowdrifts.

Will Tour Prisons

TORONTO, Feb. 11 — (CP) — Reforms Minister Foote of Ontario Sunday night announced that a series of outstanding penologists will visit Ontario penal institutions each year as part of the Ontario government's program of keeping up with the latest developments in penology. First this year will be Sanford Bates, president of the International Penal Association. He is to begin his tour Feb. 21.

Poor Vocabularies

TORONTO, Feb. 11—(CP)—Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, principal of Queen's University, said Saturday night that Canadian University students are "the run of the mine which Canadian families produce," some good, some bad and most medium. He told the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation that he is not worried about students spelling and punctuating badly but about their inadequate vocabularies.

Get Pat On Back

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 11 (CP) —British Columbia Indians Saturday got a pat on the back from provincial authorities for general good behavior since the province relaxed its liquor restrictions against them in December. Labor Minister John Cates, who has charge of Indian affairs in B. C., said Saturday there has been no great over-all increase in the number of Indian Act convictions.

G.M. Official Dies

LAGRANGE, Ill, Feb. 11 (AP)—B. A. Dollens, 50, a vice-president of General Motors Corp., died Saturday. Dollens, who started his career with G.M. at the Delco-Remy division in Anderson, Ind., in 1925, had been general manager of the electro-motive division of G.M. at Lagrange for a year-and-a-half.

Foot Force Aids Paratroopers

SINGAPORE, Feb. 11 (AP). — A British ground detachment moving in to help a paratroop force clean up a jungle Communist centre near the Thai border ran into a Red ambush today. The ground unit reported itself held up by Communist fire and a flood at a river crossing five miles from the paratroopers.

The Commmunists fled from their isolated village when 57 paratroopers dropped from the skies on Saturday. The paratroop force encountered no resistance at the village. Two other ground detachments are moving toward it also. The main aim was to stave off a reported propaganda move by the Reds—to declare a Communist state of Malaya.

The paratroops got a friendly reception from the villagers, who emerged from jungle hiding places after being assured the Britons were gunning only for Communists.

R.A.F. Dakotas dropped ammunition to the force held up by the Communist fire. An R.A.F. helicopter picked up a paratrooper injured when his parachute got tangled in a tree.

Because of unpredictable air currents only four paratroopers landed in the drop zone—a rice paddy 250 by 450 yards in size. Six managed to avoid the trees, but all the other 47 fell into them and had to reach the ground by rope. Some of them stuck in the branches 150 feet from the ground.

Rescue 4 Indians Trapped On Iceflow

MIDLAND, Feb. 11 (CP)—Four Indians spent Saturday night on a drifting Georgian Bay icefloe while a blizzard raged around them.

The Indians, returning to their homes on Christian island after a shopping trip to Penetanguishene, were trapped on the floe when a gale broke up the ice.

They are Clarence Essen, Eldie Sylvester, Wilmer Mecue and Horace Sandy.

Raymond Sylvester, brother of Eldie, picked them up in a small boat early Sunday.

Dies In House Fire

CHURCHILL, Man., Feb. 11 — (CP)—Mrs. Jacqueline Atkins, 19, formerly of Ottawa, was burned to death early Sunday when fire destroyed a three-family dwelling in this Hudson Bay coastal town, 600 miles north of Winnipeg. Mrs. Atkins came from Ottawa three weeks ago to join her husband Charles Atkins. They were married in Ottawa a year ago. The body will be flown to Ottawa for burial.

Changes Date

OTTAWA, Feb. 11 (CP)—Defence Minister Claxton will leave Canada Wednesday instead of today for the North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting at Lisbon and will be among the Canadian ministers representing Canada at the funeral of King George VI, Feb. 15.

Memorial Address

EDMONTON, Feb. 11 (CP). — The Most Rev. W. F. Barfoot, Anglican Archbishop of Edmonton and Primate of all Canada, Sunday said that "Human understanding and human sympathy made the King great." The Archbishop delivered a memorial address on the death of King George VI.

John Dauphinee Appointed C.P. News Editor

TORONTO, Feb. 11 — (CP).—John Dauphinee, Edmonton bureau chief and supervisor of Western news coverage for The Canadian Press, today was appointed general news editor of the national news co-operative.

He succeeds D. E. Burritt, who died in Toronto December 5.

Don Gilbert, Edmonton news editor, becomes acting chief of bureau there.

Dauphinee, 38, is a veteran of 16 years with C.P. A native of Vancouver, he joined the C.P. bureau there as a reporter in 1936 after attending University of British Columbia and working on the Daily Province. After terms in Toronto and Ottawa bureaux, he was transferred to London in 1944 and as bureau chief there 1945-1948 supervised coverage of the austere post-war era in Britain. He was president of the Overseas Empire Correspondents Association in 1947, and wrote "Opportunity in Canada," a handbook for British emigrants.

Moved Around

He was appointed bureau chief at New York in 1948 and at Winnipeg a year later, moving to Edmonton last year when C.P.'s Western headquarters were transferred to the Alberta capital.

Gilbert, 40, is a native of Liverpool, England. He joined C.P. as a Morse operator at Montreal in 1929, transferred to editorial shortly afterward, and has served in New York, London, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg and Edmonton. During the war he served four years in the United States Army. He helped organize a news service in West Germany after the war.

JOHN DAUPHINEE

Declares Overwork Hastened King's Death

LONDON, Feb. 11 —(AP)— A high Anglican church leader said Sunday night that Britain overworked King George VI. He asked his fellow countrymen to spare their new Queen from so much pressure.

Dr. A. C. Don, Dean of Westminster Abbey, in a sermon at the Abbey praised the late King's devotion to duty, adding that "the public have taken advantage of these qualities."

The Dean's statement emphasized suggestions in some sections of the British press that overwork had hastened the King's death.

Last September the King underwent an operation for removal of a cancerous lung. Prior to that he had suffered from a circulatory ailment.

Imitates Daniel

ASCOLI PICENO, Italy, Feb. 11 (Reuters).—Wrestler Achille Amadio Sunday won a bet that he could imitate Daniel in the lions' den and get away with it. He entered a cage full of six circus lions and drank a glass of champagne in their midst. They looked annoyed at the intrusion, but did not move a muscle.

Finds Gold Pieces

LONDON, Feb. 11 (Reuters).—Construction worker Bill Game unearthed 82 American $20 gold pieces—all dated about 1890 — while digging on a bomb site during the weekend at suburban Stoke Newington. Game turned them over to police, who are trying to trace the coins' owner.

Planter Murdered

SINGAPORE, Feb. 11 (Reuters).—Communist guerrillas today shot dead R. D. Harrison, 35, a rubber planter, in an ambush on an estate road in Hohore.

Edmonton's Big Air Terminal Once Used As a Cow Pasture

EDMONTON. — (CP) — The Edmonton municipal airport which has become one of the busiest and most modern airfields in Canada this year marks its 25th anniversary.

Once a cow pasture, the airport has grown to a $12,000,000 investment. It has spread from the original 160 acres to 750 acres, and is believed the only Canadian airport within a city's boundaries; perhaps the only one in North America.

Captain James A. (Jimmy) Bell was the first manager and he still holds the position.

Although the field is officially 25 years old, it was actually used for many years before 1927 when barnstorming was the rage. Charles Becker, Edmonton barrister and bush pilot of the old days, says he believes the first plane landed in Edmonton before the first world war.

It was from this field that bush pilots like W. R. (Wop) May and Matt Berry rose to fame in the aviation world.

Capt. Bell gives May credit for opening the public's eyes to the fact that airplanes were useful in developing the north besides barnstorming.

It was Jan. 1, 1929, that May made a flight in his old Curtis Jenny, carrying the name "City of Edmonton," which opened the way for a generation of bush pilots.

An epidemic of diphtheria had broken out at Fort Vermilion, 350 miles north. Anti-toxin was needed immediately. A plane was the only possible way to get it there in time to quell the epidemic. May in a two-seater, open-cockpit plane, made the trip successfully.

Pioneer Flights

Ten years earlier, however, May and George Gorman had gone down on record as the first commercial flight in the west. They carried a bundle of newspapers to Wetaskiwin, 38 miles south of Edmonton, in 1919.

With the success of the first northern flight, aviation in Edmonton started to boom. Trappers seized the chance to save months of dog team travel to trap lines. Supplies were flown in and furs flown out to provide pay loads both ways.

Other pilots and companies joined in and by 1928 the city boasted three airplanes and an airport staff of three. By 1937 these figures had grown to 45 planes and an airport staff of 97.

Today there are about 1,000 airport employees and it is estimated that a plane takes off or lands every five minutes of the day.

Recently a Trans-Canada Air Lines plane was unable to land in Edmonton because of icy runways and turned back to Calgary. That marked the first occasion in 20 years when an aircraft was unable to land here because of runway conditions.

But Capt. Bell didn't feel bad about the situation. In a country such as this, where winter weather is about as unpredictable as any, he feels the Edmonton airport has a proud record.

He also sang "O Rest in the Lord" by Mendelssohn. Five flags were lowered to half mast, followed by a two-minute silence. The congregation then sang "God Save the Queen" and "Our Loved Dominion Bless." A further memorial service fill be held in the church on Friday, the day of the funeral, at 11 o'clock a.m.

Judge Kinnear Favors Women County Judges

HAMILTON — (CP) — Judge Helen Kinnear of Cayuga, who has been presiding over Haldimand county court for nine years, feels it's high time other Canadian women were given a chance to sit on the bench. Judge Kinnear, who believes she is the only woman judge in the Commonwealth, said in an interview here while attending the Ontario Bar Association meeting that despite tradition, there is no reason why there should not be more women judges.

So far as she can tell, neither lawyers nor accused persons in her court try to play upon a woman's supposedly forgiving nature. "They know better than to try," she remarked.

A few months ago in Welland, she was part of an all-woman court. The judge, the deputy sheriff, the deputy registrar and the stenographer were all women.

Judge Kinnear is a pleasant-looking woman who wears quiet shades and uses just a trace of make-up. Her wavy brown hair is streaked with grey.

For the last two years she has been a member of the Ontario Bar's council, the elected governing body of the profession.

She says it made her happy last year when the Ontario Legislature granted women the right to serve on juries.

"Why not? I had to pick out the names of men for jury duty for nine years. I got a bit tired of it."

BIBLICAL RIVER

Palestine's largest river, the Jordan, flows 160 miles and in parts is 15 miles broad at certain times of the year.

WHILE THE WAIST-LENGTH COAT is making fashion news for spring, there's news to be found in the full-length coat, too. Silhouette, when it's princess or pendulum, is a point. Fabric, when it's deep-textured boucle or handsome tweed, is another point. The Directoire and Empire periods cast a strong influence over the cut of a coat this spring. Deep-yoked coats with curved sleeves, small waistlines, and back fulness are the results of a romantic past projected into Spring, 1952. In the boucle-textured fabrics, colors fairly bloom. There are varying shades of white aster, azalea red, blue iris, honeysuckle beige, pink lilac, blue tulip and marigold. In the tweeds, black-and-white makes a strong combination. Fitted full-length coat (left) is black-and-white tweed with low-notched coachman's collar and double-breasted closing fastened with jet jewel buttons. Slim sleeves are cuffed; skirt has easy fullness. Modified pendulum silhouette appears (right) in a loose wrap coat. Notched cape collar frames the face; three-quarter sleeves have wide cuffs. This is boucle wool in a shade called "Pink Lilac."

Joan Deyell In White Lace Is Wed By Candlelight

By candlelight in a setting of spring flowers and ferns a lovely double ring wedding took place in All Saints Anglican Church Saturday evening when Joan Whitehouse Deyell became the bride of George Brian Rook-Green. The Rev. Maurice Poole officiated.

The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Deyell of Peterborough and was given in marriage by her father. She wore a beautiful gown of white lace over taffeta with fitted bodice, petal collar and long sleeves coming to points over the hands and with full crinoline skirt. Her floor-length veil of circular net fell from a small lace cap. She carried a white prayer book cascaded with gardenias and trailing ivy.

Bridal attendant was her sister Mrs. Warren Marshall who wore a gown of bronze lace over taffeta fashioned in the style of the bride's gown but with low scalloped neckline. She wore a small cap of the lace of her dress and carried a colonial bouquet of white tulips and hyacinths.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rook-Green of Whiteley Bay, England. He was attended by Mr. Allan Plunkett as groomsman. Mr. William Deyell, brother of the bride, ushered.

At the reception at 484 Weller St. the bride's mother received, wearing mushroom crepe with black accessories and corsage of Talisman buds. She was assisted by the groom's sister-in-law, Mrs. Cyril Rook-Green who wore a navy ensemble with a corsage of white rosebuds.

Telegrams were received from the groom's parents in England and other friends.

After a short trip the bride and groom will live at 619 Weller St.

Florida Orchid Blooms In West

WINNIPEG (CP)—Mrs. Laura Aitken of nearby Norwood is the toast of amateur horticulturists here.

In her living room she has carefully nursed a Florida orchid into bloom despite cold Prairie climate and the scoffing of friends

"They were sure it couldn't be done up here," she says. "In Boston it was successful but never as far north as Winnipeg."

The plant, a gift from her son, was raised by Mrs. Aitken by following the directions he forwarded. They called for a brick laid in a bowl and surrounded by gravel. The pot, with slits in the bottom, was placed on the brick and the moss-covered plant set inside.

There is no earth. A slight amount of water is poured on the brick and the air is kept as humid as possible.

A natural "green thumb" and lots of faith, is all that is necessary, says Mrs. Aitken.

She says a magazine article she read started the whole thing. The article said if you can grow African violets and geraniums, you can grow orchids.

Mrs. Aitken had already grown both, so she tried her hand at the orchid. The result: one beautiful mauve flower.

Christmas cactus, hyacinths and numerous vines give her home an air of perpetual summer.

"I follow my own rules," she says. "My garden in the summer is confusing, but lovely. I don't believe in the park-like effect, rows and rows of all the same flowers."

W.I. and I.O.D.E. Team Up Cooking School

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 11 (ENS)—Mrs. John Blakely was hostess to members of the Women's Institute at her home on Regent St. on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Howard Bullock convened the meeting.

A two-minute silence in memory of the late King George was observed, followed by the National Anthem.

The Institute decided to co-operate with the Catherine Parr Traill Chapter, I.O.D.E., in a cooking school, the date to be decided upon later. Mrs. K. McKerchar, Mrs. Fred Kemp and Mrs. Clarence Foster were named a committee to make arrangements.

The report of the secretary was read by Mrs. Fred Kemp and that of the treasurer by Mrs. Howard Bullock.

Mrs. Bullock then introduced Miss Jean Noble, home economics representative for the counties of Peterborough, Northumberland, Durham and Victoria, who spoke to the ladies on difefrent aspects of the work being carried on by the Women's Institute in its various departments. She especially mentioned the girls' clubs now being sponsored by the Institute. Various bulletins dealing with cooking in general, the use of cereals, etc., were displayed. These may be obtained free from the Department of Agriculture.

A social half hour was enjoyed at the close of the meeting, with refreshments served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. S. E. White and Mrs. J. McKerchar.

Wandering Waist Biggest Change Seen In Paris

By NADEANE WALKER.

PARIS, Feb. 11—(AP)—Spring, 1952, may go down in Paris fashion history as the season of the wandering waist, the drape-shape, and the "oo-la-la" neckline.

It will certainly be remembered not for any revolutionary changes (the hemline stayed 14 inches from the floor), but for soft silhouettes, soft materials and soft colors.

The biggest change by designers concerns the waistline. Natural waists are still nearly always fitted, but they are often seamless, with belts—or indications thereof—that wander at liberty between the bottom of the bustline and the middle of the hipline.

Fashion circles take this as possibly the first hint of an all-out assault on the natural waistline next season. The designers traditionally introduce signs and portents before going overboard on a drastic change.

In general, it has been a serious fashion season, rather lacking in the mad originality and daffy daring that has come to be a "made in Paris" trademark. Perhaps designers have taken to heart criticism that their clothes were unwearable. This season's clothes look so wearable they might easily be turned out by a little dressmaker.

Last winter's modest high necks gave way to a generous display of shoulders and bosoms. Madame Schiaparelli lifted spectators' eyebrows with "open heart" necklines. Jacques Fath dipped his decolletage about as low as the law allows, and Balenciaga scooped out the necks of even his daytime suits.

Also billed: "devilish" open-and-shut collars: checked "gangster suits," shocking jockey club color combinations, handbags imitating watermelons and gladstone bags and hats imitating bird's nests and umbrellas.

Omemee W.M.S. Discuss Immigration

OMEMEE, Feb. 11 —(ENS)—February meeting of Trinity United Church WMS on Thursday afternoon opened with the president's mention of the passing of King George VI, and prayer for the bereaved mother, wife and daughters. Special prayer was offered for Elizabeth, upon whose young shoulders now rests the burden of sovereignty.

The theme "Love" was read by Mrs. V. E. R. Zufelt. Mrs. Moyer and Mrs. Brooks led in prayer. A duet "Good will take care of you," was sung by Mrs. T. J. Pogue and Mrs. A. N. Weir.

"Immigration" was subject for study, as set forth in "From Lakes to Northern Lights". A synopsis was presented by Mrs. Burt Pogue, dealing with immigration from an early period in Canadian history to the present postwar influx, and with the responsibility facing the church on behalf of the immigrants. Mrs. V. Lang read the welcome message which the United Church of Canada have prepared in several languages, so that a greeting may be presented to the new comers in his own language. She also read a paper on the Holland Marsh settlement, written by Mrs. F. G. McTavish, wife of the pastor of Bradford United Church and Holland Landing. The Hollanders, who are the most numerous of the post-war new Canadians were commended for their industry and their loyalty to their church. About 75 per cent are Protestant, most of whom belong to the Christian Reformed Church. They are reluctant to worship in any church but their own, but when that is not available, they are advised by their church heads to attend a Presbyterian church.

The Christian Citizenship secretary, Mrs. A. Rutherford, quoted from a church publication regarding the alarming increase in liquor consumption in Canada; and read the pledge of abstinence which church members are going to be asked to consider signing.

Harwood W.I. Plans Meeting, Dinner

HARWOOD, Feb. 11 (ENS) The Harwood Branch of the Women's Institute met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. S. Johnson. The president, Mrs. R. E. Drope, presided. Silence was observed in memory of King George VI, and God Save the Queen was sung.

Mrs. R. S. Johnson gave the report on the painting of the kitchen in the community hall, which has recently been completed. It was announced that the park committee have offered to turn over the log building in Memorial Park and help to fix it up for antiques for the Institute. It was decided to take the park committee's offer.

It was agreed to start the Girls' Garden Club again this year, Mrs. Jack Robson and Mrs. Ellis Isaac were appointed leaders. Open meeting of the Institute will be March 6, when there will be a supper and program.

The Institute decided to attend Kate Aiken's lecture in St. Paul's Church, Peterborough, on March 19. The program convener was Miss Lottie E. Drope, and when the Institute Ode had been sung, Mrs. Garnet Isaac gave a paper on "The Origin of St. Valentine." Marjory Hogg played two piano solos entitled "Yellow Butterfly" and "Aria." Mrs. G. U. Isaac gave a reading. Mrs. J. R. Meggs played a piano solo, and as it was Mrs. Meggs' birthday, all sang "Happy Birthday To You."

Mrs. Jack Mitchell prepared a health talk and as Mrs. Mitchell was called away it was read by Miss Lottie E. Drope, who also held a Canadian questionnaire. Prizes for this were won by Mrs. Stephens, Mrs. Crick and Mrs. Meggs, all having 18 correct answers out of 20.

Mrs. Johnson and group served refreshments.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT R. FREEMAN, the bride formerly Miss Marie Minicola.—(Duke Studio Photo).

Freeman-Minicola Nuptials

The marriage was solemnized in St. Peter's Cathedral rectory on Saturday morning by the Rev. R. J. Garvey of Marie Agnes Celestine Minicola, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Minicola, and Robert Rex Freeman, so nof Mr. and Mrs. Harold G. Freeman.

The bride wore a dress of amber rust velvet with brown accessories and carried a muff of yellow lace decorated with yellow 'mums and Talisman roses. She was attended by Mrs. Kenneth Bailey who wore moss green velvet with grey accessories, and carried a nosegay of white 'mums with cream roses.

Mr. Gordon Mongraw attended the groom.

A reception was held in the Empress Hotel Kawartha Room. The bride's sister, Mrs. Campbell Rowat received, wearing a gown of mauve crepe with a hat in matching shade of straw and black accessories. Her corsage was of cream roses and violets. Assisting to receive the groom's mother was dressed in black ottoman cord and wore a black velvet hat and corsage of Talisman roses.

When the bridal couple left later on a trip to New York state Mrs. Freeman was weraing a grey flannel suit and black fur jacket with accessories in mauve and grey. Her corsage was of mauve and white 'mums.

On return they will live at 537 Elm St.

Ladies' Aid Hold Valentine Tea

MILLBROOK, Feb. 11 — (ENS) A successful Valentine tea, sponsored by the two town groups of Grace presbyterian church Ladies Aid, was held Saturday afternoon. The room was gay with red tulips and carnations, and with baby 'mums. Mrs. Kenneth Moncrief, Ladies' Aid president, poured tea. Mrs. Walter Patterson and Mrs. W. H. Heustin received the guests. In charge of the tea tables were Mrs. Clifford Larmer, Mrs. Suttle Pritchard., and Mrs. Herbert Bremner. Mrs. G. P. Mackay, Mrs. J. M. Bett, Mrs. Albert Farrow and Mrs. H. Lord were on the kitchen committee.

Selling home-baking in great variety, from a table decorated with valentine motifs, were Mrs. S. E. Eakins and Mrs. L. Ingram. Margaret MacKay sold home-made candy.

Mr. Larry Ingram who attended the Canadian furniture meeting in Toronto, left last week to take up his work in the Maritimes.

Church Guild Discusses Play

OMEMEE, Feb. 11— (ENS) — Christ Anglican Church Guild met Thursday at the home of Mrs. S. Nurse. The meeting was opened with prayer by the president, Mrs. Harvey Laidley.

Mrs. H. Bent reported for the sunshine committee and Mrs. Nurse for the play committee. Mrs. Nurse said play books had been ordered and arrangements were being made to present the play "Henpecked Henry," on Easter Monday, April 14.

It was decided to divide the members into three working groups determined by the dates of their birthdays. Mrs. N. Ruttle, Mrs. Harvey Laidley and Mrs. Nurse were chosen as conveners of the birthday groups. The proposed pantry shower was re-considered, the members deciding to each contribute 50c, Mrs. Nurse was appointed to purchase the pantry needs.

March 17 was ear-marked for some social money making event, to be decided on later.

When the meeting had been closed with prayer a social hour was spent with Mrs. D. Deyell, Mrs. Downing and Mrs. Nurse as hostesses.

Expert Male Cooks Leap Year Targets

VANCOUVER —(CP)— Marriageable young women conscious this is leap year are eyeing a special extension course at the University of British Columbia. The course is producing a self-sufficient male who can whip up an appetizing meal over a hot-plate without batting an eye.

The university's home economics department started the course so that students could learn to make themselves a low-cost, nutritious meal. More than half the students are men who don't like to pay restaurant prices.

Dr. Charlotte Black, head of the home economics department, already visualizes a wife telephoning from her bridge game and telling hubby to get busy and whip up a good meal.

Slick Tailoring Has Placed Penalty On Extra Inches

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Feb. 11—(CP)—It's woe to those extra inches for those who would wear the slickest of London's tailored spring styles.

Lachasse, a British designing firm which specializes in tailored styles to the extent that evening dresses are not included in its collection, offers a silhouette as slim as the slender rolled umbrellas that are part of the fashion picture.

Skirts have more freedom of movement in back panel pleating or side slits, but in front they are reed slim without even a tuck at the waistline.

So, ladies, turn down that chocolate eclair. The jackets on these suits are as rigidly slender as the skirts.

An innovation is the cabochon shoulder, so-called by designer Michael of Lachasse. This is softly padded in a downward slant and is so long that the sleeves start two or three inches below the normal shoulder line. These are so slender they look like jumper sleeves and merely continue the feminine roundness of the sloping line, broken only by the tiny winged cuffs.

Waists Emphasized

Most of the jackets have hip padding, but this lends no bulkiness to the reed-slim line. Instead, it emphasizes the tightness of small waists and the smooth line of the peplum. An exaggerated roll to waist-deep revers and a neat cut-away to jacket fronts adds to the perpendicular trend of the design.

Michael also introduces the "masher jacket," a feminine interpretation reminiscent of Edwardian days. The unwaisted, blazer-length jacket has rounded shoulders and cuffed sleeves that don't quite reach bottom. Pockets are low, revers are high and of the three buttons only the top one is used. This gives the jacket a cut-away line, and a slim neatness at hem emphasizes the fact that the bottom buttons were not designed for fastening.

In both types of suit, the designer prefers silk and organza cravats with matching cuffs rather than blouses. There are also waistcoats in crisp striped poplins and spotted taffetas.

In tailored dresses another Edwardian line is evident. Instead of the usual classic jacket, Lachasse tops the dresses with a circular Edwardian cape. With no collar and wrap-over front, this fits exactly like a shawl. But deep cuffs at the sleeveless elbow and the smooth worsted materials give it a strictly tailored look.

DOROTHY DIX

Wife Of Drunkard Faces Almost Hopeless Future

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband is a heavy drinker. If we are invited someplace he stops, even on the day home from work, to have a few drinks and invariably arrives at our destination definitely intoxicated. We have [illegible] consequence, lost just about [illegible] our friends.

I work all week, and do my best to keep the home going, but I can't go one like this much longer. I love him very much, and always forgive him, but a few days later he's doing the same thing again. He's a wonderful person when sober, but unbearably mean when drunk. If I left him and went off by myself, I know I'd come back to him anyway.

W. K.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Since you have answered your own problem, there isn't very much I can add. If you did leave your husband, you say, you'd come back to him in a short time; by following this merry-go-round system, you know perfectly well there'll be no change in your life.

It Is Heartbreaking

The problem of an alcoholic husband is one that is heartbreaking in its hopelessness. Of course, the rare cases in which the man wants to overcome his weakness can be cured through the proper agencies. But when a man is perfectly content with his besotted life there is nothing the little woman can do but leave him, or stay and put up with it. There are many artifices to which you could resort for temporary relief, but they will succeed for only a short time. You could, for example, have his place of business send his salary checks to you instead of handing him the money. With less cash in his jeans he'll have less to spend on liquor. This is, however, at best only a stopgap as sooner or later he'll find some other source of revenue. Appeals to his better nature are likewise futile, for any success they achieve will be only temporary.

Since you have a good job, and are supporting yourself now anyway, I certainly think your wisest course would be to leave before the strain of living with a heavy drinker takes its toll of your health. Perhaps if you left it would bring him to his senses and efefct a reform. However, since you have already decided such a solution is impossible, I can only recommend prayer and a determination to make the best of what life offers you.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I have been married seven years and my husband is everything he should be, but several times he has come home with lipstick on his clothing. He always has an explanation but they are hard to believe. I can't bear to think that he is unfaithful. He is so good to me and our children and seems to love us all very much. I am becoming a nervous wreck trying to believe in him. Am I just the suspicious type or have I reason to be alarmed?

LINDA V.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If your husband is everything you say he is, you are allowing these incidents to have more importance than they deserve. There are any number of ways in which a man may innocently get lipstick on his clothing. Turn to trusting instead of doubting until you have more definite proof.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a boy 22 with two years of college. Ever since I can remember my parents have picked my friends and playmates—usually girls. While in high school and college I found it extremely difficult to make friends with the boys. Now I live in a small town but have an opportunity to accept a job in a large city. Should I take it?

RANDY

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think the change of environment will do you a world of good. Being on your own will develop a more independent personality, put you at your ease with other people and inevitably lead to more and better friendships.

½ cup Jewel Shortening	3 tsps. baking powder
1½ cups sugar	1 cup milk
1 tsp. salt	1 cup finely-chopped apricots
1 tsp. vanilla	¼ cup finely-chopped nuts
2 cups sifted cake flour	3 egg whites

Cream Jewel Shortening. Add sugar, salt, vanilla. Cream till fluffy. Sift together flour, baking powder. Add alternately with milk. Add nuts, apricots, steamed if needed. Fold in egg whites, beaten stiff but not dry. Blend lightly. Line bottom of 8" angel cake pan with brown paper, flour. Rub tube with Jewel. Bake at 325°F., one hour. Cool.

FILLING

1 cup finely-chopped apricots	½ cup sugar
2 cups water	1 tbsp. corn starch
	1 tbsp. lemon juice

Cook everything in double boiler till soft enough to spread.

FROSTING

2 egg whites	¼ tsp. cream of tartar
1½ cups sugar	¼ tsp. salt
⅓ cup strong coffee	1 tsp. rum extract

Mix everything except extract in double boiler. Place over boiling water. Beat thoroughly about 5 minutes. Remove from heat, stir well. Add extract. Beat one extra minute, till frosting stands in peaks.

DECORATION: Save ¼ cup filling to tint the swirls of frosting. Make three apricot flowers with scissors—cut apricots to the centre, petal-fashion. Use green cherry pieces for flower centres.

"HEAD" LINES FROM PARIS FOR SPRING emphasize the forward movement, the impression of width, cloches and sailors with diminutive or wavy brims, color assuming more importance than black and navy. Sepia, the yellows, gold, coral pinks and reds, cerulean and "Caprix" blues, mauve and grey are in the lead. Summer afternoon hat (upper left) is in pale pink crisscross straw with underbrim faced in fine white pique. Pale pink surah (upper right) with black shadow stripe is a breton sailor. Tiny upturned brim is banded in black grosgrain ribbon. A 1952 interpretation of the mushroom brim (lower left) is in pale pink crisscross straw with black grosgrain trim. A veil used for this type hat makes fashion news. The Maud et Nano version of the sailor hat (lower right) is young in feeling. Crown is in white pique with tiny brim in coarse navy straw. Trim is navy grosgrain ribbon.

Find Health And Happiness In A Garden

"Men and women who have never experienced soil hunger, have missed some of the greatest joys of life, finding health and happiness from contact with Mother Earth," said Mrs. Bart Thackeray as guest speaker at the February meeting of Roseneath Women's Institute. Mrs. Thackeray is first vice-president of West Northumberland District Women's Institutes, and chose as her subject "Home Beautification and Gardens." Continuing, Mrs. Thackeray said: "Man is a gardener, the Bible begins with a garden and ends with a garden." The speaker spoke of the cheering ministry of flowers and concluded by saying "England has the cleanest crime record in the world, wherever possible every man has his own small garden".

The meeting was held in the township hall on Thursday afternoon with Mesdames Eliza and Charles Sandercock as joint hostesses. The president, Mrs. Harold Taylor, presiding with Mrs. Les Tucker pianist for the opening exercises. Tribute was paid to the late King George VI and two minutes of silence were observed concluding with the singing of the National Anthem.

The meeting was the one meeting of the year given to "Agriculture and Canadian Industries". The branch convener, Mrs. Frank Adams, was in charge of the program. The roll call was "Name A Canadian Industry."

Mrs. J. W. Pacey conducted a quiz on "Canadian Foods" which was won by Mrs. Frank Brown's group. Mrs. Charlton Grigg sponsored a quiz on St. Valentine's Day, won by Mrs. E. Burrison's group. Mrs. Fred Murphy gave a reading. Mrs. C. Grigg had an exhibit of Korean money on display.

During the business period, the treasurer, Mrs. B. Thackeray, reported receipts from bazaar held on Feb. 2 were $83.67, leaving a balance on hand of $240.92.

It was decided to sell tickets on a quilt. The proceeds to be given to the Northumberland County T.B. fund.

Mrs. Charlton Grigg, branch convener of historical research, displayed a new Lady Tweedsmuir Village History Book, purchased by Institute to be used in historical research.

Mrs. Alfred Pringle, good cheer convener, reported 14 persons remembered during the month.

Plans were made for a one-act play "Uncle Henry's Mail Order Wife," to be presented by Institute members in the spring. The cast of characters have been chosen.

The March meeting will be open to the men and women of the community. Progressive games will be played and lunch served. The committee in charge are: Mrs. Fred Murphy, Mrs. George Mouncey, Mrs. Robert Linton, Mrs. J. W. Pacey and Mrs. John Beatty. The meeting will be held in the township hall on Thursday evening, March 6, beginning at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Harold Taylor and Mrs. Bart Thackeray were named a committee to interview the council re—building an addition to the township hall.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Lunch was served by the hostesses assisted by Mrs. Clark Sandercock.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Readers Request Recipes

The going is getting a little heavy because of the pile of mail, so I am going to crowd as many answers into today's column as possible. I will put the initials of the reader after the recipe she asked for.

Cranberry-Orange Relish (for Miss J. K.)

Put 2 cups washed cranberries through medium blade of food chopper. Cut an orange in quarters lengthwise, remove seeds and centre pithy portion and put it through chopper too. Mix these with ¾ cup sugar. Store in covered jar in refrigerator. Serve with fowl, fish or meat.

Unbaked Fruit Cake (for Miss J. K.)

One pound graham crackers rolled very fine and sifted, 1 lb. seedless raisins, 1 lb. dried figs, ½ cup maraschino cherries, 1 cup nut meats, 1 pound marshmallows, 1 pint whipping cream. Chop the cherries, figs, nuts and marshmallows. Leave raisins whole. Mix these ingredients with the sifted cracker crumbs. Whip the cream and fold into the mixture. Pour into oblong loaf pan 5 x 9 x 4". Pack it down well. Cover and chill overnight in refrigerator. This keeps well. When ready to serve slice with sharp knife, dredge with powdered sugar. A delicious confection.

To Deodorize Fat for Making Perfumed Soap (for Mrs. Carl F.)

Boil 20 lbs. fat with 7 lbs. water containing 1¼ ounces common salt and ½ oz. powdered alum. Boil for 10 minutes. Strain off water. Let fat remain several hours before using for soap.

Homemade Soap

(This is a big enough batch for an amateur to make up the first trial.)

Two quarts melted grease, 3 pints cold water, 1 can of lye, 2 tablespoons boxed borax, ½ cup ammonia, oil of bergamot. Very carefully empty lye into cold water, let stand until lukewarm (the lye has a heating action on the water.) Pour slowly into lukewarm fat, stirring all the time until it is the consistency of heavy thick cream. Add the borax dissolved in 1-3 cup water, and the ammonia and about 1 or 2 drams oil of bergamot (or lemon). Stir for at least 10 minutes, then let stand until it sets, in a wooden box lined with paper. Cut into bars and let stand 2 months before using. Always use granite or stainless steel pans for soap-making.

Meat for Gall Bladder Diet (for Mrs. A. G.)

As you know the meat in a gall bladder diet should be lean and cooked without fat. This means, baking broiling, steaming or boiling. Your husband could have filet mignon, or ground lean round steak cakes and liver of any kind broiled—also the lean centre of lamb chops. You may prepare breasts of chicken in any of the above ways. If you want to make sauces to make them interesting and varied make them of milk, thickened with flour and flavour with skim milk cheese which you may now buy grated in ¼-lb. packages—a great boon for those on fatless diets. Buy lean fillets and broil them and serve with lemon and plenty of parsley chopped. His meals need never be monotonous if you make your garnishes and sauces colorful and different every time. Fish fillets may be sprinkled with grated skim milk cheese after they are turned over when being broiled. It bubbles and browns and gives the fish a delicious flavor.

Melting Dreams (for Mrs. R. C. Van E.)

(My recipe is called "Melting" not Meltaway. I hope this is right.)

Beat together until very creamy one-third cup each best shortening and icing sugar, then add ½ teaspoon vanilla and 1 egg yolk and beat well. Gradually stir in 1 cup flour (sifted); press this dough into a pan 9 x 9 x 2". Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 10 min. Remove from oven. Reduce heat to 350 deg. Mix together ½ cup brown sugar, 1 tablespoon flour, ½ teaspoon baking powder, and ¼ teaspoon salt. Beat into them 2 eggs, then add ½ cup each corn syrup, and cocoanut and 1 cup chopped walnuts, ½ teaspoon vanilla. Spread over baked crust. Bake at 350 for 20 to 25 minutes. Cool in pan and cut in squares.

Hollywood Stars Envy E. Lanchester

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 11 (AP)—One of the most envied actresses in Hollywood is Elsa Lanchester. The reason: she is always working.

The professional life of an actress is rather short, compared with most occupations. But in her almost two decades in Hollywood, Miss Lanchester has been flitting from picture to picture and is currently finishing a string of four in a row.

This week she plans to take for another phase of her career. She will sing her puckish songs at the New York night club, the Blue Angel. And soon she will embark on a career on the concert stage.

Miss Lanchester has been called "laugh insurance" for the movies, since her mere appearance can give a picture a lift.

"I'm a very serious worker," she discloses in an interview. "I don't strain to be funny. I think the comedy come from the fact that I am so intent. For instance, in 'Dream Boat,' I played a college professor who chases Clifton Webb. I'm very serious about it, and that's why I think it will be funny. As a matter of fact, I think it is only logical that Webb should marry me in the script unfortunately, that does not occur."

Amazes Hollywood

Miss Lanchester has amazed Hollywood by her long engagement at the Turnabout theatre, where she performs nightly for no pay.

"The engagement is not without compensation," she remarked. "I am not paid in money for two reasons: since Charles (Laughton, her husband) and I file joint income tax returns in California, the small added income would mean nothing and merely complicate matters; also, the theatre could not afford it.

"But in return for my services, I am given the rights to the special songs which the producer, Foreman Brown, has written for me. These have proven very valuable in providing material for me in night clubs, and will later in concerts.

Ladies' Aid Plans Valentine Supper

HASTINGS, Feb. 11 (ENS)—The Ladies' Aid of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church met at the home of Mrs. C. Dodd. President Mrs. Reta Johnston presided and due to the death of King George VI, the meeting opened with the hymn "Nearer My God To Thee".

The scripture was taken by Mrs. Harold Fife and the Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison.

Mrs. Johnston read the 23rd Psalm and Rock of Ages, was sung. Mrs. C. Dodd and Mrs. Scott Fife gave readings.

Plans were completed for the Valentine supper to be held in the basement of the church on Thursday Feb. 14.

Mrs. Stewart Whitred invited the Aid to her home for the March meeting.

The meeting closed and a social half hour was enjoyed.

HEALTH MEASURE

Pasteurization of milk is compulsory by law in only two Canadian provinces, Ontario and Saskatchewan.

Laxative Slave
regains youthful regularity

"For two years I was troubled with constipation," admits woman in West Hill, Ontario. "Then I started eating ALL-BRAN regularly. No trouble of this kind since!" If you, too, suffer from irregularity due to lack of dietary bulk, why not try toasty Kellogg's ALL-BRAN? It's helped thousands to regain youthful regularity. High in iron and protein, it's not habit-forming. And the only type ready-to-eat cereal that supplies all the bulk you may need. Eat ½ cup every day; drink plenty of liquids. Kellogg's is so sure you'll like ALL-BRAN that if you're not completely satisfied after 10 days, send empty carton to Kellogg's, London, Ont., and get DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!

Memorial Service Held For King At Marmora

MARMORA, Feb. 11 (ENS) — A large congregation attended the memorial service for King George VI at St. Andrew's United Church on Sunday morning which was conducted by the Rev. George D. Young. The call to worship was "I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills".

The two verses of "God Save the Queen" were then sung. Mrs. H. C. Barlow and Mrs. R. Long sang the duet "Hark, hark, my soul." Previous to the address, the late King's favorite hymn "The King of love, my Shepherd is" was the chosen hymn. The pastor chose the charge given by the Archbishop of Canterbury to the sovereign in the coronation service "God crown you with a crown of glory and righteousness . . ." and "a crown in the everlasting kingdom of Him whose Kingdom endureth forever" for an appropriate message.

He also referred to the song of the choir at the coronation commencing "Be strong and play the man".

An enlarged picture of the King draped with the Union Jack was placed to the fore of the communion table upon which flowers were placed by members of the Sweet family in memory of those of the family who have departed this life.

One Union Accepts, One Rejects Offer

TORONTO, Feb. 11—(CP)—The Toronto Printing Pressmen's Union (A.F.L.) Sunday voted to accept an offer of a wage increase of 23½ cents an hour that will bring the basic hourly rate of $1.91. The union has about 900 members.

But members of the Toronto local of the International Bookbinders Union (A.F.L.) rejected an offered increase of 20½ cents for men and approximately 10 cents an hour for women and authorized its executive to call a strike if necessary. Present contracts cover 1,300 persons.

Printers employed by newspapers are not involved.

Transport Crashes Into Gasoline Car

PEMBROKE, Feb. 11—(CP)—One man was killed and two others injured today when a heavily-loaded transport truck crashed into a railway gasoline car at a level crossing eight miles east of here.

Killed was Sam Garetto of Pembroke, Canadian National Railways section man in charge of the gas car.

Taken to hospital were two other Pembroke men, Ernie Stencill, who suffered severe head lacerations and possible fractured ribs and internal injuries, and Mike Gurgock, with a broken leg.

Two Dogs Chase Staggering Buck

Two dogs chasing a large buck north of Buckhorn were spotted Sunday by Jack McEwan, of Apsley.

He and some friends were driving north on the Catchacoma road just south of the turn to Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls when they saw the two dogs worrying the deer by the side of the road.

When the car approached, the dogs ran into a nearby field and waited. The buck got to its feet and moved slowly into the woods. It slipped going into a ravine, and the dogs caught it after its fall.

Mr. McEwan said he went in to see what happened and saw the dogs tearing at the deer's throat and legs. On his approach, they ran off again, and the buck managed to get to its feet. One dog was a collie, the other part airedale.

Apparently it had been chased for some distance, but was not badly cut up. It would have weighed about 175 pounds dressed Mr. McEwan estimated. He drove back to Buckhorn to report it to the game warden, who was in Bobcaygeon on Sunday.

Later in the day, he returned to the ravine, and found no sign of the deer.

Comic Opera Coming To City

Mozart's comic opera "The Marriage of Figaro" at the Centre Theatre Wed. Feb. 13 is another of the occasional classics booked by the manager, Harry Yudin, for local music lovers.

Sung in German by the Berlin State opera company, supported by its orchestra, the English titles are described as excellent by the N.Y. Telegram and Sun. It is the lover story of Figaro and his bethrothed Susanna, complicated by the designs of Count Almaviva. Memorable arias include: "O come my heart's delight", "Would his lordship dance with me?, "What is this feeling?"

U.S. National Board of Review comments: "The perfection of Mozart's music has in no way been sacrificed to the visual presentation of the comedy plot. Particularly well done is the part of Susanna, sung by Edna Berger and acted by Angelika Hauff. The playing of the Berlin State Orchestra is excellent."

Royal Sidelights

LONDON, Feb. 11 (AP). — Vantage points along the funeral procession route for King George VI next Friday were selling as high as £105 in London Sunday night.

Householders on the way were doing a land-office business in window space. A theatre ticket agency was getting £50 a person for space at second-floor windows in the Paddington Hotel.

SANDRINGHAM, England, Feb. 11 (AP).—King George VI made one of the best shots of his career the day before he died, it was learned Saturday night.

The King killed a pigeon at 80 feet, said Albert Wells, one of the beaters with the royal hunting party last Tuesday.

LONDON, Feb. 11 (AP). — The Empire - minded Sunday Express suggested Sunday that Queen Elizabeth II give up permanent residence in London and live a year at a time in each dominion.

"All over the Empire," the newspaper says editorially, "our peoples are beginning to say that the monarch who is the constitutional ruler of all of them should consider dwelling among each of them in turn."

The paper says the "idea has been mooted in Australia" of buying the Queen a House there.

LONDON, Feb. 11 (Reuters). — The BBC has arranged to televise parts of the funeral processions of King George VI in London and Windsor next Friday, it was announced Saturday.

F. W. DeForge

Requiem mass for Fran', William DeForge, 130 Hazlitt Street, who died Friday in hospital, was said today by the Rev. Joseph O'Sullivan at Immaculate Conception Church. Funeral was from the Lane Funeral Home.

Present in the sanctuary were the Rt. Rev. J. V. McAuley of Lindsay, the Rev. C. J. Carroll of Norwood, and the Rev. R. McEchran. Graveside prayers at St. Peter's Cemetery were said by the Rev. James Greenan.

Pallbearers were Robert White, Joseph Meagher, Clifford Wills, Wiliam Lawson, Thomas Best, and Frank MacPherson.

QUEEN ELIZABETH II HEADS VAST FAMIIY OF NATIONS—When Princess Elizabeth was officially proclaimed "Queen Elizabeth II," there was a significant addition to the formal description of the new sovereign. It was "Head of the Commonwealth." So she is being hailed by the nearly 614,000,000 people occupying 13,022,239 square miles of territory throughout the world that comprise the British Commonwealth of Nations. The Commonwealth is actually bigger than Queen Victoria's empire, on which, Britons used to boast "The sun never sets." There's a difference between the Empire and the Commonwealth. Technically, the Empire includes only the United Kingdom and the crown colonies, excluding the dominions, protectorates and other semi-autonomous holdings. The Commonwealth includes the British Isles, 50 colonies, 13 protectorates, seven trusts and trusteeships, six "colonies and protectorates," two condominiums, two dependencies, one mandate and the Republic of India, an independent sovereign nation. In addition, there are five dominions, Ceylon, Pakistan, Union of South Africa, Australia and Canada. Black areas on map show Commonwealth entities.

Opera Singer Does Two Roles

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 —(AP)—Eleanor Steber Saturday night became the first Metropolitan Opera singer to sing two roles in one day by choice—and ended more than three hours of singing by calmly sipping champagne.

The soprano, after a highly-successful performance as Fiordiligi in Mozart's "Cosi Fan Tutte," said he didn't believe herself that in the afternoon she had gone through the role of Desdemona in Verdi's "Othello" — with only a steak and a nap between the two operas.

At the end of the second opera Miss Steber took curtain call after curtain call with the same vigor she had put into the taxing role of Fiordiligi.

But she admitted she was quite ready to go home and relax.

St. Paul's, Marmora Has Memorial Service

MARMORA, Feb. 11—(ENS)—Evensong at St. Paul's on Sunday took the form of a memorial service for King George VI. Canon J. M. Brownlie read special lessons and led in the alternate reading of the Shepherd's Psalm. He also gave an address touching upon fine characteristics in the life of the late king and referring to the progress of the Empire under two former queen's, Elizabeth I and Victoria.

A service of holy communion was announced for Friday morning in advance of the proposed general memorial service to be held at the town hall.

Gordon Cuffe Named Dummer Assessor

Gordon Cuffe was appointed assessor of Dummer township at a recent meeting of the council at a salary of $600. Arthur Andrews was also appointed as assistant assessor at a salary of $400.

General accounts amounting to $1,330.79 and road accounts of $1,056.80 were authorized for payment as well as an order for 450 pounds of Derris powder placed with Albert Fife.

A recent motion prohibiting the snow-plowing of lanes was rescinded and the road superintendent authorized to snow plow lanes at his own option after the township roads are plowed.

Queen Sends Reply For Kind Messages

OTTAWA, Feb. 11—(CP)—The Queen has replied to a message of sympathy sent her last week by Defence Minister Claxton on behalf of members of Canada's armed forces.

The reply, received today from Buckingham Palace, read:

"Please convey my sincere thanks to all ranks and ratings of the R.C.N., Canadian Army and the R.C.A.F. for their message of sympathy, which I deeply value".

Partial Eclipse

NEW YORK, Feb. 11 —(AP)—The only partial eclipse of the moon during 1952 in the United States was visible in some parts of the United States last night. The Hayden Planetarium said nine per cent of the moon was in the earth's shadow. When the moon rose at 5:12 p.m. EST, the partial eclipse already was visible to the naked eye in New York. It ended here at 10:19 p.m.

The body will rest at Mather's funeral home, Keene, until Tuesday morning, when it will be taken to her home where the funeral service will be held on Wednesday at 2 p.m. The Rev. A. A. Mathews of George St. United church will officiate, and burial will be in Fife cemetery, Otonabee.

Only 2 Out Of 10 Remain In Hospital

HAMILTON, Feb. 11—(CP)—Only two of the 10 persons injured when a Toronto-bound Gray Coach Lines bus plunged down a 150-foot embankment Saturday remain in hospital today.

They are Mrs. Helene Adams and Sing Pong, both of Hamilton. Hospital authorities said today that their condition is fair.

The big bus was pulled up the steep embankment Saturday afternoon by two heavy wrecking trucks of the Toronto Transportation Commission, the operation taking nearly five hours.

The heavy vehicle was winched up by steel cables. Other cables, attached to trees, anchored the trucks in place.

Funeral Held For Gas Victim

ROSENEATH, Feb. 11—(ENS)—Mrs. Korah Skinkle, 86, who died of asphyxiation Friday in her home just south of Roseneath, was buried Sunday in Centenary Cemetery.

Her son-in-law, John Linton, who was overcome by the coal gas fumes that killed Mrs. Skinkle, is said to be improving. He is staying with his daughter, Mrs. Leslie Greacen, in Roseneath.

Mrs. Skinkle and Mr. Linton were found Friday afternoon by Mrs. Greacen and her 12-year-old daughter Lorna. Bread salesman Floyd Alton had knocked at the Skinkle door, and getting no answer, telephoned Mrs. Greacen.

Service was conducted by the Rev. R. C. White of Roseneath United Church, with Mrs. Flex McMillan in charge of the music. Mr. White said "It is not given to us to know the means by which we are to depart from this world, but our days are given to us for preparation for the life beyond."

Pallbearers were her neighbors: Thomas Lean, Norman Sherwin, Bruce Arthur, Kyle Brown, Orra J. Robins, and Cecil Roberts.

1,187 Competitors Of 30 Nations Entered Sixth Winter Olympic

By TED SMITS

OSLO, Feb. 11 (AP)—The sixth winter Olympic games, biggest and best ever, open Thursday in an atmosphere remarkably free from international bickering except for a dispute over the bobsled run.

Thirty nations have entered 1,187 competitors including 39 from Canada. Japan and Germany return to Olympic competition for the first time since the Second World War, both with good teams. The weather is favorable and Norway is bubbling with enthusiasm.

These are the first winter games ever held in a world capital, the rest taking place at winter resorts. So the small wealthy crowds of the past will be replaced by vast throngs of sports-loving Norwegians, plus some 10,000 tourists.

When the special ski jump takes place Sunday, Feb. 24, at Holmenkollen, high over Oslo, at least 150,000 spectators are expected. It's the only ski jump in the world with great grandstands encircling it.

The argument over the safety of the bobsled run—first ever built in Norway—arose when the four-man United States No. 2 sled and an Italian sled went off the course on the third turn. Demands were voiced to rebuild the curve but the Norwegians turned a deaf ear.

The only shadow over the games has been caused by the sore throat of speed skater Hjalmar Anderson. Better known as "Yallis," he is Norway's athletic demigod — particularly to the young girls.

Northerners Dominant

As usual, the northern countries will be dominant. There is no Olympic team championship but on an unofficial basis Sweden won the 1948 games at St. Moritz, followed by Switzerland, the United States, Norway, and Austria. The same "big five" will be favored here, possibly with Norway on top. Other potent teams are from Finland, Germany, Italy, France, the Netherlands and Japan.

The games run from Feb. 14 through the 25th, with competition starting Thursday in the bobsled and the giant slalom for ladies. The opening ceremony takes place Friday in Bislett stadium before 28,000, but because of the death of King George VI, neither King Haakon nor Crown Prince Olav will be on hand.

This is a $3,500,000 show. The athletes are housed in modern dormitories. A modernistic stadium called Jordal Amfi, seating 10,000 has been built for hockey, and the city is decked with flags. At the opposite end of Karl Johans Street from the yellow, plain Royal Palace is the Olympic flame, a big circle of fire irreverently called "The Grill" by Oslo.

The Russians will observe but not compete in the winter games. A delegation of Soviet experts is en route here.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

The Inter-County Lacrosse League is still trying to woo Ontario teams from the Canadian Lacrosse Association.

The British Columbia league proposal that Ontario and B. C. teams conduct their own Mann Cup playoffs without the C.L.A. was rejected last weekend at the annual meeting of the Ontario Association.

At an inter-city league meeting in Vancouver during the weekend, the eastern teams did not have enough time to consider the proposal before their meeting.

The executive was instructed to write each team individually and repeat the proposal. If the mail query is successful, a member may be sent east to speak to the teams personally.

The Federal government has been asked for a grant of $750,000 for the 1954 British Empire Games in Vancouver. Stan Smith, chairman of the games committee, said Sunday the $2,000,000 budget for the games has been forwarded to Ottawa and the government has been asked to contribute toward it.

Henri Salaun, of Hartford, Conn., successfully defended his Canadian squash singles crown in Toronto Sunday, defeating Jack Shusterman of the Toronto Hart House Grads 15-8, 15-5 and 15-4.

Douglas G. Smith, president of the Ontario Amateur Sortball Association, has been appointed softball commissioner for the metropolitan Toronto area. In his added capacity, he will be Canadian representative in charge of the world's softball championships this year at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Ray Reddick's Huntington, Que. rink Saturday won the Thistle Centenary Trophy with a 13-5 victory over J. Howie of Perth, Ont., in Montreal.

Five straight victories by Don Holden's rink at the fourth annaul Brampton Curling Club bonspiel which ended Saturday brought him the Laddie Wilson championship trophy. The Holden quartet won the final 9-4 from Brampton's Jack MacArthur. The W. E. Calvert Trophy was won by 80-year-old J. W. Webster of Galt with a 10-6 victory over Brampton's Jim Mulliss.

The York Skeet Club Sunday took top honors over more than 80 shooters with a score of 247 birds out of a possible 250 at the Lower Lake Skeet Club in York. St. Catharines took second place with 236 birds.

Rugby Union games scheduled to be played Saturday in the United Kingdom were cancelled because of the death of King George VI. Among the games called off was the match between England and Ireland.

Speed skater Barbara Marchetti of Detroit flashed to three straight victories Sunday in a great comeback that gained her a tie with Doreen McLeod of Edmonton for the senior women's title at the North American outdoor championships in Alpena, Mich.

ADMIRE CANADIANS — The Japanese speed-skating team, candid camera enthusiasts, took time out from their own training to admire and "shoot" Frances Dafoe and Norris Bowden, both Toronto as they practised at Bislett Stadium, Oslo, for Feb. 14-25 Olympic games. The Torontonians, pairs champions of Canada, train about five hours daily for their big test Feb. 22.

Young's Point Wins

YOUNG'S POINT, Feb. 11 — (ENS)—Thursday afternoon saw a good hockey game at Young's Point, with the local school squad defeating the Elms school team 9-1.

Play was brisk in the first period with the home team having the edge. Owing to lack of practice the visitors were a while getting started. Goals in the first were, one by Elmer Garrett and tow by Gary Jones. In the second Gary Jones turned the hat trick with his third goal of the game. Earl Dunford netted another one to make the score 5-0.

In the opening minutes of the third period, Bill Mitchell found the net with the Elms only goal. Other goals of the period went to Bob Clark, Pete Heard, Elmer Garrett, Wayne Heard. There were no penalties. It is expected the two teams will play again in the near future.

The Elms: Goal, Ron Knox; defence, Duane Knox, Tom Pratt; forwards, Alan Slater, Bill Mitchell, Stuart Mitchell; alternates, George Mitchell, Alec Preston, Carl Slater, Bill Slater, Jack Lacey, Glenford Coones, Jack McCaw, John Edwards, Graham Reid.

Young's Point: Goal, Doug. Lloyd; defence, Bob Clark, Earl Dunford; forwards, Gary Jones, Wayne Heard, John Dunford; alternates, Joe Godfrey, Elmer Garrett, Keith Tedford, Fred Dunford, Ray Lloyd.

Referee: Mr. G. C. Elliott.

Norwood Edged Out

NORWOOD, Feb. 11 (ENS). — Trenton Jewellers pulled out an 8-6 overtime T.V.L. win against Norwood, sinking the winning marker with two seconds to go and the home goalie pulled out. With 12 seconds to go in regulation time, Norwood pulled their goalie first and scored the tying marker to put it into an extra inning of a fine fray. Tompkins and Levy drew fighting majors in the second of an other wise clean tilt.

Trenton tallied four in the first, Simpson scoring a pair and aiding Scott on another. Levy got one from Campney. Norwood came back for two next heat, Thorpe and Payne being marksmen, as an assist each went to Griffin, Creighton and Whitnall. Tompkins tallied from Kelly in the third and helped Thorpe on another. Brydges added one more from Tompkins and Thorpe. Scott then hit the mark twice for Trenton to go ahead, Levy and Beale each having an assist. With Jones pulled, Tompkins scored from Brydges to tie it up. Levy put Trenton up in overtime from Soctt, and with Jones out again, Beale hit the empty net.

Trenton: Hill, Schmidt, Campney, Beale, Barr, Levy, Scott, Carswell, Filion, Simpson, McDonald, Gould.

Norwood: Jones, Rogers, Kelly, Griffin, Whitnall, Robinson, Thorpe, Payne, Ferguson, Creighton, Magee, Tompkins, Brydges, Thompson.

Referees: P. Nigh and B. Kingdon.

S.P.S. Seniors Win

St. Peter's defeated St. John's 8-4 in the Separate School Hockey League in a neat senior struggle. Ritchie, Pace, O'Connell and Strano stood out for the victors, as Vyse, Riel and Hurley led the attack for the losers, the latter scoring two of their goals.

In junior play, Sacred Heart clinched first place by downing St. Peter's 4-1. Ridley notched the first one but Sacred Heart came back with DeNoble and Longo tallying two apiece to earn the victory for the southenders. The teams, with S.P.S. seniors' lineup missing:

St. John's: Hurley, Vyse, Walker, Carlson, Livings, Durnsalin, Collins, Cummings, Riel.

S.P.S. Jrs.: Hickey, McGuire, Kiven, Hynes, Ridley, Morton, Anthony, Emery, Cerevany, McLean, Fitzgerald, O'Rourke.

S. Heart: Delpellaro, Daly, Wood, Crough, G. DeNoble, Longo, Garvey, Wynn, Caravaggie, Rogers, P. DeNoble, DeCarlo, Johnson.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11 (AP)—President and Mrs. Truman will attend a memorial service for the late King George VI at Washington Cathedral next Friday. Funeral services in London are being held that day.

TCS And Oakwood Swimming Teams Tie

PORT HOPE, Feb. 11—In the first swimming meet held here this season, Trinity College School and Oakwood Collegiate tied with 60 points each.

The 100 yards freestyle record was broken by Chris Woolley of TCS who beat the old mark by .2 seconds. Woolley also tied the 40-yard freestyle record.

After the meet, the Oakwood team played the T.C.S. Seniors in a challenge basketball game, but were not able to keep up with the fast T.C.S. pace and were defeated, 44-29.

Tim Ryle starred for T.C.S., netting 22 points, while Myers led the Oakwood team with 17 points.

A Win For Corners

One of the best games of the season saw Scott's Corners strengthen their hold on third place in the Millbrook-Cavan Rural League with a 7-5 nod over Bailieboro. In the first period Harrison and Crichton got a fast pair for Scott's Corners but a smooth-working Carruthers-Rowden combination tied it up. The second period followed the same pattern. A terrific pace was maintained with Scott's Corners again going into a two goal lead on goals by Alberico and Crichton and Carruthers and Johnston driving in the knotting counters. In the third, the Corners again took over on a goal by Alberico and two by Crichton but Bailieboro failed to match these when the best their wholehearted effort netted was a single by Rowden from Lewis. Bailieboro had only eight players dressed and Gray was lost to them for part of the game when forced to retire for scalp repairs after a collision with Peers. Ray Lowery, a Millbrook youngster, was pressed into service when the Bailieboro net guardian failed to show and turned in a good performance in his debut. Minnie, the youthful goalie in the opposite net pounced on the puck several times to rob Bailieboro of what looked like sure goals.

Lewis was the standout performer of the evening. He was on the ice for practically the full 60 minutes and wasn't outskated, outstickhandled, or outfoxed by anyone. It was the classiest effort seen locally this season. Crichton, a seasoned veteran, with plenty of hockey know-how was best for Scott's Corners. Alberico deserves a mention for not trying to fatten his point score at the expense of a rookie goalie when awarded a penalty shot for a thrown stick.

Buckhorn Defaults

YOUNG'S POINT, Feb. 11 — (ENS) — A Kawartha League game between Buckhorn and Young's Point played Thursday ended in a double win for Young's Point. At the close of the second period Buckhorn refused to finish the game so the final score was 4-1 in favor of the locals.

Play was good throughout the first period with both teams working hard. D. McIsaac put the Point up and 23 seconds later J. Darling scored from J. Barber to make it 2-0.

In the second, play began to get a bit rough and J. Barcroft went off for boarding. At 12.30 J. Barcroft got Buckhorn's only goal and then he received his second boarding penalty. Shortly after, B. Shearer was given a five-mnute penalty for roughing. While Buckhorn was one man short D. Jacobs scored for Young's Point. In the closing minutes of the period J. Barcroft was given a penalty for throwing the puck ahead, and D. McIsaac made it 4-1 for the home team, getting his second goal of the night.

At the close of the period Buckhorn's manager asked that the referee be changed. Young's Point refused on the grounds that no plausible reason was given, and the fact that the referees were appointed at the beginning of the season with the agreement of all the teams in the league. Buckhorn refused to take the ice for the start of the third period so the game was awarded to Young's Point by default. The next game is scheduled for Thursday night when Young's Point travel to Buckhorn.

Buckhorn: Goal, D. Pearson; defence, D. Hall, G. Shearer; forwards, R. Northey, J. Northey, J. Armstrong; alternates, J. Barr, J. Barcroft, B. Shearer, P. Jopling, J. Shearer, Fred Barcroft, B. Clarkson, Powell.

Young's Point: Goal, B. Kyle; defence, S. McNaughton, E. Tedford; forwards, D. Heard, J. Church, D. Jacobs; alternates, D. McIsaac, J. Darling, P. Heard, J. Barber, R. Freeburn.

Referee: G. Chappel.

C's Take First One

NORWOOD, Feb. 11—(ENS)—In the first game of the playoffs between Campmbellford and Norwood juniors here Friday, Campbellford won 12 to 4.

In the first pericd Campbellford scored five of these goals, falling back to three in the second and four in the third. Norwood scored three in the first, one in the second and two in the third.

Garvey scored five of Campbellford's goals and had one assist. Dooher and Fields followed up with two each to their credit, Gilbson and Wilson one each. Norwood's goals were by Harrin, three and McMillian one.

Campbellford—Goal, West; defence, Baker and Hendricks; centre, Garvey; wings, Dooher and Wilson; alternates, Petherick, Holmes, Hagerman, Gibson, Ferguson, Girard, Fields, Ingram.

Norwood: Goal, Fullerton; defence, Hamilton and Buchanan; centre, Chase; wings, Ruttan and McMillian; alternates, Fredericks, Smith, Miles, Lockhead, Harrin, Rusaw, Hannon.

Referee, Jack Free, Campbellford; linesman, Hartley Morrison.

Dutchmen Clinch Playoff Spot By Downing Brantford 7-2

By The Canadian Press.

Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen clinched a playoff berth in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A League Saturday by downing Brantford Redmen 7-2 while Owen Sound Mercurys were gaining a 6-4 decision from Sarnia Sailors.

Sunday afternoon Junior A play saw Toronto St. Michael's retain a fourth-place deadlock with the surging St. Catharines Teepees by edging Waterloo Hurricanes 4-3 at Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto. In the other half of the twin bill, Marlboros blasted third-place Galt Black Hawks 9-4 to strengthen their hold on the 10-team league leadership.

Sunday's other game at Windsor saw Teepees continue their winning ways by downing the ninth-place Spitfires 9-3.

In Saturday's junior action Galt Black Hawks swamped Barrie Flyers 8-1 while Kitchener Greenshirts clipped Oshawa Generals 6-3 and St. Catharines drubbed Waterloo 10-5.

Greatest Blow

Biggest blow of the weekend befell third-place Galt. They lost the services of Ken Wharram, third in the league scoring race. He broke his collarbone in a collision with Wally Maxwell of the Marlboros in Sunday afternoon's opener at Maple Leaf Gardens.

Owen Sound scorers were Harry Kazarian, Bill McDonald, Mike Bukacheski, Andy Grant, Tommy Burlington and Bill McComb. Ollie Haddon collected two for Sarnia. The others went to George Gosselin and Vern Gardiner.

Don Bauer punched in two Kitchener goals and Maurice Levesque, Scotty Mair, Doug Verity, Ed Stankiewicz and Ed Kulik added the others. Lloyd Ferguson banged in both Brantford goals.

Rod McElroy and Parker MacDonald each tallied twice to lead Toronto Marlboros' attack. Ted Reid, Chuck Lumsden, Dave Reid, Louis Bendo and Danny Poland came through with the others. Tommy Fyles, John Hill, Mike Buchanan and Pete Conacher scored for Galt.

Butch Ratchford notched two for St. Mike's. Ron Wallace and Jim Logan pushed in the others. John Armstrong, Jerry Horton and Tommy Ford countered for Waterloo.

Frank Martin's three goals led St. Catharines at Waterloo, Pierre Pilote and Carl Boone adding two each. Ken Myle, Brian Cullen and Gerald Foley sank singletons. Two Hurricane goals went to Ken McNeil. Roger Maisonneuve, Jerry Horton and Charlie Brooker scored the rest.

Greenshirt Stars

Mike Holowaty and Orv Tessier were the Greenshirt stars with two goals each. Joe Ingoldsby and Frank Toyota added singles. Herve Dejordy and Neil McDonald came through with two each and Tony Poeta added the others for the winners.

Brian Cullen and Ron Richmond paced St. Catharines' Sunday attack with two goals each. Chuck Marshall, Red Myles, Pierre Pilote, Willy Haas and Gerry Foley added the others. Bob Brown, Lorne Watters and Joe Zorica were the Windsor marksmen.

Penalty Box Boys Get Break In Norway

OSLO, Feb. 11 (AP).—Hockey players are not fragile things, but the Norwegian Hockey Association has done everything in its power to make it comfortable for offenders in the Olympic penalty box.

At the Jordal ice rink where most of the matches will be played, four glamorous Oslo girls will be in charge of players' refreshment box. During the intervals between periods, they will serve hot tea to the players.

The hockey players are expected to gulp down 3,000 cups of tea during the tournament.

The first aid corps at the rink will be doubled and a doctor will be at hand if the going gets rough.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . to be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 35c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

Montreal Club Wins Memorial Shield

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que., Feb. 11 (CP).—E. L. Gallagher's Montreal West rink Sunday won the Albert MacLaren Memorial Shield for the second successive year at the 11th annual Irons Bonspiel for the trophy. They defeated Jack Bradley's Ottawa team 11-10 in the final game.

Members of the winning four were H. G. Clark, P. Millar, A. R. Tinker and skip Gallagher. Bradley's rink included Ed Crain as lead, Lorne Armstrong, second and Ossie O'Brien, third.

This was the third occasion that the shield has gone to the Montreal West club.

In preliminary rounds Montreal West defeated M. J. Blakely, Pembroke, 14-4.

In the finals of a consolation event, C. L. Gulley of Pembroke, Ont., downed W. Williamson of Ottawa Rideau 11-5.

Fred Martin Hits 844

Anthony's of the men's City Bowling League, rolled pinnage of 3,590 this past week as Sunocos rolled a neat 1,259 single game. Fred Martin of Bassel's rolled the high triple as he proceeded to climb up the ladder in the average race with a smashing 844. Claude Cornwell, hefty heaver of Clapper's Sports, helped himself to a case of coco-cola in taking single honors with 356 and keeps him on top of the heap for the average on the season so far.

Roy Lewis of Sunocos was second best with 808 (350) and Frank O'Heron with 750 (301) also picked up a case of coco-cola for a 300 or better game donated by this firm.

Shutouts were prominent again this week as whitewashes were applied by Bassels, Madill & Post, Bonds; McGillis over Clapper's; De Laval; Kawartha Garage and Ted Moore's, for 6-0 point wins. Anthony's had a 4-2 points win over Sunocos.

Two minutes' silence was observed before league activities began in commemoration of the passing of the late King George VI.

Peewees In Keen Tilts

NORWOOD, Feb. 11 (ENS). — The first of the peewee games were played Saturday afternoon with a doubleheader between Maple Leafs and Red Wings, and the Black Hawks and Bruins in the Norwood arena.

The first game was a tie 1-1 with George Cassidy getting the Leafs' lone goal in the first period unassisted. Neil Telford got the Red Wings' tally with an assist from B. Hannivan. Teams:

Maple Leafs: Goal, D. Shorten; defence, F. Morgan, D. McManus; centre, G. Cassidy; wings, G. Paxton, John Stewart; alternates, M. Redden, J. Anderson, B. Ranson, J. Leeper.

Red Wings: Goal, B. Mullen, defence, N. Telford, Bob Hannivan; centre, M. Long; wings, R. Stewart, Bill Hannivan; alternates, J. Shorten, T. Tolley, J. Scott, G. Kavanagh. Coach, Irwin Warner.

In the second game the Hawks took the Bruins 4 to 2. In the first period W. Smith started the scoring for the Hawks unassisted with Heffernan for Bruins tying it up.

In the second, K. Bedore scored on a pass from Smith and Long. Long scored from Smith seconds later. In the last period J. Terpstra got Boston's goal and V. Mullen scored for the Hawks.

Lineup

Boston: Goal, J. Ferguson; defence, L. Gordon, R. Waldon; centre, E. Heffernan; wings, J. Terpstra, W. Bland; alternates, M. Ranson, R. Hamblin, G. Irwin, J. Byer, B. Byer. Coach, Donald Audas.

Black Hawks: Goal, L. Shorten; defence, K. Bedore, R. Millett; centre, W. Smith; wings, P. Long, V. Mullen; alternates, R. Paxton, S. Dickenson, D. Hannivan, G. Golloher, Coach Bob Garden.

Morrow Gets Seven For Hastings' Boys

HASTINGS, Feb. 11 (ENS). — Hastings juveniles advanced into the next round of the O.M.H.A. playdowns as they trounced Flinton 9-2 here in the return game after tying the first game at Flinton 4-4.

A good-sized crowd saw Jim Morrow run wild as he rapped in seven goals and just could not be stopped. Flinton evened the scoring by F. Hasler, but W. Fisher tied it up in a nice play from Forde and D. Fisher. Then Morrow scored his first goal to put the locals in front, and from there in it was Hastings' night.

F. Hasler was best man for Flinton, as he scored both goals, but Morow overshadowed every man on the ice.

Hastings are without the services of Paul Stevenson, Morrow's linemate, presently on the sick list, but it is hoped to have him back for the next series.

Hastings — Goal, Montgomery; defence, Crowley and Fisher; centre, Morrow; wings, Fisher and Forde; alternates, McMillan, Post, Orr, Wilson, Lynch, Fairman, and Condon.

Flinton — Goal, Blair; defence, Northey and York; centre, F. Hasler; wings, C. Lessard and Black; alternates, Cox, G. Kerr, D. Kerr, B. Hasler, Thomlinson, L. Hawley.

Scotland's Officials Proclaim Elizabeth

BARRHEAD, Scotland, Feb. 11 —(Reuters)—Queen Elizabeth II was proclaimed in at least two Scottish towns merely as "Elizabeth" and not "Elizabeth I"—because she is the first Elizabeth to become Queen of Scotland.

Provost R. L. Hutchison of Barrhead said Sunday that he omitted the number when reading the proclamation of the Queen's Accession Friday.

"There was no political significance in it," he said, "and no disrespect was intended in any way. It was just a mild reminder of Scottish history."

"Provost C. Stewart Black, of Paisley, who is a notable Scottish historian, proclaimed the new Queen in the same way," Hutchison said.

England and Scotland were separate kingdoms until the death of England's Queen Elizabeth I April 10, 1603.

Millbrook Victors

MILLBROOK, Feb. 11 (ENS).—In the first game of the semi-finals of the O.H.A. Junior D, Millbrook beat Sunderland 8-7 in Sunderland before a jammed arena on Friday night. Although they lacked two of their best players, Ginn and Crawford, in the final stanza, Millbrook pushed Sunderland team into their own end and kept their goalie busy stopping shot after shot. Unable to hold the fast-moving Sunderland aggregation during the regular schedule, Millbrook team was delighted with Friday's game. McGill, Handley, and Walling were responsible for two goals apiece, and Hutchison and Fox for singles for Millbrook.

As usual, Cameron and Nicholson were outstanding for Sunderland.

The return game will be played in the Millbrook-Cavan Memorial Arena on Tuesday night. The winners of the semi-finals will go on to meet Orono.

Bantams In Hastings

HASTINGS, Feb. 11 (ENS). — The Chamber of Commerce Hockey League is to have four teams of bantam age.

The games are to be played each Saturday morning at 10 a.m. When ice is available the captains are responsible for having their teams on hand and ready to go.

Maple Leafs—Coaches, J. Essex and J. Jones, J. Ibey, Capt.; P. Humphries, M. Smullen, D. Mace, C. Clarke, R. Essex, K. Scriver, R. Switzer, J. Barry, M. Barry.

Red Wings: Coches, Bruce Scott, L. Hill, G. Fisher, K. Ibey, J. English, I. McConnell, K. Montgomery, A. Switzer, G. Duff, R. Waddell, E. Lynch.

Canadiens coaches: C. Scriver, W. Armstrong, W. Marsh, Capt. B. Jones, R. Tripp, P. Mace, S. Radford, E. Scriver, J. Dainard, B. Andrews, S. Fisher, W. Woodcock.

Bruins: coaches, A. Thompson, C. Lockhart, D. Fairman, capt., R. Jones, P. Crate, K. English, J. Thompson, K. Grieves, T. Baker, Perce Scriver, J. Sullivan, R. Simpson.

Schedule

Feb. 16—Maple Leafs vs. Canadiens. Red Wings vs. Bruins.

Feb. 23—Canadiens vs. Red Wings. Bruins vs. Maple Leafs.

March 1—Bruins vs. Canadiens, Red Wings vs. Maple Leafs.

Two Puck Shutouts

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 11 — (ENS)—Two shutouts were chalked up by the town league teams here Friday when Fish & Game defeated Kinsmen 2-0, and Seymour West gave Seymour East a real shellacking to the tune of 7-0. The Legion team was busy putting on an exhibition game in Warkworth being defeated 5 to 2 by the Warkworth youngsters.

A rather small crowd saw the games on Friday night, but the crowds are becoming large and larger as the season goes on, as word gets around of the brand of hockey the youngsters are capable of turning out.

How Many Dead In Red China? Estimates High

By FRED HAMPSON.

HONG KONG, Feb. 11 (AP)—How many persons have the Communists killed in their 18-month purge of party enemies in Red China?

The question is asked frequently in the Far East. In the opinion of Hong Kong observers at least, even Peiping itself doesn't know the full score.

Estimates run from 250,000 to more than 5,000,000 purge victims.

An inkling of the toll is contained in a recent report of Shen Chun-ju, chief justice of the Communist Supreme People's Court.

Shen said during the first half of 1951 the Reds brought 820,285 cases to trial. At the end of that period "there still was an accumulation of untried cases."

There was no official hint what number was shot, how many were sent to labor camps or prisons, or how many were released.

If the 820,285 can be taken as an average number of Chinese brought to trial during each six months, about 2,500,000 to 3,280,000 have faced purge courts in the last 18 months to two years.

Hong Kong observers do not think Peiping knows the full toll because there seems to be little doubt that many county and township commissars or courts did a lot of purging on their own, without reference to the Communist capital.

NEW CROWN: As Princess and heir to England's throne, Elizabeth wore a coronet for this picture during her visit to Canada last Fall. Now she'll wear a crown as Britain's first ruling queen since the reign of Victoria.

Elizabeth Like Victoria Quiet and Family-Loving

LONDON — (NEA)—Victoria was probably the best-loved monarch Great Britain ever had, and she ruled for the longest time. Elizabeth, the new Queen, ascends to the throne already assured of a warm place in the hearts of her subjects. Whether she will ever match Victoria as a revered Queen is a matter for history to decide.

But Britons see in her the same qualities for winning affection that Victoria had. She has respect for her people. She is a quiet, family-loving woman, a person of great dignity and honor. She is, like Victoria, a woman who could be called "Queenly" even if she weren't a real queen.

Victoria's father, like Elizabeth's, was a younger son. There seemed little likelihood that Edward, Duke of Kent, the fourth son of George III, would ever sire a queen. But the only child of George's eldest son died, and the next two sons had no children, so Victoria became next in line.

She was carefully trained as a future queen. She never slept away from her mother, and she was forbidden to talk to grown-ups alone. These rigid measures made her an unchildlike child, and gave her a dignity that was consistent with her position. But it didn't make her a happy girl.

Queen at 18

In 1837, when Victoria was 18, she became queen. The chamberlain awoke her in the early morning and calmly spoke the words "Your Majesty!" She was Queen Victoria.

Thus began a reign that was as diferent from the original Elizabeth's as it is from the reign that the new Queen will have. Whereas Elizabethan England was a period of loose carousing, Victorian England was straight-laced and severe.

But both eras were golden days for England. Under Victoria—and her brilliant prime ministers, Palmerston, Gladstone, Disraeli—England's expansion reached its peak. The nation became an empire, with the addition of India, and Victoria became an empress. The new queen will not have that title.

Love of Her Family

Next to her country, Victoria's abiding love was her family. Her consort, Albert, and her children—she had nine, including the future King Edward VII—made up a closely-knit happy circle.

The marriage of Victoria and Albert was an arranged union. Albert had been carefully coached for the job of a future consort. The happiness of the marriage came after it was a fact, and blossomed with the years. Albert's death, when Victoria was 42, was a heavy blow.

It is here that the present Queen differs most from Victoria. Her marriage was a love match. Philip and Elizabeth met when she was 13 and he 17. The Royal family was visiting the Royal Naval College, and Philip, as "Captain's Doggie," had to entertain the two princesses while the King was inspecting.

It's difficult to say that love came at once to a 13-year-old girl, but if it wasn't love at least it was close friendship and admiration. Love came later and open-minded King George VI let Elizabeth choose her own husband. Her choice was Philip.

Elizabeth's training for her future role was just as intense, although not as firm, as Victoria's. Her grandmother, Queen Mary, was a kindly teacher in the ways of queenship. Once Queen Mary troduced her to an old friend, who greeted her, "How do you do, Lady Elizabeth."

The child Princess stiffened and said, "It's Princess, not Lady."

Her grandmother spoke up quickly, "Yes, it's only princess now, but we are hoping when she grows up she will be a lady."

Through the tutoring of the Queen Mother and Queen Elizabeth, the princess did grow into a lady worthy of the name. Her graciousness on her tour of Canada last October won her the respect of all who met her.

Shortly after becoming Queen, Victoria wrote: "I have so many communications from the ministers, and from me to them, and I get so many papers to sign every day, that I always have a very great deal to do. I delight in this work."

The new queen was equally zealous as she trained for the day that arrived with her father's death. When she was 18, she made he debut in the ceremonial role which is a big part of the royal family's work.

She reviewed the guard at Windsor Castle. Afterwards, she went to her father and asked, anxiously, "How did I do, Daddy?"

The King tapped a cigarette against his case and smiled at his eager daughter. "Very well, my girl," he said.

And throughout Great Britain and the dominions across the seas, the prayer and the expectation are that Elizabeth will continue to do very well. With the model of Victoria shining from the history books she studied so carefully, Britain believes that she will.

Five Enter Ring For Presidency Mexico Election

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 11 (AP)—The election to fill the $250-a-week job of President of Mexico is months away, but the campaign already is in full swing.

Five candidates are in the field. They were nominated in December, seven months before the July 6 balloting.

As usual, the candidate of the official government party seems most likely to win. The party has never lost an election. But some political veterans think the opposition has the best chance in many years.

For one thing, they believe Mexico has matured politically to a point where the opposition can win without violence.

Under Mexico's constitution the president serves six years but cannot succeed himself. This means President Miguel Aleman will go out of office Dec. 1.

The candidates are:

Aldolfo Ruiz Cortines for the government's party of revolutionary institutions.

Miguel Henriquez Guzman for the Federation of Peoples' Parties. Henriquez is considered the likely winner if the government party should lose.

Vincente Lombardo Toledano, for the popular and communist parties.

Efrain Gonzalez Luna for the Conservative National Action party.

Candido Aguilar, nominated by the small Independent Revolutionary party.

Was Army Paymaster

Ruiz Cortinez, 61-year-old government official, was an army paymaster during the Mexican revolution, 1910-20. He has served as Aleman's secretary of the interior.

Ruiz Cortines' enemies are making capital of his age, but people who have accompanied him on his campaign trips say his energy wears out his younger followers.

Henriquez Guzman, 53, a retired general now a contractor, is one of the richest men in the country. His personal fortune is estimated at more than $50,000,000 He has promised, if elected, to maintain "a sincere and decorous understanding" with the United States.

Lombardo Toledano is admitted even by his enemies to be one of the smartest men in Mexican politics. He calls himself "A Marxist without a party" but there is no indication he disagrees with old-line Communism.

Gonzalez Luna is a lawyer, specializing in constitutional law.

Candico Aguilar, 64-year-old veteran of the revolution, is waging a personal campaign. His platform is to realize the aims of the revolution.

The main issue is the capacity of the several parties to carry out the revolutionary ideals and promote the welfare of the common man.

Married men over 18, bachelors over 21, not only can but by law must vote. The census shows there are about 5,500,000 eligible voters. Registration for the 1946 presidential election was only 2,790,000 of which 90 per cent voted.

Bancroft Auxiliary Plans Furnishings

BANCROFT, Feb. 11—(ENS)—February meeting of the Evening Auxiliary of St. Paul's United Church was held Tuesday evening in the church, with Mrs. C. A. Eddy presiding. The devotional period was led by Mrs. C. Bierworth, assisted by Mrs. C. Andrews. Mrs. C. F. Hibbard was organist for the hymns.

During the business session, the secretary, Mrs. A. W. Smith, and treasurer Mrs. D. Grant, reported. Mrs. G. French reported for the visiting committee and Mrs. Hibbard for the talent money committee. Mrs. A. Hewitt brought in a list of final items to complete the furnishing of the new parsonage. An effort will be made to have these added before the dedication ceremony which is planned tentatively for May.

Mrs. Duncan Grant was reappointed representative to the Red Cross Hospital Auxiliary. A program centring on the Valentine theme was conducted by Mrs. W. Hutton and Mrs. E. Mather. Selections of poetry and prose were read, concluding with Tolstoy's story "Where Love Is, God Is." Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. A. Towle, Mrs. J. Young and Mrs. Harold Watson.

It Takes An Epic Sea Saga To Upset Calm Of Lloyd's

By CHARLES E. WHITING

LONDON, Feb. 11 (AP)—The saga of Capt. Kurt Carlsen and his Flying Enterprise succeeded in doing what few maritime exploits have achieved before.

It upset the monumental decorum of a venerable British institution known simply as Lloyd's.

The business of writing marine insurance and accepting countless other types of risks went on as usual. But often, during the 14-day struggle of man against the sea, brokers, underwriters and clerks slipped away to seek late newspaper editions relating details on the fate of the dauntless Dane and his gale-battered ship.

When the battle was lost and the Flying Enterprise lay at the bottom of the Atlantic, Lloyd's called in the shy skipper and pinned on him its silver medal for having "worthily upheld the highest traditions of the sea."

Then the 3,000 men and women who handle Lloyd's vast daily business dropped their traditional British reserve with a ringing "three cheers."

It was an occasion as rare at Lloyd's as failure to knock off work in mid-afternoon for a spot of tea.

It is difficult to describe Lloyd's Its articles of incorporation sidestep the issue by describing it as "an establishment or society" for effecting marine insurance "more generally known as Lloyd's."

Back to Coffee House

Lloyd's humble origins actually go back to the 17th-century coffee house owned by Edward Lloyd. There were few newspapers then so the proprietors of coffee houses sometimes gathered tid-bits of information from their customers and published this intelligence for the edification of all.

Shipping Register

For some reason—lost in antiquity—many of the city's merchant-insurers began making a habit of dropping in at Lloyd's. Soon there appeared Lloyd's News—a sort of news-letter of shipping information.

The shipping list gradually acquired correspondents in ports through the world.

Their reports were sped to the coffee house by a never-explained arrangements with the postmaster-general which began around 1734. This gave Lloyd's group of underwriters an edge on competitors.

By 1764, the coffee house group was publishing its own register of shipping.

More and more underwriters were attracted to Lloyd's and in 1774 it leased quarters in the Royal Exchange.

Lloyd's now has its own spacious quarters in Leadenhall Street, hard by the Bank of England.

The one big thing that sets Lloyd's apart from orthodox insurance companies is that their underwriters still do business as "private and particular persons."

Each underwriter is responsible down to the last penny of his estate for any share of the risk he accepts.

Instal New Officers At Cavan WA. Meet

CAVAN, Feb. 11—(ENS)—The W.A. of Cavan United Church met at the home of Mrs. Milton Carr on Wednesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Ray Syer, was in the chair. A two minute silence was observed in honor of the passing of King George VI.

The Rev. A. M. Butler, installed the officers: Mrs. Ray Syer, president; Mrs. H. Snyder, treasurer; Mrs. Fred Byers, secretary; Mrs. Milton Carr, missionary secretary-treasurer.

It was decided to hold a pancake and crokinole social in the Sunday school rooms on March 11. After the business discussion the following program was given: Mrs. William Newall read the story of a hymn composition; Mrs. Milton Carr read the poem, Let us be a Little Kinder; Mrs. Mellville Carr read the chapter from the study book. There were 16 members present.

Officials Cool To Secret Report Plan

TORONTO, Feb. 11 — (CP).—A suggestion by the University of Toronto that high school teachers submit confidential reports on the suitability of students for university met with a cool response on Saturday from Ontario education officials.

The suggestion was made Friday by Dr. Sidney Smith and followed his annual report two weeks ago in which he expressed alarm at the number of students failing in university. He also had questioned whether the methods of accepting students and their high school teaching were adequate.

Education Minister Dunlop said Dr. Smith's plan is "entirely new—it's never been considered before in my 50 years in the field." The presnt systeme had "worked well for a good many years and any new plan should not take priority over examination marks."

Could Be Prejudiced

He conceded confidential reports would involve teacher-pupil relations. "But teachers are pretty sensible people," he said. "They don't usually let personal feelings stand in their way."

Dr. Harry Paikin, chairman of the Hamilton Board of Education, said: "I'm sure no Board of Education would sanction the proposal and I know I wouldn't here."

A great deal of harm could arise from such a situation, he said. "It could happen, and sometimes does hapuen, that a particular teacher and a particular student don't get along, through no fault of either. Some prejudice could then creep in."

A. D. Boyce, chairman of the St. Catharines Board of Education, said universities should raise the entrance requirements if they are dissatisfied. In many cases teachers would probably not be capable of forming an objective and accurate judgment of the student's capabilities.

YEARS OF TRADITION

LONDON, Feb. 11.—The crowd stood in London streets Monday in bitter cold under rain waiting for the coffin of George VI to be borne to Westminster Hall. Some of them had waited in the cold all night and from early morning outside Westminster Hall to see the King lying-in-state. The line of people who wanted to see that stately sight reached far along the embankment. This is not because they were slaves or snobs. There is no servitude in British loyalty.

They were returning thanks to their King for favors received. He had been so good a man that his existence made it plain how little it is necessary for life on this earth to be ugly and he'd fulfilled punctiliously the Royal duty of living in public so we all had first-hand knowledge of his goodness and knew it to be a fact and no press agent's fairy tale.

Not Virtuous Peasantry Edified By Saintly Squire

Heaven forbid that I should print a picture of us British as, so to speak, virtuous peasantry edified by the example of a saintly squire. Let's not pretend on such a day that we are all nice people. All of us owed him a debt to some degree. Many of us stood in the cold, many are still standing out in weather to acknowledge this debt. That's really why they are waiting outside Westminster Hall today and will wait there tomorrow and the day after.

Of course, many are there just to see the show. But that would please King George who loved England. For it is supremely beautiful and it is distinctively English. You wouldn't see such a sight anywhere else in the world but just there in Westminster. The setting is marvellous. It is all but a thousand years old and it was built when architecture was sturdy and solemn, giving churches and palaces something of a durable quality and giving bars and every other homely building something of an exalted quality of churches and palaces because men saw life whole and knew that all of it was sacred. All the sober and strong lines of its stone walls speak of an intention to survive and the roof which is without parallel in the world declares that it is no end of fun to survive. Rafters are carved like angels. Twenty-four of them are up there leaning out into space and singing alleluias.

Coffin Set In Centre Of This Great Hall

In the middle of it is the coffin that yesterday was so chilling a sight as it came into the palace yard on a gun carriage. Then it caused a primitive reaction to death which we all feel when it touches one with whom we are deeply familiar.

It seemed just a box into which they had shut the King who we all knew so well, whom Londoners had seen so often going home at night in his big car, sitting back with a distinctive gallant obstinate attitude of a man who is delicate and gets tired easily but has kept the character of a healthy man and dislikes giving way.

One felt that someone must have made a mistake. It couldn't be true that the mechanism which worked so well should suddenly be damaged so that it cannot be mended, that it is of no use and has to be put away.

But at the porch of Westminster Hall there were waiting women of the Royal Family who were transferred by emotion, as photographs show, into a group which had exchanged that ordinary life for the beauty and significance of a great picture. Queen Mary did not seem like any single mortal woman. She seemed like a woman who has seen her children die before her. A reversal of the natural order of things.

Reaction Of Three Sour and Grudging Souls

This morning I walked away from Westminster behind three women who were going to spend the morning doing housework in some flats in the west end. They were three sour and grudging souls. Their malice was not due to resentment at poverty. They were warmly clad and to use the test which is supplied by a people who, like myself, have known what it is to be poor, they had good shoes. And indeed poverty had nothing to do with this sort of venom. I have known very rich women who smile as they do. Nothing seemed to please them, not even the clear morning and blue sky. They had jeering comment for every person who passed them who looked happy or prosperous and the zebra crossings, black and white grids on our streets which indicated where pedestrians have priority, gave them great opportunities. Briskly walking so long as they were on the pavement, they slowed down to a pace at the crossings which would have seemed slow to a centenarian and grinned at motor cars they held up and said: "Let the so-and-so wait."

I don't think they suffered from a frustrated longing for motor cars. They were perfectly contented just getting in the way of people who had motor cars and were using them to go about their business.

Yet the blight lifted from them every now and then when they saw some black hung window or some flag at half staff. Then they spoke of the King. They said that he was a very fair man, he had been just like anyone else at those boys' club camps. They knew boys who had been there. And he had stayed in London during the blitz and he was not like those blasted millionaires with their film stars. He had never looked at anybody but his wife and why should he? She had a lovely smile when she came around the shelters. And it was apparent when the three talked of the King and his wife and daughters that they too had marvelled as all of us had at photographs showing the family which had not lost its Eden. These women's minds were really darker than might have been hoped for children of modern civilization and can rarely have initiated generous thought or action. But through King George they had received intimation that there was such a thing as generosity, that life could be lived with sweetness.

Showdown Avoided By Egyptians

Wafdist Leaders Will Continue Support Premier

CAIRO, Feb. 12. (CP)—Wafdist party leaders decided today to continue support of Premier Aly Maher Pasha's non-party government for the time being, apparently avoiding an immediate showdown.

An informant from the Nationalist party of former Premier Mustapha Nahas Pasha said the action was taken by the Wafdist parliamentary group at a meeting of more than three hours.

The group agreed to "continue support of the Maher Pasha cabinet until the basis of its policy is clearly revealed," said the informant.

The Maher Pasha government has indicated it is not adverse to negotiating with Britain. Wafdists have shown no signs of compromising on their demands for complete Egyptian rule over the Sudan and withdrawal of British forces from the Suez Canal zone.

Emergency Session

Earlier today, Maher Pasha, called an emergency session of his cabinet amid rumors that the Wafdists were heading for a break with his government. Rumors said the premier was considering asking King Farouk to dissolve parliament, dominated by the Wafdists.

The crisis was prompted by weekend disclosures about the rioting of Jan. 26—"black Saturday"—in which the press battled over whether or not Fuad Serag El Din Pasha, then minister of the interior, was mainly responsible.

Newspapers carried a statement today that "the chief of the army has informed the premier that the army performed its duty from the moment it was asked to intervene."

The Egyptian newspaper Al Ahram said today that casualties in the Jan. 26 rioting totalled 552, including 26 dead. Thirteen of those killed were inside Barclay's Banks, one outside the bank and nine at the British Turf Club, the paper said.

Many Speculate On Duke's Role

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP) — The Duke of Windsor will decide for himself what role he will play in the funeral services Friday for his brother, King George VI.

Informants close to the Royal family said today nothing could be announced about his plans until the Duke arrives from New York Wednesday.

The Duke has often made known his resentment that his wife was never taken into the Royal family circle.

He is still the ranking Royal Duke in point of age. The others are the Duke of Edinburgh, Queen Elizabeth II's husband, and the Duke of Gloucester, younger brother of the late King and of Windsor.

In that role he could walk ahead of both Edinburgh and Gloucester in the funeral procession, and directly behind the Queen herself, informants at Buckingham Palace said.

Asked what part the Duke of Windsor would take in funeral ceremonies, a court spokesman said: "He must make the decision. He will be asked when he arrives Wednesday."

Canada To Observe Mourning Till May 31

OTTAWA, Feb. 12 (CP)—Canada will observe the same period of official mourning as the United Kingdom—to Saturday, May 31—officials said today.

They explained that Queen Elizabeth's decision that the London court go into mourning for that period applies as well to all of the courts of her realms, including Rideau Hall, the residence of Canada's governor-general.

It means that the Canadian government will hold no social or state functions until June 1, when the court goes out of mourning. It is expected the diplomatic corps will follow suit and not hold any formal social functions during that time.

Reds Have New Peace Plan

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 12. (AP)—Communists promised today to come up with a new plan for patching up the latest truce trouble spot—recommendations to governments for a final Korean peace. The Reds did not indicate when it would be ready or what it would be like. Truce negotiators adjourned their full-dress meetings until the new plan is ready. Presumably it will come from Pyongyang or Peiping. Communists made two concessions Tuesday in another truce tent where staff officers are trying to work out machinery for supervising a truce. Reds offered to boost limits on monthly rotation of troops to 30,000 and establish four ports of entry for incoming troops and war materials to be inspected by neutral teams. The Allies said the figures are not high enough. They are asking a 40,000 rotation limit and eight entry ports.

Previous Offer

The previous Red proposals were 25,000 troops and three ports.

Staff officers working on the third unsettled point of an armistice remained split on two issues and a number of "minor places and wording," said Col. George W. Hickman, Allied staff officer.

The major differences are voluntary repatriation of prisoners of war and the scope of work to be done by joint Red Cross teams. Tuesday's session was devoted mostly to the second question. Hickman said the Reds indicated they want Red Cross operations "considerably restricted."

Communists proposed letting Red Cross teams work out their own agreement on specific jobs and methods of working. Brig.-Gen. William P. Nuckols, official U.N. spokesman, said this would give the Reds an "automatic veto" over Red Cross activities.

Before offering to produce a new set of Red policy recommendations, North Korean Gen. Nam Il accepted the Allied position that whatever recommendations are adopted would not be binding on the proposed later high level political conference.

Belonged To PC Executive Cloyne Partisanship Charge

KINGSTON, Feb. 12. (CP)—The Kingston Whig-Standard in a newspage story today quotes "an Ottawa source" as saying that a charge of partisanship laid against Robert S. Wise, postmaster at Cloyne, is based on the allegation that he is a member of the Progressive Conservative party executive for the Federal riding of Frontenac-Addington.

The appointment of Hugh Gibson, city solicitor, as commissioner to investigate the charge is announced in the current issue of The Canada Gazette.

Mr. Wise, appointed June 10, 1948, as postmaster at Cloyne, 50 miles northwest of here, has denied he is a member of the party executive.

Civil service regulations ban Federal employees from participating actively in politics.

Blames Petty Jealousy

W. R. Aylesworth, Federal Progressive Conservative member for Frontenac-Addington said today in an interview that "petty jealousy" may be behind the partisanship charge.

Similar charges, Mr. Aylesworth said, could be laid against other postmasters, supporters of the present Liberal administration, "some of them not far from Kingston."

He said he had never known Mr. Wise to utter a word of politics during an election campaign or at any other time since he took over the pastmaster's job.

Mr. Aylesworth said he understood Mr. Wise and his mother were known as Conservatives, but added: "Has it got to the time when you can't be a P.C.?"

Mr. Gibson said Monday he had not been informed of his appointment as commissioner to investigate the charge. The Gazette said the appointment was effective January 29.

Stern Note Sent To Russia

TOKYO, Feb. 12 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway today sent a sharply-worded note to Soviet authorities, denouncing Russian seizure of Japanese fishing vessels.

The Allied supreme commander accused the Reds of grabbing some 178 fishing craft in violation of the occupation agreement, and "contrary to all principles of international law and custom."

Ridgway charged the Reds confiscated 29 of the boats and wrecked one. He said 33 disappeared without a trace; one escaped and the other 114 eventually were released.

He also accused the Russians of holding many of the fishermen captive, subjecting them to "prolonged interrogations, most of which have had nothing to do with the alleged violations of the fishing area but on the contrary have been solely for the purpose of securing political, economic and military information concerning conditions in Japan."

He also said the Russians tried to levy fines in U.S. dollars against some captains "on the totally unsupported grounds of their having 'plundered' fish in Soviet 'territorial' waters."

Killed By Terrorists

SINGAPORE, Feb. 12 (Reuters)—The British assistant superintendent of police and three constables were killed today when Communist terrorists ambushed an armored car in the Kuala Selangor district of Selangor state. Two police officers and two constables were wounded.

Plan Funeral As Carefully As Big Military Operation

LONDON, Feb. 12 — (AP) — Military plans with the detail and precision of a wartime operation were made today for the funeral and burial of the King.

Most of the military roles in the state ceremony Friday are being rehearsed over and over by the men who will perform them in London and at Windsor, where the monarch is to be buried.

Sailors from the Royal Navy gunnery school, H.M.S. Excellent, had a dress rehearsal in pulling by hand the gun carriage which will carry the body part of the way from Windsor station to St. George's Chapel inside Windsor Castle.

This tradition began at Queen Victoria's funeral in 1901. On that occasion six big ba horses hitched to the gun carriage were commanded to "walk, march" but the two lead horses reared up and all six fell down. In the emergency a naval guarl of honor was ordered to pull the carriage to the castle, and the custom has been followed since.

The gun carriage to be used Friday is the same green-grey one used to carry the coffin of Queen Victoria.

Troops will be stationed almost shoulder to shoulder along the three-mile route, resting on their reversed rifles as the procession passes.

Military officers used measuring sticks to plan the departure at Paddington station's platform No. 8, where the king's coffin will be placed in the same teakwood funeral coach that brought the body from Sandringham yesterday.

Railway workers, volunteering for the task, placed drapes of black and royal purple in the station. Wooden stands to hold several hundred people are being erected along the platform.

Fifty-six artillery salvoes, one for each year of the King's life, will be fired at one-minute intervals during the procession. Big Ben, the famous clock on Westminster Hall, will start tolling as the procession starts and will not resume its regular striking of the hours until noon.

If He Can Aid Peace Truman May Run

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—Representative Adolph Sabath (Dem. Ill.) quoted President Truman today as saying he may be willing to seek re-election if he feels it necessary to speed the peace.

Sabath talked with reporters after a call on Truman.

He said Truman told him the president's work "is a killing job" but that if he "actually felt he would be of aid and help to America and the world in bringing about a peace," in that case he would be willing to "sacrifice" himself and possibly shorten his life expectancy.

Sabath is chairman of the House of Representatives Rules Committee.

U.K. Adverse Balance Slashed By 15 P.C.

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP).—Britain's exports hit an all-time record in January, and the country's adverse trade balance was slashed by 15 per cent, the Board of Trade announced today.

It was the first sign that Winston Churchill's policy of drastic economies to put Britain's listing economy on an even keel is taking effect.

The Board of Trade said exports in January are estimated at the record value of £250,000,000, six per cent higher than the monthly average for the second half of 1951.

Imports were estimated at £357,000,000—about the same value, although because of rising prices, smaller in quantity, than the average for the second half of 1951.

Theft Of Precipitates 'Inside Job' Manager Tells Police

Hooded Bandits Waylaid Three Workmen Then Carried Away 500 Pounds of Loot On Big Toboggan

TIMMINS, Feb. 12. (CP)—The Aunor Gold Mines near here was robbed today of $25,000 worth of gold precipitates by two or three hodded men and Mine Manager R. E. Findlay said it was "an inside job." He said the bandits, who waylaid and bound three workmen one at a time, "had an intimate knowledge of the property" and knew that the gold was to have been refined today or Wednesday. An estimated $75,000 worth of precipitates was in the mine's presses at the time, ready for refining today.

The hooded men, wearing coveralls, entered the mine's property about four miles southeast of Timmins, by a back road.

They seized Yvon Guillemette, a flotations operator, when he was outside checking solution levels of tanks. After tying him up in a valve house—where the temperature was almost as cold as the 18 below zero outside—they smashed a lock and entered the mill where they bound two other workers, C. Craik and Antony Ferri.

Sounds Alarm

The first alarm was given at 4 a.m. by security guard Mike Yaschuk who notified provincial police and mine officials.

Officials estimated the time of the robbery was 3:15 a.m. and the robbers were frightened off when the time for the regular four o'clock rounds drew near. The robbers carried the precipitate one-quarter mile to a getaway car.

The robbers carried the gold precipitate to the car on a toboggan.

The scene of the robbery is 1½ miles from the Delnite Mine which was held up in November, 1951, when $35,000 was stolen.

Fourth Large Robbery

It was the fourth large robbery in the Porcupine area, which includes Timmins, Schumacher and South Porcupine, since June 2, 1950. Then, robbers took three gold bars valued at $75,000 from the Delnite Mine but the gold was recovered later.

Two months later, bandits took $96,000 in gold bricks from nearby Coniaurum Mines. The loot was recovered in the rear seat of a car on the highway. A faulty brake drum had apparently set the car on fire forcing the bandits

Elizabeth Keeps King's Secretary

LONDON, Feb. 12 (CP). — Queen Elizabeth II has appointed Sir Alan Lascelles to be her private secretary, it was learned today. He served the late King in the same post since 1943.

Sir Alan, 64, has been described as a man embodying the grace of Edwardian times. He was secretary to the Earl of Bessborough from 1931 to 1935 when the latter was Governor-General of Canada. Sir Alan was often consulted by the present Queen before she made her visit to Canada last October.

Belgian King Causes Crisis Over Funeral

BRUSSELS, Feb. 12 (CP). — The Social Christian government of Premier Jean Van Houtte was defeated in a vote in parliament today over Belgium's King Baudouin's decision not to attend personally the funeral of King George VI of Britain.

A Socialist-Liberal motion expressing regret at Baudouin's action and blaming the government was not presented as a vote of confidence, however. The vote was 91 to 84 with one abstention.

Young King Baudouin has deputized his 17-year-old brother, Prince Albert, to attend the funeral.

The Socialist newspaper Le Peuple said Monday the decision "will surprise and distress" Belgians. It said the government tried to persuade the King to change his mind.

One explanation is that Baudouin did not want to go himself because of the Prince of Wales, now the Duke of Windsor, instead of King George V, attended funeral services for Belgian King Albert in 1934.

Resents Criticism

Another explanation was that Baudouin resents British criticism of his father, the abdicated Leopold, for surrendering to the Germans in 1940.

Paul-Henri Spaak, Socialist leader, and Albert Deveze, Liberal leader, both called on Van Houtte to resign.

Van Houtte immediately began consultations with his party leaders on whether the adverse vote called for his resignation.

The Socialist opposition walked out of the chamber after a deputy told Van Houtte the opposition "has no longer any interest in parliamentary work owing to your attitude."

Van Houtte announced later, that he would not resign.

Funeral Details

LONDON, Feb. 12 (CP)—Time details of the King's funeral Friday:

9.30 a.m. (4.30 a.m. EST)—State funeral procession leaves Westminster Hall.

1.35 p.m.—Funeral train arrives at Windsor station from Paddington station, London.

1.50 p.m.—Procession leaves for St. George's Chapel, Windsor.

2 p.m.—Britain observes two minutes' silence as service in St. George's Chapel begins.

British Troops Raid Village Confiscate 23 Crude Bombs

ISMAILIA, Egypt, Feb. 12 — (Reuters)—British troops today raided a village near the trouble centre of Tel El Kebir and confiscated 23 crude bombs made out of empty beer cans.

A British military spokesman said the home-made bombs were found in the back room of a house. No attempt has been made to conceal them. Twelve of the cans had fuses and were ready to be detonated.

The raid was carried out on the village of El Hamada by a patrol of the East Lancashire Regiment.

Yesterday it had been announced that British military restrictions were being eased because of slackening tension and improved Egyptian police co-operation in the Suez Canal Zone, which has been the scene of scattered fighting and incidents since Egypt moved to throw out the British last October.

The spokesman also reported that a truck driven by an Egyptian tried unsuccessfully to force two R.A.F. vehicles off the road three miles north of El Firdan. The truck driver escaped.

Royal Dragoon Guards arrested two Egyptians near the junction of treaty road and Tel El Kebir road at dawn today.

An official British announcement said 12 officers and 38 men of the Egyptian auxiliary police were released in accordance with the relaxation of canal zone controls.

Politics, Money Proving Basic Hurdles For NATO

LISBON, Feb. 12 (AP)—Taking vital decisions at high speed, top Atlantic military leaders still had trouble today with two problems—politics and money.

The financial hurdle came in recommendations submitted by the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's temporary council committee headed by W. Averell Harriman.

The report tells how much more it will cost individual N.T.A.O. countries to bring defence efforts up to a necessary minimum.

The politics came in consideration of the badly snarled negotiations on formation of a European army of Belgian, Dutch, French, German, Italian and Luxembourg troops and of how to make German troops available to Gen. Dwight Eisenhower's Atlantic forces if the European army talks fall through.

With problems raised by the European army talks still to be settled by the Atlantic countries' home governments, reliable sources said the military committee could take no decisive action on this item of its agenda.

During two meetings Monday the committee raced through two-thirds of its 12-point agenda.

One vital question quickly solved was the American-British dispute over what to do with Greece and Turkey once the N.A.T.O. parliaments all approve their inclusion in the Atlantic pact.

With Greek and Turkish observers present, the committee approved in principle a compromise solution to put the two nations' armies and air forces under U.S. Admiral Robert B. Carney's southern European command and leave the future of the two navies open pending outcome of the proposals for a Middle East command.

Sorrowing Britons File Past Their King's Bier

LONDON, Feb. 12. (AP)—Some 40,000 Britons filed reverently through hushed Westminster Hall by mid-afternoon today to pay homage at the King's bier. Commoners in their work clothes, men in black toppers and striped trousers, sailors on leave, school children in groups led by teachers and nuns, visitors from the colonies and commonwealth countries, some in oriental attire, converged endlessly on the hall. A queue of 20,000 stretched alongside the Thames hoping to gain admittance before the doors closed for the night at 10 p.m.

Some of the mourners wept. Some bent their knees or crossed themselves as they stepped silently past the coffin. Others bowed their heads.

There was hardly a sound except for the click of a policeman's mechanical checker which counted of the subjects come to pay respects.

Ten Sentries

Ten sentries in ceremonial uniform stood motionless at the catafalaque. They were relieved at 20-minute intervals.

A blind man in ragged clothes tapped his way slowly along with the queue. A fashionably-dressed woman and an executive with astrakhan coat collar lined up with shop girls, Australians, Indians and African negroes.

The first to bare his head beneath the freezing wind and walk solemnly into the big stone hall was A. A. Pugh of Liverpool. He had waited on the steps for 13 hours to lead the mourning procession.

This 47-year-old citizen said he was "one of His Majesty's loyal subjects of the old type—not one of the moderns."

By the time the doors opened, more than 2,000 were waiting in patient line to pay respect to the King who walked among them in wartime and encouraged them to stand fast against the troubles of uneasy peace.

Second Such Trip

Mrs. Charlotte Threlfall, a telephone operator, joined the patient line at 6 a.m., as she did 16 years ago when George V lay in state in the same cold hall.

"I would have stayed all night if it had been necessary," she said.

One of the bobbies, on duty at the door, said the mourning subjects were being admitted at the rate of 1,200 every 15 minutes.

The coffined body they came to bow to lay on a purple covered catafalque reached by four scarlet-covered steps. On the closed coffin the Imperial crown returned the candles' flicker with flashes of fire from the vast wealth of diamonds, rubies, emeralds and sapphires.

The oak coffin was draped in the red and gold Royal standard. On it, at the head, was a single wreath of snow white flowers—from the dead monarch's widow, the Queen Mother Elizabeth.

Colorful Guards

A yeoman of the guard, wearing the Tudor robes of the first Elizabeths reign, stood just off each corner of the edge of the catafalque.

Their gold embroidered scarlet robes were surmounted by ruffs, and as the guard changed each 20 minutes their rows of medals tinkled. On duty they stood at stiff attention, their ancient pikes held point downward resting on the light carpet over the stone floor.

Only 10 clusters of lights on the beamed ceiling were lit. Beams from four of the clusters converged on the bier.

Across the high Gothic window at one end of the huge sombre-grey hall the flags of the Commonwealth countries were arrayed in a mass of red, white and blue. There were no other decorations to cover the gold, bare stone walls of the unheated chamber.

Monday night, members of the Royal household, the staffs at Buckingham Palace, Windsor Castle, Clarence House and Marlborough House and the staffs of both Houses of Parliament paid homage before the hall was opened to the general public.

Some of the King's servants, wearing the livery of Buckingham Palace, wept quietly as they filed past his body.

Also on guard were four gentlemen-at-arms, wearing their tall bearskin hats and pointing their swords downward, and two officers of the King's bodyguard at the head of the coffin.

Hold Meeting To Decide Airport's Future

ELIZABETH, N. J., Feb. 12 — (AP)—Nerve-shattered Elizabeth residents—numbed and bewildered after three major air catastrophes here—riveted their attention today on a meeting to determine Newark Airport's future.

The sprawling and once-bustling airport, shuttered since Monday's crash of a National Airlines plane with loss of 31 lives, now is the scene of ghost-like silence.

Its future hangs in the balance and will be discussed in New York today at a meeting between the Port of New York Authority and officials of 17 airlines. Governor Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey and Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York have been advised of the session. The Port Authority has operated the $53,000,000 field since 1947.

Wary local residents, terrified and furious because of the three crashes within less than two months, wondered whether the close-down order would last.

Death Toll 31

The death toll from the crash Monday of the four-engined DC-6 stands at 31. The craft plunged out of control and tore into the top of a 52-family apartment house.

Harold Fiore, of Lynbrook, N. Y., a passenger on the plane, died Monday night. He was on a honeymoon with his bride, who was reported in good condition.

This brought the combined death toll of the three tragedies to 117.

The Port Authority operates three other major airports in the New York-New Jersey Metropolitan area. These are Teterboro in New Jersey and LaGuardia and Idlewild in New York.

Flights scheduled for Newark Airport were shunted to New York, Philadelphia and Teterboro.

Leaky Gas Valve Takes Chaplain's Life

OTTAWA, Feb. 1 2(CP)—Maj. J. A. R. Lupien, 39, of Drummondville, Que., principal Roman Catholic chaplain for the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade in Korea, met accidental death by asphyxiation, the army said today.

His death resulted from a leaky gas valve in his hotel room in Tokyo, where stoves are used for heating purposes, an official report reaching headquarters said.

The Canadian military mission set up a court of inquiry which showed that death was "entirely accidental."

News of Maj. Lupien's death was reported in Montreal Monday, but first reports did not indicate the cause of death.

It is expected he will be buried in the Canadian section of the cemetery at Yokohama.

17-Room Motel Destroyed By Fire

PICKERING, Feb. 12 (CP). — Damage estimates ranged up to $135,000 Monday when the Tee-Pee Motel was destroyed by fire.

The 17-room two-storey building was located on Frenchman's Bay road, some 10 miles west of Oshawa. The only occupants at the time, Mrs. Lyle Jones, wife of the owner, and the caretaker escaped safely.

Mrs. Jones said the fire might have started from a cigarette butt left by a honeymooning couple.

Firemen from Pickering, Brougham and South Pickering fought the blaze but ran out of water. Earlier, Mr. Jones set the loss "at a minimum of $15,000."

47 French Police Injured By Strikers

PARIS, Feb. 12 —(AP)—Communist-led strikers clashed with police at the Renault automobile plant today and 47 police were slightly injured, most of them grazed by flying missiles.

About 100 miners traded blows with an equal number of strikers at Trelys in southern France but no casualties were reported.

Despite the two incidents an attempt of the Communist-led General Confederation of Labor to call a 24-hour general strike was nearly everywhere a flop.

The Communists, angered when a demonstration was banned last Sunday, had called out workers to protest "against fascism, rising prices, increased taxes and low wages."

Population Tops 14 Million

Biggest Increase In Any 10 Years Of Canada's History

OTTAWA, Feb. 12. (CP) — Canada's population jumped more than 2,500,000 in the 10 years between 1941 and last year and hit the 14,000,000-mark with Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia contributing most to the increase.

It was the biggest jump in any 10 years of the country's history.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported the 21.8 per cent national increase Monday in releasing final tabulations of the 1951 decennial census. It placed the population at 14,009,429 as of June last year, including 361,416 new Canadians gained when Newfoundland joined confederation. The Newfoundland population was 321,819 in 1941.

The figures showed the biggest population concentrations still in central Canada and on the Pacific coast.

Tops All Provinces

British Columbia topped all provinces in the percentage column. It added 42.47 per cent to its 1941 population of 817,861 and became the third province to top the million-mark with 1,165,210 people.

Numerically Ontario was the largest province. She added 809,887 people to her 1941 population of 3,787,655 for a 21.38 per cent increase to hit 4,597,542.

Quebec had 723,799 or 21.72 per cent more people, with a total of 4,0551,611 as of June last year compared with 3,331,882 in 1941.

The three biggest provinces accounted for roughly three-quarters of the over-all national increase, adding between them about 1,880,000 people.

Only Decrease

Saskatchewan was the only province to show a population decrease. It dropped 7.17 per cent to 831,728 from 895,992 in the 10-year period. Manitoba increased by only 6.41 per cent to 776,541 from 729,744.

Despite her oil boom, Alberta was well down the list with an increase of 18 per cent which sent her population to 939,501 from 796,169. Indications are, however, that Alberta will become the fourth 1,000,000-population province and probaly within a few years.

Nova Scotia's population was up by 11.18 per cent to 642,584, New Brunswick by 12.75 to 515,697, Prince Edward Island by 3.56 per cent to 98,429.

Biggest jump of all on a percentage basis came in the Yukon. It was up 85.10 per cent to 9,096 from 4,914. And the Northwest Territories were up 33.06 per cent to 16,004 from 12,028.

Golds Buck Market With Slim Gains

TORONTO, Feb. 12 (CP). — Golds bucked a generally declining stock market with a slim majority of gains today in early afternoon dealings. Other sections weakened steadily.

Trading was active as a wide list of western oils, lower-priced base metals and penny golds attracted speculative interest. Industrial dealings were mostly in leading issues. Volume for the first three hours was 1,615,000 shares.

Manufacturing companies and foods led industrials lower with a scattered list of fractional declines. Agricultures and miscellaneous issues slipped but papers and banks edged upward.

Western oil losses ranged from pennies to about 20 cents. Anglo-Canadian, Canadian Atlantic, Model Oil, Pacific Petroleum, Security Free and Trans Empire traded lower. Scurry and High Crest, however, climbed strongly.

Base metal leaders eased. Labrador and Waite Amulet strengthened but Consolidated Smelters, Golden Manitou, Noranda and United Keno Hill weakened. Sherritt-Gordon and United Asbestos dipped pennies.

Senior golds pushed upward as Giant Yellowknife, Lake Shore and Malartic posted gains ranging to about 50 cents. Secondary issues made little headway.

Four Pay Fines On Liquor Charges

Charged with being drunk in a Brock Street hotel January 26, Lloyd Smith, of Smith Township, pleaded guilty in Police Court today. He admitted a prior conviction for drunkenness and was fined $50, and $2.50 costs.

Smith also pleaded guilty to driving a car on Highway 7, on January 27, without a chauffeur's licence, and was fined $10, and $2.50 costs.

Glen Buck, Norwood, was fined $10, and $2.50 costs, Monday for having liquor in a place other than his residence. Buck pleaded guilty to the charge.

Edward Vaughan of Hiawatha pleaded guilty to a drunk charge today and was fined $10, and $2.50 costs.

A written plea of guilty was entered today by Mrs. May McCormack, 489 Bellevue Avenue, charged with having liquor in a place other than her residence. She was fined $10, and $2.50 costs.

FUNERAL PYRE—The death toll was 31 today after an airliner with 63 persons aboard crashed into a 52-family apartment Monday in Elizabeth, N.J., set the building afire, then skidded into a tree where part of it lodged.

Hose Freezes 2 Homes Razed

SUTTON, Feb. 12.—The home of Reeve George Lamont and a second cottage owned by a Chinese resident were destroyed by fire late Monday and 15 other shoreline homes along Lake Simcoe were threatened when the fire department hose froze. Loss of both homes was estimated at $10,000.

The hose was placed through a hole dug in the ice on the lake but the cold water going through the hose caused it to freeze and jam with pieces of ice. Before volunteer firemen could clear the hose and get it working again a second cottage was gutted.

Because the only source of water was under the ice, Fire Chief Harold Snooks had the fire truck driven out on the lake 100 yards from the shore. The cottages were located one mile west of Jackson's Point.

Mr. Lamont was having lunch with his son-in-law two miles away when the fire broke out. A man fishing through the ice was the first to notice smoke pouring from the Lamont home.

Lindsay Stores Favor Closing

LINDSAY, Feb. 12 (ENS). — Mayor Charles Lamb declared Friday a full day of mourning for the town at Monday night's meeting of the town council.

"I want to make it very clear that it should not be considered a holiday and that everyone should make an effort to attend church on that day," said the mayor.

Included in the proclamation was a request for all businesses in town to remain closed throughout the day.

Secretary - manager of the Chamber of Commerce, Harold Pollock, addressed council on the subject and he stated that in his survey of Kent Street stores, 41 favored a full day of mourning, 16 favored a half day and only two favored a few minutes of silence in the morning. All members of council took the oath of allegiance to Her Majesty.

City's Deficit $5,772 For Year's Work

City council's deficit in 1951 was $5,772, as reported to the finance committee Monday night by chairman Ald. T. D. Miller.

That "definite" information was forthcoming from the treasury department late in the afternoon. In making his announcement it seemed that Ald. Miller was tempted to interject the little word of emphasis and satisfaction "only" immediately in front of the sum he quoted.

Passed Cigars

"Very good" was the comment of Ald. P. J. Anglesey who was plainly happy about things in general, as reflected in his passing around cigars, the custom of fathers of a new baby in the family.

"I think we did exceptionally well in view of the cost-of-living bonus and several other unpredictable items when we were preparing last year's budget," said Ald. Miller. "I had visions at one time of a deficit of something around $30,000 to $35,000. It gave me uneasy concern, because I felt that it would not be a good showing with a deficit of that size."

Ald. Miller said that the cost-of-living bonus amounted to $40,000 added to salaries last year.

The deficit was the excess of expenditures over the municipal receipts in carrying on the city's business in 1951.

Bloody Clothes But No Murder

ERINDALE, Ont., Feb. 12 (CP) —Police feared the worst . . . a woman's blood-stained clothing, purse and shoes were found Monday in an isolated spot near Erindale, 15 minutes west of Toronto.

Police searched six hours for the body. They were still searching when fellow officers informed them they had found the body to be that of a gypsy woman buried some time in a Toronto cemetery.

A doctor's prescription in the purse enable police to identify the woman.

Officers said that relatives, practising the age-old gypsy custom of bloodletting on her before her death, spilled blood on her clothing.

The custom is to hide the clothing of the deceased. They chose the isolated spot near here.

Friends of the dead woman asked police to replace the garments where they had found them. Police refused. There might be some more false murders, they said:

"Then we'll have to hide them somewhere else," said a spokesman for the gypsies.

"As long as it's not in our municipality," replied the police.

The pound sterling was $2.78⅜, also unchanged.

Report Sand Found In 56 Diesels, Sabotage Studied

OTTAWA, Feb. 12. (CP)—Canada's radar network program is believed to have suffered a setback in rejection of 56 diesel motors shipped to Canada from England and found defective. Both Canadian and British investigators are investigating the possibility of sabotage of the engines which are believed to have been destined for use in northern radar and signals stations. Reports are that sand was found in them. The air force said Monday it is allowed only to say that the engines were found faulty by the government's inspection board and were turned back to the manufacturer.

The incident, believed to have happened some weeks ago, otherwise is considered secret by the Defence Department.

No Further Comment

A spokesman said he could not confirm reports that sand was found in the engines. He said he was not allowed to make any further comment.

It was indicated elsewhere that an inquiry is being conducted by both Canadian and British authorities since the engines were made in Britain and were sent to Canada for use in defence stations in isolated areas.

They might have been destined for use in radar, signals or weather stations.

There are reports that an investigation of one of the engines disclosed sand in the oil. An engineer said this would constitute an excellent way to sabotage the engine.

The shipment was said to include 56 engines.

Fire Officials In Passport Ring

OTTAWA, Feb. 12 (CP) — A few immigration officials have been forced out of the government service in an investigation of a false passport ring involving Italian immigrants, it was learned Monday.

A high officer confirmed reports that there have been both firings and resignations among the handful of department employees outside Ottawa suspected of conniving to bring Italians into Canada illegally. The number was not disclosed.

Meanwhile, the government is proceeding with the deportation of immigrants who came to Canada through the passport racket and the Immigration Department and R.C.M.P. went on with an investigation into the scheme reported to have dumped a large number of Italians here with false documents.

The investigation, under way since last year, was reported unofficially to have indicated that some hundreds of immigrants got into Canada through the ring's operations.

Theft Of Precipitates

to leave the gold, weighing 216 pounds.

Police were not certain of the exact number of bandits involved in today's robbery. Craik said he saw three men, one more than the number noticed by the other workmen.

The bandits were armed with a rifle.

Weighed 500 Pounds

Precipitates are a gold solution being treated with metallic zinc. The zinc is placed in the solution and liquid runs through canvas socks. The resulting process allows the water to escape through the socks and the gold precipitate is left behind.

The precipitate has to be smelted to produce finished gold. The $25,000 worth stolen today would weigh almost 500 pounds.

The bandits, after binding the three mill men, must have spent about half an hour smashing the locks on the press. They passed the 50-pound socks through a second-floor window to a man on a ladder. It was then transferred to the toboggan and dragged to the getaway car.

HASTINGS, Feb. 12—(ENS)—Cold weather did not stop a large crowd from attending the skating carnival held in the Hastings Arena Monday night. The carnival was sponsored by Group 3 of the Women's Association of Trinity United Church to raise funds for church work.

Doug Thurston acted as master of ceremonies and before the carnival started Wayne Marsh and Bobbie Essex, members of the local Tyro Group, came out and stood at attention at centre ice, with flags dipped, and the audience were asked to stand and observe two minutes' silence in memory of King George VI, after which the flags were raised and the Queen was played.

The Oshawa Skating Club presented a program that featured David Lowery, Elaine Richards, Carl Authors and 13-year-old Jimmie Reid.

Former world's champion and now professional of the Oshawa club, Ede Keray gave a wonderful performance of figure skating.

Judges were Mr. and Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Stewart, of Norwood.

Results of the judging:

Ladies' fancy dress—Mrs. J. H. Butters Warkworth; men's fancy dress—Mr. Honey Dartford; best dressed couple—Catherine Condon, Adeline Mouncey; original costume—men, the Rev. J. M. Crowd Sees Films

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 12 — (ENS).—The fireside hour of St. John's church, under the auspices of the Young Adults Club, drew a near capacity crowd to the Sunday school rooms on Sunday evening to see a demonstration of a sound projector. A company representative demonstrated the machine and showed two films and answered general questions concerning the machine. The Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith presided for the meeting.

Attempted Murder Charge Set Over

COBOURG, Feb. 12—(ENS)—John Adair of Port Hope, charged with attempted murder, was remanded further to Feb. 18 when he appeared in police court Monday. No plea or election was taken.

The 78-year-old Port Hope man is alleged to have shot 67-year-old William Lingard of Port Hope during an argument on Feb. 1. Mr. Lingard is recovering from a revolver bullet wound in the abdomen.

William Wright of Colborne pleaded guilty to four breaking and entering charges, and was remanded for sentence to Feb. 18. He pleaded guilty to theft of a chain saw on Jan. 16 from Oran Day of Cramahe township; theft of accessories from Barton's garage in Cramahe township on Jan. 16; theft of tires and tubes from Thomas garage in Cobourg on the same date and theft of $600 worth of wire on Jan. 16 from Brighton Public Utilities Commission.

He was also charged with breaking into two garages at Grafton, the Salvation Army Hall at Cobourg and with theft of tires from Wilson's garage here but when the crown offered no evidence, the charges were dismissed.

Ronald Cartier of Camp Borden, charged with obtaining a car by false pretenses, was remanded until Feb. 18. Crown Attorney Harry Deyman told the court that other charges might be laid.

Ivan Beaver, Irwin Smoke and Eldon Smoke, charged with taking fish illegally in Alnwick township appeared in police court, adjournment being made until next Monday.

Obituary

MRS. JANET CROMAR

HAVELOCK, Feb. 12—(ENS)—Mrs. Janet Cromar, 67, widow of the late Peter George Cromar, a former resident of Havelock, died at her home 4240 Dundas St. W., Lambton Mills, on Thursday. The funeral was held on Saturday, burial being made in Park Lawn cemetery.

Mrs. Cromar died following an illness of a few days. She was born in Otonabee township and was formerly Janet McIntyre, daughter of the late Duncan McIntyre and Janet Campbell. She came to Havelock at the age of 16 years. After her marriage to Peter Cromar they lived for a time at Bonarlaw, later moving to Havelock, where Mr. Cromar was employed as station agent with the C.P.R. After about 30 years' resident in Bonarlaw and Havelock they moved to Toronto. In religion Mrs. Cromar was a Presbyterian and was an active member of Knox Church here and later Knox Church in Toronto.

Surviving are two daughters and a son, Mrs. J. R. Pearce (Janet), Mrs. George Lloyd (Beatrice) and George I. Cromar all of Toronto; a brother, Archibald McIntyre of Havelock.

All Livestock Lost In Fire

LINDSAY, Feb. 12.—An Ops Township farmer stood by helplessly Sunday and watched a raging fire destroy his barn and all the livestock it contained.

Five hundred neighbors, summoned by telephone, came too late to be of any assistance because of snow-plugged roads.

Lost in the fire were 13 milk cows, two young cattle, 26 pigs and a team of horses. Farm equipment was also a total loss.

Animals Overcome

First to notice the fire were Mrs. Raymond Quackenbush and her 11-year-old son, Earl. They called Mr. Quackenbush, who ran to the barn and found it filled with smoke. The 40-odd animals were then overcome. The Quackenbush farm is on R.R. 5, Lindsay.

As soon as the stable door was opened, the fire had the draft it needed, and in a matter of minutes the L-shaped barn was an inferno.

Mr. Quackenbush said he though the fire started in the chop bin which had been filled Saturday. It was probable the fire smouldered all night, filling the stable with smoke and asphyxiating the animals. He estimated damage at about $10,000.

Campbellford I.O.D.E. Holds Annual Dinner

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 12 — (ENS).—Annual dinner of the Bemersyde Chapter, I.O.D.E., was held in the parish hall when the ladies of the Parish Guild served a turkey dinner to chapter members and their guests.

The program opened with community singing, led by Mrs. Frank DeCarrol, after which Regent Mrs. A. K. Loucks, who was in the chair, paid a fitting tribute to King George VI. This was followed by two minutes silence in his memory, after which Mrs. DeCarrol sang "The Lord's Prayer." All members then took the oath of allegiance to Queen Elizabeth II.

Mrs. George Vice proposed the toast to the guests to which Mrs. David Ness responded. A dance and encore by Miss Gaele Meyers was enjoyed by the audience. She was accompanied by Mrs. George Nicholls.

The speaker of the evening was Mrs. John McKibbin, who was introduced by Mrs. Frank DeCarrol.

Mrs. McKibbin told of her work among tubercular patients under the Samaritan Club of Toronto. She gave a detailed account of her day as a social worker, enlivening her remarks with humorous stories of her experiences. She said that the most essential quality for such work was a genuine love of people.

Mrs. H. T. Scott thanked the speaker for her interesting message.

A solo by Mrs. Ted Smith and an encore, completed the program.

Mrs. James Gay presented the Regent with a small gift in appreciation of her leadership during the past year. Mrs. James Benor thanked all who had helped to make the occasion a success.

Youth Fined $15

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw asked Magistrate W. R. Philp to impose more than the minimum fine when a 19-year-old youth pleaded guilty to a drunk charge in police court Monday.

He said that in addition to being drunk, Harold McCausland, 268 Hunter St., had a bad cut on one finger of his right hand and had shoved his fist through a window.

McCausland was fined $15 and $2.50 costs or 15 days.

Alfred Burford, 210 London St., also pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk. He was fined $10 and $2.50 costs.

William Pitts Dies

TORONTO, Feb. 12 (CP)—William J. Pitts, 67, Toronto, for many years a member of Toronto newspaper editorial staffs, died Sunday. He was associated with the old Toronto News, The Toronto World and The Toronto Mail and Empire. He was also a free-lance writer.

Minister Here 10 Years, G. S. Easton Dies

The Rev. George Stewart Easton, M.A., M.D., of Brantford and formerly of Peterborough died in Brantford General hospital Monday at the age of 63.

Dr. Easton was minister of Trinity United Church, Peterborough from 1935 until 1945. A cerebral hemorrhage in 1944 followed by a lengthy illness forced him to resign his pastorate and he retired to Brantford. He was also head of the Bay of Quinte Conference in 1944.

He was regent of Victoria College and a member of the Council of Emmanuel College, Victoria University.

Born in Ailsa Craig, near London, son of William and Margaret Easton, he received his public and high school education in Tucan. He graduated from the Normal School at Hamilton and for a time was a teacher in Ottawa.

In 1909 he entered the University of Toronto and in 1910 entered the ministry at Knox College. While at Knox he became a member of the staff of the university as an assistant professor and demonstrator in astronomy and physics.

In 1915 he enlisted in the Canadian Expeditionary Force, went to France as a captain in 1916 and returned in 1919. For a short time he was assistant minister of the Dovercourt Presbyterian Church, Toronto, and then went to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Brantford, where he occupied the pulpit for seven years. He went from Brantford to St. Andrew's United Church, Sault Ste. Marie in 1927 and in 1931 took over the pastorate of St. Andrew's United Church, North Bay.

He came to Peterborough in 1935 and in 1937 was made a doctor of divinity by Victoria University, University of Toronto.

Dr. Easton was a past president of the Peterborough Rotary Club and a life member of the Peterborough Curling Club, chaplain of the Canadian Legion, Peterborough and the air cadet corps here and member of the Brant Lodge, A.F. and A.M., Brantford. He was on the War Service Committee of the United Church and on the Chaplaincy Committee.

He leaves his wife, the former Constance McDonald; three sisters Mrs. E. Merryfield, Kincardine; Mrs. A. Herd, Brantford and Miss Jean Easton, Toronto.

The funeral will be held Wednesday at 2.30 p.m. from the Beckett funeral home to Zion United Church, Brantford. Burial will be in Farrington Burial Ground, Brantford.

Man Pleads Guilty To False Pretences

Roy Bryan, Simcoe St. west, pleaded guilty to a charge of false pretences in police court Monday.

He was placed on two years' suspended sentence under bond of $250.

Bryan admitted giving service station operator Edward Dorrington a worthless cheque for $12 on January 21.

Bryan has since repaid the $12, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw said in agreeing to suspended sentence.

Committed For Trial

CHATHAM, Feb. 12 (CP)—Sol Harris, 52, of Chatham Monday was committed for trial on a charge of manslaughter laid following the death of Mrs. Jennie Miller, 46, his common-law wife Jan. 20. Mrs. Miller's body was found near the foot of an outside stairway to the apartment where Harris and Mrs. Miller lived.

DR. GEORGE S. EASTON

Cobourg S.A. Leader Injured In Accident

COBOURG, Feb. 12 (ENS). — Lieut. D. W. Rea, local commandant of the Salvation Army, was taken to hospital after an accident which occurred on Highway 2 near Grafton. Proceeding west, his car skidded on the icy pavement and into the path of an oncoming 16-ton truck driven by Robert Avery of Mallorytown.

The car, a light English sedan, was almost a total wreck. Lieut. Rea was taken to hospital with back injuries. Provincial Constable H. Woolridge of Cobourg investigated.

Two Minutes Silence

OSHAWA, Feb. 12 (CP) — T. L. Wilson, president of the Ontario Provincial Dailies Association, said today all member newspapers will publish Friday, the day of the King's funeral. Newspaper offices will observe two minutes' silence.

Not Enough Evidence—Magistrate

Magistrate W. R. Philp dismissed a charge of attempting to break and enter with intent to commit theft against Glen Tate, 24, 197 Dublin St., in police court Monday.

"There is clearly not sufficient evidence to put the accused on trial," the magistrate said at the conclusion of the Crown's case.

Tate was charged with attempting to break and enter Doxsee's grocery store at the corner of George and Dublin Sts., about 1.15 a.m. January 29.

A short time after Constable Douglas Farthing arrived at the secene in a cruiser, he said he saw a man come out of an alley behind a bakery across the street from the store and walk west on Dublin.

Lost Sight Of Man

He said he lost sight of the man just west of Division St. After investigating further, Constable Farthing saw a light in the house where Tate lives. He said that when he knocked on the door, Tate answered the door in his pyjamas.

Constable Farthing said Tate told him he had just left a restaurant about ten minutes before with a friend. Tate then phoned the man and had Constable Farthing talk to him. He said he had just been using his car. The motor was still warm, Constable Farthing told Tate's defence counsel, J. C. N. Curelly.

Constable Farthing said that when Tate dressed to go with him and Constable Harold Andrew, he put on a station wagon coat and hat similar to that worn by the man he had seen walk out of the alley.

Mel Turner, who lives on the north-east corner of George and Dublin, said that he had seen a man come out of the door of the store and walk west on Dublin.

He said that when the police brought a man and had him stand in front of the door, with the lights on in the store, the man "was not dressed the same" as the man he had seen coming out a short time before.

After he was arrested, the police had Tate stand in front of the store and Mr. Turner observe him from his house diagonally across from the store.

Mr. Turner said the man he saw was wearing a battered fedora and a coat that reached below his knees, while the man he was asked to observe was wearing a neater hat and a shorter coat.

Day Of Mourning

There is a perplexing confusion in Peterborough on the observance of the national day of mourning in respect for his late Majesty. Reports from other Canadian centres indicate a similar confusion. Some institutions plan to close the entire day; others to stay open. Some churches are holding memorial services in the morning, others in the evening. (They will be properly termed 'memorial' services, since the funeral of the King will already have taken place, whether the services are held morning or night.) Some organizations have postponed meetings and social events originally scheduled for Friday evening; others have not. Movie houses will be open in the evening, at least.

* * *

The dilemma of how and when to publicly pay the tribute of mourning has arisen in Canada because, after the national day of mourning was proclaimed by Ottawa, Buckingham Palace authorities said that the Queen wished a two-minute silence, rather than a whole day of tribute. Thus very few institutions in the United Kingdom will close; and London theatres are re-opening Friday evening. Services in churches throughout Britain will of course be held in the morning, because it is not the custom to hold funerals or memorial services in the evening.

* * *

Mayor Waddell has wisely refrained from any official advice or proclamation. The day of mourning in Peterborough may be observed as individuals, organizations, factories and churches consider most suitable.

* * *

The derangement of plans in Canada is itself a result of the time-space complexity of this century. Time has lost its distance as it has increased our awareness of time; but space is not telescoped. Word of the King's death reached Canada within seconds of its reaching the city of London. The King's funeral service in the Abbey will be heard by Canadians at their radios before daylight, heard at the instant the words of the service are pronounced. But Peterborough is still 3,000 miles from London and London's noon is our seven o'clock in the morning. The Royal funeral will have ended before most Canadians are ordinarily out of their beds. And so space confounds the immediacy of time and dislocates the propriety of observance among even those who mourn.

U.S. Pursues Atomic Energy With Energy

The largest nations, and they are the only ones with sufficient resources for such costly enterprises, are close-mouthed about their budgets for atomic energy research and production. The United States has been hardly less free of its information to sound and sure allies like Canada and the United States than Russia has been to the western world. Yet in the United States, Canada and Britain, public monies spent on atomic energy developments form perhaps the greatest single items of the national budgets. The work and production are so secret that not even Members of Parliament can get full information about it. The expense is vast. This is known: that the American Atomic Energy Commission is the largest non-commercial enterprise in the world. How large only a handful of Americans know precisely.

As long ago as 1940 a secret grant of $468,000,000 was made to President Roosevelt's National Defence Research Council to explore the possibility of developing an atom bomb. That large sum, in its dollar values of that day, was for experimental research. In these days the expensive bombs are being produced in expensive plants at an expensive rate. Between 1940 and the middle of last year the United States spent some five thousand million dollars on atomic energy—according to one estimate. That expense was only the beginning; the full force of the development is yet to be felt, now that atomic energy is going into mass production, so to speak. So is the full weight of the expenditure. The Commission is now spending according to one estimate, two thousand million dollars a year, and the rate is rising, because the Atomic Energy Commission is expanding its plant and capacity.

The reasons for the expansion are, first, that the United States is ensuring that it not only has but will keep a dominant military position insofar as atomic weapons can dominate the world. It is believed that the American stockpile of atomic bombs is as muc has ten times greater than the Russian. Secondly, technical developments have increased the range of military uses to which atomic energy can be applied. Even small tactical atomic bombs are being tested for use in support of troops. Thus money must be spent in vast quantities for research and production in the new armoury of atomic weapons. The third reason for the expansion is that atomic energy is becoming easier and cheaper to produce—newly-discovered mineral bodies in Canada and Colorado are ensuring quick and relatively cheap access to the basic supplies; and new methods of production of fissionable material are both increasing the supply and lowering the unit cost of production.

As a footnote to the enormous consumption of money, materials and manpower which atomic energy is causing, we note a report that the American Atomic Energy Commission is now eating up half the stainless steel tubing produced in the U.S.A. and using more electricity than New York City.

How Silly Can You Get?

Because the Queen is young, and a woman, we think that the press—and we allude in particular to the press of the U.S.A.—shows a tendency to be both silly and patronizing in its references to her. In an article by Clifton Daniel, of the New York Times we see the Queen spoken of as "a 25-year-old housewife and mother"; this is about as descriptive of the Queen's nature and function in the world as though her late father had been described as "a 56-year-old farmer and stamp-collector." The head of a great Commonwealth and the mistress of several palaces and mansions is not a housewife; the fact that the head of the state is a mother is of no more importance than that a king is a father.

The great republic to the south has an unashamed hankering after royalty and all that royalty carries with it, but it also likes to equate royalty with the Average U.S. Citizen. We in Canada do not share this feeling; we can accept the fact that royal persons are human beings, like the rest of us, without being robbed of our intelligence by that knowledge.

Let us resist the desire of the American press to turn the Queen into a Super-Mom. Motherhood, though sometimes an interesting and occasionally a noble state, is open to approximately half the human race. Queenship is something very different.

Death Of A Wise Man

We write of many men who die, in these columns, and of all of them we are able to say something good—that one was tireless in his devotion to duty, that another was a great fighter for freedom, that a third gave much happiness to the world—but of few can we say simply that he was a wise man. But on Saturday last a wise man died on the island of Capri, at the age of 82; he was Norman Douglas.

Douglas is most widely known as the writer of a wise and witty novel, South Wind, which first appeared in 1917. It was one of those books in which all sorts of people are able to find what they may be looking for: people who liked malice found malice in it; people who like to disapprove of their fellow-beings found wickedness in it; people who like a funny story found great humour in it; and people who like wisdom found wisdom in it—a mellow and pagan wisdom which was disturbing to the 'unco' guid', and all the better for that. But Douglas wrote many books, and there was a generous measure of his own wisdom in them all.

For many years we have taken great pleasure in Douglas' work and many passages yield themselves readily to quotation. We reprint a few of our favourites here.

"The whole earth reeks of humanity and its works. One has to be old and tough to appraise them at their true worth."

"A sound schooling should have a dual aim—to equip a man for hours of work and for hours of leisure. They interact; if the leisure is misspent, the work will suffer."

"I like to taste my friends but not to eat them; in other words, I hold the old-fashioned view that all interrogation, all social curiosity, is vulgar."

"That venerable blunder: to think that in changing the form of government you change the heart of man."

"Some of us learn to make the best of a bad job. Few learn to make the best of a good one."

"Whoever wants to save time is not fit for the society of gentlemen."

"We are rearing up a brood of crafty egoists, a generation whose earliest recollections are those of getting something for nothing from the State."

"Leisure is the curse of the poor in spirit."

"A child is ready to embrace the universe. And, unlike adults, he is never afraid to face his own limitations."

"Temperance? I should call it the exercise of our faculties and organs in such a manner as to combine the maximum of pleasure with the minimum of pain."

"Knowledge is power, they say. Knowledge is not only power, it is good fun."

The wisdom of the passages we have reprinted here is not immediately obvious, and to some readers it may remain forever hidden. But wisdom such as Douglas's does not explode like a bomb. It unfolds like a flower.

A psychologist asserts that it is impossible to have a new idea after the age of 20. We know lots of people over twenty who would be improved even by an old idea.

"The Queen's Husband"

By CHARLES REID

FOR the second time in a century a situation arises which had never previously occurred before on a comparable basis in our monarchical history. A Queen occupies the British throne with a husband at her side upon whom inevitably devolve, officially and unofficially, many royal duties, advisory as well as ceremonial. Prince Albert, the husband of Queen Victoria, did not receive the formal title of Prince Consort until seventeen years after his marriage, and four before his premature death. But, without the plumes of power, he wielded its substance, especially in foreign affairs. As the historian Lytton Strachey put it, by the end of Peel's historic administration (1846) Albert had in effect become the king of England.

◇ ◇ ◇

ALBERT toyed, to say the least, with the idea that the monarch should preside over the Ministerial Council (the Cabinet) as "permanent Prime Minister". He openly held that Victoria should have power to dismiss arbitrarily any Foreign Secretary who kicked over the traces on points of policy. It is not likely that Britain will ever again be ruled at one remove by a Consort holding such absolutist views. In other ways, however, Albert serves as a model for Consorts down the ages, a fact which has not escaped the Consort of our new Sovereign. Indeed, when the Duke of Edinburgh, then captain of the R.N. Frigate Magpie, undertook the presidency of the British Association and said he would prepare his own address to that intimidating body, it was clear that he had been fired by his great-great-grandfather's example. Ninety-two years earlier, at Aberdeen, Albert had addressed the British Association on the nature and pursuit of scientific knowledge in a metaphysical and pious tone which betrayed not only his early German schooling but also the essential psychology of the man. The 1859 address was obviously from Albert's pen. Its thinking and phrasing were as personal to him as his bald patch and the foreign-looking moustache. It was the same with Philip's address in 1951. Philip's modest theme was Britain's contribution to science and technology during the preceding hundred years. He mugged up his facts while serving in Magpie. For weeks on end his cabin floor was littered with standard works on a wide variety of subjects. His first draft, written on naval signal pads, ran to over 7,000 words. The day before the British Association meeting he decided it was too long and knocked out nine hundred or so. Only a man who knows his own mind can afford to be his own sub-editor. Philip's meditations on this occasion led him to a conclusion with Albert, living in a more optimistic age, was spared; that man hasn't yet quite made up his mind whether science is to be his lifeline or his hanging rope.

◇ ◇ ◇

ALTHOUGH their conclusions differ we can see that Philip and his forebear had much in common. Albert, too, was fascinated, uplifted even, by the triumphant technology of his age. Occasionally he would give Progress a hand himself. He designed an improved pigstye, invented a scheme to save millions (actually it did nothing of the sort) by converting sewage into farm fertilizer. Nothing made him happier than peering and poking round one of the new steam engines that were being built for the new iron ships. He understood every belt, every cog. So it is, again, with Philip. Opening an engineering college in Durham, he asked so many questions about the more complicated machines that everybody knew he had all the answers in his head to begin with. "I wish he was one of my students", said a beaming professor. "He would make a first-class engineer".

◇ ◇ ◇

THE new Consort, like the old, is fond of becoming honorary president of vocational institutes. He is at home among industrial chemists, radio engineers and highway planners. The new scientific tricks may, if we don't use them rightly, lead us to destruction. But they are supremely fascinating to know about; and people who don't know about them can hardly be said to belong to their epoch. That, roughly, seems to be Philip's attitude to the modern scene. It is that of most intelligent and vital young men of his age.

◇ ◇ ◇

OUTSIDE the scientific and technical fields Philip and Albert would hardly have understood each other. Philip cares, or has cared in less burdened times, for ballroom-dancing, surf-riding, polo, bitter beer, javelin throwing, skittle playing. Such diversions would have made Albert yawn. It is true that, fox hunting in Leicestershire, Albert took fences with the best. But he hunted, as he did so many other things, from an unsparing sense of duty. He had none of Philip's bright, vital gaiety in physical accomplishment. By way of compensation he possessed something which Philip seems rather to lack; music. In the mid 'fifties of last century he was about the only man of any eminence in London who could enjoy Mendelssohn without hurling nasty abuse at a newcomer called Richard Wagner. He even found time to write music himself, and very bad music it was, by all accounts. Indeed, Albert found time for everything, and killed himself with overwork in the process. Around the Crimean war period he filled fifty folio volumes in four years with comments on the Eastern question for his Foreign Secretary's eye. The Exhibition of 1851 was only one of his personal conceptions. There were dozens more, among them the setting up of Aldershot as a permanent "camp of evolution".

◇ ◇ ◇

LONG before winter's dawn he was working every morning on State papers by the light of a patent lamp which (characteristically) he had improved with a gadget of his own. An hour or two later he would be joined by Victoria, whose writing table was alongside his. Their collaboration occasionally came near to breaching the constitution. Victoria and Albert, complained a shrewd contemporary statesman, Lord Clarendon, made the mistake of regarding the Foreign Office as their own department and Britain's foreign policy as a matter peculiarly under their control, not to say direction. There was one distressing period — it followed shortly upon a temporary "disgrace" of Palmerston when, from sheer affection for the former Foreign Secretary, the mob turned rancorously against "little Al, the Royal pal", and cherished silly rumours that he had been found guilty of high treason and committed to the Tower as a tool of Russian policy. The mad fit soon passed. Looking back we see that, although profoundly un-English by temperament, Albert was one of the most talented and constant servants the realm ever had. Philip starts with the advantage of a thoroughly English training and outlook. Yet he does well to make Albert his model—within limits.

IT'S THAT LAST STRAW THAT BOTHERS MR. HOOVER

Quebec Press On George VI

"BEST KNOWN AND MOST RESPECTED"

La Presse, Montreal: It will not be easily forgotten in what an admirable way for 15 years he carried out the duties to which he had been called, in particular the example of the strength of soul which, with all the members of his family, he displayed during the hard period of the war.... The role which he played during those years greatly increased the affection which the people of the Commonwealth already bore for him. In other countries likewise George VI was held in the highest esteem. There was agreement upon the perfect dignity, the devotion, which he displayed in the discharge of his eminent position. He was the best known and the most respected sovereign of our time. The people of Canada felt for him the deepest attachment.... His death is a great loss for all the nations of the Commonwealth, all the more deeply felt because unexpected. We have preserved the warmest memories of him.

A SYMBOL OF COURAGE

Le Canada, Montreal: In the normal course of events the second son of George V would not have mounted the throne. When his older brother abdicated he could have invoked good reasons to refuse the succession, but his sense of duty made him accept it. Since then he has not ceased to set an example of the finest virtues, above all of domestic virtues. During the war he knew how to symbolize magnificently the courage—the really extraordinary courage at certain hours—of the great English people. These reasons alone justify our tears for the death of George VI, but England's grief is also ours, for in him Canada loses her King, and a worthy King. It is now a woman who reigns over Canada. Admirably prepared for the heavy responsibilities that fall to her, she is young and beautiful and has a right to our most sincere wishes, to our prayers and loyalty. Grieving for George VI, Canadians—those of the province of Quebec as those of the whole country—are proud of the young mother who is henceforth their Queen.

THE TRADITION OF DUTY

Montreal Matin: It was not difficult to see that he was sorely stricken. Since the surgical operation last September he had become a man whose days were numbered.... It is known that the dead King little expected to play a leading role for which he was not prepared.... His natural shyness, his taste for a life, simple and without ostentation, a slight defect in speech—all combined to make arduous for him the accomplishment of a task which, while above all decorative and convential, was none the less exhausting. With an exemplary good will he submitted to an antiquated ceremonial, and set himself to become the prototype of the faithful and loyal servant of his country. The painful circumstances of the war compelled him to rally the people's courage and to reflect in his person the image of British continuity and resistance. At 25 years the Princess Elizabeth becomes Queen. Very early she receives a heritage which she probably has never wished but which she will accept with a sense of duty traditional in her family.... All Canada hastens to associate itself very sincerely with the cruel loss which has fallen upon a family which has always given an example of the soundest domestic virtues.

"BELOVED BY PROVINCE"

La Patrie, Montreal: On the abdication of Edward VIII, George VI had to assume the heaviest of crowns which he did not desire, and reign over a quarter of the inhabited globe. Already attacked by the malady which was destined to end his days, he had to sustain his people, abandoned on an island on which depended the sole hope of resistance, at the very moment when the whole world believed in the Hitler invasion. He was probably one of those good men, beloved by Providence. And Providence once more saved our unhappy world.... This monarch gave to Europe and to all the thrones of the world an example of the altruistic life, profoundly good, a believer witnout ostentation, singularly pious, even edifying, in an age which turns more and more toward indifference, even agnosticism. He carried the cult of duty to his last breath. Was it not with his last drops of blood, if it may so be said, tnat he signed the last document.... "Domine salvum fac regem. Domine salvam fac reginam."... We come to the conventional—and cruel—formula, "The King is dead, long live the Queen!" May good King George VI rest in peace!

"CERTAIN THINGS ARE SURE"

Le Devoir, Montreal: In a country where it appears to be an inarguable axiom that a King reigns but does not govern, where the Sovereign, as a general rule pronounces only the speeches that are prepared for him, it is very difficult to determine the exact influence of a king on the public life of a nation. To know at all well what to believe about that one must await the revelations of the writers of memoirs. But certain things are already sure. In the first place the tranquil courage with which George VI accepted the succession to the throne; also the great dignity with which he and the Queen acquitted themselves of their heavy duties. They have added to the secular prestige of the monarchy. They gave way before none of the obligations their duties imposed upon them any more than they thought of leaving their country when war ravaged cities and piled up ruins. It is said—and it appears with truth—that to the sovereign is owed in part the peaceful solution of the crisis which might have involved the constitution into independent states of the republic of India and Pakistan.... (The Queen) has undergone a hard apprenticeship. No one will imagine that it was not without real suffering that this young mother left her little children to come to Canada on her last voyage.... It is only the beginning. Henceforth she will no longer belong to herself, even less to her family. She will be a servant of the State. Those who entertain the same opinions that we do on the future of Canada as on the future relations of our country with Great Britain will not be the last to admire the courage with which, faithful follower of her father, she accepts her heavy task, to hope that it does not weigh too heavily upon her shoulders. May God help her!

WOULD BE BETTER

He: "I get down on my knees and die for you."

She: "Would you stand on your feet and work for me?"

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Rejoice in the Lord, O ye righteous: for praise is comely for the upright. (Ps. 33: 1.)

◇ ◇ ◇

My soul shall make her boast in the Lord: the humble shall hear thereof and be glad. O magnify the Lord with me, and let us exalt his name together....

The Lord redeemeth the soul of his servants: and none of them that trust in him shall be desolate. (Ps. 34: 2, 3, 22.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Arise, shine; for thy light is come, and the glory of the Lord is risen upon thee. For, behold, the darkness shall cover the earth, and gross darkness the people: but the Lord shall arise upon thee, and his glory be seen upon thee....

The sun shall be no more thy light by day; neither for brightness shall the moon give light unto thee: but the Lord shall be unto thee an everlasting light, and thy God thy glory. Thy sun shall no more go down; neither shall thy moon withdraw itself: for the Lord shall be thine everlasting light, and the days of thy mourning shall be ended.

Thy people also shall be all righteous: they shall inherit the land for ever, the branch of my planting, the work of my hands, that I may be glorified. (Isa. 60: 1, 2, 19-21.)

Letters To The Editor

ASKS FOR INTERPRETATION

Sir: In C. J. Clark's letter of Feb. 8/52 on "Religion and Murder" he quotes from Revelations 17: 16-17 God's prophecy: "These shall hate the harlot and shall make her desolate and naked, and shall eat her flesh, and burn her with fire. For God hath put in their hearts to fulfill his will".

It is assumed, that the phrases are not literal; therefore I would be grateful, if C. J. Clark and others, would present an explanation of the prophecy.

Yours truly,
SAPPHIRE.

COMMENDS SUPPLEMENT ON GEORGE VI

Sir: I have been an Examiner reader for several years and have watched your fine paper grow from a country daily to what it is now, but I think you touched tops with your supplement on George VI. This was certainly a wonderful record of our great King and for one I am going to keep it as a piece of historical interest. Keep up the good work you are certainly giving us a fine newspaper.

Yours sincerely,
OLD TIMER.

Life Sentence

(The Montreal Gazette)

It was Robert Louis Stevenson who once said that we are really all under sentence of death with a more or less indefinite reprieve. This is only too true of humanity in general. But when people are considered as taxpayers, their condition may be put in another way. As taxpayers they are under a life sentence, with no hope of getting out on parole. Rt. Hon. Oliver Stanley, speaking in the British House of Commons, said: "It's nothing less than a life sentence for the taxpayer. It means we must abandon all the hopes that still buoy us up, the hopes that even if nothing can be done this year—something may be done the next..."

NOW HE KNOWS

A bombastic man met a hen-pecked friend, whose face suggested a recent accident.

"How did that happen?" he asked.

"My wife..."

"Your wife? Ah, evidently you have not acquired the secret of maried bliss. I never have a row with my wife. I have no secrets from her.

"Neither have I," the other sighed. "I only thought I had!"

"When you say 'WELL DONE,' do you refer to Mr. Butler or us?"

Spanish Debts In Canada To Be Liquidated

OTTAWA, Feb. 12—(CP)—The Trade Department announced Monday the conclusion of an agreement between Canada and Spain providing for the liquidation of commercial debts owing to a number of Canadian firms.

These debts have been blocked in Spain since before the outbreak of the Spanish Civil War in July, 1936.

The agreement was concluded in Madrid last month by Frederick Bull, deputy minister of trade and commerce, representing the Canadian Goverpment, and Senor Martin Artajo, Spanish foreign minister. Preparatory negotiations were conducted by E. H. Maguire, Canadian Trade Commissioner in Spain.

Satisfactory Agreement

The department said that, with the co-operation of the Spanish authorities, a "satisfactory agreement had been reached, making possible the early settlement of these debts on favorable terms."

Under the agreement, the Spanish Government undertakes to release exchange up to a total of $650,000 to cover debts owing Canadian firms, these debts having arisen out of exports to Spain or Spanish possessions prior to July 18, 1936. Exchange will be released in the currency in which the debts were originally contracted.

Spanish officials were "very helpful" in agreeing to liquidate most of the debts at the present official rate of exchange, which is not normally in use for commercial transactions.

This rate, of 11.2 pesetas to the Canadian dollar, is favorable to the Canadian creditors in view of the substantial decline in the value of the peseta since 1936, and when compared with the rates applicable at present to current trade.

Memorial Service Held At Lakefield Church

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 12 (ENS).—A portrait of King George VI, draped in black on the altar table and flanked by flags, ferns and white basket of red, white and blue flowers, formed a fitting worship centre for the memorial service held on Sunday morning in the United Church.

Suitable scripture passages, including the 90th Psalm, were read, and special prayers said for the Royal family, and especially for the new Queen.

Speaking on the subject, "The Crown of Life," the Rev. W. H. Tonge delivered a most inspiring address, recalling incidents in the life of the King which showed, at all times, his devotion to his people and to the British Commonwealth. He suggested that the most fitting memorial we could make to his memory would be our devotion to our Queen, his beloved daughter.

The choir's contribution to the service was "The Lord's My Shepherd," Brother James air. The King's favorite hymn, "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," was sung by the congregation.

A fitting conclusion to "Youth Week," was the evening service at which Charles Forsyth of the Y.M.C.A. staff, Peterborough, was guest speaker.

Attending the service in a body were the Canadian Girls in Training, the Lakefield Sea Scouts and the 1st and 2nd Cub Packs, accompanied by their leaders.

Special music included an anthem by the choir and a girls' quintette. Mr. Tonge thanked Mr. Forsyth.

Public School Board Asks Room Vacated

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 12 (ENS).—Chairman A. G. Buchanan presided at the regular meeting of the Lakefield Public School Board in the school and attended by trustees Mrs. Harold Wilford, Rev. W. B. Walker, Dr. R. H. Campbell, Ralph Jackman, Ralph Millage, and Principal E. G. Sloan.

Effective January 1, the salary of the caretaker, Ralph Wassor, will be increased to $210 per month.

Crowded conditions resulted in the decision to ask the Lakefield District High School Board to vacate the upper southeast classroom in the high school building and that the rental to the high school board be set at $2,050 for the term beginning Sept. 1.

Mrs. Wilford was appointed to the Lakefield Public Library Board for the years 1952-54.

Principal Sloan reported school being opened 21 days in January with attendance standing at 294; percentage attendance 94.06. He issued an invitation to board to attend the Teachers' Convention to be held in the Apsley Central School on Wednesday, with the main event in the afternoon being the dedication and official opening by Gordon L. Duffin, B.A. M.Ed., assistant superintendent of elementary education

A tentative estimated budget for the year 1952 was presented and discussed, but the matter was laid over for a further meeting scheduled for Feb. 26.

Account totalling $137.47 were authorized for payment.

Share Newsprint

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 (AP)—More than 800 weekly newspapers in the United States were kept alive last year—and will survive in 1952—only because 15 large dailies diverted to them part of their own newsprint supplies. The National Production Authority, reporting on the almost unique paper-sharing program of the newspaper industry, said no publication so far has had to shut down for lack of newsprint.

Bethany Vestry Reviews Work

BETHANY, Feb. 12 (ENS). — St. Paul's Anglican Church Vestry meeting was held at the rectory. Rev. T. S. Gault led the devotional period and expressed his appreciation to the wardens, the leaders of the different societies and the members of the congregation for their co-operation in a very happy and successful year, both financially and in spiritual fellowship. Robert Read, giving the financial statement listed the year's receipts as $2,544.08. H. F. Rayson, Sunday school superintendent, showed an increase in attendance in his report; the finances in good state; a picnic held during the summer, a Christmas party at which each child ned received a gift and boxes sent to sick members during the term. Mrs. T. S. Gault reported a very active year for the Ladies' Guild with $743.66 raised and a balance of $177.66. Mrs. H. F. Rayson, leader of the Junior Auxiliary said the interest shown by the children had been most encouraging; Bible study and handicraft work were featured at each meeting and they had raised funds at their own sale table at the annual bazaar. Mrs. Roy Jarvis reported the work of the Woman's Auxiliary, showing a balance of $375.00 on hand. All through the year the members of this organization are busy making articles for sale. They had contributed considerably towards the upkeep of the church, helping to pay for the installation of a new furnace in the past year, donating clothing and money to missions and sponsored a new Junior Girls' Group and a Junior Boys' League.

The following officers were elected: Miss Laura Morton, vestry clerk; Allan Gribble, treasurer; John Coburn, auditor; Robert Read, people's warden; Emory Smith, rector's warden. Robert Morton was named lay delegate to the Synod.

A committee was appointed to purchase surplice gowns for the choir members and it is expected to have these delivered in time for the Easter Sunday service.

The meeting joined in thanking Mr. Gault for his untiring efforts and successful leadership throughout the year and presented him with a salary bonus of $200.00.

Leads Six Children Form Burning House

BRANTFORD, Feb. 12 (CP).—Mrs. Elias Patterson Monday led her six children to safety when fire destroyed her home on the Six Nations Reservation near here.

After herding four children outside, the 33-year-old Mohawk mother snatched her two-year-old twins from their crib and ran outside.

Mrs. Patterson, whose husband was working in the steel plant at Hamilton, fought a futile 15-minute battle against the flames which started in the chimney. Neighbors and R.C.M.P. officers stationed at Oshweken Reserve formed a bucket brigade but were unable to halt the fire.

Poetess Dies

TORONTO, Feb. 12 — (CP) — Word of the death of Lydia Buckland Williamson, widow of James B. Williamson, reached here yesterday from Brattleboro, Vt. Mrs. Williamson contributed poetry to Canadian, British and United States newspapers and periodicals under the pen name Richard Scrace. She was also author of a small book of poems entitled "Duet for Cello and Drum." Survivors include a son, C. T. C. Williamson, of North Bay.

REGINA, Feb. 12—(CP)—Saskatchewan appeal court Monday ordered a new trial for John Woltucky, 26, convicted last December of the murder of 23-year-old Anna Juswiak, whose body was found in a Glenavon, Sask., backyard May 6, 1950. Woltucky was sentenced to be hanged.

Westinghouse Talks Have Broken Down

HAMILTON, Feb. 12 (CP) — Negotiations between the Canadian Westinghouse Company and Local 504, United Electrical Workers (Ind.) broke down Monday.

Company and union negotiators were attempting to work out a 1952 contract with the aid of conciliation officer William Dunn.

Several hundred workers at the east end plant staged a work stoppoge for more than an hour Monday but returned to work after lunch. Stan Robertson, union president, said that the workers were protesting a change in work schedules which would have men work on Saturday and Sunday.

W. A. Campbell, company secretary, said that only 30 men were affected by the new schedules and that the company had authority under its contract with the union to revise them.

Archbishop Of York Praises New Queen

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP) — "Youthful and alone, she stood at the table to address them."

Thus the Archbishop of York, Dr. Cyril Garbett, described to the House of Lords Monday night how Elizabeth II took her oath as Queen before members of the Privy Council Friday.

"It must have been to her a trying ordeal so soon after her accession," the Archbishop said, "but she spoke so clearly and directly and showed such great possession, such modesty and simple dignity that I am certain all who were present went away with the knowledge that the Queen has not only charm but other and greater qualities necessary for her high position.

"They went away resolved to do anything in their power to serve and to help her."

Mount Pleasant W.I. Plans February Supper

MOUNT PLEASANT, Feb. 12—(ENS)—Mrs. Delbert Armstrong was hostess to the members of the Women's Institute held on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 6, with fan attendance of 24. Mrs. E. McLean, the president, was in the chair.

The members stood for two minutes silent prayer before the flag, which was lowered to half-mast in respect to the death of King George VI and in sympathy to the royal family.

The members agreed they would serve a supper in the W.I. hall in place of a euchre on Feb. 22. Two quilts were made during the month. The W.I. autograph quilt was also quilted.

A letter from Mrs. R. G. Purcell, president of Federated Women's Institutes of Ontario, stated that the response for the appeal for the people of Northern Greece fund had amounted to nearly $7,000. Besides purchasing a tractor, $2,000 had already gone for food.

The members voted to contribute one cent per member to finance a cairn and bird bath, to be erected in the F.W.I.C. plot of the International Peace Garden, as a memorial to Mrs. Alfred Watt who had done much in W.I. work and its spread to England, also in the development of the Associated Country Women of the World.

The secretary reminded the members of the A.C.W.W. conference in Canada in 1953, to be held in Toronto, urging the members to make a study of other customs and other lands, also the United Nations and its many bodies.

Mrs. H. Baker and Mrs. R. Carr assisted the hostess in serving tea.

Eagles Edge Kingston, 6-5 And Pull Up Closer To Second-Place Hawks

Squeezing out a 6-4 O.H.A. senior "B" win here over Kingston last night before a small crowd, the Eagles climbed to half a game back of the second-place Belleville Hawks, and left the K's trailing the pack by two points. They had to hold off a determined drive by Kingston in the last half of the game to gain the verdict in a speedy and fairly clean fray. Kingston drew five of the eight penalties. Eagles dominated in the first frame to rack up a 3-1 lead. They managed to outscore Kingston 3-2 in the tighter second stanza to have a 6-3 margin heading into the third. It was pretty much all Kingston the final 20 minutes as the visitors tallied twice and came close on many other occasions. They yanked their goalie with a minute to go to make it plenty hot, but Eagles withstood the withering fire to skate off in front.

GOES GOOD—Freddy Mortimer went well for Eagles in their 6-5 win over Kingston last night, as he scored one goal and assisted on two more.

Rough At First

Both sides did some bumping and slashing in the initial inning but quick penalties cooled them out, and it was cleaner the rest of the route. The rival goalies had plenty to do as play swept up and down rapidly. Bud Ohlke bruised his leg in a collision with a goal post in the first peroid and retired for the rest of that chukker.

Toodie Greenlaw again was among the leaders at bat with a goal and two assists for Eagles, Freddy Mortimer posting up a similar mark, Reg Stewart got a goal and an assist, as single points went to Dootch Vitarelli, Bert Hill, Keith Montgomery, Bill Crowley and Johnny Richlark. Sammy Mulholland, of Kingston, counted two and helped on another, as Don Murray scored one and aided on a pair. George McGregor hit the twine twice, and single assists were chalked up to Sweetman, Bender, Goodfellow, Tinkess and Chretien, a newcomer.

Scored Early

Early in the first, Greenlaw's slap shot beat Anderson after a corner passout engineered by Stewart and Mortimer. Latimer went over for kneeing and Fennell followed for the same offence. Both were back when Reg Stewart's blazing shot at defence caught a net corner to make it 2-0. Mulholland got one back shortly on fast, smart combination and finish right inside. Ohlke went off hurt and Fennell hit the sin bin for slashing. White served a charging penalty and got back in time to draw another sentence for elbowing as he feuded with Montgomery. He got on the ice again and Latimer hit the trail for tripping, and was off when Montgomery took two cuffs at a passout from Greenlaw and Mortimer before finally catching the rigging.

Milne had to hop as Kingston poured it on to open the second, but Mortimer got the first goal with a slap shot after a swell rush and pass back by Greenlaw. With Munroe off for tripping, Kill checked at centre, recovered and tore in with a bullet drive to dent the hemp for Eagles. McGregor later got that one back on Bender's crease pass and a tap. Mulholland whittled it some more in close from Murray and Goodfellow. Two minutes later, Vitarelli made it 6-3 on a heated thrust as he ganged up with Crowley and Richlark.

Kingston Presses

After a slow start in the third, Kingston got rolling to press hard. Murray notched one with a whistling angle shot on a play started by Mulholland and Tinkess when the sniper was left uncovered briefly. They tore right back and McGregor's hot shot at defence from Chretien beat Milne to make the count 6-5. Latimer served a tripping penalty and the K's bored in hard the rest of the way, though Eagles occasionally broke out to test Anderson at close range. The hot pace was maintained as both coaches changed lines often and each netminder in turn was sprawled frequently. Kingston had an edge on play but couldn't score, not even in the final minute when Anderson was pulled and six forwards were thrown into the melee.

Kingston: Goal, Anderson; defence, Latimer and Goodfellow; centre, McGregor; wings, White and Larmer; alternates, Murray, Ohlke, Mulholland, Tinkess, Stewart, Bender, Chretien and Sweetman.

Eagles: Goal, Milne; defence, Montgomery and Richlark; centre, F. Mortimer; wings, Greenlaw and Stewart; alternates, Hill, Vitarelli, Crowley, Samalenko, Wilson, Berwick, Munroe and Fennell.

Referee, L. Lecompte; linesman, W. Rombanyi.

TONIGHT AT THE BROCK—Chief Suni War Cloud, above who meets the newcomer, Jim (the Bull) Wright in the opening bout of tonight's all-star mat card at the Brock. Most interest will be in the tag team main event bringing together on one team Whipper Watson and Pat Flanagan against Lord Athol Layton and Fred Atkins on the other. There'll be plenty of fireworks in this one. The semi-final features Zorra, the French Tarzan and Warren Bockwinkle. A record crowd is predicted for this outstanding card.

Four Teams Set To Play In Cage League

For boys not playing basketball on school or Ontario cage teams, the Y.M.C.A. has organized a house league similar to the one operated a year ago.

Fraser Wade, Y.M.C.A. physical director, said today, "this league is particularly for the fellows not playing in a league to give them a chance to play basketball and keep in condition."

This year there are two teams left from last season, the Y-Knots who were organized early in the fall for lakeshore league action before it fell through, and the Peterborough Normal School boys.

Two new teams, the Penguins and the Y-Jacks, have been organized by Mr. Wade with the Y.M.C.A. members to round out a league.

Start To Play

The teams will see action today when the Penguins meet the Y-Knots and the Normals play the Y-Jacks. If there is no intermediate Ontario playoff for Marines, the games will be at 8.00 p.m. and 9.00 p.m. But if there is a playoff game, the Penguins and Y-Knots will be at seven and the other after the Marines' game.

The teams will be competing for the Chester Kemp Memorial Trophy, presented by R. L. Dobbin, W. A. Richardson and W. D. Campbell, members of the Harriers, city champions in 1903-04.

The teams are: Normal School, Hugh Roblin, Mac McMartin, John Londry, Ken Hillsman, Doug Rednor, Don Runkley. Y-Jacks: Rollie Whithard, Bob Payne, Lawrence Foley, Keith Dunning, Bob Clark, Bill Huntley and John Spragge. Y-Knots: Ken Batchelor, Vern Butcher, Red Corner, Bob Jamieson, Pat Doherty, John Cerecino. Penguins: Bob Hurle, Bill English, Bob Candy, Bruce Motta, John Outram, Bill Canning, Don Bogue.

Mrs. Steer's Rink Wins At Oshawa

OSHAWA, Feb. 12 — The Oshawa ladies' third annual bonspiel got under way here Monday and the first round revealed that the handsome General Motors Trophy will have a new resting place for the 1952 term. Mrs. C. R. Robertson's rink from Toronto Granites was defeated by Mrs. E. G. Cottle of the Toronto Club 10-9 after an extra end.

Mrs. Cottle, in turn, was eliminated from the main event by Mrs. H. F. Gorrie of Hamilton Thistles. Two Lindsay rinks, skipped by Mrs. G. Walker and Mrs. E. McMullen, won their two games in the main event Monday, along with those of Mrs. J. Godfrey of Royal Canadians, Mrs. M. C. Code of High Park, Mrs. O. M. Steer of Peterborough, Mrs. H. Reive of High Park, and Mrs. Lila Wright of Oshawa.

Play continues today with winners of four events to be named.

Of the six Oshawa entries, Mrs. Wright's rink in the main event and Mrs. Bob Coppin's entry in the secondary play, were the only two survivors Monday, but four other rinks are still in the running for honors in the third and fourth competitions. A full entry list of 32 rinks faced the barrier Monday, and with all assured three games, they all resume play again today.

Mrs. Cottle's extra end victory was the big thrill of the day, but competition was especially keen throughout with Mrs. Wood nosing out Mrs. Coppin 9-8 on the last rock of the final end. Mrs. Cottle gave Mrs. Gorrie a stern battle all the way, but after dropping behind in the early stages, was not quite able to catch up.

Havelock Stays Up With T.V.L. Victory

HAVELOCK, Feb. 12 (ENS)—Havelock defeated Lakefield on Monday night by a score of 7 to 3 in a rough T.V.L. game here when the locals retained their standing at the top of the league. Sixteen penalties were handed out and Legrow, of Lakefield, received five penalties including a misconduct.

Reid was top scorer for the evening with three goals, two of which he got unassisted. Wasson, of Lakefield, scored two of the three goals for his team.

First period—Havelock: Willshaw (Reid and Caravaggio) 4.35. Lakefield: Wasson (Doris) 15.23. Havelock: Reid (Caravaggio) 18.39. Havelock, Reid, 19.

Second period—Havelock: Reid 1.51. Lakefield: Wasson (Doris) 15.23.

Third period—Lakefield: Williams 4.33. Havelock: Hamilton (Laing) 4.55. Havelock: McIndoo (Willshaw) 17.08. Havelock: Willshaw 18.04.

Lineups:

Havelock—Goal, Bradley; defence, Pace, Wilson; centre, Laing; wings, Hamilton, Berwick; alternates, Reid, Willshaw, Crowder, Eakins, Caravaggio, Anderson, Berardi, McIndoo.

Lakefield—Goal, Caravaggio; defence, Jopling, Wasson; centre, Fawcett; wings, Doris, Legrow; alternates, Casey, Hunter, Wasson, Eady, Williams, Miller, Marshall.

THAT'S SKILL—Cary Middlecoff makes good his approach from the sand trap in front of the fifth green as he blasts the ball close to the pin to par out the hole. He fired a third round 69, to hold first place in the $10,000 El Paso Open Tourney with a third round total of 200.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Quite a get-together is being planned for March 13 at the Royal York Hotel. It's a benefit dinner for the crippled children's fund and is being staged by the Ontario Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association. Tickets are 25 bucks apiece and, with most of the expenses underwritten by some Toronto big shots, practically all the money raised will go to charity. A big response already, we hear, and Rex Stimers so far has sold $1,000 worth of ducats in the Niagara peninsula. Some of the guests expected are Lionel Conacher, Francis Ouimet, Jack Dempsey, Gene Tunney, Joe DiMaggio, Marlene Stewart, Frank Leahy of Notre Dame, and so on. It'll be quite an affair.

P.M.H.A. playoffs resume Thursday night at Civic Arena, starting at 6.30. It's Otonabee Wolves vs. St. Peter's bantams, followed by Martin-Hewitt midgets vs. Trojans, and then the juvenile Marines vs. Oddfellows. These are home-and-home series, goals counting, for the city minor puck crowns and the right to proceed into O.M.H.A. provincial playdowns 'gainst Oshawa teams next week. Wolves lead by two goals from the first playoff, Martin-Hewitt hold a five-goal margin, and Marines lead by three tallies in the juvenile sawoffs. Come out Thursday p.m. and see three hot playoff contests.

The Bomber's Coming

Not the least of the Conachers — four of whom are expected to show here Saturday night in the N.H.L. oldtimers' puck exhibit for charity — is big Chuck. The Bomber, as he was later called, stepped up from junior "A" at the age of 20 to form a big part of the famous Kid Line for the Leafs in the 1930 season. Packing the hottest shot in N.H.L. history, the fast-stepping rightwinger scored 204 goals and had 144 assists for 348 points in his Leafian career. He was picked three years on the all-star N.H.L. team and was scoring champion for two years. Later coached Oshawa Generals and then the Chi-Hawks. Truly a great hockeyist in his prime.

Belleville Hawks tackle the Eagles at 8.30 tomorrow night in Civic Arena. Last O.H.A. tussle here this week, as there'll be no ice action Friday. A terrific tussle is anticipated as the Quinte crew are being crowded plenty now by both Eagles and Kingston for that second-slot position in the standing. As the schedule shows signs of petering out later this month, the various teams — to use a race track term — are making their moves. They're jockeying hard for positions right now just before starting to pound down the stretch in the final two weeks of play. Hawks are by no means secure in second place yet and they'll fight furiously here on the morrow for a valuable two-point win. Needless to say, Eagles will do likewise. Yes, it shapes up as a swell senior "B" struggle.

Eagles Climbing Fast

After their neat 6-5 win o'er Kingston here last eve, Ned Vitarelli's Eagles are nestling just half a game back of the second-place Quinte Hawks. And can climb over 'em here on the morrow with a win. They had to shoot the works to get that verdict aaginst the K's, who fought furiously in the third heat to almost sew it up. Eagles looked better for half the game, but Kingston kept coming and had most of the play toward the end. 'Twas redhot when they pulled their goalie in a desperate attempt to sink the equalizer. The Mortimer-Greenlaw-Stewart trio proved the production line for the McGillis men in this melee, while McGregor, Murray and Mulholland stood out for Kingston.

Two lively T.V.L. tilts last evening, Havelock staying atop the heap at home with a 7-3 win o'er Lakefield, and Norwood edging Flyers in Norwood by a 6-4 count. One of the airmen hit the ref and will have plenty of time to ponder his rashness as he sits out a suspension. Tompkins was used up front and clicked well with Thorpe. Games tomorrow: Belleville at Hastings, Norwood at Lakefield, and Havelock back at the Flyers. Havelock leds the northern loop, with Norwood close behind and then Lakefield right on their heels. Marmora is atop the central section, as Belleville leads in the southern part. Before last night's numbers, Mulvihill of Belleville led that section in sniping with 52 points, Payne fronted for Norwood in the northern end with 33 points, and Trumble of Marmora headed his division with 30.

Murray Blames Officials For Star's Injuries

GALT, Feb. 12 (CP).—Al Murray, manager of Galt Black Hawks of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League, Monday night denounced officiating in the 10-team league following Sunday's injury to Ken Wharram, Galt scoring star.

In addition to blaming the officials in the Sunday game with Marlboros in Toronto when Wharram collided the Marlies' Parker MacDonald and broke his collarbone, Murray charged that opposing teams were out to "get" players of the calibre of Wharram and Pete Conacher.

Murray was bitter over the Sunday incident, claiming that MacDonald should have had a penalty for charging.

Foreign Athletes Busy Training In U.S. Midwest

By JERRY LISKA.

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 (AP). — Midwestern United States is a busy training ground for foreign athletes hopeful of representing their own countries in the 1952 Olympic games at Helsinki.

An Associated Press survey today disclosed that at least 17 athletes from seven different countries are performing at colleges in this area.

Canada, with 10 natives, seven of them at the University of Michigan, tops the list which also includes two South African athletes, and one each from Sweden, Norway, New Zealand, Finland and Panama.

Olympic rules require competitors to be nationals or naturalized citizens of the country they represent.

There are some lively Olympic prospects in the foreign set on midwestern campuses.

Take Michigan's Dos McEwen, Drake's Jim Lavery, and Iowa's Richard Ferguson, all of Canada; Purdue's Denis Johansson of Finland, Oklahoma's Neville Price from South Africa, and Illinois' Cirilo McSween from Panama.

McEwen, formerly of Ottawa and Halifax, has won seven N.C.A.A. and Big Ten distance titles with a 9.01.9 outdoor two-mile clocking to his credit. He was 1950's all-college two-miler.

Fast Runner

Just as McEwen captains Michigan, Lavery who comes from Winnipeg, is Drake track captain and one of the fastest 440 runners in the U.S. His best clocking is :47.6, made in the N.C.A.A. trials last year.

Johansson has learned a lot of American running as a sort of third-place chaperone in the Don Gehrmann-Fred Wilt Jile feud. He hopes to qualify for the Finnish Olympic team in the 1,500 and 5,000 metres.

McSween, 22-year-old junior, won both the Big Ten indoor and outdoor 440 championship as a sophomore last year when his only quarter-mile defeat came when he placed sixth in the N.C.A.A.

Price, 22-year-old Oklahoma freshman from East London, South Africa, holds the British Empire broad jump title and also is a sprinter. Ferguson, slender 20-year-old Iowa freshman from Toronto was Canadian three-mile champion in 1949 and 1950.

Michigan's Canadian contingent also includes sophomore John Ross with a 4:12 clocking in his first collegiate mile try; George Lynch, a 10,000-metre hopeful; shot-putter Roy Pella; quarter-milers Jack Carroll and Al Rankin; and sprinter Ross Coats.

Gordon Dickson, sophomore at Drake, is a Canadian hopeful at 10,000 metres.

Marines Play Queen's In Basketball Series

The Eastern Ontario intermediate "B" basketball championship will be on the line tonight when the Marines open a two-game points - to - count with Queen's University, Coach Gord McIntyre said today. The game is at eight in the "Y."

Monday night in Brockville the university students bested the Brockville quintet easily to win the final series of the eastern section of the Eastern Ontario League. The students were the league's best throughout the schedule.

Reports from the Kingston-Brockville area describe teams there slightly weaker than in the western section which included Belleville, Picton, Trenton R.C.A.F. and the Marines. In recent games, the Glens watched the first playoff game and said the Queen's quintet has improved in the past month.

This series must be over before Saturday night when the winner will meet the Oshawa Grads in another round of the playoffs. The Grads have been playing this winter in an Oshawa and district league, waiting with a bye while Eastern Ontario teams edge each other out of Ontario competition.

Marines enter the Queen's series with a record of eight wins and two losses in league play and two straight wins in the playdowns. An allround team with two quintets of veterans and youthful players, the Marines this year have been alternating a zone and man-to-man defence in each game with some success.

Work will likely keep Warren Smith and Chum Gillespie out of the game tonight, resulting in centre Hugh Dibben lining up with both quintets. The tall centre has been rebounding well lately at both backboards as well as being top scorer.

With Dibben on one lineup will be Neil Thompson and Ted Payne, as forwards, Doug McPherson and Harold Grafstein, as guards. On the other quintet will be Joe and Ab Stewart, up front, Bill Trimm and Gord Burns, at guard.

TOUGH FIGHT—Frankie Almond shows the effect of a tough battle in Vancouver when the Canadian featherweight champion lost to Bobby Woods of Spokane, Wash. Frankie's manager, Len Gervais, patches up the beaten fighter.

Rule Winter Olympics Open On Thursday As Scheduled

OSLO, Feb. 12 (CP). — With or without the co-operation of nature, the winter Olympics will open Thursday as scheduled.

That was the final word today from the Olympic organizing committee and ski officials, who have been plagued with worries about the lack of snow.

The officials at Norefjell, where the skiing events get underway Thursday, are thoroughly convinced their efforts to haul in snow and put it in place with the help of some 300 soldiers, will give the competitors a perfect run.

Water is being sprayed over the snow. Sub-freezing temperatures assure a quick coating of ice.

However, the skiing technical committee decided to postpone the women's downhill race from Saturday until Sunday. This will enable the soldiers to concentrate on getting the courses ready for the Thursday and Friday events which follow the original schedule.

Hopes for snow to cover bare spots on the ski courses all but vanished this morning when the day dawned cold and clear.

Storm Avoids Norway

The official Norwegian weather bureau said a snow storm that paralyzed traffic in Northern Denmark had been swept away from the Oslo region.

The bobsled run, scene of the only other opening day event, will be in good shape without more snow. It is made of almost solid ice and sub-freezing temperatures have kept it well preserved.

Canada has no entries in the bobsled competition. The two-man sleds ended practice runs today with the Germans, Swiss and Americans all bunched closely as pre-games favorites.

A pre-games consensus among the experts here has already given the nod to Canada for three first-place spots or at least a wide-open chance to grab top honors.

Edmonton Mercurys are called to take the hockey championship.

Suzanne Morrow, 21-year-old Toronto girl, gets the call for the women's figure-skating championship as successor to Barbara Ann Scott, now a professional.

But closely ranked with Suzanne are Jeanette Altwegg of Britain, the world champion; Jacqueline du Bief of France and Sony A Klopfer, 17-year-old younster from Long Island City, N. Y.

Suzanne, just back from a German barnstorming exhibition tour competed in the 1948 Olympics at St. Moritz, Switzerland. She was 14th in the singles and third, with Wally Deistelmeyer of Toronto, in the pairs.

She won the Canadian ladies' senior title in 1951 and was chosen for Canada's figure-skating team as far back as last October. She did not compete in the 1952 Canadian championships last month, won by Marlene Smith of Niagara Falls, Ont., but came to Europe in December to train for the games.

Detroit Sweeping Board Most Wins, Best Scores

MONTREAL, Feb. 12. (CP)—Operations in the National Hockey League this year, at least as far as individual and team honors are concerned, can best be summed up in one word—Detroit. Not only are the Red Wings comfortably atop the league but also they have won the most games, lost the least, scored the most goals, have the least goals scored against them. The Wings lead, in the individual scoring department, with the greatest number of points, the most goals scored and the greatest number of shutouts.

In team standings, the Wings have 70 points—10 more than the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs—made up of 30 victories and 10 draws. They have scored 144 goals in 51 games, one more than scored by Montreal Canadiens in 53 contests, and have only 93 goals scored against them.

Canadiens are in third place with 57 points and are followed by Boston with 46, New York with 44 and Chicago with 33.

In individual scoring, Gordie Howe shares the spotlight with Terry Sawchuk.

Eight-point Lead

Howe has 55 points, eight more than second-place Elmer Lach of Montreal. His total is made up of a record 28 goals and 27 assists, compared with Lach's mark of 12 goals and a pace-setting 35 assists.

Sawchuk is away out in front in netminding chores, having racked up 11 shutouts and a goals-against average of 1:43. Al Rollins of Toronto and Jim Henry of Boston have five shutouts apiece.

Toronto is the most penalized club with 545 minutes and Rangers the least at 398 minutes. League badman is Gus Kyle of Boston who has spent 111 minutes in the penalty box.

Laufman Keeps Scoring Lead

TORONTO, Feb. 12 (CP).—Ken Laufman, the high-scoring Guelph Biltmores' centre, this week held onto his lead in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A point parade.

The 19-year-old forward banged in two goals and assisted on six others in two games to compile a total of 119 points. He is a scant point in front of Danny Poland of Toronto Marlboros who has 118 points. Poland took over the runner-up spot from Galt's Ken Wharram who broke his collarbone in a Sunday game and will probably be lost to the Black Hawks for the rest of the season. Wharram is still in third place with 114 points.

Don Head, Toronto Marlboros' regular goaltender, continued to lead the goals-against averages. He has allowed only 95 goals in 33 games for a 2.88 average. Ed Chadwick of Toronto St. Michael's is next with 3.25 and Kitchener's Bill Harrington follows with a 3.76 average.

TO COACH CHATHAM TEAM

Len Loree, for the past three seasons a referee in the International Amateur Hockey League, will coach Chatham Maroons of the I.A.H.L., it was announced Monday in Windsor. Loree, who played senior hockey in Regina before coming to Windsor, replaced George Edward at the Chatham reins. Due to the illness in January of Bud Stoddart, Edwards took over as player-coach of the Maroons. He said he found the dual role hard to handle.

Bann On Dunn Curbs Plans

EDMONTON, Feb. 12—(CP)—Just when it appears that lightweight George Dunn may have found a knockout touch, the Boxing Managers' Guild has slapped a ban on him.

And the ban may have thrown a monkey wrench into the Edmonton fight picture just when the Alberta capital was becoming known as a good fight town.

Dunn is a 25-year-old Negro puncher from Hartford, Conn. While on a tour of Western Canada nearly three years ago, he took a liking to Edmonton and decided to make his home here. His manager back in Hartford claimed Dunn ran out on him.

In 25 bouts since then, Dunn has won 24, his last a knockout over Joey Velez, of Seattle. Last August he as given official ranking as 10th leading contender for the world lightweight title.

The manager mix-up has drawn in Edmonton's 33-year-old boxing promoter, Jack Berry, who claims the Managers' Guild has blackballed him, too.

"They figure I'm managing Dunn and getting a cut of his purse," said Berry. "They figure I stole him."

Lepine Leading Dog Derby

OTTAWA, Feb. 12—(CP)—The international sled-dog derby is still anyone's race. The second heat opens today with Wilf Lepine, veteran musher from Quebec City, leading the 19 entrants by three minutes.

The slim 31-year-old driver won the derby in 1950 and set a course record for the 100-mile event. He finished the first heat Monday in 2:08:48.

Lepine was pressured all the way, with seven drivers finishing just a few minutes behind him.

The course was cut to approximately 29 miles from the scheduled 33 1-3 miles by derby officials when snow conditions in some spots forced a slight change in the route.

The number two man after the first day of racing is Dr. Charles Belford, of Deerfield, Mass., who brought his Siberian huskies home in 2:11:56. He holds less than a minute edge over Big Bill Shearer of Boston, who finished in 2:12:45. Shearer was driving 11 Siberian huskies.

40-Minute Advantage

Mrs. Bunty Dunlop, 26-year-old Bronte, Ont., housewife, will enter the second heat with a 40-minute advantage over her lone woman competitor for the $300 cash prize and gold cup in the special Capital Sweepstakes for women drivers. She completed the course in 3:23:12.

The other woman competitor, Mrs. Laird Ouellette, of The Pas, Man., finished in last place with a time of 4:03:50. She is driving a team owned by Stan Stanyer, of Ottawa, who was unable to drive his own team because of illness.

The pre-race favorite, Emile Martel, 30-year-old Loretteville, Que., musher, 1951 derby champion, drove his cross-bred hounds across the finish line in fifth place in 2:18:30.

Sgt. Dennis Hayes, sponsored by the Canadian army, brought his Labrador retrievers home eighth in 2:15:09.

He was originally placed fourth through a time error. Dr. Roland Lombard of Auburndale, Mass., was fourth with a time of 2:15:32; Martel fifth, and Ovide Carriere, of Quebec City, was sixth with 2:22:53.

Three More Dodgers Sign 1952 Contracts

BROOKLYN, Feb. 12 (AP). — Brooklyn Dodgers announced today that outfielder George Shuba and pitchers Jack Banta and Phil Haugstad have signed their 1952 contracts. The Dodgers now have 34 players in the fold.

Shuba, 27, was up with the Dodgers in 1948, 49 and 50 but never lived up to his minor league ratings. He spent 1951 with Montreal, batting .310 in 92 games. A leg injury curtailed his activity.

Banta, after a fine season in 1949 came up with arm trouble and spent most of 1950 with Montreal and all of 1951 with Fort Worth. He appeared in only seven games for Fort Worth and had no decisions either way.

MAYS SIGNS CONTRACT

Willie Mays, speedy young centre fielder of the New York Giants, sent in his signed contract Monday and with it sent word that he will report to the Giants' training camp at Phoenix, Ariz., next Sunday. Mays, awaiting a call from his draft board in Birmingham, Ala., said he would remain with the team until he is ordered to report.

Powell Holds 12-Point Lead

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (AP). — Ray Powell's ability to avoid penalties is one of the reasons the veteran centre of the Providence Reds tops the American Hockey League in scoring by 12 points today.

Powell drew a two-minute penalty in his first game of the season and hasn't broken the rules since. Powell picked up five points during the week to boost his output to 74. The clever playmaker has scored 27 goals and leads the field in assists with 47.

Jackie Hamilton of St. Louis Flyers picked up 11 points during the week to tie Steve Wochy of Cleveland for second place at 62 points apiece. Wochy and George Armstrong, who recently moved up from Pittsburgh to Toronto, share the goal-scoring lead at 30 each.

Goalies Gil Mayer of Pittsburgh and Johnny Bower of Cleveland are waging a hot fight for goaltending honors. Mayer is tops at the moment with a 2.52 average to Bower's 2.53. Mayer and Cincinnati's Emile Francis have turned in the most shutouts, four. Pete Durham of Indianapolis continues to lead in penalties with 138 minutes.

VEILS OF MOURNING—Her face small and white behind the black, wide-spreading veils of mourning Queen Elizabeth is shown at the window of her automobile as it slowly followed the gun carriage bearing the body of King George from Sandringham, Monday. The solemn journey began from the tiny parish Church of St. Mary Magdalene and ended in the heart of London. The body of the late King rests in Westminster Hall.

Britain Working For Greater Canadian Trade

TORONTO, Feb. 12—(CP)—It is the firm policy of the British Government to work for an increase of two-way trade between Canada and the United Kingdom, Rt. Hon. Peter Thorneycroft, president of Britain's Board of Trade, said in a statement released here today.

The statement was released by James S Duncan, chairman of the dollar-sterling trade advisory council, and chairman and president of Massey-Harris Co., Ltd., on his return from overseas.

Mr. Thorneycroft added that British Government policy, in working for two-way trade, was "to enable British capital and enterprise to participate, as fully as our financial and economic circumstances allow, in the development of the rich resources of Canada". He commented further:

"The government of the United Kingdom is fully conscious of the necessity of maintaining exports to the dollar areas, notwithstanding the difficulties of the present situation and the shortages of raw materials resulting from rearmament.

Rebalancing Program

"Our defence program is indeed being rebalanced so as to ease the immediate burden on the metal-using industries and so enable exports of engineering goods to be increased as quickly as possible.

"In addition, we shall restrict home investment and home consumption—even at the expense of the rebuilding of our blitzed cities, as well as home deliveries of all sorts of capital and consumer goods—in order to free resources to expand our export trade. And in that trade, dollar markets must continue to rank first.

"These are the objectives that will govern the allocating of steel, and we are hopeful that as a result of all these measures it will be possible not only to maintain but even to increase the flow of exports of engineering products of Canada".

Mr. Duncan said that as a result of the talks he had in Britain, he "was greatly encouraged, not only with the awareness of all concerned of the growing importance of the Canadian market, but by the unanimity with which the view was held that dollar exports had to be maintained at all costs, and that the necessary measures would be taken to achieve these aims".

Top U.S. Jet Ace Downed By Reds

TOKYO, Feb. 12—(AP)—Major George A. Davis, Jr., a steel-nerved Texan who bagged 14 Communist planes over Korea to become the top U.S. jet ace, was shot down Sunday and is believed to have been killed, the air force announced Monday. Even in his last battle, the 31-year-old sharpshooter blasted two Communist MIG-15's out of the Korean sky to boost his record to 21 enemy planes—11 MIG's and three light bombers, plus seven Japanese planes in the Second World War. He also was credited with one MIG probably destroyed and three damaged.

Wants Investigation

(In Lubbock, Tex., the flier's wife told a reporter she would "like a full-scale investigation of why he was left in Korea". Mrs. Davis is expecting her third child in May).

Davis' swept-wing F-86 Sabre jet spiralled down and crashed in northwest Korea during a battle between two Sabres and 10 MIG's just north of Sinanju, the air force said.

Davis and his wingman, Lieut. William Littlefield, had broken away from a flight of Sabres to hunt for Red jets.

"We spotted a flight of 10 MIG's just crossing into Korea about 8,000 feet below us and Major Davis called for a diving turn to bring us in behind them", Littlefield said afterward.

Two of the MIG's went down in flames, victims of Davis' 50-calibre machine-guns.

"We had gone through the entire formation and were out in front of them . . . when I saw the major's ship had been hit", Littlefield said.

Davis did not bail out as his crippled Sabre spun down.

He was flying his 59th Korean combat mission since he went into action last November.

Plans For Mourning

Canadians Divided On Funeral Day Plans

By The Canadian Press

Canadians, each in his own way, will pay tribute to the King Friday when funeral services are held in London.

The federal government proclaimed the day "as a public holiday to be observed as a day of general mourning" for the Monarch who died February 6. But only the courts, banks and federal offices are required to close.

The provinces were left free to issue their own proclamations and only in British Columbia and Newfoundland will the day be observed as if it were a statutory holiday with all non-essential industries closing. Provincial Secretary W. T. Straith said of British Columbia plans: "Everything will be closed—just like a Sunday."

A Canadian Press survey Monday found:

Schools in all provinces will be closed.

Leading department stores in most cities will not open.

The Motion Picture Industry Council requested its 2,000 member theatres across Canada to remain closed until 6 p.m.

The Montreal and Toronto Stock Exchanges, the Winnipeg Grain Exchange and commodity markets will suspend operations for the day.

The CBC will observe long periods of silence during the day, confining broadcasts to funeral events.

Papers Publish

Most daily newspapers will publish as usual. One exception is the Halifax Mail-Star.

But except in British Columbia and Newfoundland, there will be no general cessation of business across the country. Provinces proclaiming the day a holiday left it up to business itself whether to observe the day as a full holiday.

All government offices and liquor outlets will be closed in Ontario.

Prime Minister St. Laurent will head government officials attending a service at the National War Memorial in Ottawa and in many centres, members of the armed forces will parade to church services.

In many churches of every faith, services will be held at various times throughout the day.

Plan Civic Holiday

Ontario cities proclaiming Friday a civic holiday are Stratford, Brantford, Timmins, Cornwall, Sudbury, North Bay, St. Thomas, Chatham, Welland, Galt, Windsor, Toronto, Niagara Falls and Welland.

A number of centres have not yet reached a decision. Others plan only memorial services.

In Stratford most industries are undecided whether to remain open. Of more than 30 plants, 25 plan to follow the lead of the majority.

In Chatham, all places of entertainment and industry have been requested to close. A civic memorial service is scheduled at Park Street United Church.

In Timmins, it was reported that retail stores will follow the example of other norther municipalities and that in all probability stores will be closed. Legion officials are planning a memorial service.

In North Bay, industries and stores are to be asked to close. A memorial service is planned. In Sudbury, all churches are expected to participate in a morning service and in the afternoon a ceremony will be held in the Legion Hall.

Civic Service

In Niagara Falls civic and provincial offices will be closed and service will be held in the Collegiate auditorium.

In Welland, a community service is to be held in a theatre and will be preceded by a parade from the Legion Hall. Memorial services will be held in Galt churches.

In St. Thomas the Chamber of Commerce has urged stores and industries to close down at 11 a.m. for at least the funeral period.

Stores, industries and other places of business in Brantford are expected to remain open with two minutes' silence being observed. Civic memorial services will be held in Ktichener and Waterloo in the evening instead of in the afternoon as originally planned.

At Toronto a civic memorial service is planned for Maple Leaf Gardens. Services will be held in leading churches of most denominations. Offices, stores and industries are not decided whether to close.

Predicts Truck Control

TORONTO, Feb. 12 (CP).—Arthur Hailey of Toronto, editor of the monthly magazine Bus and Truck Transport, Monday night predicted the government would take over control of trucking within 18 months.

GLASGOW, Scotland, Feb. 12 (Reuters).—Scottish Nationalists Monday night solemnly protested against the proclamation of the new Queen as Elizabeth II. Scotland and England became one state a century after the first Elizabeth's death in 1603.

To Stand Trial

WINNIPEG, Feb. 12 (CP). — Mrs. Noella Showko, 29, of Winnipeg, Monday was committed for trial on a charge of murder in the knife-slaying of her common-law husband, Percy William Beckstead, 48, Feb. 3.

Ministers Sponsor Havelock Youth Rally

HAVELOCK, Feb. 12 (ENS).—An interdenominational youth rally was held in the Pentecostal Tabernacle on Friday evening, sponsored by the Ministerial Association.

The Rev. Ralph Hobson, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church of Peterborough was guest peaker, taking for his text "Now is the accepted time, now is the day of salvation". A trio from the Pentecostal Bible College in Peterborough, sang special numbers. Miss Elfrieda Jenkins accompanied at the piano.

Ministers on the platform included the Rev. R. G. Newman of Havelock United Church, Pastor L. Bigelow of the Baptist Mission, the Rev. R. D. Duncanson of Knox Presbyterian Church, the Rev. E. W. Rivers of the Apostolic Church and the Rev. M. Ester of the Pentecostal Tabernacle.

Power Demands Grow

ORILLIA, Feb. 12 (CP) — Hydro Chairman Robert H. Saunders said Monday night if power demands in the next four years continue to soar as they have for the last four years, the actual increase alone will exceed Ontario's entire share of the proposed St. Lawrence power development.

Elected President

OTTAWA, Feb. 12 (CP)—Gustave Lanctot, Ottawa writer and lecturer, was elected president of hte Canadian Writers' Foundation Incorporated at its annual meeting Monday.

Lakefield C.G.I.T. Has Banquet For Mothers

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 12 (ENS).—In conjunction with "National Youth Week" a mother and daughter banquet was held Friday evening in the United Church by members of the Canadian Girls In Training.

The toast to the Queen, proposed by the Rev. W. H. Tonge, was followed by the singing of the national anthem. A toast to the church was proposed by Edith Whetung, and Ruth Fraser proposed the toast to the mothers, which was replied to by Mrs. E. Rath.

The scripture reading, by Patty Jakins, was followed with prayer by Mr. Tonge. Mrs. H. J. Brown, vice-president of the Women's Missionary Society, brought greetings from the society.

Mrs. T. Payton led in a singsong, and the C.G.I.T. hymn and purpose was sung by the girls.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Ole Bjorn Hoisen of Norway. Mrs. Hoisen gave an interesting talk on Norway and girls' work there. The Rev. Ole Bjorn Hoisen then sang a Norwegian folk song.

C.G.I.T. president Connie Vallance thanked Mr. and Mrs. Hoisen for their part in the evening's entertainment.

A quintette composed by Betty Jane Rath, Helen Kingdon, Helen Hennessy, Connie Vallance and Patty Jakins sang "My Shepherd." They were accompanied by Mrs. E. Rath. The senior girls, led by Margaret Calberry, enacted two skits and an orchestra, composed of 12 girls, contributed several numbers. Louise Anderson played two numbers on the piano accordion.

The C.G.I.T., which is non-denominational, is under the capable leadership of Mrs. W. H. Tonge, Mrs. T. Payton, Miss Margaret Calberry and Miss Jean Spence. Regret was expressed at the meeting that the latter was unable to be present, owing to illness.

Minden Re-opens Arena With Show

LINDSAY, Feb. 12 (ENS).—A crowd of 1,100 paid admissions filed into Minden Arena on Friday evening for the official re-opening ceremonies. Last November the $40,000 building collapsed from the weight of snow on the roof. Since that time villagers and many outsiders mave pitched in to help in the rebuilding program.

In three months, almost to the day, the arena was again ready. It took $24,000 and the work of almost everyone in the village. Friday's show opened with the Boy Scouts, the Minden public school and the minor hockey teams putting on a pageant.

Reeve Reg. Booth of Anson, Henden and Minden townships introduced Clayton Hodgson, M.P., who then introduced Premier L. M. Frost. Mr. Frost congratulated the villagers and presented them with a $5,000 cheque from the Ontario government.

The Oshawa Skating Club were guests for the evening and presented a fine show of figure skating. To wind up the night's entertainment Minden Monarchs and Stouffville Clippers played an exhibition hockey game with the homesters coming out on the top end of a 5-4 score.

Manslaughter Charge

WINDSOR, Feb. 12 (CP) — Thornton Prest, 42, was charged Monday with manslaughter in connection with the death of Earl Joseph Leboeuf, 32, whose body was found Sunday in a downtown apartment building. Prest was held on $10,000 bail.

Fund Oversubscribed

TORONTO, Feb. 12 (CP) — A total of $16,128,134 in cash and pledges has been subscribed to the Toronto General Hospital Fund for rebuilding and modernization, fund chairman, E. P. Taylor, announced Monday. It is a 15-percent oversubscription of the $14,000,000 sought.

Publish Citations For 3 Men In Korea

OTTAWA, Feb. 12 (CP)—On his third assignment to the Far East, a 36-year-old Edmonton major won the D.S.O. for acting both as an assault infantryman and a courageous leader in a Korean action last December.

The citation covering award of the gallantry decoration for Maj. John H. B. George was published Monday along with citations for mentions-in-despatches for two armored corps men, Lieut. Strathcona MacDonald, 31, of Vankleek Hill, Ont., and Sgt. George Herbert Thwaites, 32, of Charlton, Ont. All three are veterans of the Second World War.

Bill Boss, Canadian Press correspondent in Korea, reported the awards some weeks ago.

BREAK THE LAXATIVE HABIT THIS PROVEN WAY

If you take laxatives regularly, here is how you can stop! This proven plan helps you establish your natural powers of regularity, controlled tests prove.

Stop taking whatever you now take. Instead, every night for one week take two Carter's Little Liver Pills. Second week—one each night. Third week—one every other night. Then nothing! Every day drink eight glasses of water; set a definite time for regularity. This plan was proven in scientifically controlled tests.

How can a laxative break the laxative habit? Because Carter's unblock the lower digestive tract and from then on let it make use of its own natural powers. Further, Carter's contain no habit forming drugs. Break the laxative habit with Carter's . . . be regular naturally.

When worry, overwork, overeating make you irregular temporarily—take Carter's temporarily. Never get the laxative habit.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills at any drug store. Only 25c. You'll be grateful the rest of your life.

"Difficult Day?.. Take a Disprin"

Why DISPRIN? Because DISPRIN is soluble and substantially neutral. When taken in water as recommended, it enters the stomach as a true solution and not as undissolved particles. It is therefore less liable to cause stomach discomfort.

DISPRIN is readily absorbed. Because it definitely dissolves (not merely disintegrates) DISPRIN permits speedy absorption and gives quicker relief.

DISPRIN is palatable. Even children will take it readily.

Science Progresses

For 50 years we have used little white tablets—acetylsalicylic acid—for relief of pain. Today this familiar pain-killer is available in a new form without the disadvantages of acidity, insolubility and bitter taste. It is called 'DISPRIN' and is sold at druggists everywhere.

'DISPRIN' is available in Bottles of 26 tablets or Handy Pocket Folders of 8.

VISITORS AT REUNION

Ian Blaiklock and Russell Cole attended the fifth anniversary reunion of Camp Comak in Toronto recently.

LAST WINTER MOON

The last full moon of winter was at the full Sunday night. The new moon is waxing daily in warmth, although winter still has rigors to ride the wind.

SHOPS CLOSE WEDNESDAY

Retail stores in Peterborough will be closed Wednesday afternoon as usual. Merchants, after a meeting Monday called by the Chamber of Commerce, decided that they would close their businesses regardless of whether they closed up Friday or not.

COUNCIL IN SILENCE

City council opened its special session last night by standing in silence one minute in memory of His Majesty King George VI. A draped picture of the King is prominently placed on a table of the main vestibule at the City Hall.

ATTEND FUNERAL

Charles Forsyth, general secretary at the Y.M.C.A., and William MacFarlane, boys' work secretary attended the funeral of Arthur Merlyn Harding, national physical secretary for the Y.M.C.A. in Canada. Mr. Harding, who was in Peterborough several years ago speaking to service clubs, died suddenly in Toronto on Friday.

27 APPLICATIONS

Finance committee of the council received 27 applications Monday night for the position of assistant city clerk. Some were selected for consideration by a special committee composed of Mayor Hugh Waddell,, Ald. T. D. Miller, Ald. James Gillespie and City Clerk Outram.

CANCELS MEMBERSHIP

Boost of Peterborough's membership fee in the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities from $51 to $152 prompted withdrawal in a recommendation of the finance committee Monday night. The motion by Ald. A. B. Burrows was seconded by Mayor Waddell. The city is still affiliated with the Ontario Association of Mayors and Reeves.

HIGHWAY ACCIDENT

A collision between two cars on the Buckhorn Road Monday afternoon resulted in $175 property damage. Kenneth Stewart, 41, R.R. 1, Lakefield, started to make a left turn into a garage as he drove north on the Buckhorn Road, two miles north of Selwyn. At just that time, another northbound car, driven by Bruce Parker, 59, 341 Reid Street, started to pass. The result was a minor collision, but no injuries.

Spring Flower

Barber Jack Smith reports that he saw a winter aconite, actually a spring plant, showing a bright yellow flower in a sheltered spot near his home Monday.

Skull Fractured, Wife Hurt At Springville

A Brantford couple are in Civic Hospital, one of them with a fractured skull, after a two-car highway crash Monday afternoon near Springville.

E. Clayton Smith, 36, Brantford, has a fractured skull in two places and cuts and bruises.

His 32-year-old wife Betty has a broken finger on her right hand and a bruised left knee. She is also suffering from shock.

They were on their way to their new home in Ottawa, after moving from Brantford, when the accident occurred. Their furniture had already gone on ahead.

The accident occurred on the Springville hill, a little more than five miles south of the city on Highway 28.

Wife Driving

Mrs. Smith was driving their 1950 model coupe toward Peterborough. She rounded a curve on the winding hill and struck an ice patch The car began to swing and finally went out of control, striking the southbound car of Arthur Breckenridge, 35, Cavan township.

The Breckenridge car sustained about $200 damage as the left front fender and wheel were smashed by the impact and the frame of the car was probably twisted. It was knocked into the west ditch.

Breckenridge was unhurt. His 33-year-old wife Mary received a bruised knee and a shaking up. They continued on to Millbrook after the accident.

He told OPP Constables Tom Armitage and Ralph Tremills that he was only moving about 12 miles and hour, driving very carefully along the icy highway. He saw the Smith car approach and then begin to skid across the road toward him, but he was unable to avoid a collision.

Helped Injured

The Rev. A. R. Larke, Springville United Church, took the injured to hospital.

He was talking on a party telephone line when he heard somebody break in to try and get an ambulance for the Smiths. Realizing the accident was only a couple of hundred yards from his home he got into his car and started off to lend assistance.

Mr. Smith was being carried from his car in a "dazed and confused" condition when Mr. Larke arrived and volunteered to take him to hospital. Mrs. Smith, though bruised and shaken up, was able to get into the car unassisted. The impact, besides breaking a finger and bruising her left knee, smashed her glasses.

Their car has $400 damage to the right front.

A NEW EXECUTIVE was elected by delegates to the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL) Monday night. Shown (left to right) looking over the election results are Orville Martin, secretary; Ed. Humphrey, president; Alfred Barber, vice-president, and George Linsdell, treasurer. Mr. Barber, who is also president of Local 210, U.P.W.A., stepped down from the presidency this year and was elected vice-president by acclamation.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

Council Asks For Removal Of 125 Wartime Houses At End Of Charlotte St.

Agreement With Central Mortgage Calls For Clearing of Houses City May Want To Buy Property Left

The block of 125 houses on the Hatton property at the west end of Charlotte St. may have shivered on their lean foundations Monday night as the city council asked for their removal according to agreement of five years ago. The agreement called for the removal of the houses by the end of this year. They were built for the temporary accommodation of wartime workers by Wartime Housing Ltd., whose successors are Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Against considerable opposition in the west end, the city council agreed to the cluster of buildings on that site providing they were withheld from sale and were cleared of the property at a specified time after the war. The final agreement with Central Mortgage was that those houses would be removed six months after Dec. 31, 1952. It also provides that they are not to be set up within the boundaries of the city.

Council's resolution Monday night requests Central Mortgage to give the city a period of 30 days for considering purchase of the property when the houses have vanished.

Special Meeting

This recommendation of the finance committee was adopted at a special meeting of the council which began after a late and abbreviated session Monday night at 10 o'clock.

It is understood that Central Mortgage has decided not to rent any of the houses in that block that may become vacant.

Ald. Norman Graham said they could be moved easily enough, as long as there was no damage to the city's roads.

"They can be moved on trailers and trucks," Ald. T. D. Miller said.

Ald. H. T. Rehill said cost of moving the houses should be less than $400 each. They could be fixed on permanent foundation, and provide a man with a good cheap house at not more than $4,000 or $5,000.

It was mentioned that there are some persons interested in the proposed evacuation of the property, and to the extent of expected purchase of ten to fifteen houses for speculative purpose.

By agreement, sale of the houses is based on the requirement of their removal over the boundaries of the city.

Attitude of the council appears to be that the disposal of the buildings is entirely a problem of Central Mortgage as heirs of Wartime Housing.

Cobourg Man, 77 Killed By Train At Crossing

COBOURG, Feb. 12 (ENS) — Missing since he left to feed his horse Monday evening, the body of Wm. Milne of D'Arcy Street, was found 300 feet east of the C.N.R. Cottesmore Ave. crossing this morning. Mr. Milne who was 77 was hard of hearing.

He stabled his horse just north of the C.N.R. tracks and having fed it at 4:30 last night apparently was on his way back over the tracks when struck by a train.

The engineer apparently didn't see it happen as there was no report of an accident.

Several people, including police of Cobourg and the provincial police detachment searched the vicinity of the tracks this morning because the tracks were near the stable.

When he was found dead, one leg had been severed. His cane was at the crossing, gloves and hat 150 feet east and the body 300 feet east of the crossing.

He is survived by his widow, two sons and three daughters. There has been no decision as to an inquest.

City Requested To Observe 2 Minutes Silence

Citizens are requested by the council to observe two minutes' silence at 11 a.m. Friday, the day of the entombment of King George VI.

Ald. Harold Rehill's motion at the council meeting Monday night was seconded by Ald. S. G. Black.

Mayor Waddell's vote decided the closing of the city hall all day Friday.

"With the federal and provincial buildings being closed, I feel that the government building on the municipal level should also be closed," said Ald. T. D. Miller.

Voting with him were Ald. Gillespie, Rehill and Longhurst. On the negative side were: Ald rmen Anglesey, Black, Burrows and Graham. That was a tied vote of the eight members, and chairman Mayor Waddell supported the closing motion. Aldermen Dewart and Young are on a trip to Mexico.

Agree On Silence

Council was in full agreement on the proposal of two minutes' silence in tribute to the memory of His Majesty the King. As to closing the City Hall, Ald. Norman Graham said it was the wish of Queen Elizabeth that business should go on during the day.

"I think that was for the national emergency that exists in Britain," Mayor Waddell commented.

"The Dominion government should have proclaimed a national holiday," said Ald. Miller. "I feel we should set an example and have our City Hall closed."

"I think the situation demands some proper action," Ald. J. E. Gillespie said, seconding Ald. Miller's motion.

"Are we setting up ourselves holier than than thou to the rest of the city?" Ald. Burrows queried.

Mayor Waddell said that government offices and services were suspended for Friday, "and I think our own local government building should be closed likewise."

Ald. Black commented that the federal government had spoken too fast in declaring a national day of mourning. He suggested that decision be left with Mayor Waddell pending possible amendment of the federal action.

City Council Swears New Oath

Mayor H. F. Waddell and members of the city council transferred their allegiance to Queen Elizabeth at a special session Monday night following a meeting of the finance committee.

This oath of fealty to his late Majesty King George VI was taken by the council at its inaugural meeting Jan. 7. Only members of the council and the press were present when City Clerk Outram submitted the oath individually and in alphabetic order their names, following Mayor Waddell.

The declaration to which they subscribed their names was identical: "I, Hugh F. Waddell, being Mayor in the corporation of the city of Peterborough do swear that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth, her heirs and successors."

The members of the aldermanic board followed in this order: Aldermen Anglesey, Black, Burrows, Gillespie, Graham, Longhurst, Miller, Rehill. Aldermen Dewart and Young were not present.

Ed Humphrey New President Of District Labor Council

Ed Humphrey, chief steward of Local 534, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL), Monday night was elected president of the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL). He succeeds Alfred Barber who has been president since the council was formed two years ago. There was a change in all four executive offices.

Mr. Barber, 1951 president, refused to run again for that office, and there was an election between Mr. Humphrey and Orville Martin, local 599, International Union of Electrical Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.). Mr. Humphrey won.

Mr. Barber was elected vice-president by acclamation.

Secretary Elected

An election was also held for recording secretary. Mr. Martin defeated Lorne Bebee, local 293, U.P.W.A. Mr. Bebee was the 1951 secretary.

George Linsdell, branch 19, National Organization of Civic, Utility and Electrical Workers (C.C.L.) was elected treasurer by acclamation.

Mr. Humphrey, the 1952 president, is a maintenance mechanic at A. Wander Ltd. and he is chief steward of his local. He headed the political action committee of the Council in 1951, the main objective being the election of the C.C.F. candidate at the provincial election. He is also the Council's delegate to the Peterborough branch of the United Nations' Association.

This year Mr. Humphrey made an unsuccessful bid for municipal office; he was defeated when he ran for the Board of Education.

Mr. Humphrey was one of the original staff of the Hamilton Trades School that opened up in 1951. He was one of the five-man committee that drew up a course of studies for the school.

In 1942 he helped organize the R.C.A.S.C. training centre at Camp Borden and was one of the staff that planned an advance course for mechanics and drivers.

He came to Peterborough in 1946 after his discharge from the army.

List Of Officers

Following is the complete list of the Labor Council's officers for 1952 and the list of committees:

Ed. Humphrey, president; Alfred Barber, vice-president; Orville Martin, recording secretary; George Linsdell, treasurer; Thomas Cupoli, local 570, I.U.E., floor guard; William Beggs, local 293, three-year trustee.

Committees — Municipal, Mr. Beggs, Mr. Martin and William Triggs, local 293, U.P.W.A. Legislative, William Gunn, local 293, U.P.W.A.; Walter Dinesen, local 599, I.U.E., and Mr. Linsdell. Organization, Messrs. Beggs, Barber and Martin. Political action and education, Messrs. Triggs, Beggs and Barber and Walter James, local 293, U.P.W.A. Labor centre, Messrs. Bebee, Barber and Gunn and C. (Pete) Meridew, local 230, Outboard Marine Workers (C.C.L.).

Installation of officers will be at the March meeting.

Half-Staff Means What It Says

Several points of flag etiquette were cleared up today by a spokesman for a city flag-making firm. The spokesman refused use of her name.

Half-mast or half-staff, she said means just that. If the flagstaff is tall enough that the flag can be flown with the top edge at the half-way mark, that is where the flag should fly.

If the flag would trail on the ground when flying at exact half-mast, it should be raised far enough to clear the ground.

In the case of small door or window flagpoles, where it would be impossible to fly the flag at half-mast, the lowest corner of the flag should be draped over the pole. These small poles are usually at a slant.

This practice, she said, was an ancient one, but entirely proper.

Pictures of the King are usually draped with black and purple, and the flag placed above and behind the picture. If a flag is to be used to drape the portrait, it should be at the top of the picture, never at the bottom.

"The King may be dead, but the flag is alive," she said.

The basic rules of flag etiquette are three: (1) the flag should never be below anything; (2) it should never be allowed to touch the ground; (3) it should be flown with the broad white stripe on the upper side of the cross.

Special Services Friday In City Churches

Special memorial services will be held in nine Protestant city churches Friday marking the death of his Majesty, King George VI under the direction of the Peterborough Ministerial Association.

Solemn pontifical mass will be celebrated at St. Peter's cathedral at 10 a.m. and a votive mass will be offered for the welfare and peace of the whole kingdom. Services of a similar nature will be held in all Roman Catholic churches of the Peterborough diocese at 8 a.m. Friday morning.

Five of the Protestant churches, George St. United, St. Paul's Presbyterian, Murray St. Baptist, Trinity United and Knox United will hold services at 8 p.m. with their respective ministers in charge. The program for these services, which has been drawn up by the ministerial association is headed, "A Memorial Service for the Occasion of a day of mourning for His late Majesty, King George VI."

Visiting Ministers

In addition to their own ministers the following ministers will be participating in these services: George St. United—the Rev. Albert E. Larke of Springville, the Rev. Wm. Leaton; St. Paul's Presbyterian—Archdeacon C. W. Balfour, the Rev. E. J. Whan, the Rev. H. D. McCormack; Murray St. Baptist—the Rev. B. S. Morwood, the Rev. Fred Parlee; Trinity United—the Rev. R. E. Dargan, the Rev. D. D. Duncanson of Norwood; Knox United—Senior Captain Douglas Sharp and the Rev. H. Hobson.

St. John's Anglican Church, St. Luke's Anglican Church and All Saints' Anglican Church will be holding their services at 11 a.m. The service at St. George's Anglican Church will be held at 7.30 p.m. St. John's service will be broadcast over CHEX.

The Rev. H. A. Cotton will be assisting at the service held at All Saints' Anglican Church.

The I.O.D.E. will be marching in a body to attend St. Paul's Presbyterian Church service.

Parks Department Asks $6,776 For Work

Parks department claims a credit of $6,776.79 from the council, the property committee or somebody. That's for work done at the city hall, purchase of sod, shrubs, aldermanic memorial trees. The item for landscaping is $4,457.65, sod and other material $1,381. Sixty spirea bushes and various other junipers, ball cedars and so on were bought. Labor is also itemized as scrupulously as if the department was going to be paid off in cash. The bill Monday night was referred by the finance committee to the city hall account.

Husbands As Food Shoppers Ruinous For Family Budget

The real menace in the budget bout when women shop for food these days is a hidden one. It lurks around the supermarket groceteria under the alias of "husband."

He may be the man who foots the bills but he's also the man who sends them shooting up as much as 15 per cent a shopping trip.

This is straight from store executives who , naturally, are not averse to seeing husbands do the shopping. But at the same time they feel it's only fair to issue a word of warning to wives.

"We find," these executives say, "that husbands are great peanut eaters. They also like cookies, soft drinks and exotic lunch meats. And they don't mind munching on prezels, chewing gum, gum drops and rare cheeses."

Not Easy On Budget

Giving the average man a shopping ilst and sending him off is as easy on the budget as ordering your dresses straight from Paris C.O.D.

Sure To Be Sirloin

If the list reads "steak," he'll bring home the sirloin every time. If you point out that you meant minute steaks, he'll sulk: "You didn't say which kind."

If he can't find bread at the first grab, he'll take cinnamon rolls. Bang! And there's another hole in the budget.

After he's finished his lively game of substitutions, this fiend in human form will throw everything else within easy reach into his basket.

Sort Of Alventurer

Almond-stuffed olives are just his style. That's because he's something of an adventurer in new foods and likes to think of himself as having an open mind.

Incidentally, a sneaky substitution that he pulls often is fancy cheese for the plain Canadian style.

Did you ever try to make a sandwich of grilled camembert for Saturday lunch?

But when you decide to do the buying yourself and take your husband along to bring home the bacon, you really shoot the works. This is on the word of a big chain executive, who ought to know. While you're busy tending strictly to business and sticking with your list, your husband is off making little forays.

He's adding to the gourmet-type pantry he's established at home. What you get out of this is everything on your list plus everything he's able to think of as necessities in living.

When the checker finally starts to ring up your bill, it sounds as if he'd combined the national debt with "Roll Out The Barrel."

Who needs peanut brittle these days? Who, for that matter, needs caviar?

Your husband, of course.

There's just one solution. Let him stay at home to baby-sit, send him out with the boys, or give him the spring cleaning to do. But never, never let him put foot inside a grocery store!

Bancroft At Home

BANCROFT, Feb. 12—(ENS)—North Hastings High School held its annual "At Home" on Friday night. The evening was spent in dancing to the music of "The Sevenaires" of Peterborough. Using the decoration theme "The Deep South," the gymnasium was decorated in pink, white and light green. The receiving line consisted of Principal W. R. Robinson, Guy Bentley, chairman of the school board; Beth Brown and Fred Ayers, president and vice-pre sident of the students' council, Shirley Brown and Joe Vance. In charge of the evening was a committee of the students' council, with Beth Brown as chairman.

Little Problems Invite Discussions

The February meeting of Knox Married Couples' Group meeting opened Friday evening with a few moments of silent tribute to the late King George VI. There was a good attendance and president H. J. Charlton welcomed new couples Mr. and Mrs. F. Heilingbrunner, Mr. and Mrs. W. Shaw and Mr. and Mrs. G. Bronson. The president reported on the executive meeting held the previous week and the possibility of holding a "Fun Night" was discussed. A committee composed of Mr. H J. Charlton Mrs. Freda Ross and Mr. Peter McCombe was favored to talk over the idea with representatives of other organizations in the church. It was announced that the time of meetings had been changed from 8:30 to 8:15 p.m. Owing to the absence of the Rev. H. G. Douglas, plans for the installation of officers had to be abandoned and it was decided to dispense with this ceremony for the season. Project for the evening was "Little Problems." Each member was handed a slip of paper and invited to submit a problem. The problems ranged from "should a wife get her husband's breakfast?" to "At what age should a teenager have dates?" and the ensuing discussions were both lively and amusing. Three poems rendered by Peter McCombe in lieu of the usual recreational period were much enjoyed. The meeting closed with a delicious lunch served by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gillies and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Bestard.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS G. GLOVER, the bride formerly Audrey Thornton.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Audrey Thornton Marries

White snapdragons formed the setting in Murray St. Baptist Church Saturday afternoon for the wedding of Audrey Marilyn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Thornton of Peterborough, to Thomas George Glover, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Glover of Girven, Saskatchewan.

The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan performed the marriage ceremony. Music was by Mr. Stanley Northrop, organist, and Miss Jean Arnott was soloist. Before the bride entered she sang the "Lord's Prayer," and during signing of the register "Through the Years."

An original gown of white satin was the bride's choice. It was designed with a circular train and skirt fullness was held in at the waist by pleats. The fitted bodice with picture neckline had long sleeves coming to points over her hands. Her veil of white net was embossed with satin butterflies and was caught into a pleated coronet. She carried a bouquet of spring flowers tied with satin ribbon.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Ernest Beatty, who wore a gown of lime green faille taffeta. Bridesmaids were Mrs. William Hamilton, also sister of the bride, and Miss Edith Walker, in frocks of sky blue and coral rose faille taffeta. Flower girl, Doreen Jewell, a niece of the bride, was also frocked in sky blue. The attendants' frocks were similarly styled with bouffant skirts and sleeveless bodice with roll collar. Each wore a headdress to match her dress and carried a matching muff with spring flowers attached.

The groom was attended by Mr. Elwood Manley. Ushers were John Bruce and Earl Gillespie.

For the reception in the church parlor at which she received the bride's mother chose a dress of periwinkle blue crepe with navy accessories and corsage of red carnations. Mrs. J. Leahy received in the place of the groom's mother, who could not attend. She was wearing a wine crepe dress with matching accessories and corsage of white carnations.

For travelling the bride wore a navy dress and accessories and a grey topcoat. Her corsage was of gardenias.

After their honeymoon trip by plane to New York City and other points in U.S., Mr. and Mrs. Glover will live at 179 Aylmer St.

Columnist Uses Letter Praising Civic Hospital

In Mona Purser's column in the Globe and Mail today is printed the letter of a Port Hope man which praises highly the Peterborough Civic Hospital staff and service. He writes following the columnist's publication of an experience of a woman who spent Christmas in an English hospital stating that he is envious that she should have got ahead of him. His letter to Miss Purser reads:

"Your correspondent in Britain, with fine spirit, did for a worthy institution in our reverend Motherland what I had hoped to do for a similar one right here in our own midst. She really took the words right out of my mouth, for I can say of the nursing staff of the Peterborough Hospital that they, too, seemed to me to be just ministering angels, and of the handsome new hospital they enrich with their noble work that it seemed a fairyland of goodwill and happiness.

"For me, the hospital, with its golden deeds that brighten and transform the lives of people, came alive in the few weeks after I had been admitted as a patient. Until then, that celebrated young lady, Florecen Nightingale, though undoubtedly occupying a prominent place in the history of the relief of human suffering, was a dim, impersonal figure, indeed. Yet there in this fine, modern hospital, in Ontario, a full century late, I found her spirit very much alive and carrying nobly on. From the top rung of the hospital service ladder, the charming and accomplished superintendent, down through the various grades of supervising nurses, graduates and undergraduates, aides, orderlies and pink-frocked maids, I received nothing but kindness, many, many instances of which were well beyond the line of mere duty. The remote young women of the battlefields had reached down through the years to me.

"I soon discovered as my faithful attendants came and went that almost every town and hamlet within a radius of 100 miles of Peterborough had sent its young women to augment the staff of this hospital. And, remembering some of the doubts I had felt from time to time as to the manner in which our modern generation is growing up, I took off my figurative hat to the present-day crop of Canadian young women. If the adoption voluntarily of this sort of life of personal service, in the spirit of Florence Nightingale, means going to the demnition bow-wows, then, I concluded, let there be more of it.

"In writing thus of the staff and service of the Peterborough Civic Hospital, I am well aware that the same conditions and devotion to high conceptions of duty found there are characteristic of many similar institutions throughout our fortunate land."

"Please," Port Hoper concludes, "thank your English correspondent for assisting me in getting my appreciation expressed. Here's to our hospitals, their managements and staffs!"

Canada's Delegate Reports To Local University Club

An altogether charming little woman spoke of big things Monday evening at the meeting of the University Women's Club of Peterborough. She was Mrs. Irene Irwin Clarke of Toronto and her subject was the council meeting of the International Federation of University Women held at Oosterbeek, Holland, last spring, which she attended as Canadian delegate.

While Mrs. Clarke outlined the conference as a whole, uppermost in her mind and words was the Legal and Economic Status of Women, for she is convener of this committee for the Canadian Federation of University Women. And she left with her local audience the feeling that there is something they should do in this connection.

Committees of the I.F.U.W. and C.F.U.W. on the status of woman ante-date the forming of the commission of U.N., she has found. Their resolutions were sent forward as early as 1934 and are probably buried deep in files at Ottawa, Mrs. Clarke commented. But a strongly worded resolution was sent to U.N. headquarters in 1951 when it was learned they planned to discontinue the Status of Women Commission in 1953.

Not "Battle of Sexes"

"It is not a battle of the sexes" declared Mrs. Clarke. "We are honestly trying to make a better world. The contribution of experienced women to this country could be great." (She mentioned as example Mrs. J. L. Savage, National president of the Y.W.C.A., who has handled the business of this great organization so well.)

"A vast inertia and apathy is settling on the political scene of Canada that could be startled out by the presence of competent women," said the speaker, and added: "We are being deprived of 50 per cent of the brains of this country."

Mrs. Clarke reported that the conference delegates had all expressed interest in this subject and had stated they did not feel inclined to attend the next triennial meeting unless something definite on it was given by that time. On this matter, liaison people have been working with other international women's organizations.

Note Town "Square"

Though it was a digression to the lighter side, Mrs. Clarke's description of the "square" in the Dutch town where she was welcomed struck "home" to her Peterborough listeners. She also contrasted the Canadian welcome to newcomers, who, she reminded, are "enriching our lives."

Another digression which received apt attention dwelt on the remarkable teamwork displayed by King George and Queen Elizabeth throughout their reign. Mrs. Clarke had witnessed the Queen's "ability to lift a commonplace event to a dramatic and memorable happening" when she was among the guests at St. James' Palace, London, while the Queen spent two hours chatting with people of various nationalities gathered there. Her description emphasized the gruelling ordeal to keep a serene and happy countenance while focusing attention on one and then another for such a length of time. (This event took place last April and the Queen substituted for the King who was not well.) The brief appearance of stately Queen Mary, gowned in ice blue, was also pictured.

Report On Agenda

Of interest from the council proceedings was the debate on re-admission of the German Federation which had been out of the International since 1934. Though the application was accepted it was bitterly opposed by the Israel delegate who maintained "there had been no change of heart in German purposes and aims."

Fifteen per cent of Finland's government positions are held by women it was reported by the Finnish delegate and the Norwegian and Swedish delegates reported increased interest of women in public life, Mrs. Clarke said.

Discussions on the agenda which the speaker mentioned were of the increased subscription to I.F.U.W. (a shilling, six pence); value of the News Letter and suggestions for improving it; a hot argument on the matter of age limit for scholarships with decision to set it at 55 to make them available to the experienced woman who could make a contribution to the world with further training; decision to retain the Lady Hardy Medical College in New Delhi as for women students only.

Mrs. Clarke also told of the social side of the council meeting when delegates were entertained by Queen Juliana, and other highlights.

Many expressions of pleasure in hearing this report were made to the speaker during the tea hour following her address. Formal thanks was expressed by Mrs. Robert Carley and extended by president Mrs. C. G. Boyd.

Mrs. J. E. Watters, a Victoria College classmate of Mrs. Clarke, introduced her. Sixty club members were present for this address.

What's Right?

In conversation a person is voicing an opinion you find irritating.

WRONG: Express your impatience with such an unrealistic notion.

RIGHT: Listen open-mindedly to what the other person has to say. Then if you wish to differ, do so in a gracious manner.

Hospitals Aid New Canadians

BETHANY, Feb. 12—(ENS)—The February meeting of the teen age Mission Circle was held at the home of Mrs. Orlo Wright, with Miss Joan Bristow presiding and conducting the worship service assisted by Miss Grace Bigelow and Miss Janet Bigelow. A poem "The New Canadian" was read by Miss Eleanor Rowan.

The program was about mission hospitals and how they affect the new Canadian. There are 20 such hospitals throughout Canada. Miss Gayle Bristow told of the Wrinch Memorial Hospital, on the Skeena River in British Columbia, where an Indian patient wrote of Dr. Wrinch "he treated us like real people. When he gave us medicine he wrote on the bottle how to take it and then he wrote also... God Is Love".

Miss June Wright told of the Hospital at Hearst. "Over Christmas and New Year's there were 12 new babies and 14 sick children besides other patients.

Mrs. T. J. Jackson told of the Lamont hospital 40 miles north of Edmonton, which is now known as the Archer Memorial, in memory of Dr. A. Archer. Steven Hofluk, a Ukranian owed the hospital a large sum of money for the care of his wife. Dr. Archer told him not to worry and just send the hospital a gift whenever he could. So Steven sent his daughter to be a kitchen maid in order to help pay his debt.

Lunch was served at the close of the meeting by the hostess and Miss Grace Bigelow moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Wright for the use of her home.

Welton-Moore

WARKWORTH, Feb. 12 (ENS).—A quiet wedding took place Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Moore, when their younger daughter, Katie, became the bride of Lyle Welton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hervie Welton of Castleton, with the Rev. J. E. Griffith officiating.

The bride wore a green suit with rust colored accessories and carried a bouquet of yellow roses. Miss Mildred Welton, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, wearing a grey crepe dress with black accessories and carrying pink roses.

Percy Moore Jr. of Kingston, brother of the bride, was groomsman.

The bride's mother received the guests, wearing a grey suit and a corsage of roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore a grey silk dress and a corsage of roses. Dinner was served to about 20 guests by Miss Irene Beggs and Mrs. Arnold Dudley.

The couple left for a honeymoon at Detroit. On return they will live in Oshawa.

Mrs. Wm. Phillips Auxiliary Hostess

BETHANY, Feb. 12 —(ENS)—The Women's Auxiliary of St. Paul's Church met at the home of Mrs. William Phillips. The president, Mrs. J. J. Hamilton was in the chair and opened the meeting with two minutes silence as a tribute to the memory of our late George VI and silent prayers for Queen Elizabeth. This was followed by prayers and scripture reading by Mrs. Emory Smith. Mrs. H. Rayson, leader of the Junior W.A., reported having taken the children to see the film "Royal Journey". A new member, Mrs. J. Cobourn was welcomed, as also was Mrs. F. Gray as a guest.

Mrs. T. S. Gault read from the year's study book "Looking South".

Reports from the different committees were read, showing some work finished, and other cut out material taken home by members. Babies nightgowns were given out to be made for the Dorcas bale. The secretary of the Dorcas committee reported having one quilt completed and another almost ready, and Mrs. R. W. Price offered her home for the quilting. The president requested all members to bring gifts for the Dorcas bale. Ten pairs of men's heavy socks were brought in by Mrs. J. Smith, Miss W. Nesbitt, Miss A. Sisson, Mrs. R. Jarvis and Mrs. J. Coburn.

Arrangements were made for the annual World's Day of Prayer to be held in St. Paul's Church on Friday, February 29. This service will also be attended by the members of the United Church.

Mrs. J. J. Hamilton invited the members to meet at her home for the March meeting, and Mrs. T. S. Gault closed the session with prayer.

A social hour followed, when delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Phillips and her assistants.

Home and School Association News

QUEEN ELIZABETH SCHOOL

Meeting of Queen Elizabeth Home and School Association on Monday evening opened with president Mrs. Harry Race presiding. The Home and School Creed was read.

Speaker was Mr. E. C. Anderson, inspector of schools for Peterborough West, who talked on what children should learn at school. He was thanked by teacher Mrs. R. Bell.

Normal School students Miss Bonnie Lee and Anthony LaJoie contributed two duets, "Ye Banks and Braes" and "Blue Bells of Scotland" with piano accompaniment by fellow student Miss Lorraine Barker.

Plans were made to hold a euchre party on Valentine's Day.

The attendance prize was won by Mrs. Bell's junior room.

The social hour following business was in charge of Mrs. A. Brown's group.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA SCHOOL

An executive meeting of the Queen Alexandra Home and School Association was held on Monday afternoon at the home of president Mrs. Arthur Black.

Mrs. G. Cheetle and Mrs. H. Perry were appointed co-conveners of the annual daffodil tea to be held at the school March 26th Mrs. D. Snelgrove outlined plans for a hobby fair on April 25th. She said the hobbies are to be of the home type—scrap books, painting, sewing, knitting, woodwork, etc.

March 3rd meeting will be presented by the fathers and an excellent program is arranged, the president advised.

✧ ✧ ✧

KING EDWARD SCHOOL

Founder's night meeting of King Edward Home and School Association Monday was opened with a memorial tribute to the late King George VI, read by religious convener Mrs. L. Ross, after which one minute's silence was observed.

Guest speaker was Miss Marion Sutton who told of her stay in England where she taught as exchange teacher in a Derby secondary school for one year.

She advised that English children aged five to seven years attend infant school, an organization in its own right. At eight they enter junior school and at ten try their first examinations. Pupils who pass are transferred to grammar schools, similar to collegiate, and those who do not enter a secondary school where they must remain until they are 15.

Miss Sutton observed that, as in Canada, the schools are very crowded. Included in the curriculum are cookery, housewifery, craft classes, physical training and dancing. Secondary schools have Parent Teacher Associations and Mothers' Clubs, she said. Children are served a mid-day meal at the school and all wear a standard uniform.

The speaker had taken three trips to the continent and visited Belgium, Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Bavaria, France and Italy. Miss Sutton said Belgium was a clean, up-to-date country in contrast to Germany which was still in rubbles from bombings with no effort being made to clear it away. When she was in Bavaria the men were wearing long hair and beards in readiness for the passion play which is presented there every ten years. She visited the military cemetery in Cannes and put flowers on a cousin's grave.

In England, Miss Sutton said she was privileged to see the Royal family several times. She told of watching the late King and the Duke of Gloucester lay a wreath on the memorial at Whitehall. She saw the trooping of the colors and was presented to the Queen at a garden party in Westminster garden. The following day she attended a royal garden party at Buckingham Palace.

Mrs. R. Stanlick expressed thanks to Miss Sutton for her talk.

President Mrs. V. Reynolds took charge for the business period. She announced a leap-year tea and sale of home cooking will be held at the school Wednesday afternoon, February 27. The Home and School Council meeting on March 19 will be in Queen Mary auditorium where the speaker will be Mr. D. N. Graham, director of education for Forest Hill Village. A home and school church service is to be held at St. Andrew's Church on March 2.

Miss Nelson's class won the attendance prize.

A candle-lighting ceremony in memory of the founder, Mrs. A. C. Courtice, was conducted by Mrs. H. Turner. The refreshments at the close included a delicious founder's day cake.

Elder-Clow

ROSENEATH, Feb. 12 (ENS).—The marriage was solemnized at the United Church parsonage, Verona, Saturday, of Mary Elizabeth (Betty), youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Clow, Verona, to Lloyd George Elder, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Elder, Roseneath. The Rev. H. A. Bunt of Harrowsmith, formerly of the Roseneath charge, officiated.

The bride wore a gown of shell pink net over nylon, with fitted bodice and cap sleeves. The very full skirt was trimmed with sweetheart bows. Her full length nylon veil was held in place with a halo of pink rosebuds, and she wore matching wristlets. An arm bouquet of assorted roses caught with pink streamers completed the dainty ensemble.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Laura Grant of Cataraqui, sister of the bride, wore a gown of brown bengaline with matching accessories, and a corsage of red roses and fern.

Mr. Lorne Elder, Roseneath, was groomsman for his brother.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for the immediate relatives. The bride's mother was wearing a gown of navy sheer crepe. She was assisted by the groom's mother in loganberry wine crepe with matching accessories.

The couple will reside in Verona.

DOROTHY DIX

Wise Teen-Ager Decides To Postpone Steady Dating

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm nearly 16, and very much in love with a boy 21. He wants me to marry him, but as I haven't finished school and am too young anyway, I told him, no. I feel I haven't been out with enough older boys to know whether he is the one I'd want for the rest of my life. He can't see my side of it at all, and we have had some quite bitter arguments. However, he says he's going to wait until I'm 21, and then we'll get married. I told him not to wait because if I should meet someone I like better (although that seems impossible right now) it would leave him in a ditch, which I don't want. I think both of us need help.

J. B. S.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: If all teensters had your common sense and intelligence, divorce courts would soon be out of business (and so, probably, would I). Your letter indicates a wisdom far exceeding your age. You are completely right in your stand of postponing steady dating until you have a chance to go out with other boys, and your boy friend should be appreciative of your good judgment.

Marriage Will Be Sound

Of course he'll be jealous, but when you do feel mature enough to settle down to life with him (as I have no doubt you will do), it will give both of you the assurance that your decision was not a hasty one, and the marriage based on deliberation will be lasting. Not for you the wail of "I married at 16 and thought I loved my husband!" or "My husband whom I married at 16 is now tired of me and treats me trribly!" etc., etc. These are the plaints that lead to my unalterable conviction that teen-age marriages are destined more often than not for unhappiness.

By waiting until you reach 21, you'll have a chance to further your education, and develop friendships that will last the rest of your life. I doubt if it will take that long for you to make up your mind about your beau; probably two or three years of dating will be enough to prove that he's the one and only. If it should turn out that he isn't, it's much better for him to find out before marriage than to wait until only divorce will resolve your problems.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My stepdaughter, who is married and fairly well off, is forever requesting loans of her father which of course are never repaid. I do not wish to ask her for the money as I hestiate to cause a breach in her good relationship with her father. He works so hard over the bills we have incurred; we already owe money to the bank and have now borrowed from a loan company. I think it is unfair of her. The worry is making me ill.

C. F.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your stepdaughter is most unfair to take money from her father when her own financial position is so much better than his. Since speaking of the matter to her may cause friction in the family, why not try to convince her father that he is ruining your health as well as the budget by keeping you in constant worry over money? I am sure he could find any number of reasons to offer for his failure to continue loans.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Three years ago I met out next-door neighbor's son. He took me for sodas and for rides, has kissed me on several occasions, and I have fallen deeply in love with him. He doesn't know how I feel, and has been engaged to another girl for some time. Why does he continue to want to kiss me when he is engaged to someone else?

CAROLINE.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Caroline, if you had given me your address I'd be sorely tempted to put this matter in your father's hands. This young man is behaving abominably and it will take a firm hand to deal with him. Can't you see the misery ahead if you continue to see him as you have? Because you're young and friendly, he's perfectly willing to break your heart for a few hours' amusement. Stop seeing him at once; you'll be thoroughly ashamed of yourself if you don't.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Eggs Come First In Pantry

When I am out of eggs I might just as well fold up and stop trying to keep house.

I suppose one should not lean so heavily on such fragile things but I do . . .

. . . And I depend on them completely today to supply glamor for this note to you.

One of you wants the perfect custard pie, and I had the recipe up my sleeve, just waiting for a request.

Satin Custard Pie

Four medium sized eggs (or, if you have yolks left over from making angel food cake or macaroons 8 yolks may be used instead of 4 eggs), 2-3 cup sugar (do not increase the sugar or custard will be watery—decrease it to ½ cup preferably), ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 2 2-3 cups milk (not homogenized) or for an extra rich pie use 1 cup cream and 1 2-3 milk), 1 teaspoon vanilla. Beat the eggs with rotary beater—do not overbeat—until they are mixed but just beginning to foam. Add all remaining ingredients. Strain if you wish. Pour itno pastry-lined deep pie plate with high fluted edge. Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for 30 to 35 minutes. Centre of custard need not be firmly set when you remove it from oven—it finishes cooking from the heat retained in it after removal from oven. Serve slightly warm or very cold—never hot.

Mary Jane, Mrs. Bigger's eldest daughter, learned how to make Eggs Benedict because one of her numerous boy friends was going to visit them at their summer cottage one weekend.

The plan was that she should casually wander into the kitchen on Sunday morning and take over where "the slaves" (Marg and Flo, her two younger student-dietician sisters who really could cook) left off, and produce this magic dish. All went very well — even the Hollandaise did not curdle. But Mary Jane said it was all too much bother to hook a man. The man she did marry worships her and she has learned to cook several elegant dishes, but she would much prefer to teach her dear little three-year-old Tommy to play the piano.

Eggs Benedict

The ideal and original way to do this is to cover a round of split toasted English muffin with a thin slice of fried ham to fit in. Top this with a poached egg. Cover with Hollandaise sauce and serve at once. But it has been streamlined and varied so much you would not recognize it on some tables. You may use toast spread with devilled ham which you run under the broiler for a minute or two before putting on the egg. Lots of cooks use mock Hollandaise. Do it the right way described first and serve it on Sunday morning for breakfast — especially if you have guests.

It is the Hollandaise that is hard so approach its creation with a respectful attitude: In top of double boiler cream 3 tablespoons butter, then beat into it 2 egg yolks until well blended. Add ¼ teaspoon salt, shake of cayenne pepper, then slowly stir in 1-3 cup boiling water. Place over simmering—not boiling—water and stir constantly until thick. Remove from heat at once and stir in 1 tablespoon lemon juice. It is best to serve this at once. If it is held hot it might curdle. If this does happen, beat hard with rotary beater until it is smooth again. Besides serving on Eggs Benedict this is wonderful with brocoli, spinach, Brussels sprouts, cauliflower, fish steaks or baked fish.

—In Memoriam

ELPELLARO—In loving memory of Joseph Valentino Delpellaro, who died six years ago today, February 12, 1946.

Six years ago today our brother was called,
To his eternal rest;
Gone where the angels sing so sweet
And taken when God knew best.
We miss him here so very much,
'tis presence oft seem nigh,
But we all hope in heaven to meet
Where no one says good-bye.
—Remembered by brothers, sisters and mother.

JONES—In fond remembrance of our mother, Elsie Agnes Jones, who passed away February 12, 1931.
Your memory is a keepsake,
With which we'll never part,
God has you in His keeping,
We have you in our hearts.
—Her daughters Hazel and Elsie.

—Cards of Thanks

I wish to thank the nurses and staff of Civic Hospital, my physician, all friends and relatives who called, sent cards and gifts and for kindness shown me during my stay in hospital.—Mrs. Roy Dunbar.

Mrs. George Brownsell and family wish to express their appreciation of the many kindnesses shown to their dear husband and father during the long period of his illness and also for the many letters and cards of sympathy at the time of his passing. We are deeply grateful.

Hydro Rates Dropped For Bancroft Users

BANCROFT, Feb. 12 (ENS) — Village hydro customers will not receive hydro bills in February and they will receive good news when they get their statements in March.

Old rates for residences was six cents for the first 60 kwh and two cents an hour for the remainder, with meters read monthly. New rate will be the same but meters will be read bi-monthly.

With the new rates John Doe will pay $6.60 gross or $5.96 net if he uses 100 kwh per month for the next two months. Under the old system the same amount of power would have cost him $9.60 gross or $8.64 net.

The official announcement regarding the above changes read as follows: "There has been a motion governing the hydro rates, whereby the meters will be read every two months, with one service charge being applicable, so there will be no billing until March. This is a trial reduction in rates, and if feasible will be continued in effect, otherwise there may have to be minor adjustments."

St. Mark's, Bonarlaw Holds Vestry Meeting

BONAR LAW, Feb. 12 (ENS)—With a good attendance of the congregation of St. Mark's Church the annual vestry meeting was held in the parish hall. Canon J. M. Brownlie presided. W. J. Barlow performed the duties of vestry clerk. Canon Brownlie praised church officers and organizations for their kindness and co-operation during the past year. He conducted 17 burials, baptized 12 and prepared 12 candidates, nine of them adults, for confirmation and performed one wedding ceremony.

The auditor's report, real by W. E. Neal, was accepted.

The report of the W.A. was given by Mrs. W. J. Barlow and Mrs. William Neal gave the report for the Sunday school whcih showed a prosperous year. Officers for the year were appointed: Stanley Kitchener, rector's warden; Everett Heath, people's warden; vestry clerk, W. J. Barlow; lay delegates to Synod, George Mumby and Charles Wellman; auditors, W. Neal, E. Stiles; vestry council, Canon J. M. Brownlie, Stanley Kitchener, Everett Heath, George Mumby, Mrs. Heath, Mrs. Mumby, Mrs. Wellman, Charles Wellman, Stanley McInroy.

Engineer's Job Splits Council

LINDSAY, Feb. 12 (ENS) — Considerable controversy arose at Monday night's meeting of Town Council over the hiring of a town engineer. When chairman of the board of works, Reeve Richard Butler, read his report, he stated that the town had paid out $8,393.35 to a consulting engineer during last year's paving program.

Until the spring of 1951, Robert Mitchell was town engineer but he suffered a heart attack and the consulting engineer was hired in the hopes that Mr. Mitchell would be able to resume his duties. He was unable to do so.

Deputy Reeve A. E. Hick started the ball rolling when he objected to the high amount paid to the consulting engineer last year. "Why, that amount would pay a full-time town engineer for two years," he said. "I think we should protect the taxpayers by having a full-time engineer.

"The board of works spent $69,000 last year—more than all other departments combined. The town now has a $290,000 investment in that new sewage disposal plant and yet, we haven't got a qualified supervisor for it. How many other business in town have a capital investment that big? Not more than four or five. We need more protection for the taxpayers' money and investments."

Mayor Lamb and Reeve Butler stated that the consulting engineer went with the paving contract and would have to be retained until the job was completed in the spring or early summer. They felt that to hire a man now would bring two engineers on the job which was unnecessary.

78 Passengers Buy Freedom

TAIPEH, Formosa, Feb. 12 (AP) —Chinese pirates with a lust for gold bars halted the little British steamer Wing Sang Monday night but let it go for a ransom of $4,500 in cash and fuor wrist watches.

The 78 passengers on the Wing Sang dug into their pockets to pay for the freedom of the ship.

Three were Americans—Edward Stansbury of Coldbrook, Mass., attache of the U.S. embassy at Taipeh; his wife; and Frank A. Peters of Paterson, N.J., an American oil company representative at Hong Kong.

The ship was in Formosa Strait, about 15 miles off the Communist China coast, when pirates opened fire with anti-aircraft guns, a bazooka and machine-guns. One Chinese crew member was shot in the leg.

After much shouting back and forth through megaphones, Capt. Ronald G. G. Stanton of Liverpool went over to the freebooter ship with several of his officers to begin negotiations.

Take-off Of TV Nets Bancroft Legion $107

BANCROFT, Feb. 12 (ENS) — Shooting Stars, a television variety show sponsored by Branch 181, Bancroft Canadian Legion brought fair-sized crowds to the community hall on Tuesday and Wednesday nights. The affair was a take-off of a TV program, in which Ernie Thomas, Don Wilson and William Lavalley acted as masters-of-ceremonies, taking the parts of Jack Bailey, Fred Waring and Milton Berle to introduce the various acts and skits.

Mrs. Dalton Grant was chosen as "Queen for the Day" on the first night and Mrs. Rhea Callaghan received the same honour on the second night. Both received a number of gifts donated by local merchants. Accompanist for the two performances was Jack Hutton.

Legion officials announced that their net profit would be approximately $107 and this money would be earmarked for their cenotaph fund.

Bonarlaw News

A euchre party was held Friday night at St. Mark's parish hall. Prizewinners were Mrs. Ronald Brown and Clinton Robbins.

Mr. Gerald McFaul is quite ill at his home with pneumonia.

The many friends of this district will regret to learn that Mr. Thomas Wellman, of Trenton, formerly of this district, is very ill and little hope is held for his recovery.

The women's club of the Spry Settlement held a euchre at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McFaul on Friday night. More than 50 attended and 10 tables were played.

St. George's WA Plans Supper

HASTINGS, Feb. 12—(ENS)—Miss Della Plant was hostess to the W.A. of St. George's Anglican Church on Thursday afternoon.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Clifford Baker, who is holidaying in Florida, the first vice-president, Miss Clara Williamson, took the chair.

After the devotions, the various reports were read. Mrs. Patstone reminded the members of the Valentine tea and baking sale, which is being held by the girls' auxiliary Saturday afternoon in the Sunday school rooms. She asked the senior branch help, both with their contributions and with their presence.

The splendid turnout of the congregation for the vestry meeting, which was preceded by a pot luck supper, was mentioned. It was suggested that a pot luck supper be held, to which the families of the congregation could bring their children. This met with unanimous approval and it was decided to have the supper on Shrove Tuesday, February 26. Mesdames Howell, Glass and Baker to be in charge of arrangements.

The Rev. J. A. Patstone spoke briefly of the death of King George VI and asked that we all pray that God's guidance will direct our young Queen. He closed the meeting with prayer for the Royal Family, followed by benediction. Miss Plant served tea and a pleasant social hour followed.

Warkworth Pair Mark Silver Anniversary

WARKWORTH, Feb. 12 (ENS) —Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Lawrence were guests of honor on Saturday at a family dinner party at the home of her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mutton, of Dundonald, the occasion being their 25th wedding anniversary.

A fowl dinner was served. A wedding cake, made by Mrs. Kenneth Mutton and Mrs. Gordon Dunnett and decorated by Mrs. Neil Taft, made a beautiful centrepiece, flanked by pink candles in silver candelabra.

At the close of the meal, Mrs. George Dunnett read and address expressing the best wishes of the relatives, and Mrs. Neil Taft presented several gifts on behalf of friends, which contained pieces of silverware.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dunnett and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mutton, of Dundonald; Mrs. Cecil Mutton, of Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. Averill Mutton, Warren and Grant of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Neil Taft, Bobbie and Bonnie, of Brighton; Mr. Clarence Andrus, of Castleton; and Mr. and Mrs. S. Lawrence, of Warkworth.

The couple were married February 9, 1927, by the Rev. W. E. Honey, who was stationed at that time on the Sidney circuit near Belleville.

The bride was the former Elsie Honey, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Honey, of Warkworth district, and the bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lawrence, of Ameliasburg township.

DERBY ENTRANTS—Mrs. Lorna Jackson of Toronto, a competitor in the special "Capital Sweepstakes" for women in the International Derby at Ottawa which started Monday, admires two Siberian huskies owned by Tat Duval of East Jaffray, N.H., who is entering the 100 mile, three-day race for the first time.

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

The King is dead—Long live the Queen.

Mourning to be carried out in accordance with Rule 134, 1952 edition of policy organization and rules for Canada, to be worn by Scouters, commissions and Rover Scouts in uniform. Others optional on group ruling. Mourning on flags optional. Scout entertainments, banquets, etc. to be cancelled until after funeral. Units to arrange participation in memorial services. Re-affirmation of promise to be made at next unit meeting. The above information has been received from provincial headquarters and all groups to act on above.

Please remember that black arm-bands are worn on left sleeve of uniform.

It is our plan —to run a weekly report column in this paper and request that every pack and troop in the city send in their reports for publication. Also, if possible, your reporter will be visiting packs and troops from time to time to secure first hand information. We would request invitations to any special event in order that complete coverage can be given.

At St. John's.

St. John's scouts are giving full time to their annual parents and sons banquet being held on Friday evening February 22nd in St. John's Parish Hall at which the guest speaker will be a former member of the troop, Rev. Pat Blagrave of Holy Trinity Church, Fonthill, Ont., son of Ven Arch Deacon Blagrave under which the troop was first formed when he was rector of St. John's.

St. Luke's Pack.

The pack has been enjoying full turnouts of late with the boys getting right down to the matter of test work. Owing to the death of His Majesty King George VI, a father's night planned for this Tuesday has been postponed. The following tests were completed last week. Ray Baptie, artist badge and compass work; Glen Walker, compass and folding clothes; Jim Chambers was presented with his second year service star; John Beggs, 1st year service star while Ron Worboy in a fitting ceremony was decorated with his sixer stripes.

St. Alban's Take The Lead.

On Feb. 3, members of the troop went on a ski patrol leaving at 9 a.m. they travelled to the Mississauga Lake district and although the snow was wet, a very enjoyable day was had by all, the highlight of which was the dinner cooked on an outdoor campfire. Especially the patrol under P. L. Whitehill who had included on the menu french fries and pork chops. The troop arrived home about 6 p.m. tired, happy and hungry. Those attending were patrol leaders Bob Whithall, Lary Griffin, Art Little, Bob Merrette; patrol seconds Doug Patterson, Peter Gray, Roy Wood; scouts, Rick Lindsay, Don Walker, Walter Simmons, Wilf Hillson. Scouter Walter Wood in charge.

The social evening and card party planned by St. Alban's for this Thursday evening has been postponed for one week owing to royal mourning.

We are glad to welcome into the scout movement Mr. S. Purser who is taking an active part wtih St. St. John's pack. Mr. Purser is with the Trent canal section, Department of Transport.

Peterborough District Now Re-Zoned.

From reports received Monday evening, February 11th the scout groups in the city have been divided into four zones and in accordance with real scout procedure will go under names rather than numbers; they are as follows with the Assistant District Commissioner named in charge of each zone. Cayugas under A. D. C. H. C. Wilson, phone 6844, include George St. United, Mark Street United and St. Alban's Anglican.

Mohawks under A. D. C. G. Carruthers, phone 6811, include St. Paul's Presbyterian, Park Hill Community, St. James' United and Trinity United.

Oneidas under A.D.C. W. Jordan, 288 McKellar, include St. Luke's Anglican, Knox United and Murray Street Baptist.

Senecas under A. D. C. E. Westman, phone 7491, include St. John's Anglican, Sacred Heart Roman Catholic, Al lSaints' Anglican and Salvation Army.

It is reported that a great deal of spade work has been done in this work and we are looking forward to real progress in the future.

Annual Registrations.

It was reported that only two groups in the city have failed to complete their registrations to date: George Street and Murray Street.

Paper drive chairman Peter Moore reported that all arrangements have been made for a paper drive next Tuesday evning, Feb. 19th. Every cub and scout in the city should be out for this, for the money raised is to go to assist those who cannot afford to buy their uniforms. A cub uniform costs around $14 and a scout uniform about $18. This is about the only boy's organization where the lads have to supply all their own equipment. How about it dads, get out and help your sons next Tuesday evening. Drive starts at 6.30 p.m. sharp.

Conference.

The western area of the Eastern Ontario region will be holding its annual conference in Cobourg on March 22nd and it was suggested at the assocation meeting that bus arrangements be made and that every office possible attend. We, the Peterborough gang, slipped last year at Belleville and should do our best to make this the best possible. The conference is open to all leaders and their assistants also group committee members. Ladies Auxiliaries and local assocations. Plan now and notifiy your A.D.C. or commissioner G. R. Langley of your intentions to go. Maybe we can make it two bus loads this year.

George Groombridge.

Mourning Sidelights

LONDON, Feb. 12 (Reuters) Prime Minister Winston Churchill called a cabinet meeting this morning to consider various constitutional details connected with the death of King George VI. Plans for the Royal funeral on Friday were also discussed and the cabinet dealt with items of domestic business.

LONDON, Feb. 12 (Reuters) The Danish Foreign Minister, Ole Kraft, will attend the funeral of King George VI, Friday, in addition to King Frederick IX and Queen Ingrid, the Danish Embassy announced today. This brings to 14 the number of foreign ministers so far announced as attending the Royal funeral.

BOSTON, Feb. 12 —(AP)—A memorial service for the late King George VI will be held at the cathedral church of St. Paul at 3 p.m. Friday, the British and Canadian consulates general in Boston announced today.

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP)—All Britons were urged today, almost with the urgency of an order, to go into mourning until after the funeral of King George VI Friday.

The admonition came from the Duke of Norfolk, the Earl Marshal who arranges major court ceremonials.

No specific directions were laid down, one informal comment being that "individuals will know best how they can pay tribute to his late Majesty by some little outward sign of mourning."

CANBERRA, Feb. 12—(Reuters)—Australian senators travelled to Canberra today from all parts of Australia, for a 15-minute sitting to express grief at King George's death. The Senate passed a resolution expressing "our gratitude for the devoted life of our late sovereign," and extending "our profound and most loving sympathy to the Queen."

Mrs. Harriett Bidgood

The funeral for Mrs. Harriett Bidgood, lot 2, concession 9, North Monaghan, who died Friday, was held Monday from the Comstock funeral home.

The Rev. A. E. Larke of Springville United Church conducted the service.

Pallbearers were Ben Thompson, George Thompson, George Howden, Thomas Thompson, Stanley McIlmoyles, James McIlmoyles. Flower-bearers were: Kenneth, Glen, Garnet and Delmar Bidgood, Murray and Wallace Hewitt. Burial was in the 9th line cemetery, Cavan township.

Drunk Symptoms Different But Convincing

A variation in the usual "staggering," thick speech and breath smelling of alcohol symptoms of drunkenness was heard in police court today.

In a drunk driving charge against Donald McFadden, Smith township, Crown witness Lawrence Young testified that a short time before an accident McFadden "smacked an axe on the floor," rammed a broom handle into the fire, pushed Young's brother backwards off a chair, then "wiped a mop across his (the brother's) face."

Young said McFadden "was pretty well on the way" when he called at his office at Young's Point February 9.

McFadden consumed beer at Young's home before driving his truck toward Peterborough. Young followed McFadden's truck in a car driven by George Cummings.

After following the truck which both Young and Cummings said was weaving on the road, Cummings tried to pass it. Just as he was nearly by, the front bumper of the truck struck the rear bumper of Cummings' car.

McFadden was convicted and sentenced to seven days in jail. His car was impounded for 90 days.

He also pleaded guilty to having liquor in a place other than his residence and was fined $15 and $2.50 costs or one month. Magistrate Philp said if the fine was not paid, the two sentences were to run concurrently.

Mrs. Arthur Hancock Heads Lily Lake W.A.

LILY LAKE, Feb. 12 (ENS).—Annual meeting of the Lily Lake W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Evans McConkey. The president was in charge of the meeting which opened with "God Save the Queen" and a minute's silence in memory of the late King. Scripture reading was by Mrs. George Middleton and Mrs. McConkey led in prayer.

Annual reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. Clarence Hancock, treasurer Mrs. M. Dunford, showing a balance of $1,375.89 on hand. The report of the flower committee was given by Mrs. Everett Tully.

The election of officers took place and resulted as follows; president, Mrs. Arthur Hancock; vice-president, Mrs. Harry Fowler; second vice-president, Mrs. William Steinkrauss; secretary, Mrs. Everett Tully; treasurer, Mrs. Archie Ackison; telephone committee, Mrs. Evans McConkey, Mrs. Clarence Hancock; flower committee, Mrs. Arthur Eggleton, Mrs. M. Dunford; pianist, Mrs. George Middleton; birthday tea kettle, Mrs. A. Eggleston; sewing committee, Mrs. Hatherly, Mrs. Bruce Finley, Mrs. Ernest Ireland, Mrs. J. A. Middleton; local council representative, Mrs. E. McConkey; auditor, Mrs. Gordon Hancock.

The new officers were declared installed by the former president, Mrs. Evans McConkey.

Mrs. Clarence Hancock was asked to inquire into the Film Board and report at next meeting. The publishing and printing of a recipe book was discussed and members were asked to bring favorite recipes for cakes and cookies to the next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. M. Dunford.

A card of thanks was received from the family of the late Mr. Finley for flowers sent.

During the afternoon a prettily decorated box of baby articles was presented to Mrs. Harold Turcotte for her new baby.

Mrs. A. Ackison thanked the past president for her services for the past two years and on behalf of the society Mrs. Everett Tully presented Mrs. McConkey with a lovely silver relish dish.

ERROL HESS

Errol Hess Heads Local Foresters

The installation of officers and presentation of the P.C.R.'s Canadian Order of Forester's Jewel to the retiring officer, featured a largely attended meeting of Court Peterborough No. 29, held in the Orange Hall Monday.

Bro. W. Booth, D.D.H.C.R. was in attendance at the meeting and conducted in the installation and presentation ceremonies, assisted by Bro. H. Hamilton, P.C.R., who acted as High Marshall for the installation.

The following officers installed for the year 1952 were as follows: Chief Ranger, Errol Hess; Vice Chief Ranger, Lew Blackwell; Financial Secretary, Jim Kelly; Recording Secretary, Wilf Rigler; Treasurer, Bill Westman; Chaplain, Maurice Hartin; Senior Woodward, Ken Choate; Junior Woodward, Hugh Dewar; Senior Beadle, Len Dewar; Junior Beadle, Bill Collison.

Various committees were appointed by the court.

Bro. Elwood Reynolds, J.P.C.R. was presented with the P.C.R.'s Jewel by Bro. Booth, who paid tribute to his devotion to Forestry during his year of office.

The social committee provided a lunch, which was served by the wives of the members.

Accused Denies 3 Theft Charges

After being granted a series of adjournments via remand, on the tacit understanding he would be pleading guilty to three theft charges, Noble Edson Zinston, 416 Rogers St., pleaded not guilty today.

Zinston is charged with appropriating three sums of between $5 and $5.75 to his own use which he had collected from customers of a local tea wholesale firm.

"About 30 other similar charges can be laid against the accused," crown attorney John A. Bradshaw said when Zinston pleaded not guilty.

Mr. Bradshaw said the crown would be prepared to proceed in a week's time.

Zinston's defence counsel Gordon H. T. Farquharson said that would be agreeable and Zinston was remanded on bail on the one charge and the other two were adjourned until February 20.

Selwyn WA Discusses Plans For Dinner

SELWYN, Feb. 12 — (ENS). — The February meeting of the W.A. of Selwyn United Church was held Thursday at the home of Mrs. Clifford McIlmoyl, with 20 members present.

The Rev. D. P. Morris was present and led in prayer for the Royal Family. Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Clifford McIlmoyl. An invitation was extended from Lakefield W.A. to the Selwyn ladies to attend a church service in the Lakefield United Church on Sunday to hear Mrs. Wood, president of the Women's Council.

Visiting committee reported they had called at four homes since the last meeting. There will be another quilting and pot-luck dinner held at the church hall on February 21, and the president, Mrs. Chalmer Sweeting asked the ladies to come to her home for the March meeting.

Ten tables of euchre were played Saturday evening in the hall, and prizewinners were: Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Fitzgerald, Mrs. Reg. Bell, and Orville Elliott. Mrs. Melville Elliott and George McIlmoyl won the travelling prizes.

A memorial service in honor of the late King was held Sunday morning in the United Church. Special hymns were sung and the Rev. D. P. Morris sang as a solo, "O Rest in the Lord," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Clayton Fitzgerald. In his address Mr. Morris paid tribute to the memory of the King.

Mrs. Robert Freeburn, Young's Point, spent a few days with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Melville Crapp.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Northcott of Peterborough spent the weekend with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Fitzgerald.

Shortage of Arms

PARIS, Feb. 12 (CP)—A French general just back from Indo-China says the Viet-Namese government hopes to have a fully-equipped army of eight divisions—120,000 men—in the field against Communist-led rebels by the end of this year. Brig.-Gen. Georges Spillman told a press conference Monday that a shortage of American-supplied arms is the only factor which can hold up formation of a native army that size.

Special Forms Of Service Issued In U.K.

LONDON, Feb. 12 (AP). — Church-going Britons commemorating the King's funeral will pray for a long and prosperous reign for their new Queen. Special forms of service were issued "By Her Majesty's special command" today.

The Church of England said the services are to be used Friday, the day of the funeral, or when convenient afterward.

They include this prayer:

"Almighty God, who rulest over all the kingdoms of the world, and disposest of them according to Thy pleasure, and who has now called Thy servant our Sovereign Lady, Queen Elizabeth, to the throne of this realm:

"Let Thy wisdom be her guide, and let Thine arm strengthen her, let justice, truth and holiness, let peace and love, and all those virtues that adorn the Christian profession, flourish in her days.

"Direct all her counsels and endeavors to Thy glory and the welfare of her people: and give us grace to obey her cheerfully and willingly for conscience sake: that neither our sinful passions, nor our private interests, may disappoint her cares for the publick good:

"Let her always possess the hearts of her people, that they may never be wanting in honor to her person, and dutiful submission to her authority:

"Let her reign be long and prosperous and crown her with immortality in the life to come."

Seniority Clause Stalls Talks

WINDSOR, Feb. 12 (CP)—Rhys Sale, Ford of Canada president, said today that if a strike is called at the Ford plant here, a wage contract seniority clause will be the sole reason for it.

He said in a statement he didn't think that seniority changes proposed by the union "would be vital enough to warrant throwing 9,000 men into idleness for an indefinite period."

The company, he said, is ready to reopen talks "whenever the union wishes to go ahead." If talks were resumed, the company would be represented, as before, by Wallace Clark, vice-president, industrial relations.

Two weeks of wage contract conferences between the company and officials of the United Automobile Workers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) ended Monday in Labor Minister Daley's Toronto office on the question of the seniority clause.

George Burt, U.A.W. Canadian director, told a press conference Monday that there is a "distinct possibility" of a Ford strike.

Meetings were scheduled for this afternoon and evening by the union executive committee and steward body. If strike action is to come, these meetings will decide the date it will be effective.

Still In Hospital Driver Fined $15

A guilty plea on a careless driving charge against Walter W. Head, 609 Gilmour St., was entered in police court today on his behalf by A. L. Elliott.

Magistrate W. R. Philp fined Head $15 and $2.50 costs.

Head is still in hospital, recovering from serious injuries received February 1, when the car he was driving collided head-on with a transport.

The accident occurred on Otonabee St., just east of the Locks bridge.

Head was driving west, when his car crossed to the wrong side of the street, and collided head-on with an eastbound transport.

W.I. Plans Dinners

APSLEY, Feb. 12 (ENS).—The local branch of the Women's Institute held their monthly meeting at Mrs. Herb Tucker's with 15 members and five visitors present. At the opening of the meeting two minutes' silence was observed in memory of King George VI.

This was purely a business meeting to complete plans for the dinner to be served at the County teachers' convention being held in the new school and the lunch for the official opening of the school which will be on Wednesday.

Ontario, Quebec Drama Groups Get Their Turn

TORONTO, Feb. 12 — (CP) — It's nearly curtain time for theatre folk in central and Eastean Canada.

Stage groups in western Canada already have come under the scrutiny of adjudicator Pierre Lefevre in the English actor's Canada-wide tour for Dominion drama festival talent.

Nova Scotia and New Brunswick have had their turn. Prince Edward Island's two-day regional festival opened Monday night at Charlottetown.

Then Adjudicator Lefevre, who said in a recent interview that the theatre can be a bond to strengthen national unity, will turn his critical gaze toward drama in Quebec and Ontario.

He will complete his work in Cornerbrook, Nfld., where the 10th province's first regional competition, a three-day contest, ends March 22.

Must Make Choice

Mr. Lefevre's final job before returning to England will be to chose from among contestants he has seen competitors for the 13th Dominion Drama Festival April 28 to May 3 at Saint John, N.B.

Halifax Theatre Art Guild won top honors at the Nova Scotia Regional festival in Halifax last week. The adjudicator said its production of Philip Barry's "Second Threshold" was "as highly polished as one could have wished."

Earlier last week at St. Stephen, N.B., the Theatre Guild of Saint John walked off with the Lieutenant-Governor's Cup for the best presentation in the New Brunswick Festival. Mr. Lefevre said the guild's interpretation of Noel Coward's "Hay Fever" was an excellent production of a difficult play.

In two weeks of adjudicating last month in Western Canada, Mr. Lefevre acclaimed the Victoria Theatre Guild winner of the British Columbia Festival, for its performanee of "The Heiress" by Ruth and Augustus Goetz.

Workshop 14 of Calgary won the award for the best presentation at the Alberta Regional Drama Festival. It was the Calgary group's sixth win in seven years.

Best Actress

At Regina, Shirley Douglas, 18-year-old daughter of Premier Douglas, won the best-actress award in Regina Little Theatre's award - winning presentation of "Tomorrow the World."

Winnipeg Little Theatre won every prize in the Manitoba Festival with "Medea," Robinson Jeffer's version of the Euripedes Tragedy.

Adjudicator Lefevre said he was impressed that the Winnipeg group should "have the guts" to stage such a play.

Ten groups will participate in the Eastern Ontario Festival at Peterborough, February 25-March 1. Western Ontario will hold its Festival at Hamilton March 3-8 and the Central Ontario Festival will be held at Toronto, March 10-15.

Confess Guilt

Guilty Of Assault Jailed 5 Days

Magistrate W. R. Philp reduced a charge of assault occasioning bodily harm against William Edwards, Lakefield, to common assault and sentenced Edwards to five days in jail Monday.

Edwards was charged with assaulting Raymond McIlmoyle, on January 6, after McIlmoyle had allegedly struck Mrs. Emma Darling in a scuffle in Edward's yard.

Magistrate Philp agreed with the argument put forward by Edward's defence counsel W. C. Grant, that Edwards was within his rgihts in defending his property, because McImoyle was in effect a trespasser.

However, the Magistrtate ruled that in using a hammer to strike McIlmoyle, Edwards "used greater force than was necessary" and reduced the charge to common assault.

McIlmoyle was convicted of assaulting Mrs. Darling when the case was heard last week, and sentenced to ten days in jail.

Combines Triumph

KEENE, Feb. 12 — (ENS). — The Otonabee Combines halted St. Peters' win streak with a 9-4 decision last night before a good-sized crowd. It was another speedy E.P.H.L. game, the bunched squads fighting hard with the schedule's end looming. Farley drew a misconduct in the third, and Berry and Heafield drew majors for fighting in the second, but otherwise it was a clean contest.

Combines had a 4-2 edge in the first frame as Stock hit the twine twice and Gowie and Locke once each for the home crew, Kempt and G. Burns each having an assist. Vyse scored from Heffernan and Farley tallied one for St. Peter's. Heffernan got their only one in the second from Vyse, as Heafield and Thompson hit it for Keene, Kempt aiding on one. The latter got two more and Whalen one in the third, Davidson and Stock having an assist each. Heffernan had one from Farley for the Saints. Teams:

St. Peter's — Hickson, Bacon, Conway, Farley, Heffernan, Vyse, Killen, Richardson, O'Connell, Berry, Basciano, Crough, Morrissey.

Combines— Mackness, Thompson, H. Burns, Whalen, Heafield, Cowie, Locke, G. Burns, Kempt, Davidson, Close, Shearer, Stock, Brown.

Towers Won't Predict Cost Of Living Trend

OTTAWA, Feb. 12 —(CP)—The trend of the cost of living in Canada in 1952 will largely be determined by three factors — the extent of personal savings, the international situation and the effect of defence expenditures on North America.

Graham F. Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, told a press conference Monday that he could not predict what is likely to happen to prices this year.

It all depends, he said, on how much individuals save, on whether there are "frightening" development in the international situation and on the effect of defence expenditures in North America.

He made the statements in answering questions on his annual report on operations of the publicly-owned bank.

Mr. Towers said the "wild buying spree" set off by the outbreak of the war in Korea had tapered off in March 1951 when no shortages of goods had appeared. With the outbreak of the war in Korea there was a feeling that shortages of many goods would develop. Heavy buying and higher production of some good had resulted.

When the buying wave slowed down, some industries found the going hard. This was due, he said, largely to the fact that the post-war buying backlog had been considerably worn down.

Personal savings increased sharply in the last six months of 1951, and that was an encouraging thing as far as inflation was concerned. Another encouraging factor was that there was no increase in the wholesale price index in the last six months of the year despite record capital investment and substantial defence expenditures.

During the year, manufacturers and merchandisers began to reduce that rate at which they accumulated inventories.

The capital investment program resulted in the volume of government bonds being offered for sale exceeding demand. Prices for the bonds fell. Mr. Towers said that at times the Bank of Canada had retreated in the face of selling pressures.

The bank showed a profit of $24,243,017 on 1951 operations, mainly from the interest on compared with $19,887,548. Mr. Towers said the profit resulted mainly from interest on government bonds held by the bank.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

A Pacific Coast soccer league extending from Vancouver to Los Angeles is envisioned by John Richardson, secretary of the British Columbia Soccer Commission.

Richardson returned to Vancouver Monday from a five-week vacation in California and said he was astonished at the development of soccer in that state—particularly in San Francisco.

Before his trip, he said, he thought his dream of a Canada-United States Pacific Coast soccer league was 10 years away.

Now, after watching a few games in San Francisco, he said he's convinced the American Pacific seaboard cities are almost ready for top-trade soccer.

He said 10,000 fans turned out in San Francisco's Keza stadium for one game, which was televised.

A Canadian jockey felt the wrath of Hialeah Park stewards Monday in Miami, Fla. Ken Church of Windsor was fined $50 for striking Dart By with his whip during the running of the McLennan Handicap Saturday. Church rode Oil Capital in the race.

Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League Monday brought up Jim Morrison from Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League and sent centre Rudy Migay down as a replacement. Morrison, former Barrie Flyer junior, can play defence, centre or left wing.

Joe DiMaggio returned to the baseball diamond in San Francisco long enough to take two swings at a soft ball Sunday and fly out to deep left field. DiMaggio flew up from Hollywood for the two-swing appearance in the fifth annual game of married men vs. single lucky fellows. The married men won, 6-5.

The West Indies beat New Zealand by five wickets with more than three hours to spare on the last day of the first test cricket match in Christchurch, N.Z. set to get 139 to win, West Indies made 142 runs for five wickets, Frank Worrell carrying his bat for 62.

Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League defeated Sarnia Sailors of the Ontario Hockey Association Senior A group 5-2 Monday night in an exhibition game before 3,200 fans in Sarnia. Dick Gamble scored twice for the winners and Dollars St. Laurent, Bernie Geoffrion and Paul Meger got one goal apiece. Martin Zorica and Jim Wilson tallied for Sarnia.

Norwood Gains Win Against Flyers, 6-4

NORWOOD, Feb. 12 (ENS) — Norwood pulled out a 6-4 T.V.L. victory over Trenton Flyers here last night in a fast-stepping tussle. In the third period, Defenceman Pumple of the Flyers, after drawing a penalty, hit Referee Dick Ouimet with a stick and was promptly given a match penalty. Norwood scored their final goal with two seconds to go and the Flyers' goalie pulled out to allow six forwards to try for the equalizer in the exciting fray. Teams:

Flyers: Goal, Scott; defence, Pumple and Bruce; centre, Parnall; wings, MacDonald and O'Mara; alternates, Beatch, Athill, Dickson, Roberge, Racicot, McLean, Hampson and Faulkner.

Norwood: Goal, Jones; defence, Creighton and Magee; centre, Tompkins; wings, Thorpe and Brydges; alternates, Griffin, Ferguson, Robinson, Whitnall, Webb, Thompson, Kelly and Rogers.

Referees, R. Ouimet and A. Menzies.

The summary:

Abstinence Plea 'Not Command'

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 12 (CP)— The campaign by the United Church of Canada for voluntary total abstinence is "a call and not a command an entreaty and not an enactment," the Rev. J. R. Mutchmor said today.

The secretary of the board of evangelism and social service of the United Church told the Middlesex presbytery meeting here that individual churches might do one of four things in promoting the campaign: Preach a sermon on temperance; preach a sermon and distribute the church's literature on temperance; preach a sermon and distribute the Declaration of Purpose Card; preach a sermon and distribute a signature appeal which any congregational member might sign.

Dr. Mutchmor said that 325,000 Roman Catholic residents of the Montreal diocese have signed temperance petitions.

He told the meeting that the estimated expenditure on intoxicating beverages consumed in Canada amounted to approximately $650,000,000.

Bancroft Victors

BANCROFT, Feb. 12 (ENS). — Bancroft Timbermen took a three finger hold on the championship of the West Hastings-Addington Juvenile C series when they defeated Madoc Kiwanis 8 to 5 in the first of a home-and-home, goals to count series, for the league title here Saturday. Carrying this light edge the entry of Martin Brothers Lumber Company travels to Madoc on Tuesday to settle the affair with the Kiwanians. The winner of the series will meet Wellington, champions of the Prince Edward County group, in the next round.

About 150 fans saw the best juvenile game of the season, where the boys laid down a number of passes that would have landed on a dime. Ross Severin, Jim Vance, and Wayne Cole worked some smooth three and four way pattern plays around the Madoc net, while Fred Nickle, Cassibo, and Heaworth showed the fans how the famous red herring drop pass of Lester Patrick's Rangers worked.

That extra polish around the nets was responsible for the victory of Stuckey's stalwarts who were outweighed and outskated by the league leaders. Drummond covered his side of the rink like a large economy-size blanket over a small card table and Paranuik gave ad emonstration of the original jet-propelled kid. On countless occasions they were within feet of Glen Andrews, but the rubber had a habit of hitting the pads instead of the twine.

Besides Andrews, Floyd Bruce, and Barry Jackson played their best game of the season. Two of the regular defencemen were absent and they seemed to thrive on double time on the ice. Twice Stan Jeff was the minute-man of the hour as he cruised through the Madoc defence and decked Arnott with a pair of ankle sizzlers at the close of the second and third chukkers.

A Hard Question

MANILA, Feb. 12 (AP)—Birthplace? Antonio Marie Barakat always will have trouble answering that one. Antonio was born Sunday in a Royal Dutch Airlines plane over the China sea. His Lebanese parents were en route from Bangkok to Australia via Manila. Antonio and his mother were rushed to a hospital on arrival here. The Barakat family will resume the trip to Sydney Sunday.

Sports Ruled Out

BOGOTA, Colombia, Feb. 12 (CP)—Beauty contests and sports have been ruled out for girls' schools affiliated with the Colombian Federation of Private Catholic Schools. Parents have been cautioned against "encouraging the athletic spirit for vanity or show" and told that social affairs are incompatible with student life. Participation in such contests or in parties or dances will result in dismissal.

Civic Holiday Proclaimed For Kingston

By The Canadian Press

That Friday, February 15 is a day of mourning in Canada for the death of King George VI is agreed upon by all municipalities in Ontario, but the method of observance is another story. Some centres plan to close down completely, others expect to hold only memorial services with business as usual.

Kingston City Council issued a proclamation Monday night authorizing a civic holiday the day of the King's funeral. It is expected that all business concerns will shut down. It was pointed out however that there is no compulsion. If any merchant desires to remain open he may do so.

The Port Arthur Council declared an afternoon of mourning next Friday in memory of the King. A special memorial service has been arranged.

Councillors also took a new oath of allegiance to Queen Elizabeth II and ordered black bands of mourning placed on city stationery.

At Sault Ste. Marie, the Board of Education has ordered all city schools to close the day of the King's funeral. Brief memorial services will be held in the schools Thursday.

In Peterborough, schools, banks and federal buildings will close Friday. Stores and industries will stay open for the day, representatives decided at a meeting Monday. They will observe two minutes silence at 11 a.m. However, a ruling by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association could still change this decision. The Motion Picture Industry Council of Canada asked its 2,000 member theatres not to open till 6 p.m. In schools, commemoration services will be held Thursday.

Mayor W. C. Nelson of Sarnia today issued a proclamation calling on citizens to observe Friday as a day of mourning for King George.

He did not declare the day of the King's funeral a holiday, but requested stores and offices to remain closed Friday until 1 p.m.

This will give employees an opportunity to attend the public memorial service at 11 a.m. in the auditorium of the Sarnia Collegiate.

St. Catharines' Mayor John Franklin was to issue a proclamation today asking residents to observe two minutes' silence Friday. The token remembrance was urged by the retail section of the Chamber of Commerce here.

Faulty Lighting

BOMBAY (Reuters)—Improper installation of fluorescent lighting is responsible for many eye ailments, said Dr. V. K. Chitnis, Indian eye specialist. Such lights are replacing other forms of electric lighting here.

Baths Order Of Day

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Feb. 12. (AP) — Fairbanks residents have been asked by their city engineer to take at least one bath a day. It's not that he thinks they're too dirty. In fact he doesn't give a hoot about their cleanliness. Here's the reason: The exremely cold winter in which temperatures often were more than 50 below zero for days left the ground frozen as deep as 10 feet. The fost is beginning to affect the city's drain pipes. The engineer says that if residents keep lots of water running down the drains maybe the underground sewer system won't freeze up.

Hatlin Elected Head Of Bancroft Red Cross

BANCROFT, Feb. 12 (ENS)— John Hattin was elected president of the North Hastings Red Cross Society at a recent meeting of the board. With regret the group accepted the resignation of A. M. Burns who had been elected president at the annual meeting. Mr. Burns who had been president in 1950 and 1951, stated that he could not take sufficient time from his regular business to fulfil again the duties of this office.

An announcement was made that the annual drive for funds would start on March 1. This will cover the territory served by the hospital. Leo Freiburger was appointed chairman of the yearly financial campaign.

Four Added To Fire, Police Departments

LINDSAY, Feb. 12 (ENS)—Two new men were taken on as permanent policemen and two as firemen at Monday night's council meeting here. The two policemen are replacements for two men who resigned from the force last month.

Nine men applied for the police and 10 aplied for firemen. William Mosley and Ross Bailey will commence duties as policemen at the beginning of next week. Wallace Tully and Cecil Dale are the new firemen.

Flesherton Plans Build New School

FLESHERTON, Feb. 12 (CP)— Flesherton village council Monday night voted in favor of building a complete new high school to replace the Flesherton-Artemesia district high school razed by fire last month.

Estimated cost of the school is $320,000. Flesherton is 30 miles south of Owen Sound.

Comic Files Suit.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12 (AP)— Film comic Harold Lloyd has filed suit for $300,000 damages because his old film, "Safety Last," was shown on television. He asked for $250,000 damages from the National Broadcasting Company and $50,000 from Los Angeles television station KTTV. He claimed unauthorized telecast of the picture he made in 1929 constituted copyright infringement.

Would Curb Jalopies

ALBANY, N.Y., Feb. 12 (AP)— The assembly received today a Republican bill designed to give the public added protection from jalopies operated by teen-agers. The measure, unanimously cleared by the senate Monday night, would double the amount of liability insurance that must be carried by automobile owners under 21 years of age.

United States Air Force Defends Policy

By STAN CARTER

U.S. FIFTH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Feb. 12 (AP). — United States Air Force spokesman today defended the policy of keeping all jet pilots —including aces—in Korea until they have finished their normal tour of 100 combat missions.

That was the Air Force stand on the controversy that has raged since Maj. George A. Davis Jr. was shot down Sunday. Davis had destroyed 11 MIGS and three Red bombers in 59 missions.

The spokesman said Davis was a hero, but that statements that he should have been sent home were likely to make him a figure of controversy instead.

The first three American jet pilots to become aces in the Korean war were returned to the U.S. after their fifth kill. Five kills make a pilot an ace.

In Lubbock, Tex., Mrs. Davis said her husband should have been sent home the same as the first three.

She said Davis recently wrote her, "Things can't go on like they are. We lost so many planes and so many men. The MIGS are so much better than the Sabres that something must be done."

In Washington, Representative George Mahon (Dem. Tex.) asked the Air Force to investigate thoroughly and report to him on circumstances surrounding Davis' death.

U.K. Solid Nation

HALIFAX, Feb. 12 (CP) — Britain is great "despite severe handicaps," James Thomson, deputy high commissioner of the United Kingdom in Canada, said here today in an interview. "Despite a burden of debts to Canada and the United States," he said, "she remains a solid nation of disciplined people, among the most law abiding in the world."

Hint At Perjury In Charge Facing Youth, 19

LINDSAY, Feb. 12 (ENS). — "Somebody's lying and I don't like it," said defence counsel R. I. Moore in court here on Friday. "If I had any suspicion of this, I wouldn't be here."

Mr. Moore was speaking to Magistrate E. A. Gee in a case against 18-year-old Stanley Carley of Lindsay, charged with illegal possession of liquor.

Crown witness Frank McPhee, driver of a Hydro truck involved in an accident on the Peterborough highway early this month, stated that he had been driving towards Lindsay and noticed a car in front of him. He attempted to stop when he saw the car start to back down a hill, but the slippery road conditions caused a collision. McPhee stated that he saw the driver of the car get out and throw an object about 30 feet away from the car. McPhee said it "looked like a bottle," but he could not swear that it was.

Provincial Constable Bill Warner stated that he had found a bottle of wine at approximately the spot that McPhee had indicated. However, the three people in the car denied having any knowledge of the bottle. The accused, Carley, was called and he said that he had been travelling forward in second gear when struck from behind. In cross examination, Crown Attorney Lorne Jordan asked him if he knew where Bishops lived. "Do you know where Joe Bishop lives?" queried the crown. "I know where Chester Bishop lives," said Carley. "Did you stop at Allenbury's after paying a visit to Bishop's and pick up two bottles of wine from a red truck parked at the corner?" said the crown. Mr. Moore objected, but the question was permitted in cross-examination to prove credibility of the witness. Carley denied the statement. He said that he had financed the trip and that his car had ed the trip. "Who paid the gas?" "There was gas in the car." "Do you know what perjury is? You'd better, because I'm going to check on everything you say," said the crown. "Did you or did the girl buy two bottles of wine from a red truck at the Allenbury plant corner?" "No," said Carley.

The other male passenger in the year, a 21-year-old Claude Junkin, told the same story as Carley, except that the girl, Glenna Nelson, had paid for the gas.

"I'm suggesting that you told police in Peterborough that there was a half bottle of wine in your car. Do you deny that?" said the crown.

"I don't remember saying that," said Junkin.

"Did you have a conversation with Constables Judson and Warner with your mother, stating that you went to Bishop's house and then got wine from a red truck?" said the crown.

"Yes, sir," said Junkin. "I remember the conversation but we didn't do that. We didn't have any wine."

Final witness called by Mr. Moore was Glenna Nelson, 21. She said that she had seen the red truck but that they had just passed it on the road and nothing else. She said they had obtained gas from a service station at the west end of the town before driving to Peterborough. Junkin said that the gas had been bought in the east section of the city. "You got stuck for the gas, did you?" interjected Magistrate Gee. "Yes, two dollars' worth," said the girl. She said that the first time they had seen the wine was when the officer brought it to them in the car and asked if it was theirs.

In cross examination, the crown entered a statement to prove the credibility of the witness that was signed by her but a proper warning was not given before the statement was taken. It was taken down in the notebook of Constable Warner where the girl is employed. She had signed it. The statement said that she had been picked up by the boys at her home. They had driven to St. Patrick St. and to Bishop's house. They had bought two bottles of wine for $2 each from a red truck.

"Is that true? Is that what happened," said the crown.

"No sir. We sad no wine," said the girl.

"Is that your signature? Did you sign that statement?"

"Yes. It looks like my signature."

"Is that what happened?" said the crown.

"No. I told that story because the officer said to me that Stan Carley had told him the wine had come from our place."

Mr. Moore then made the statement that somebody was lying and he didn't like it.

Magistrate Gee ruled that Carley was guilty as charged, and the boy was fined a total of $60.50. "You should realize the result of a perjury charge, said his worship when talking to the accused. "There could possibly be another charge against you. You had better buck up and leave bad companions alone.

TUNISIA, jutting out toward Sicily and the Italian boot to "bottleneck" the mid-Mediterranean, is a centuries-old battleground. Here ancient Carthage (about 10 miles from modern Tunis), stood as a thorn in the side of the Roman empire. Tunisia held the world's spotlight early in 1943 as the last stronghold of Rommel's Africa Korps. Then the great port cities of Tunis and Bizerte were devastated by Allied bombers before "Ike" and "Monty" closed their giant trap on the remnants of the beaten army. France and Italy have tugged over Tunisia since the French grabbed it in 1878. Sandwiched between French Algeria and the former Italian Libya, Tunisia is peopled largely by Arabic-speaking Moslems, with a sprinkling of Europeans. It has a population of 3,300,000. Its importance stems from its strategic location, its fine harbors protected by mountains, its minerals, its fertile valleys and good growing climate. The French protectorate is back in the headlines now because its people have "caught the bug" of Arab nationalism and revolt that is sweeping the Middle East. Arab riots and acts of violence against French authortiies, headed by Resident General Jean de Hauteclocque, have paralleled those in Egypt against the British, and threaten to grow into outright civil war. Continued unrest in Tunisia adds to the weakened Western position throughout the Arab world.

Doctor Outlines Progress In Treatment Of Cripples

An outline of the progress attained in the treatment of crippled children in the last decade, was given by Dr. William Mustard at the Rotary luncheon meeting Monday.

Dr. Mustard is staff surgeon of the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, and is also the president of the medical advisory board of the Polio Foundation. His visit to Peterborough was the first of the events starting off the Rotary Club's Easter Seal campaign to raise money for crippled children.

Dr. Mustard discussed both the progress of research and treatment of diseases that cripple children, with particular emphasis on polio.

Expensive Research

"Nothing about this disease makes sense, and that is the reason that it is such a challenge," he said. "We really haven't got very far with our study of it, mainly because to study the disease we must have monkeys. Monkeys are both expensive to buy and also to board. As a result there are only two centres in Canada where polio can be studied."

However, the speaker explained, that if operations are performed early such as supplanting muscles and bone operations and the limbs adequately braced so that the patient can be got up early, there is a far better chance of recovery.

"Of 100 cases of polio, only 10 cases are paralyzed to any degree and only one that may be classed as actually disabled," Dr. Mustard said.

The speaker also discussed such disabilities present at birth as club feet and congenital hip (dislocation of the hip). He explained that research has found that the cure of both these disabilities depends on early diagnosis and treatment.

Cerebral Palsy

Another crippling disease he mentioned was cerebral palsy, popularly known as St. Vitus dance or tick. Clinics have been established for the treatment of this disease in both Canada and the United States. In Canada, the clinics are in Toronto and London.

The treatment of this disease is both lengthy and expensive, Dr. Mustard explained. The disease often effects the mental capacities and necessitates involved tests. The treatment usually includes teaching speech, occupational therapy and the bracing from the waist down.

In conclusion the speaker paid tribute to Rotary for its fund-raising campaigns that help to make possible continued research in these diseases and treatment of crippled children.

Dr. Mustard was introduced by Dr. Donald Clark and thanked by Paul Irwin.

The following guests were introduced by Dr. R. A. Kelly: Miss Margaret McEwen, district nurse for the Ontario Society for Crippled Children; Miss Phyllis Alexander, swimming director at the Y.W.C.A.; Mrs. Walter Perks, convener of the swimming committee at the YWCA; Miss Gene Clark, supervisor of Public Health nurses; Mrs. Clare Collins, president of the Peterborough and district home and school council; Don Meredith, past president of the A.T.C. Club and chairman of the local March of Dimes; William Christopher, Dr. John Stewart, Dr. Maurice Clarkson.

Convict Kingston Man Of Bottle Money Theft

LINDSAY, Feb. 12 (ENS). — Joseph Henry Turcotte, 47, who said he was from Kingston, was remanded for a week in police court today after he was found guilty of stealing money from milk bottles. Two charges of stealing were read against him.

According to Police Chief Arthur Webster, Mrs. Martin Thurston telephoned late Friday evening that her husband was holding a man in the hallway of their apartment. Police arrived to find Mr. Thurston in red pyjamas holding the accused. Mr. Thurston said he had heard the man in the hall and went out to investigate. Turcotte said he had been looking for the bus station. A total of 42 cents was taken from bottles in the apartment building.

P.O.W. Acting In Play On Broadway

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 12 (AP).—Edmund Trzcinski spent a year in a Nazi prison camp and now has a lively career because of it.

The man with the tongue-twisting name—we'll call him Triz—was shot down over Austria and placed in a prison camp called Stalag 17, near Krems, Austria.

Triz, together with fellow-prisoner Donald Beaven, wrote a play called "Stallag 17." Today Triz is acting in the film version of the Broadway hit and also serving as technical adviser.

Amused, Amazed

He is amused and amazed by the business of being an actor, but he doesn't plan to make it a habit.

"Acting is much too difficult," he said. "I'm doing this part only because Billy Wilder (the director-writer)....wrote in a part for me that does not require much acting ability."

His only previous acting experience was in the real Stalag 17. He and his co-author Beaven wrote, directed, and produced four musical shows to entertain their fellow-prisoners. They ended up acting in the shows, too.

Triz arranged to have their play produced for a trial showing at the Lamb's Club. Jose Ferrer was in the audience. He became enthusiastic and produced and directed the show for Broadway. It was an instant success.

Board Favors Salary Boosts

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 12 (ENS).—February meeting of the Lakefield District High School Board was held Wednesday evening in the school, with Chairman G. N. McIlmoyle presiding. Present also were trustees C. G. Hunt of Lakehurst, E. Everett of Chandos, Chester Hamilton of Dummer, M. C. Tucker of Apsley, county representative Erie Pearson, and E. W. Bailey and N. A. Moore of Lakefield. Principal R. E. Sutton also attended.

Salary increases, requested by the staff at the last meeting came in for considerable discussion and resulted in the following motion by Trustees Everett and Hamilton, "that the teachers with less than two years' service be increased $100 per annum and the teachers with more than two years' service be increased $400 per annum. Said increase to raise the minimum salary from $2,500 to $2,600 per annum and from $2,700 to $2,800 per annum, and effective Feb. 1, 1952."

It was decided that the closing hours at the Lakefield school be the same as now in effect and the closing hour at Apsley division be 4 o'clock.

County clerk and treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Spurway, will be requested to forward the sum of $6,000 from the Lakefield District High School debenture funds to repay the loan made to purchase the new high school site, and will also be requested to pay the architects, Blackwell and Craig, the sum of $9,954.

The purchasing of necessary equipment for the high school rooms at Apsley, as requested by the principal will be done with the exception of a student compound microscope.

A request by the Lakefield Public School Board for occupancy of additional classroom to begin Sept. 1952, will be referred to Public School Inspector, K. O. Birkin.

On motion of Trustees Bailey and Moore, the property committee will be authorized to employ a well driller to drill at 10-inch well at the location given by Mr. Craig for the new high school.

Principal Sutton reported attendance for the month of January as 203 students; average 94.1 per cent, and announced that the date of the annual Commencement would be Feb. 29.

General accounts to the amount of $766.13 were authorized to be paid as well as the following transportation costs: Roy Brown, $485.10; Coyle's Garage, $420; S. Pearson, $1,113; L. McColl, $105; M. Reddick, $225; J. G. Smith, $147; T. S. A. Burleigh and Anstruther, $102.03.

Kakebeka Falls, "Village Of Halls" Five Halls Serve Community Of 250

KAKABEKA FALLS, Ont. — (CP)—You could call Kakabeka Falls the "Village of Halls."

For this straggling community of 250 persons 14 miles west of Fort William and Port Arthur has five halls, probably more than any other Canadian community of comparable size.

The village lies near the foot of Kakabeka Falls—a waterfall 130 feet high and 400 feet wide on the Kaministiqua River. A hydro-electric power plant generates some 25,000 horsepower for the use of the two lakehead cities. The village is named for the falls which got its name from an Indian word "kakpikauk," meaning high falls.

The hall-building began 35 years ago when the village constructed a community hall complete with stage for plays and children's concerts. There was plenty of space for dancing.

Then the picturesque waterfall, one of Northern Ontario's most striking, began to draw tourists. A large hall with gleaming hardwood floors was built close to the river by private interests.

Anglican Church Next

The Anglican church then got a hall. It got a new church and its old one was turned into a hall for meetings, teas and church social affairs. Other organizations used it, too.

The United Church fell into line. It built an addition to its church building for use as a hall.

That wasn't the end. Within the last six months the members of the Canadian Legion put up the most imposing hall of all. It has a full-size basement, a polished dance floor, an orchestra dais and a larger stage than all the others.

As the new halls went up, the original community hall was pushed further into the background. Finally, someone suggested it ought to be scrapped because there were so many halls. But the older residents disagreed. For them it had too many rich memories. So it's busier than ever now in spite of all the competition.

Unlikely To Solve All Problems At Lisbon - Pearson

LONDON, Feb. 13. (CP)—L. B. Pearson, Canadian Minister of External Affairs, said today nobody should be surprised if the North Atlantic Treaty powers come away from next week's important meeting at Lisbon with one or two problems still unsolved. The public, he said, tends to take it too much for granted that this meeting or that meeting will "settle" things, leaving all problems resolved. He implied that the questions which will be discussed at Lisbon may often be too difficult to "settle" that easily.

The Canadian minister, who leaves for Lisbon Saturday to act as chairman at NATO meetings, discussed the conference agenda with reporters at an informal gathering in Canada House. Probably the most important topic will be the question of German participation in western defence.

Pearson said he hopes this most delicate issue will get "a good, thorough discussion which will take us a long step forward."

The Lisbon conference will also consider proposals for streamlining N.A.T.O. including the appointment of a permanent secretary-general and increased powers for the council of deputies.

Sit As Member

L. Dana Wilgress, Canadian high commissioner in London, is Canada's representative on the council of deputies. If the new proposal is approved Wilgress, in the absence of a Canadian minister, will sit as a member of the council.

Efforts will be made to limit the number attending N.A.T.O. sessions. It is difficult to conduct "intimate" discussions on defence when there are 300 or 400 people in the room, as there sometimes were at the last meeting in Rome, Pearson said.

Pearson scheduled informal meetings today with foreign ministers of various Atlantic Pact countries.

The New York Times said today in a London dispatch that the choice for secretary-general of N.A.T.O. is between Pearson, and Sir Oliver Franks, British ambassador in Washington.

The newspaper said that 'for several political and practical reasons, Pearson is by far the leading candidate for secretary-general. It added, however, that he has not indicated even to close associates whether he would take the job.

Noted Lawyer Aylesworth Dies In Toronto

TORONTO, Feb. 13 (CP). — Senator Sir Allen Bristol Aylesworth, 97, former Canadian Minister of Justice, died today.

One of Canada's outstanding lawyer., he became Minister of Justice in Sir Wilfrid Laurier's Liberal government in June, 1906. He retired from public life in 1911 when he did not stand for re-election to the Commons.

Sir Allen was appointed to the Senate in 1923 by Prime Minister Mackenzie King. His appointment came as a surprise as he had been out of public life for many years.

In 1906 he developed hearing trouble which led him to curtail his public activities and finally to retire from political life.

Queen's Counsel Twice

He had been in frail health recently and was in the news when King George died last week. He was probably the only Canadian to become a Queen's Counsel twice. He was first appointed a Queen's Counsel in 1889 under Queen Victoria and served during the reigns of Victoria, King Edward VII, King George V, King Edward VIII, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth II.

Death of Sir Allen left the standing in the 102-seat upper house to: Liberals 77, Progressive Conservatives nine, with 16 vacancies.

There are now four Ontario vacancies, six in Quebec, three

Nehru Defeats Silent Rival

NEW DELHI, Feb. 13 (Reuters) —Prime Minister Nehru today won the parliamentary seat for his home district, Allahabad, beating his nearest rival, "Holy Man" Prabhu Datt Brahmachari, by a majority of 176,000 in the Indian federal elections.

Nehru's opponent, a 55-year-old Hindu, took a vow of silence 10 years ago and has since communicated with his devotees only in writing. Campaign supporters made his speeches for him.

He represented Hindu orthodoxy's challenge to Nehru, mainly on the issue of the Indian government's Hindu code bill, which seeks to liberalize Hindu law on marriage and women's right to property.

Nehru polled 233,571 votes against 56,718 for the bespectacled, bearded holy man.

Invents New Device Stop Car Skidding

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 13 (AP). —A Los Angeles inventor today described a simple device which he says will keep automobiles from skidding on slippery roads.

Dr. William Ross calls it the gyro-skid control. The device, weighing 45 pounds, is placed on the cross rear member of a car frame, parallel with the axle.

It consists of a steel tube 36 inches long and 3 inches in diameter. Inside it is a 35-pound sliding weight, free to slide back and forth laterally on ball bearings.

"It acts as a counter-centrifugal force," Dr. Ross explained. "Since skidding is a result of the lateral displacement of weight the counter-centrifugal action of this device, replacing that weight, prevents skidding."

U.S. Planes Cut Communist Rail Lines

SEOUL, Korea, Feb. 13 (AP)— A light touch of spring hit Korea's eastern front today—along with probing Communist infantrymen. The mild weather was continuing and a thaw was starting.

Allied troops spotted about 200 Reds in the Mundung valley, but the Communists did not attack. In the same area Tuesday U.N. soldiers killed 96 Reds and wounded 130.

U. S. Fifth Air Force planes cut Communist rail lines in 35 places Wednesday morning. Pilots also reported destruction of two locomotives and one Red anti-aircraft position.

The Air Force flew 301 sorties Tuesday and cut rail lines in 105 spots. Nine B-29 Superforts bombed the Sunchon south bypass rail bridge Tuesday night. Three other B-29s hit the rail yards at Samdong and one raided the Kyomipo steel mill.

Miller Eligible

OSLO, Feb. 13—(CP)—Engelbert Miller, left-winger on Canada's hockey team, was declared eligible tonight by the International Ice Hockey Federation to play in the Olympics. Canadian hockey officials here were prepared for an adverse ruling on Miller's status.

Urges Trade Relations Improved With Canada

LONDON, Feb. 13 (CP). — J. S. P. Armstrong, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Britain, today urged immediate action to improve trade relations between Canada and the United Kingdom.

Addressing the 30th annual meeting of the Chamber, Armstrong, also Agent-General for Ontario, said it was "lamentable" that Canadian imports had reached a virtual standstill. He deplored Britain's inability to invest in Canada while money pours in from other countries.

Canadians welcomed the decision of the United Kingdom to continue the token import scheme in spite of the existing economic situation. It was a useful contribution towards goodwill between both countries, but its reduction to 30 per cent of the 1939 volume disappointed many.

"The United Kingdom has always been Canada's traditional market," Armstrong said, "and as the sterling area closes its doors to her products there is no alternative but to find other markets since—like this country—Canada must export to live.

Business men in Canada, the United States and Britain would agree on the vital importance of having a prosperous United Kingdom for the common good of the world. But tribute, he suggested, should be paid to Canadian industry and labor for the support extended to the British dollar-export drive.

In some instances the commodities imported into Canada had seriously hit local manufacturers and even caused some unemployment.

"Canada has deliberately discouraged imports from the U.S. and diverted them to the United Kingdom," Armstrong said. "Britain now has a large and valuable slice of that precious dollar market. But Canadian factories and labor can only be expected to stand aside and give you the right-of-way for a limited time. For their own survival, they must again swing into full production and competitive effort."

Smuggling Facts Given Abbott

Tobacco Growers Ask Tax Be Cut On Cigarettes

SIMCOE, Feb. 13 (CP)—The Ontario tobacco-growing industry said today it has "full facts" on the current cigarette "smuggling scandal" and it will place these before Finance Minister Abbott Monday next.

A delegation of the Ontario Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Association will meet with Mr. Abbott and ask him to reduce cigarette tax in order that a pack of 20 cigarettes may be sold for 80 cents.

Cigarettes sell for 42 cents in all provinces except Quebec where the price is 46 cents. American cigarettes sell in the United States for about 18 cents.

The Association, hit by a drop in domestic tobacco sales and by the prospects of a sharp drop in sales to the United Kingdom in 1952, will present Mr. Abbott with a 38-page brief showing that the government's heavy tax—about 25 cents a pack—has hit tobacco factory employment, farm income and the whole future of the tobacco industry.

U.K. Orders Chopped

The Association said in a statement that the U.K. is cutting purchases from Canada this year by 75 per cent and exports will drop to 8,500,000 pounds from 35,000,000 sold to the U.K. last year.

As a result, growers will cut acreage by one-third to 78,000 acres from 120,000.

To enforce the regulation, all farms will be carefully measured, no newly-equipped farms will be taken into the Association and every loophole will be tightly closed.

"Our backs are to the wall", said Francis R. Gregory of Leamington, Association chairman. "The only solution of the very

Belgian M.P.'s Stage Walkout

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Feb. 13—(Reuters)—Socialists and Liberals walked out of both Houses of the Belgian Parliament today and said they will stay out until after King George VI's funeral because King Baudoin refused to attend it.

They said the reason given to parliament for the 21-year-old King's refusal—that he has not yet made a state visit to the British court—"is not valid, because King Leopold III himself attended the funeral of King George V before paying an official visit to London."

Two Senators, Socialist Henri Rollin and Liberal Madame Ciseret, told the Upper House of their parties' decision to stay away for this reason till after Friday.

There was tension in the streets and cafes here today, after last night's House defeat of the administration over "the snub affair."

OFFICIALS OF THE CROWN in Peterborough county today swore allegiance to Queen Elizabeth II at special sittings of the county court. Here Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, Q.C., in his capacity as Clerk of the Peace, is administering the oath to Judge J. A. McGibbon, acting judge of the county. Judge McGibbon then administered oaths to some 60 officers of the crown in their various capacities. The white cuffs on their robes are the official badge of mourning.—(Parks Studio Photo).

Crown Officers Swear Allegiance To New Queen

Starting with Judge J. A. McGibbon, acting judge of Peterborough county, some 60 county officials today swore allegiance to their new sovereign, Queen Elizabeth II.

The special sitting of the court took place in a courtroom decked in purple and black, symbols of mourning for the death of the late George VI.

One by one court officials stepped inside the bar and, holding the Bible in his right hand, each swore that he would serve Queen Elizabeth to the best of his ability.

Eulogies on King George were delivered by Judge McGibbon and F. D. Kerr, Q.C., senior member of the Peterborough Bar.

When the addresses of tribute were over the court was hushed for two minutes' silence.

Judge Sworn First

Then the swearing-in began with Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw, Q.C., in his capacity as Clerk of the Peace, administering the oath to Judge McGibbon. He was followed by Magistrate W. R. Philp, Q.C., family court judge, police magistrate, and local master of the Supreme Court of Ontario at Peterborough. Then it was the turn of Wilfrid F. Huycke, Q.C., deputy judge of the 1st Division Court.

"We have been asked to take these oaths, not because we are disloyal men," said Mr. Kerr, "but because the oaths remind us of our duties of office and of our citizenship."

"The King is gone," said Mr. Kerr. "And we who are gathered here to take the oath feel a responsibility today that we may never have felt before . . . That

Queen Conducts First Ceremony

LONDON, Feb. 13 — (AP). — Queen Elizabeth II conducted her first official ceremony at Buckingham Palace today, receiving Prime Minister Winston Churchill in a state audience.

Accompanied by 20 members of the House of Commons, Churchill presented an address to the Queen and received a formal reply, court attaches said. The texts of their remarks were not announced.

The Queen, in deep mourning, drove from her residence in Clarence House to the grey palace nearby with the Duke of Edinburgh, her Consort.

Among others from Parliament who participated in the brief ceremony were Clement Attlee, former Prime Minister, and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

The Duke of Edinburgh drove back to Clarence House half an hour after the audience with Churchill. He doffed his top hat to the crowd of some 300 at the gates. Most of them waved back.

Elizabeth and the Duke are to remain in residence at Clarence House for some months before moving to their official residence in Buckingham Palace.

76,426 File Past Coffin In First Day Of Homage

LONDON, Feb. 13. (AP)—The Duke of Windsor returned to England today to join in the national mourning for his brother, King George VI, whose subjects gathered in increasing numbers to pay tribute at ancient Westminster Hall. "It is indeed a sad arrival," said the Duke, who arrived alone at Southampton from New York.

State Secretary Dean Acheson arrived by air from the United States to represent President Truman at the state funeral Friday. He will join six kings and the representatives of many heads of state in the rites at Windsor.

Despite snowflurries and 17-degree cold a line of mourners six abreast and two miles long formed at noon outside Westminster Hall. There were 76,426 people who filed past the coffin on Tuesday.

Business men and students, workers, women and children from Scotland, Wales and Northern England, the commonwealth and foreign countries were in line.

It extended up the bank of the Thames to Lambeth Bridge, across the bridge and down the Albert Embankment.

Officers of the Household Cavalry in shining breastplates and red-coated Gentlemen-at-Arms and Yeomen of the Guard wearing Tudor-dated uniforms stood at rigid attention by the catafalque.

At 8 a.m. (3 a.m. EST), when the hal doors opened,, 15,000 were in line. They filed past at a rate of 5,00 an hour—1,000 more than Tuesday. The line had grown to 40,000 by noon.

Won't Attend Funeral

Queen Mary will miss the funeral of her son.

The Dowager-Queen "is perfectly well," said a member of her household, "but it should be remembered that she will be 85 this year, and it is felt that she should avoid the strain and ordeal of the ceremony."

The Duke of Windsor went directly to her home at Marlborough House when he arrived in London.

First in the line today was a woman from Oxford. She was there before the doors closed behind the last of Tuesday's pilgrims at 1:45 a.m. but, she said, "I wanted to see the coffin of my King in daylight".

$700,000 Blaze Razes Montreal Block

MONTREAL, Feb. 13—(CP)— A two-alarm fire gutted a $700,000 business block in northeast Montreal early today. The blaze is believed to have started in a bowling alley.

Firemen were handicapped by the zero cold.

The St. Zotique Street building housed a large chain grocery store, some offices and several shops.

The blaze was already well advanced when the first alarm was given at 12.58 a.m.

No one was injured.

Less than an hour after firemen reached the scene the roof of the building collapsed.

Official Visit To Be Cancelled

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 13 (Reuters).—The official visit of Queen Juliana of the Netherlands to Ottawa scheduled for April has been cancelled because Canada plans to observe mourning for the King until the end of May, it was reliably learned Tuesday night.

But the Queen and Prince Bernhard may make an unofficial visit to Canada after their United States tour, which under original plans was to end April 17.

It seems likely now that the U.S. visit may be extended.

In Ottawa there was no official confirmation of the report that the official visit has been cancelled but such a development is considered unlikely.

Announce Dr. C. Mackenzie Named To Head New Crown A-Company

President Says Use of Atomic Power Grown Much Closer Than Realized In Last Six Months

OTTAWA, Feb. 13. (CP)—Canada's No. 1 official in the atomic energy field said today he's come to the conclusion in the last six months that industrial uses of atomic power are "much closer than I thought." Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, newly-named to head a Crown company to direct Canada's atomic program, told a press conference the whole atomic development is in a fluid, fast-breaking stage which gives its leaders "a feeling" that big things are in store.

Dr. Mackenzie's resignation as president of the National Research Council and his appointment as head of the new "Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd.", was announced shortly before the press conference by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

The announcement said the change was being made so that "a well-integrated and experienced management will be working smoothly by the time the new pile comes into actual operation."

The new pile is the $30,000,000 heavy-water reactor or atom splitter being built at Chalk River. It won't be ready before 1954.

Key Sentence

The key sentence in the announcement was: "During the last year the design of the new pile has progressed favorably and, or perhaps more important, the prospects for early and useful industrial application of atomic energy have become promising."

In elaborating on that, Dr. Mackenzie painted an exciting picture of a "fluid" field in which he indicated anything can happen. What will happen, he thought, are things just as un-

Charge Sudbury Man With Careless Driving

TORONTO, Feb. 13 — (CP). — Police said today a charge of careless driving has been laid against Andre Thondo of Sudbury, operator of a car which collided head-on with another automobile containing Dr. Smirle Lawson and his wife.

Dr. Lawson, chief coroner for Toronto, suffered concussion, extensive chest injuries, cuts and bruises. Hospital officials said his condition is satisfactory.

Police said Mr. Lawson's wife was driving his car, purchased only 24 hours before and now extensively damaged. tI careened over two lawns and into a house after the collision.

Truck Crashes Into Bank, Manager Killed

OTTAWA, Feb. 13 — (CP). — A heavy oil truck today crashed through the entrance of an Ottawa South bank today, fatally injuring its manager, E. J. Fitzgerald.

The 47-year-old Bank of Toronto manager was sitting at his office desk talking to a customer when the big oil truck crashed in, pinning him to the wall and reducing the entrance of the building to a mass of rubble.

Mr. Fitzgerald died in hospital an hour later.

A customer, Charles S. Bennett, 82, of Ottawa, was seriously injured and was taken to hospital with a possible fractured leg and suffering from severe shock.

Driver of the truck, a British-American Oil Company tanker, was Wilfred Conlin, of Hull, Que. He said his vehicle went out of control as he started to pass a tow truck. The tanker went into a skid and plowed right through the entrance of the bank.

A child, Catherine Gibson, was knocked from her sled as the truck careened across the sidewalk and into the bank, located at Bank St. and Cameron Avenue.

Wafdists Decide Support Maher

CAIRO, Feb. 13 — (CP). — Egypt's Wafd Nationalists will continue to support Premier Aly Maher's government — but not "blindly"—the party newspaper Al Misri reported today.

The Wafdists, with a large majority in Parliament, met Tuesday to determine their future policy. The party governed until it was replaced by Maher's national front following the Cairo riots January 26.

There was no official announcement following the meeting., but one informant told the Associated Press Tuesday that it agreed to "continue support of the Maher Cabinet until the basis of the Maher policy is clearly defined." Al Misri said the party's decision was given to Maher last night. Fuad Sirag El Din, Party Secretary-General, called on the Premier.

Maher himself had just held an extraordinary cabinet meeting, following which he hinted that he might dissolve the Wafd-dominated Parliament.

Al Misri said Sirag El Din told the Wafdist meeting that the party is "not afraid of a new general election."

At the same time, the paper quoted Sirag El Din as saying the Wafd did not want to cause "a rift in the battle for liberation of the country" from British influence.

One-Man Police Force Resigns In Detroit

DETROIT, Feb. 13 (CP).. — Detroit's one-man police force, Lieut. Bob (Two Gun) Williams, 49, resigned today to take a job as chief of plant protection for an industrial firm.

Said he: "I felt some day my number would be up and I thought I better get out."

Detroit's most-decorated policeman—he has been awarded 134 citations of merit—Williams has shot and killed nine men in the line of duty and made nearly 10,000 arrests.

He is a mild-looking, bespectacled man.

Daley In Windsor In New Attempt To Get Settlement

WINDSOR, Feb. 13. (CP)—The United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) has set 10 p.m. Sunday as the deadline for a strike to enforce its contract demands upon the Ford Motor Company of Canada. However, Labor Minister Daley of Ontario is in Windsor today for a renewed effort to bring about a settlement in the dispute. He took the unusual step of coming to the scene of a threatened strike. George Burt, UAW Canadian director, announced the deadline Tuesday night after a meeting of 200 stewards of the union's Local 200. He said the decision was reached earlier in the day by the union's executive board and approved by a majority of the stewards.

"This time, we'll not go past the deadline," he said, in a reference to a walkout scheduled for Jan. 27 and cancelled after Mr. Daley persuaded company and union leaders to embark on a new series of talks. These talks ended Monday in Toronto.

Accepts Invitation

Mr. Burt said the union has accepted Mr. Daley's invitation to meet with company officials here. He said he hopes Ford president Rhys Sale will attend "to avert an action which cannot help but affect a large proportion of the citizens of Windsor."

In a statement Tuesday, Mr. Sale said the company is ready to re-open the contract talks at the union's pleasure. He added that, if the talks go on again, the company will be represented by Wallace Clark, vice-president in charge of Ford industrial relations.

Mr. Burt had asked that Mr. Sale take part personally in the renewed discussions.

The stumbling block that led to the breakdown of the Toronto talks was reported to be a section dealing with seniority as it affects layoffs.

The company expressed the view that a solution could be found.

Sole Issue

"If the union sees fit to call a strike at this juncture, the question of seniority in layoffs will be the sole issue," a Ford statement said. "Monetary clauses are still to be discussed if and after the seniority clause is hurdled. However, on straight wages, the parties are in virtual agreement."

Talks on the wage contract started last March. The dispute was regarded as a basic cause of an unauthorized 12-day strike which made 12,000 Ford workers idle last December. Of these, 9,000 were production workers, 1,000 superintendents and foremen, 1,200 Ford office workers and 800 were feeder-plant workers.

See Truman Following F. D. R. Pattern

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 (AP)—Politicians said privately today that President Truman may be following a pattern used by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt in seeking another White House term.

Democratic representative Adolph Sabath of Illinois, dean of Congress in service came out of the White House Tuesday saying the President told him he might take another term if it would serve world peace.

So far Truman has had nothing to say directly about seeking re-election, but a series of White House callers have produced widely varying reports.

Politicians recalled that other White House callers gave similar reports after talking to the late President Roosevelt just before he accepted nominations for third and fourth terms.

Speedy Circulation

The Sabath report got speedy circulation among members of Congress and political leaders anxious to pierce the Truman mystery.

Senator Clinton Anderson of New Mexico, who served as Truman's Secretary of Agriculture before entering the Senate, said the report confirms his belief that the President will run again.

"I think this checks with what I've said previously that the Democrats would insist up his renomination and he will not be deaf to their pleas," Anderson told a reporter.

Senator John Sparkman (Dem. Ala.), a southerner who has helped put parts of the Truman program through Congress, said "Maybe it sounds crazy for me to say so, but I still don't think he is a candidate."

Province Needs Swearing-In Rules

Judge J. A. McGibbon pointed out today that there is no laid-down court procedure in Ontario for a swearing-in ceremony of public officials after the death of a sovereign.

"I feel that it is high time that those in charge of the administration of justice in Ontario draw up a proper program for the use of court officials on such an occasion," he said.

His remarks were prompted by the experience of court officials here in Peterborough county in drawing up an order of procedure for administering the oaths of allegiance.

"I think the procedure here today was proper and I don't think any other one would have been fit and proper," he said.

It was drawn up as a result of consultation among Judge McGibbon, Sheriff John Harstone and Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, QC. And it included the opening proclamation; addresses of tribute by Judge McGibbon and F. D. Kerr, QC, senior Peterborough county barrister; two minutes' silence, and the oaths of allegiance taken individually.

Setting Sun Glare Blamed In Accident

Glare from the setting sun which blinded one of the drivers was blamed for a two-car accident Tuesday evening which damaged the front ends of both vehicles considerably.

Mrs. Lillian Millett, 1228 Kenneth Ave., was driving west on Sherbrooke St., and was about to make a left turn on to Kenneth Ave.

She said she was blinded by the setting sun and did not see an oncoming eastbound car driven by Lorne Twoomey, R.R. 2, Ennismore. The two cars collided almost on the brow of the hill at the intersection.

Constable Don Mackay investigated.

Slain By Police

BELGRADE, Feb. 13—(CP)—Lt. Slavoo Trnski, organizer of Bulgarian resistance in the Second World War but who fell into disfavor with the Communists several months ago, was slain early this month by Soviet secret police in Bulgaria, it was reported today. Trnski, veteran member of the central committee of Bulgaria's Communist party, was arrested after he intervened in protest against arrests of former underground fighters who served under him during the war.

Medium to good cows made $17-$20 with a few western cows upward to $22. Medium to good fed yearlings sold at $25-$29 with a few choice upward to $31.

Calves sold steady at $33-$35 for choice vealers and from $25-$32 for common to medium.

Hogs were $26 for grade A with sows $20 dressed.

A few cull lambs brought from $10-$25.50.

Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, Feb. 13 — (CP)— The United States dollar today opened at ⅛ of one per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, unchanged from Tuesday's close. That is, it took $1.00⅛ Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.78-7/16, also unchanged.

Man Runs Amok And Kills Cricket Player

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 13 — (CP).—A young migrant from Lebanon, armed with a military rifle ran amok at an Adelaide cricket match today, killing one player with a shot through the heart and wounding another.

Police later arrested the 24-year-old man in a field behind the cricket pitch and disarmed him.

In the middle of the game, player Donald Reed, 22, yelled and fell bleeding with a bullet wound through his left arm. Four more shots were fired in quick succession. One of them killed another player, Francis Henderson, 31, an army captain stationed at the Woomera Rocket Range.

The players flung themselves on the ground and crawled to aid Henderson and Reed. Spectators called police.

Volley of Shots

Women screamed in the grand stands as a volley of shots whisled over the field.

Then the gunman jumped to his feet and ran along the edge of the field, firing wildly as he moved. The crowd scattered in front of him.

An unarmed detective barred his way, but fell back when the gunman waved his .303 rigle and shouted: "Get back."

A squad of police officers was called and the man was overpowered. His rifle had a live cartridge in the breach and six more in the magazine.

The man, Elias Gaha, was charged with murder.

She escaped with only a bump on the head.

The truck driver said the tow truck suddenly swung into his path.

"I had no choice," he added. "I jammed on the brakes and headed straight for the bank.

"All I could see was that little baby sitting there on a sled, by the door. I prayed I wouldn't hit that child."

The truck nicked the child's sled, spilling her to the sidewalk.

Fred McCullough, a teller in the bank, said he was standing outside the manager's office.

"There was a terrible crash, and the wall fell in against me," he said.

Jack Murray, a clerk, was at the rear of the office at the time. He said:

"I looked up . . . and there was the truck sitting right in the middle of the office, the driver looking out at me."

serious situation . . . is immediate tax reduction".

The drop in prospective exports from the 1925 crop will reduce revenue derived from shipments to the U.K. by about $13,500,000 —from $18,000,000 to about $4,500,000.

On the basis of past yields, the 1952 tobacco harvest likely will drop to about 93,000,000 pounds from last year's 137,000,000.

Mr. Gregory estimated that the domestic market for Ontario tobacco is down about 20 per cent or more from a year ago. The growers contend that part of the reason for the decline has been the smuggling of American cigarettes.

"Full facts of the current smuggling scandal will be placed before the minister", said the Association, "including the latest R.C.M.P. figures for seizures of 'smugs' in Canada—more than 15,000,000 in the last few months".

Obituary

WALTER H. KIDD.

President and manager of the former Gallagher Remedies Ltd., King St., Walter H. Kidd, 81, 490 Driscol Terrace died in Civic hospital Tuesday after a lengthy illness.

Mr. Kidd was born in Dummer township, son of the late Alexander W. Kidd and Sarah Hamblin and has lived in Peterborough for the past 30 years coming here from Indian River.

A schoolteacher for 11 years both in Indian River and Peterborough, he was also a general merchant in the city before becoming president and manager of Gallagher Remedies Ltd. for 10 years. During the Second World War he was employed as a bookkeeper at the C.G.E. before his retirement in 1946.

An active worker in Murray St. Church, he was a life member of the board of deacons and was at one time a member of the finance committee of the church board and of the choir. He served as president of the choir for a period. Mr. Kidd was also president of the Kiwanis Club in 1926.

He leaves his wife, the former Rubie May Borland; one sister, Mrs. O. B. Carle and one brother Earle, both of Peterborough.

The funeral will be held Friday at 3 p.m. from the Comstock funeral home. The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray St. Baptist church will conduct the service. Burial will be in Warsaw cemetery.

CITY REBUILT

Coventry, famous industrial city now virtually rebuilt after heavy bomb damage in the last war, is almost exactly in the centre of England.

Windsor To Follow Queen

LONDON, Feb. 13. (Reuters)—The Duke of Windsor, former King Edward VIII, will walk immediately behind Queen Elizabeth II in King George VI's funeral procession, taking his rightful place in the Royal Family for the first time in public since he abdicated 16 years ago. The Duke, arriving at Southampton on the liner Queen Mary today, will walk with the male members of the family—the Duke of Edinburgh, the Duke of Gloucester, his younger brother, and the young Duke of Kent. The Duke's position in the cortege has been a delicate problem of precedence. Since his abdication, he has never been seen in a formal appearance with the Royal Family. He will be the only former king in English history to attend the funeral of his successor.

The problems of precedence, court procedure and tradition involved in Friday's state funeral are being tackled at night-and-day conferences here this week.

Careful Planning

With the exception of a coronation, a state funeral calls for more careful and elaborate planning than any other function of pageantry in modern Britain.

But the ceremonial organization of Friday's funeral has been made more intricate by the accession of Britain's first Queen for half a century, changed times and disappearance of many monarchies.

Main burden of this week's arduous planning falls on one man —the Duke of Norfolk, premier Duke and Earl Marshal, who by virtue of his office is responsible for arrangements for all occasions of state.

The Duke—43-year-old Bernard Marmaduke Fitzalan - Howard, 16th of his line—planned the last rites and ceremonies for King George V in 1936.

If tradition is followed Friday, Queen Elizabeth II will follow immediately after the hand-made oak coffin and the Royal Standard bearer. Then will come male members of the Royal Family.

Not Settled

It is not known whether the procession will include Prince Charles, three-year-old son of Queen Elizabeth and heir to the throne, and Princess Anne, his sister.

The place to be taken by the King's widow, Queen Mother Elizabeth, his mother, Queen Mary and his younger daughter Princess Margaret is also not yet clear.

Queen Juliana of the Netherlands (accompanied by Prince Bernhard) and Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg (with Prince Consort Felix) will be attending in their own rights as monarchs but it is not known whether they will ride in the procession with the male rulers or with other queens and princesses.

King Haakon of Norway, at 79 Europe's oldest monarch, is certain to have top precedence Friday among overseas kings. It will be the third time he has attended a British monarch's funeral. At the funeral of King Edward VII in 1910 he walked with eight other kings after the coffin. All eight, including Ferdinand of Bulgaria, Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany and Manoel of Portugal are dead.

Sir Allen played a leading part in some of the biggest cases in the dominion courts and often appeared before the judicial committee of the Privy Council.

He was knighted in 1911 for his service to Britain and Canada at The Hague tribunal in connection with fisheries arbitration the previous year. He had many contacts with reigning monarchs in Britain and was presented to King Edward VII in 1903. He was one of three official Canadian representatives at King Edward's funeral in 1910.

The most notable of Sir Allen's juridical cases was the Imperial Alaska boundary tribunal of 1903 He was a member of the tribunal whose final decision was along the lines argued by the United States members.

Good Neighbors

BONARLAW, Feb. 13 (ENS) — On Monday evening a number of the women from Stirling LOBA No. 655 gathered in the home of Mrs. Robert Cranston to spend the evening with her. Mrs. Cranston has been confined to her home for the past two years and is in poor health. After a program Mrs. Cranston was presented with a box of fruit from the Lodge. Lunch was served and Mrs. Cranston thanked the ladies for their kindness, and hoped they would all visit her soon again.

the Queen is young and that she is a woman calls for all the chivalry that we are capable of. And I look forward to all of the men in the British Commonwealth—with a strong chivalrous spirit—showing their wholehearted devotion to the new Queen and all that she stands for."

Pledges County Loyalty

Mr. Kerr pledged the loyalty of the people of Peterborough county to their new monarch.

He said that within his term at the Bar—more than 50 years—he had seen monarchies and ancient dynasties fall. But the prestige of the British monarchy had risen higher than ever.

In passing tribute to King George, Mr. Kerr quoted a passage from Milton:

"Nothing is here for tears, nothing to wail
Or knock the breast, no weakness, no contempt
Dispair or blame, nothing but well and fair
And what may quiet us in the death of one so noble."

Judge's Eulogy

Judge McGibbon said if he were asked to select two texts, suitable to the memory of King George, they would be these:

"With greatness comes responsibility," and "Well done thou good and faithful servant."

The judge recalled that at the last general sessions of the peace he had remarked on the precarious state of health of the King.

"Unfortunately this prediction was all too true," he said.

One of the things that most endeared him to the people of Great Britain was his love of family life, said Judge McGibbon. He was a happy and devoted husband and father.

He did not seek the Crown but it was thrust upon him.

Some of his characteristics were a "simple dignity, a sense of duty as King, and a sympathetic feeling for others.

"He was a good man. We can't help but admire his courage and fortitude. He was not a healthy boy nor did he grow into a healthy man . . . He had to overcome his difficulties in speech and he showed his courage when he had his lung removed and yet continued his public duties."

Judge McGibbon recalled the verse the King made famous.

"I said to a man who stood at the gate of the year, 'Give me a light that I may tread softly into the unknown,' and he replied, 'Go out into the darkness and put your hand into the hand of God. That shall be to you better than light and safer than any known way.'"

"How truly His Majesty lived up to the dictum contained in those words," said Judge McGibbon. "And how well he followed these precepts and set an example for all future sovereigns to follow."

"It is good that we have that invisible link to bind our countries to the foot of the throne . . . We must re-dedicate ourselves and our country to the Crown and to the principles of liberty that we hold so dear."

According to the Ontario Public Officers' Act and the Dominion Demise of the Crown Act only those who hold positions under the Great Seal of Ontario or direct from the Federal government have to be re-sworn Mr. Bradshaw said. But all local barristers were asked to re-affirm their allegiance at the ceremony.

expected and just as momentous as the by-products of discovery of the gasoline engine—aircraft, cars, miles of paved highways.

The statement that chances for early use of the atom for power have increased was both fair and sound; but it was the sort of thing that couldn't be documented.

The new reactor would have a 50-50 character. It would carry on research and produce fissile material — plutonium — and it would act as an experimental basis for uses of power and its discoveries could later be integrated in new reactors.

Conventional Way

The first uses of atomic power would probably be in a conventional way through generation of power from steam but it would branch out from there into uses no man now could foresee.

Dr. Mackenzie will hand over the presidency of N.R.C. to Dr. E. W. R. Steacie, N.R.C. vice-president, April 1. Dr. Steacie is a chemist with a world reputation.

The announcement, made by Prime Minister St. Laurent, said expansion of the Chalk River plant, with the addition of a second and much larger atomic pile, made the change in administration desirable, "in order that a well-integrated and experienced management will be working smoothly by the time the new pile comes itno actual operation."

The N.R.C. has been operating the plant as an agent for the Atomic Energy Control Board.

The announcement said the administrative change will be "maximum industrial efficiency with no loss of parliamentary control."

Hitch-Hikes To London

The man behind her had hitchhiked 130 miles from Somerset. He didn't have the railroad fare, he said, but "I had to get here to pay my last respects to a great King".

A crippled Second World War veteran was the third. He said he had driven the 50 miles here from Brighton in his little motorized three-wheel invalid car. He hobbled in on crutches to pay last respects to the dead monarch.

The dead King's family remained in seclusion Tuesday but Queen Elizabeth II, granted her first official audience as sovereign Tuesday night to Prime Minister Winston Churchill, who paid his formal respects.

A close friend of Britain's royalty, 79-year-old King Haakon of Norway, led the procession of foreign royalty to London. He arrived Monday and is staying at Buckingham Palace.

Royal suites were made ready at Claridges for King Gustav and Queen Louise of Sweden, King Paul of Greece, King Frederik and Queen Ingrid of Denmark and Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard of The Netherlands.

Florists Busy

London florists hired hundreds of additional artisans to work around the clock on orders from throughout the world for floral tributes to the King.

One florist estimated that probably 100,000 floral pieces would be received at Windsor Castle by Friday.

The coming of so many crowned heads and notables caused police and secret service authorities to set up one of their biggest post-war security checks.

Police ordered 122 streets in the heart of London closed to all traffic from midnight Thursday until after the funeral procession.

Limit P.O.W. Exchange To 60 Days

Offer To Compromise U.N. Demands On Truce Supervision

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Allied negotiators today accepted a 60-day limit on exchanging prisoners, and offered to compromise their demands for supervising a Korean truce.

The Communists had proposed the 50-day limit. The exchange period is to start when an armistice is signed. The agreement does not touch the key question of voluntary repatriation.

The United Nations command, holding 132,000 prisoners, had wanted 30 days more than was allowed the Reds to complete the exchange. The Reds list only 11,559 men in Red P.O.W. camps.

2-Point Compromise

Allied staff officers negotiating details for supervising a truce offered a two-point compromise:

1. If Communists agree to rotating 40,000 troops a month in addition to men on temporary leave, the Allies will drop two demands the Reds oppose.

One of these would forbid shifting troops during a truce in a manner that could constitute an offensive threat. The other would require weekly reports on the location of all minor military units.

The Reds originally agreed to rotating 5,000 men monthly. They have increased this to 30,000. The Allies originally asked 75,000 including men on rest and recuperating leave to Japan.

2. Both sides "meet headway" on the number of ports of entry through which troops and arms would move under neutral supervision during a truce.

The Allies had proposed eight. Wednesday they cut it to seven. The Reds had proposed three. Tuesday they increased it to four.

There was no word from the Communists when they would have ready their new proposed solution for the fifth and final item of the armistice agenda. This deals with recommendations to the governments concerned for a settlement of the Korean problem.

Speaker Lists Three Qualities For Success

BETHANY, Feb. 13 (ENS) — There was an attendance of 21 at the Women's Institute meeting held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Walter Rowland with Mrs. H. L. Challice presiding. Following the usual opening exercises, a period of two minutes silence was observed in memory of King George VI.

Mrs. Harold Sanderson read the minutes of the previous meeting, the correspondence, and reported the findings of the committee with regards to some renovation of the town hall basement.

The treasurer reported $21.35 sent to headquarters for the federation fees from this branch and a balance on hand of $83.20. Mrs. M. Finney reported the progress of the Glad I Canner Club, who had five meetings, studing nutrition and supper dishes. It was planned to have a basket social and progressive euchre party in the town hall on St. Patrick's Day.

Fire protection for the village was again discussed and Mrs. H. L. Challice, Mrs. H. Sanderson and Mrs. R. W. Price were appointed as a committee.

The program was in charge of Mrs. T. J. Jackson, convener for citizenship and education. Mrs. Jackson read a poem "The New Canadian," explained some of our duties towards new immigrants; the oath of allegiance which they are required to take in this new country; and conducted a quiz "What is a Canadian?" which was answered by seven members.

Mrs. Walter Rowland gave a talk on "Education." She said: "It is an old saying that nothing in life has been done the way it should be that the world is full of all sorts of things to do over and do right. If the children of today are going to improve on our performance, they must get off to a better start than we did and head into the future with less fear and fumbling.

She said people should make sure that they have "every chance to develop the three qualities they will need most as creative pioners. Thse are Vision, Imagination and Courage. Through vision they will see things as they really are. Through imagination they will dream of things that may be, and through courage they will act boldly to make their dreams come true.

"Our children are accustomed to pushing buttons and throwing switches . . . let's make sure they don't take too much for granted. As we reveal to a child the things undone, or done badly, the riddles of waste and want yet to be solved, the discoveries yet to be made, the symphonies yet to be written, we must make him feel that in the world of tomorrow there will be plenty of opportunity for him to do these things.

Our children need the kind of courage that causes one to come bouncing back every time one is knocked down, courage that is steadfast and enduring against repeated failures and rebuffs. Our children will need that kind of courage when they plunge into the world of tomorrow.

"One final practical truth we must point out to our youngsters. All Canadian boys and girls start off with the only real wealth there is . . time on their hands. Nature demands eight hours for rest and nourishment, schools or jobs demand another eight but the third eight hours belong to us to use as we will. Unless children are taught to devote some of their energies to preparation for the future and put their spare time to work along practical lines, they will never be among tomorrow's real pioneers."

The hostess, assisted by Miss L. Thompson, Mrs. R. Carr, Mrs. L. Kennedy and Mrs. T. J. Jackson served lunch and a social hour was enjoyed.

Mrs. Harold Sanderson moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Rowland for the use of her home and for her very fine talk on education.

Busy Day In Lindsay Keeps Firemen Going

LINDSAY, Feb. 14 (ENS)—The local fire department was kept busy Tuesday. At 9.27 in the morning they received a call from a woman at the corner of Regent and Adelaide Sts. that she saw a large cloud of black smoke in the area. Firemen found that two large drums of old oil had been ignited in the town dump. They were left to burn.

At 11.25 a.m. they were called to the Central School to quell a chimney fire caused by a dirty chimney and overheated pipes. The booster hose was used.

Early in the afternoon, they were called out again. This time to rescue a young lassie who had locked herself in the bathroom. The two-year-old daughter of W. J. Fenton, 87 Durham St., had to be rescued through a window after Chief Wylie had climbed the 18-foot ladder.

Brighton Board Offers To Sell Equity In School

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 13 — (ENS) —February meeting of the East Northumberland District High School Area Board was held in Colborne last week and resulted in a number of talking points for tax payers throughout the area.

A report was given by the committee designated to meet with the Brighton Public School Board for disposal of either board's equity in the school building at Brighton. The Brighton board indicated they were willing to sell their share of the school to the area board for the sum of $97,000. The committee also gave a report on the result of their conference with the Department of Education officials on the subject of the proposed building plan.

The management will soon review the salary schedule for teachers in the area and a report on this will be brought in at the next meeting. A request for an additional teacher for Brighton High School will also be considered, along with the matter of hiring teachers for commercial and home economics classes.

Owen Finlay was named school attendance officer for the district.

The Campbellford Fish and Game Association was granted permission to use the rifle range at the high school in Campbellford with the understanding that the association will be responsible for damage that might result, will be responsible for the caretaker's fee for the use of the range and that the use of the range meet with the approval of the principal of the school, and be under the supervision of the caretaker. The board also said they would not be liable in any way for any accident that might result from the use of firearms at the range.

A number of complaints regarding the bus drivers on the route in operation at present have been received and the secretary was instructed to notify all drivers that these complaints will be investigated and if necessary reported to the police. The matter will also be considered when new routes are arranged at a later date.

Six new typewriters were purchased. These will be for use in the Brighton High School.

After passing accounts totalling $1,966.55, the board adjourned, to meet in Warkworth High School on March 14.

Max J. Swanston Honored For Outstanding Services

Leading citizens in the business, industrial and religious life of the city joined B'nai B'rith Lodge in honoring former Mayor Max J. Swanston as citizen of the year Tuesday night.

At a dinner at Club Aragon, attended by nearly 300, Mr. Swanston was presented with a scroll, for his "outstanding civic services and efforts on behalf of the youth of the city."

The popularity of the choice of Mr. Swanston is proven by the "spontaneous response and attendance of Peterborough's leading citizens tonight," said B'nai B'rith President Harry G. Silver in making the award.

Civic Pride

"Max Swanston's work on behalf of the city over the years has been motivated by an intense amount of civic pride", said Alderman Doug Miller. Alderman Miller represented Mayor Hugh Waddell who was unable to attend the dinner. "More people should have this degree of civic pride he has", continued Mr. Miller. "He has not gone into retirement, but has recently been appointed chairman of the board of governors of Civic hospital".

Looking back 30 years, to when he played baseball with Mr. Swanston, the Rev. Chris W. McCarney, said his being selected as Citizen of the Year was a tribute to his "upbringing, especially in sports. One of the greatest aids to character is sport", said Father McCarney who represented His Excellency Bishop Gerald Berry who was also unable to attend.

He was chosen because of his character, developed through sportsmanship, declared Father McCarney.

The Rev. Charles G. Boyd, president of the Peterborough Ministerial Association paid tribute to Mr. Swanston's outstanding qualities of citizenship which had resulted in his being honored with the Citizen of the Year award.

Mr. Boyd referred to Brotherhood Week, being held this coming week, and said: "We should all work at brotherhood every week of the year, and should always be conscious of combatting racial hatred and prejudice".

In accepting the award, Mr. Swanston said that as a youngster "around Ashburnham", he never thought of having the opportunity of serving on the council, and as a mayor and being chosen Citizen of the Year 1951.

"It's wonderful living in a country where there are these great opportunities for our young people", he said.

"Peterborough and its citizens have been very good to my family and myself and I hope that in my small way, I have repaid that debt". Mr. Swanston congratulated B'nai B'rith for making the city "a better place in which to live", and thanked the citizens of the city "for their teamwork in carrying the ball down the field and pushing me over for the touchdown".

At the beginning of the dinner, Hilly Yudin said the committee was "on the verge of calling the dinner off" due to the death of King George VI. However, he said Chamber of Commerce Manager James Fraser had contacted Ottawa, and it was decided to go ahead with the dinner. Mr. Yudin said that the social affair planned for after the dinner had been cancelled.

Head table guests included, Isadore Black, the Rev. C. W. McCarney, the Rev. C. G. Boyd and Mrs. Boyd, Dr. and Mrs. Alex Lipson, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Cipin, Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Silver, Mr. and Mrs. Hilly Yudin, Mr. and Mrs. Max Swanston, guest speaker Rabbi A. L. Feinberg of Holy Blossom Temple, Toronto, Rabbi and Mrs. J. Mayer, Mr. and Mrs. Doug. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rogow.

Cobourg Closing Optional—Mayor

COBOURG, Feb. 13—(ENS)—Closing of stores and places of business will be optional on Friday, it was revealed by Mayor Jack Burnet yesterday. However employers will be expected to permit their hired help to attend the special Divine service on Friday.

"We will have the same proclamation as Ottawa," said the Mayor.

The mayor, council and public utilities commission will be invited to attend the service at 9 a.m. Friday at St. Michael's Roman Catholic Church and the community service at 11 a.m. at St. Peter's Anglican Church.

Some merchants seemed in doubt as to what they were expected to do.

"I wish they would proclaim a holiday either all morning or all day and that everyone would have to abide by it instead of leaving it to the businessmen themselves to decide what they will do," said one.

However, banks will be closed as well as post office public buildings and schools.

See Early Opening Of Spring Navigation

CLEVELAND, Feb. 13 (AP)—There isn't enough ice in Lake Erie and Lake Ontario to put in a cocktail shaker, weatherman C. George Andrus said today.

So if—and it's a big if — the weather remains the same as now, Great Lakes shipping should be able to get off to an early start next spring, he said.

"Based on what we know today, everything points to an early opening of navigation," Andrus contipued. "However, we do not like to make predictions about lake ice until around March 1."

Here are some current ice thicknesses in Great Lakes harbors to the north as listed by Andrus: Escanaba, 15 inches; Alpena, four inches; Soo, eight inches; Green Bay, 16 inches; Marquette, on Lake Superior, only floating ice.

Tokyo Church Holds Memorial Service

TOKYO, Feb. 13 —(AP)—A memorial and benediction service for the King was held at Tokyo's St. Ignatius Church today with members of the Canadian Roman Catholic Church colony in Tokyo attending.

Present were Arthur Menzies, chief of the Canadian diplomatic mission and Apostolic delegate Archbishop Maxmilien de Furstenberg. The Rev. Michael Dwyer of Toronto's Scarborough Foreign Mission Society, officiated, with the mission choir under the Rev. Michael Cox.

Memorial Service In Bethany Church

BETHANY, Feb. 13 (ENS) — Special commemoration services for King George VI were held at St. Paul's and the United Church on Sunday evening. On Monday afternoon a community memorial service was held in St. Paul's church, attended by members of both congregations, with the service led by both ministers. School pupils marched in a body, accompanied by their teachers and were seated at the front of the church. A joint choir led the service of song, accompanied by Mrs. Alice McGrath at the organ.

Both ministers in Bethany were born in England. Both are veterans of World War II, and these qualifications enabled them to share with the congregation something of their personal respect to a great King, mourned the world over, and loved for his fine example of his personal family life, as well as his dignity as a monarch.

The Rev. T. S. Gault (St. Paul's) announced the order of service, read the Psalms and scripture lessons and led in prayers for the King and members of the Royal Family and for the new Queen.

The Rev. James Hampson (United) took his text from the Book of Hebrews: "He being dead, yet speaketh." "The name of King George VI will go down in history. For 15 years he was King, and never at any moment in all the perplexities at home and abroad, in public or in private life, did he fail in his duties. He was both a great King and a good man. His passing will be mourned everywhere in the world." Mr. Hampson enlarged on the early life of the King, particularly his private home life and concluded with this quotation from the poet, John Milton:

"Nothing is here for tears, nothing to wail
"Or knock the breast; no weakness, no contempt,
"Displays, or blame . . . nothing but well and fair
"And what may quiet us in a death so noble."

Pupils Win Pencils

SPRINGVILLE, Feb. 13 (ENS) —Mrs. S. G. McIntosh, in charge of temderance education at Springville, has received from the Peterborough W.C.T.U. 23 ink pencils, one for each of the pupils who wrote the national temperance study course examinations. These will be presented to the pupils of Miss Eleanor Bowles at S.S. 3, North Monaghan. Eighteen pupils receive honor certificates and three pupils receive pass certificates.

Those receiving certificates as well as gifts follows: Bill Whitfield, Ross Whittington, Nelson Northey, Keith Johnston, Dorothy Allen, Bill Whittington, Dolores Chretien, Gail Lillico, Linda Northey, Gilles Chretien, Kenneth McFadden, Fred Allen, Tom Allen, Donna Marie Northey, Margaret Sheppard, Claudette Chretien, Edith Lillico, Mary Laing, Myles Parrington, Roger Hubble and Mary Allen.

Klan Leader Indicted

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Feb. 13 —(CP)—Bill Hindrix, Grand Dragon of the Florida Ku Klux Klan, was indicted Tuesday on charges of violating U.S. postal laws. He is accused of sending "libelous and defamatory" post cards through the mails to a number of persons including columnist Drew Pearson and Governor Earl Warren of California.

Ban Jap Imports

SINGAPORE, Feb. 13—(AP)—The Singapore government joined the Federation of Malaya today in banning direct imports from Japan of cameras, phonographs, fountain pens, automatic pencils, cigarette lighters and vacuum flasks. The ban apparently is part of the severe economy program decided upon by the recent London meeting of Commonwealth finance experts to cut down the sterling area's financial decline.

Water Main Said Self-Supporting

COBOURG, Feb. 13 — (ENS) —Income from the $35,000 water main extenseion to the ordnance depot site will adequately take care of principal and interest on the debenture, it was revealed at the regular meeting of Cobourg Public Utilities Commission. A letter from the town council had asked about the amount of revenue expected and the application of it to the debenture payments. The Commission directed that the council be informed in reply that the revenue would be ample.

Work now is proceeding in connection with the extension of the eight inch main from the 12-inch one at the end of Division street, across and into the ordnance depot property. The main is being laid 14 feet below the surface of the ground.

Mert Geraldi, employee of the public utilities, asked the commission why he had not been appointed the utilities representative on the volunteer fire department, instead of Fred Kerr as he had 14 years with the utilities and was the senior man.

Commission chairman Maurice Booth said that as Geraldi drove the large P.U.C. truck and Kerr the smaller one, it would mean that in responding to a fire, the Kerr appointment would mean that the smaller truck would be taken, instead of tying up the big truck.

However the Commission decided to reconsider it and it was observed that the new fire chief wanted all the members of the old department to stay on until he had re-organized it. The Commission accepted the suggestion that the ultimate appointee be instructed to get to a fire under his own power and not in the P.U.C. truck.

Comedian Collapses

HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 13—(AP)—Comedian Phil Baker collapsed in the middle of a benefit show here Tuesday night and was taken to his hotel to rest. Baker, believed to have been suffering from a virus infection before arriving here, entertained at a show boosting sales of State of Israel bonds.

Search For Treasure

MEXICO CTY, Feb. 13 —(Reuters)—Seven American university students have arrived in the mountain State of Chihuahua to search for a treasure of gold coins said to have been buried by Pancho Villa. They have a map given to them by to doctor who received it from an aged Mexican patient.

Lindsay Police Play Stork In Emergency

LINDSAY, Feb. 13—(ENS)—Constable Percy Mark was hastily pressed into stork service here late Monday evening. Constable John Hunter, on duty at the desk, received a frantic telephone call at 12.23 a.m.

A taxi was needed immediately at 9 Bay St. An expectant mother had to get to the hospital and they could not get a cab. Constable John made two phone calls and couldn't get a taxi either.

He radioed to Constable Mark in the cruiser who sped to the address. He picked up Mrs. Gladys Monaghan and landed her at the Ross Memorial hospital just before the stork arrived.

Meanwhile, constable Hunter had learned that Mrs. Monaghan was not expected at the hospital and he made arrangements for her admittance so that things were all in readiness to receive her when she arrived.

Magistrate Asks Witnesses Be On Time

Witnessess in court cases who fail to appear when the cases they are involved in come up were criticized in police court Tuesday.

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw suggested that Magistrate W. R. Philp make some statement on the matter after a crown witness had held up court for 10 minutes Tuesday afternoon.

When court recessed for lunch, Magistrate Philp said court would re-convene at 2:15.

"The point is well taken", Magistrate Philp said. "The volume of work is such that we have to commence on time or we would never get over it. I would ask all witnesses to be present on time".

Enough Time For English Studies?

For several years anxiety has been expressed from time to time about the apparent decline in the correct and expressive use of the English language in Canadian schools and universities. We have often commented on this topic, and we make no excuse for returning to it now, because it is only a few days since the President of the University of Toronto made public some startling facts relating to the very low standard of English observable among first-year students there. What Dr. Smith said caused some university instructors to blame the high schools, some high school teachers to blame the public schools, and some public school teachers to blame the parents. We have great sympathy with this last complaint; home is the best place to learn good English painlessly. But it is not in every home that good English can be learned, and therefore formal instruction in the schools is necessary. Spelling, for instance, is often very poor in homes where spoken English is very good. Is there something wrong with the way English is taught in our schools at present? This seems more than probable, but we do not feel that the blame can all, or even in greatest part, be laid upon the teachers. They are faced with a task of great difficulty, and it is possible that they are not given enough time to do it.

* * *

This suggestion has been made to us by a gentleman who is not himself a teacher but who is keenly interested in education. English is not one subject; it is at least two subjects, and perhaps three. The study of English grammar is a task in itself; English composition is not easily taught or easily mastered, even on the most elementary level; the study of English literature is a vast field. Should English be considered one subject, with the time alloted to one subject, or should it be considered as three subjects? Should there not be a greater number of English teachers, in order to cope with the great quantity of paper work which this study involves in all its branches? Marking the English compositions of a class of thirty pupils is a serious undertaking; there is little about it which is simply factual; individual consideration of each piece of work is important. Are our poor results in English attributable to the simple fact that we do not give enough time to the teaching of English?

* * *

What subject is more deserving of time in the curriculum? A pupil who cannot express himself at least adequately in his native tongue leaves school at a permanent disadvantage in life. If he has not learned to read understandingly, the greatest part of the world's knowledge is barred to him. And every citizen of a country as wealthy and advanced as Canada ought to be able to write a letter which says what he means in a brief and correct form. Perhaps some of our anxieties about English studies in our schools would yield to the simple device of giving more time and more teachers to that subject.

Mr. Marshall's Masterly Service

Mr. John R. Marshall has now retired as chairman of the Board of Governors of the Civic Hospital. He was the Board's first chairman, accepting the position when the Board was formed in July, 1945, to take over the assets and liabilities of the Nicholls Hospital Trust and to operate the hospital under the name of the Peterborough Civic Hospital. For six and a half important years he has given his time and abilities unstintingly, bringing to the public service his keen business mind and strong character.

During his chairmanship the plans were developed for the new hospital; it was built (a complicated and large project, costing more than three and a half million dollars), and hospital activities were transferred to the new building in September, 1950. He has in fact presided over a new era in municipal hospital work in Peterborough, and overseen the erection and staffing of one of the finest hospitals in Canada.

Such undertakings cannot be accomplished without much thought and work. Important decisions on policy, financing and operation had to be made, as well as plans for the physical development of the hospital on its splendid site. Mr. Marshall, who had retired from business, gave almost his full time to the work of the Board which he directed—and at personal cost to himself, for his health was not robust. Hospital authorities throughout the province recognized his special competence and thorough knowledge of the diversified matters pertaining to public health and hospital service when he was elected president of the Ontario Hospital Association last year.

The physical monument to Mr. Marshall's devoted work and decisive direction is the new hospital. The intangible recognition of his service is the great respect in which he is held by his fellow-citizens.

The Queens Of England

Two great sovereign Queens of England come to people's minds in these days: Queen Elizabeth and Queen Victoria, both of whom gave their names to great ages in England's history and culture. But as Mr. Cyril Dunn points out in his article printed on this page today, there were other, less important Queens who were sovereigns. Boadicea with her horses and chariot has a statuary place near the Houses of Parliament today. Maltilda who was chased out of Oxford in her nightgown. Lady Jane Grey, Queen for ten days, who was executed. Small, hard-featured Mary Tudor who married the young King of Spain at the age of 37, and tried to relieve her barrenness by filling the palace with midwives and decorated cradles. Queen Anne who had seventeen children, none of whom lived beyond childhood. Mary the Second, who took her husband's part against her father James II, and became joint ruler with William of Orange when James was forced to flee the throne.

The new Queen Elizabeth enters upon a tradition of queenly sovereignty made glorious by Elizabeth the First and Victoria, and variegated by her lesser queenly ancestors.

What To Do With Your Old Reredos

Getting rid of unwanted objects is always a problem. In an ordinary household it may be an umbrella stand which had gone out of fashion, or a particularly hideous lamp, given by an aunt who has since been gathered to her reward, which has to be got rid of. But when the unwanted object is a seventy-foot-high marble reredos, composed of pillars and statuary, and weighing a considerable number of tons, the problem is a major one. We must give the Dean and chapter of St. Paul's Cathedral full marks for solving the problem in the best and most approved manner; they are going to give the reredos away.

In case some of our readers are so little versed in church architecture that they do not know what a reredos is, we must explain that it is an ornamental screen which stands directly behind an altar. When Sir Christopher Wren designed St. Paul's, he did not want a reredos in it; he wanted the whole view from the West door to the East window to be clear; this five hundred and twenty-five feet of extent contributed greatly to the dignity and beauty of the Cathedral. But in the Victorian era somebody had the unhappy inspiration of putting a reredos behind the altar; it was designed by English artists, but executed by Italian craftsmen, and it was admitted, when the thing was in place, that its nature was unfriendly to that of the great cathedral.

During the last war the reredos was damaged. It will not be replaced or repaired, but the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's are happy to give large pieces of it to churches elsewhere in the Commonwealth. Already fifty requests from Australia, New Zealand and the U.S.A. have been received, and will be granted. It seems a good way out of a difficult problem. When you own something you don't like, it is always a good plan to pass it on to somebody whose taste is, shall we say, different.

Canada's Debt

At the end of March last year every man, woman and child in the country has a lien against him of $806.82. That is the per capita share of the National Debt. Compared with the debt in 1939, which amounted to $279.80 per person, it seems that he is much worse off, as far as debts nationally incurred are concerned, than just before the war broke out. But compared with the national productivity of the country, which, after all, determines the people's ability to pay their debts, a Canadian is in pretty good shape.

The net debt as a percentage of the gross national product was 61 in 1939; it is only 64.3 now. The reason is that the productivity of the country has expanded almost as rapidly as the debt; and also, the debt has been going down steadily since its peak in 1946. Budgetary surpluses are enabling Canadians to reduce their funded debt.

The net national debt in 1939 was $3,152,600,000. It reached a peak in March 1946 of $13,421,400,000. Since then, surpluses have reduced it every year until, last March, the debt stood at $11,433,300,000.

This good financial condition is one of several reasons that the Canadian dollar has risen in relation to the American and, a couple of times last week, was rated higher than the American dollar. By contrast with the Canadian national position, the United States is vastly increasing its national debt every year—a debt which is so vast that billions of dollars of taxpayers' money are required to pay off the interest alone—if even that is achieved.

Sovereign Queens Of England

By CYRIL DUNN

QUEEN ELIZABETH THE SECOND has now joined that small group of queens who were also Sovereigns of England. It includes two of the country's greatest monarchs, with more fame in history than almost any king—Victoria, and the first Elizabeth, who gave their names to two of the greatest English epochs.

If national spirit can help to get Great Britain out of the economic plight in which at the start of a new reign it finds itself, it is significant that the people are Elizabethans again, able to identify themselves with ancestors whose rumbustious energy and magnificent lack of diffidence carried them round the world and into successful conflict with the greatest sea power of the age, and yet who fostered an imperishable poetry at home. At a time when incalculable human factors may mean more to Britain than the most expert economic planning, it is surely good for the people to have as Sovereign one who in her dignity, character and contented domesticity recalls Victoria (whom she is said to admire) and whose very name has a trumpet-note, audible to every schoolboy. And happy chance has given her, for her first Prime Minister, one who is by temperament Elizabethan and who can also offer the new Queen the kind of paternal support the young Victoria had from Lord Melbourne (Prime Minister 1835-1841).

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS NOT, perhaps, strictly correct to begin England's list of Sovereign Queens with Boadicea, but most English people would be reluctant to exclude her. She is remembered closer to the heart of London than any ruler whose title is more plain; drawn by rearing horses, she and her chariot stand in the very shadow of Parliament. As Queen of the Iceni, a tribe inhabiting the counties of Norfolk and Suffolk she rose against the Roman occupying power, slaughtered 70,000 and took three of the greatest Roman towns before killing herself in battle. (A.D. 62.)

The next Queen, it is true, had a claim to the whole kingdom, but never managed to establish it. Matilda, the 12th-century daughter of Henry The First fought stoutly for the throne, hovering all the time and in the medieval manner between heroic splendour and absolute farce, but in the end was chased ignominously out of Oxford in her nightgown. If she did nothing else, at least she estaolished the principle that in England royalty cannot survive without the support of the common people. Matilda's misfortune was that she never got it.

✧ ✧ ✧

IN the 16th century there came a sequence of three reigning women, for two of whom life was so acutely tragic that even now it is painful to remember them. There can be few English people who have not been harrowed at one time or another by a painting which used to be printed in history books and which shows a blindfolded girl groping her way down to the execution block. This was Lady Jane Gray, who in 1553, and at the age of seventeen was a bewildered Queen of England for ten days. It is said that she was a girl of good looks and high intelligence, supported by "a noble character"—a personality in fact, quite unlike the ruthless, determined Tudors against whose right to the Throne Jane was used as an instrument of the unspeakable (Duke of) Northumberland's policy. At her proclamation, the people were "sullen and silent" though it was not the gentle Jane whom they resented. When a popular rising against the Duke of Northumberland cleared the way to the throne for Mary Tudor, the execution of Jane shocked the people and gave them the first hint of that vindictive cruelty which earned for Mary her title as the "Bloody" Queen.

✧ ✧ ✧

IT IS POSSIBLE now to be sorry for Mary, reared in Henry the Eight's disordered household at Hampton Court and described even in Acts of Parliament as illegitimate. In her life she had two great longings which grew out of her disordered childhood—to restore the Roman Catholic Church which her father had destroyed in England, and to have a proper family of her own.

As a woman eager to be loved, Mary had few assets. When she planned to marry the young, golden-bearded Philip of Spain she was thirty-seven, small, sallow and hard-featured. One likes to remember that her wedding in Winchester Cathedral was a splendid affair, even though her husband's interest in it was political, not personal. A well-founded distrust of the English led him to attend it with a coat of mail under his suit and a cook of his own in his retinue. But, alas, Mary was barren. A child of her own became a crazy obsession; she filled the palace with midwives, baby clothes and decorated cradles.

It is said that she was driven into the wholesale burning of Protestant martyrs by the belief that a God doubtful of her zeal was denying her motherhood. At all events, she burned 227, some of them humble folk of the labouring sort. In the end, Mary was hated both by her people and by her husband. But she had the Tudor courage, was selfless in her devotion to the Church and when, impoverished, she lay dying, she asked nothing for herself, but only some provision for her servants.

✧ ✧ ✧

WHEN Elizabeth succeeded her (1558) at the same age—25—as the second Elizabeth has come to the throne, the English roused themselves from a kind of sick, middle-aged nightmare and "went mad with joy". Elizabeth was not at all a virtuous character. But it was as much for her magnificent faults as for her spirit and her greatness that the English admire her now as they adored her in her lifetime. She understood the people, was willing on occasions to descend from her awful majesty to a kind of back-slapping familiarity with the least of them. She roused their patriotism without over-estimating their quality; when her gentlemen adventurers were giving her new territories in America she said the English would never make good colonists because of their "extreme beastly idleness". They loved her courage, the swashbuckling violence with which, as the hour seemed to demand it, she could flourish a naked sword and advertise her ability to use it in the carefree language of a fishwife. Weak in constitution, it was only an immense vitality which kept her alive until she was seventy, and this vitality she pumped liberally into her people.

✧ ✧ ✧

THERE can be no doubt that Elizabeth was evasive, indecisive and, above all, stingy. In a series of royal Progresses, she sponged without shame on her subjects. Her zeal for the sea rovings of Hawkins, Drake and the rest was to a notable degree that of a principal shareholder. She was vain, and gorgeous in dress and, though her claim to the title of Virgin Queen is now believed to be absolute, she clung to the illusions of romance until she was an unlovely old woman in a night-coloured wig.

But without fail she rose to the great moments of her reign. Her speech to her troops when a Spanish invasion threatened is as familiar to the English as the Gettysburg Address is to the Americans. "I know I have the body of a weak and feeble woman, but I have the heart and stomach of a king, and of a king of England too . . . " Elizabeth was the inspiration of the age which overthrew the great sea-castles of Spain and which nursed on Bankside in London the vivid genius of Shakespeare. Her own hope was that "her fame would spread abroad in her lifetime and, after, occasion memorial for ever". In this, Gloriana has had her way.

✧ ✧ ✧

BETWEEN Elizabeth and Victoria came two Queens of minor note. Queen Anne is remembered for her ineffectual goodness and for her friendship with the Duchess of Marlborough, an ancestor of the present Prime Minister. They were Mrs. Morley and Mrs. Freeman to one another. Queen Anne presided without talent over an age which produced the victories of Marlborough, the union of England and Scotland, the principle of party government, the great Augustan in literature and a gracious architectural style which still bears her name. But she was herself a sadly troubled woman who had seventeen children, none of whom lived beyond childhood. Of Mary the Second, wife of William of Orange, and with him joint Sovereign, there is even less to be said. At the Revolution in 1688 she sided with her husband against her father, but William overshadowed her. She died of smallpox and was childless.

In this line of Queens, the greatness of Victoria (1837-1901) is unique. Lacking the Tudor conviction of absolute power, her personal authority has never been surpassed. She shaped the daily behaviour of the nation as no other monarch had done, not even Elizabeth. With the Prince Consort (Prince Albert) beside her, and later as the well-nigh immortal Widow of Windsor, through the longest reign in English history she redeemed the idea of royalty from the discredit brought upon it by the Hanoverians and gave it the strength, the unity with the everyday life of the people, which it still has. The people loved and worshipped her, but with feelings of awe towards her unassailable virtues which the first Elizabeth could never have hoped to inspire.

But today Victoria is remembered, not as the Great Queen and Empress, but as the eighteen-year-old girl to whom the Archbishop and the Lord Chamberlain knelt to tell her she was Queen. That night, in the Journal she kept all her life, she wrote: "Since it has pleased Providence to place me in this situation, I shall do my utmost to fulfill my duty towards my country. I am very young and perhaps in many, though not in all things, inexperienced, but I am sure very few have more good will and more real desire to do what is fit and right than I have".

We in our turn may be sure that Queen Elizabeth the Second comes now to her great task in the same humble yet confident spirit.

Letter To The Editor

DOGMA AND THE NATURE OF MAN

Sir: There appeared on your editorial page Friday night, (last) a letter by a C. J. Clark, who asked and answered his own question—and in the affirmative, and then divided where he should have multiplied.

I have no quarrel with his question, he answered it.

What I want to know of Mr. Clark is this. What is the True Religion? Where is it; and who are its exponents?

Do not the followers of every religion yell at the top of their collective lungs, that their's and their's alone, is the only "True One"?

I have a proposition for him to study, but before I state it, I ask him to study the nature of "all religion", pure or otherwise.

Does it not have only one side—pure "dogma"? But here is his proposition, where he found it in the book of Genesis in chapter 3; that the Lord said unto Adam, "The fruit of this tree is the fruit of both the knowledge of Good and of Evil". Listen to it and mark it well; and until you have learned to read there—read no further.

So that you may read better, I suggest to you that you still the sound of your own voice by cutting out your tongue: thus you may hear what goes on inside your own head. There you will find enough devils to last you to the end of eternity and if you read there for a thousand years, you might discover the other half of the proposition.

To help you along your way, I am also going to suggest to you that the hairy ape who stood up on his hind legs (and quite possibly, for the first time) to nibble at that "fruit" and pluck it; plucked not a fruit at all, but a boomerang, with which he immediately proceeded to beat out his own brains—he became dogmatic: and as for what happened to Abel (who was and still is the other half of an equally difficult equation) you yourself supplied the answer—he was murdered.

Today the "apes" do not bother to chew their collective, abstract fruits. They swallow them whole.

In anticipation of the various replies this letter could invoke I leave with you a relatively simple and a self-evident proposition: and you can use it as a benediction and as an introspective tool. Here it is, that:—

The goons who stood in Pilate's Hall and shouted "crucify", were the same holy, righteous asses who a few days before, screamed "Hosanna" on the way into Jerusalem; because never once, in all their individual lives, did they take a good look at their own true natures.

HIS VIEW

A vicar received a visit from one of his parishioners. It was obvious that the man had something on his mind.

"Is it right for any person to profit by the mistakes of other people?" he asked.

"Most certainly not," replied the parson.

The visitor brightened. "Very well, then," he said, "perhaps you'd like to return the five dollars I paid you for marrying me!"

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And Jesus went out, and his disciples, into the towns of Caesarea Philippi. And when he had called the people unto him with his disciples also, he said unto them, Whosoever will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; but whosoever shall lose his life for my sake and the gospel's, the same shall save it.

For what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? Or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul? (Mark 8: 27, 34-37.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For he that will love life and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile: let him eschew evil, and do good; let him seek peace, and ensue it.

For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open unto their prayers: but the face of the Lord is against them that do evil. (1 Pet. 3: 10-12.)

Crow Traps

(Port Arthur News-Chronicle)

A Port Arthur man is building the replica of a cow with the intention of concealing himself inside so that he may shoot crows as they alight in the fields.

How long will the crows be in learning to distrust that cow? This column heard of a better, or at least a cheaper way. It is to fold sticky fly paper in the shape of a conical drinking cup, sticky side in. Set it in the ground with a few pieces of corn inside.

The crow reaches down for the corn. The inverted cup sticks and puts the crow in darkness from which it attempts to escape by flying upwards, on and on until it exhausts its strength and falls again to earth, dead.

Turks Seek Aid Forecasting Quakes' Locale

ISTANBUL, Feb. 13 (Reuters) —In the aftermath of the January 3 earthquake which killed 94 persons and injured 257, Turkey is calling on scientific help to find out where future 'quakes are likely to strike so that her people can build their homes, offices and factories some place else.

The new research is being undertaken with the help of the United Nations education, scientific and cultural organization which has sent to Turkey 47-year-old Gaston Grenet, a French seismologist, to set up three new earthquake observation stations.

He arrived just after the January 3 earthquake near Ezurum in Eastern Turkey, in which thousands of people were rendered homeless and even those whose houses still stood were afraid to sleep in them for fear of additional 'quakes.

In fact there was another minor 'quake in the same area January 18.

Many of the homeless are living temporarily in tents which cannot be properly heated.

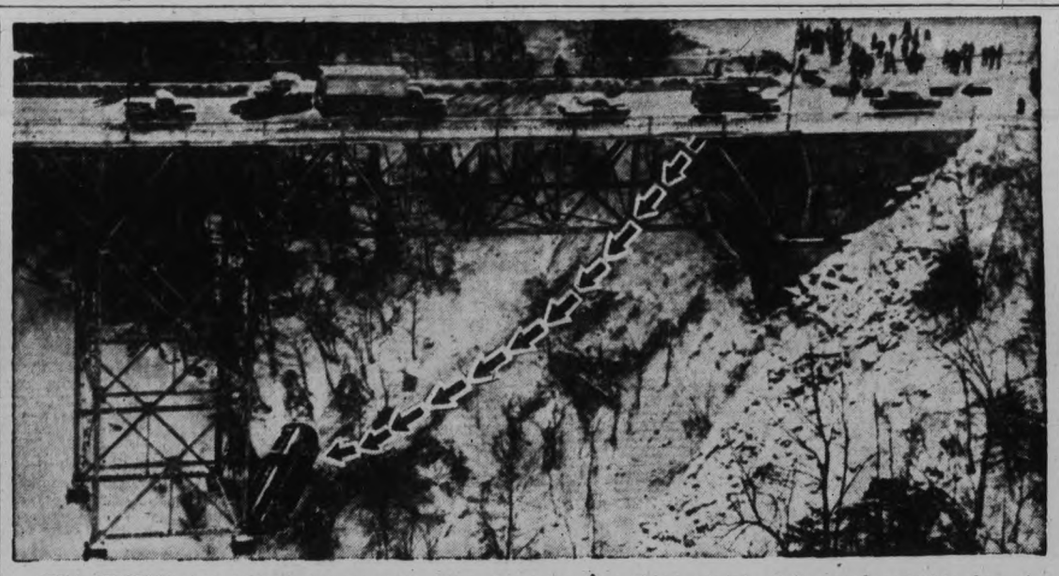
Grenet said in an interview he thinks it will be possible to establish scientifically the areas where earthquakes are likely to occur, or "the most dangerous areas at any rate."

Earthquakes are frequent in Turkey. Usually they are just strong enough to make you feel "uncomfortable" as the ground rumbles beneath your feet. But every now and then there comes a slightly worse one and occasionally there is one such as the earthquake at Erzincan, also in Eastern Turkey, in December, 1937, when 23,000 persons were killed.

Grenet said: "We shall install three new seismograph stations which, with the existing station at Kandilli, will provide stations at all the four corners of the land."

The data they supply will be examined in the light of worldwide records at central seismological stations at Strasbourg, France, and Pasadena, California.

Grenet himself helped to invent new recording apparatus which will be installed in the new stations.



TEN PERSONS were injured, two seriously, when this Toronto-bound bus crashed through the railing of a bridge and plunged 150 feet down a sheer embankment at Hamilton over the weekend. Police and motorists formed a human chain to draw up the injured from the smashed bus. If the vehicle had rolled another 20 feet it might have plunged through the ice into several feet of water.

Moscow In Dither Making Spy Charges
